Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous
CAMPBELLFORD

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday the Rev. J. C. Robinson will be the preacher for the day, conducting services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Special music will be featured at both hours of worship, the organist, W. A. Newcourt offering selected organ numbers and the choir anthems and solos. Mrs. F. DeCarrall will be the soloist in the morning, singing "There Were Ninety and Nine," and in the evening J. W. Russell will render a tenor selection. The morning anthem is "I Am Alpha and Omega" (Stainer) and in the evening, "Rock of Ages," (Buck).

At the Christ Church, (Anglican) there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a.m. with morning prayer at the usual hours. The preacher for the day will be the Rev. N. Clark Wallace.

At St. John's United Church the Rev. R. C. Tait will take for his morning sermon theme "A Confession of Faith," and in the evening "What a Man Believes." At the evening service the orchestra under the direction of Mr. A. Hasell will be in attendance to assist with the musical portion of the service. The men's Bible class will be at 2.30 p.m. with the minister taking for his subject, "Jesus the World's Teacher."

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae, the Rev. Donald A. McKenzie will take as his sermon theme at morning worship, "Life's Best Teacher." The Y.P.S. will meet on Monday evening.

On the Seymour United Church circuit services will be held at Tabernacle at 11 a.m. Stephens at 3 p.m. and Zion at 7 p.m., the Rev. F. G. MacTavish being the preacher for the day.

Mr. H. N. Carr is a business visitor to Toronto.

Mr. A. G. Thompson has been appointed by the Counties Council to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. J. C. Birmingham, on the School Board.

Two valentine entertainments have been announced up to date. One will be staged by the Ladies' Association of the Baptist Church and is scheduled to take place on February 13 in the church rooms. Two short plays will be featured at this function. The Catholic Women's League has also announced a valentine euchre to be held in their rooms on February 10. These euchres are always popular and a large crowd is expected.

FINANCIAL REPORT SHOWS BALANCE

Annual Meeting of Warsaw Municipal Telephone System —Directors Re-elected.

WARSAW, Feb. 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — The municipal telephone meeting was held on Monday afternoon when everything was reported in good order with a balance on hand.

Some of the debentures will end this year. The same directors are in for 1931, namely William Davis, C. J. Darling and Wallace Anderson. Mr. Darling is secretary-treasurer.

Y.P.S. Meets

The Warsaw Y.P.S. numbering about forty met in the United Church basement on Tuesday evening. Ivan Drain, president, was in the chair.

There were two contests, pine and heart, community singing, a recitation by Mrs. J. A. Crowe and a song by Mrs. O. B. McIlvena.

Next meeting will be in the Presbyterian Church on February the seventeenth.

Choir Entertained

Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Wilkinson entertained the choir and their husbands or wives at the parsonage on Wednesday evening.

Music, advertisement and spelling contests also charades were played.

Mrs. Wilkinson assisted by Miss Neal and Mrs. George Taylor served a most delicious supper.

Afterwards the choir was organized with Henry Batten, president; Mr. Wilkinson, honorary president; Mrs. George Taylor, organist (as by the congregational meeting); David Miller, secretary-treasurer. The music committee is the president, hon. president, Mrs. Roland Payne and Mrs. James Hawthorn.

Social committee comprises Mrs. Fred Crowe, Mrs. Rufus Payne, Mrs. O. B. McIlvena and Mrs. George Weller, and regular social gatherings once a quarter.

A hearty vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson for a most enjoyable evening—for the social part was most delightful and the business was very enjoyable.

How to End RHEUMATISM

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY.

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine that acts directly on the liver, stomach and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness.

McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store has so much confidence in RU-MA that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not end rheumatism.

Health Talks Given At Warkworth Meeting

WARKWORTH, Feb. 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Barringer. The attendance was excellent. The program, which was based on health was very interesting and is as follows. Perhaps the most interesting number was the address by Dr. C. C. Armstrong. Many useful hints and good advice were given Mrs. J. W. Mowat gave an instrumental solo which was much appreciated. A paper. "Better than Gold" was given by Mrs. W. B. Baker. This pointed out ways of obtaining good health and how to keep it stating that good health came before riches. A recitation, "The House that Health Built," by Margaret Richards and also a recitation by Opal Shaw concluded the program.

The roll call, answered by nursery rhymes, brought much humor into the meeting. The financial report was given which showed a good credit balance.

A large crowd attended the euchre held in the town hall Wednesday night under the auspices of the Holy Name Society. The prizes were won by: Ladies, Reta Gorman, Miss E. Drain, Mrs. Charles Osborne; low score, Mrs. L Isaac; gentlemen, Clayton Young, Don Thompson, Hugh Petty; low score, Mr. Collins; lucky chair, Mrs. John O'Reilly.

Births in leading cities and towns of England and Wales in a recent week totaled 3,997 and the deaths 4,941.

Reports of "the devil at the wheel" of an automobile ins crash at Bournemouth, England, in which a young woman was killed arose from the fact that the party was returning from a masquerade and the driver, E. L. Barlow, still wore his Mephistopheles costume.

VICTORIA TRUST IN FINE SHAPE

Shareholders of Lindsay Trust and Savings Company Receive Satisfactory Report.

$140,000 PROFIT

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—The annual meeting of shareholders of The Victoria Trust and Savings Company was held Tuesday, February 3rd, at 2 p.m. in the Council Chambers. The meeting was largely attended and was harmonious and enthusiastic, as it might well be in view of the continued splendid condition of the company as shown by the report presented. The assets of the local Company now reach a total well over eight million, a figure which places it among the largest Trust Companies in Ontario and the profits of $140,000.00 for the year 1930, under the circumstances prevailing are highly satisfactory. The president, William Flavelle, presided, and following an interesting address moved the adoption of the report which was seconded by the vice-president, R. J. McLaughlin, K.C.

C. E. Weeks, the manager, also spoke at considerable length, followed by T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., J. B. Begg, Dr. J. A. White and a Toronto shareholder, J. K. McCutcheon, after which the report was adopted. A gratifying feature of the meeting was the fact that all parts of the community, north, south, east and west were quite well represented. A full report of the meeting will appear within a few days.

LIBERAL LEADER

pointed to the Province's assets, and assured his hearers that the assets were much greater than the liabilities.

Never had there been such a campaign conducted in Grenville as the present one carried on by Mr. Hepburn, said Mr. Casselman. It was no pleasure for Mr. Ferguson's old constituents to hear him vilified.

Mr. Price said, in part:

"The Liberal Leader, Mr. Hepburn, and his candidates in these by-elections have been attacking the Government's administration of the Security Frauds Act. They have been carrying on a campaign of humbug and hypocrisy. The Security Frauds Act, as I have stated before, aims at trying to help people and help companies when they make bad investments. It is impossible to prevent people from losing their money in various ventures. No one ever thought of guaranteeing securities, or guaranteeing organizations. Naturally, when a case comes before the officials of the department, they deal with it on its merits. Usually there are a number of factions, some still believe in the possibilities of the undertaking, others want it wound up, others want charges laid against promoters.

"Under these circumstances, how can anyone satisfy the conflicting elements? There will always be some one who can come forward and think that another course should have been adopted. Actually speaking, the only function of the Attorney General's Department is to get at the facts and, if necessary, lay such charges under the Criminal Code. All the other work is actually work which comes under the Registrar of Brokers and Joint Stock Companies.

"When, however, the officials of my department go out of their way to be helpful, have conferences and see a great many people and offer reasonable suggestions, but leave it all in the hands of those who have their money invested as to what method they want to adopt, then they take an interest in the welfare of the people that has never heretofore been taken. If, while doing this, their honor is to be impugned and reflections are to be made on their character and charges of favoritism are to bandied about the Province, then it is difficult for them to carry out their work satisfactorily.

"My opponents say, practically, that I should be sitting in every counting house, in every bond house, in every brokerage house, that I should be around at the management of all the big enterprise in Ontario, and that if my advice is taken and I take the requisite attitude on every occasion, then no loss should follow to any one in this whole Province of Ontario. They must think I am a superman, a very big man, a man omnipoent. They must put me higher than any big business executive that this world had known.

Asks About Liberals

"I have not heard that any of the Liberal members of the Ontario House have spoken or are going to speak in West Hamilton or Grenville. Mr. Hepburn was chosen at a Liberal convention which went to extremes on almost every point, a Liberal convention that verged almost on the side of radical exhortation. This did not, however, carry with it, as I believe, the support of any Liberal member in the Ontario Legislature or the great body of Liberal thought.

"This campaign in these two by-elections is of a desperate nature, from a standpoint of the reasoning people of the Province, and I believe of the ridings. There would appear to be no great principle at stake, no active propagation of policy, but rather a descending to vituperation and abuse. Apparently, the main issue before the electors is one of whether this type of campaign can be successful in a Province like Ontario.

"Is it true that when Hepburn was selected leader, almost all the Liberal members wrote out their resignations in protest, on account of his attitude on prohibition, but were prevailed on to withdraw them? All the Liberal members in the House were elected on a prohibition policy. How can they follow Hepburn?

BUSTER KEATON IS 'MAN-HANDLED' BY ANGRY FORMER FILM BEAUTY

Girl Finally Overpowered By Two Officers and Taken to Jail—Later Freed.

QUARREL OVER CHECK.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Buster Keaton, clown of the screen, knew today, by scratches and bruises, that there is nothing so wrathful as an angry woman.

The marks on his face, he said, were put there by the hands of Miss Kathleen Key, former film beauty, when he refused to help her out of financial straits. He said she beat him yesterday in his dressing room on a studio lot.

Two Officers Needed

Miss Key was overpowered by two studio policemen and taken to the Culver City Jail, but was released without any charges being filed against her.

Keaton, who is married to Natalie Talmadge, sister of the famous Norma and Constance, said he had known Miss Key for many years and when she returned from Europe about a year ago she came to him to learn if she might be able to return to pictures.

"I told her she was getting too stout—she weighed 139 pounds—and that if she could get her weight down, she would become a big bet in talking pictures," Keaton related. He said she wagered $500 with him that she could take off 20 pounds in ten days but she lost only six. "I told her, 'You've tried hard enough. You've won the bet'."

"And I gave her a cheque for $500. She had a photostat copy made immediately, cashed the cheque and spent it—holding the photographer copy over my head to collect more money. She talked so much that vague reports reached the studio and I was called upon to explain the gossip.

Wanted $4,000

"Then Miss Key came to see me again. She said she needed $4,000 to pay the debt she owed. I finally agreed to loan her $4,000—and $1,000 on top of that for her to buy a ticket to China or any other place—just so the gossip would be stopped.

"She called yesterday for the $5,000. I had the cheque already prepared. She came to my dressing room. Cliff Edwards, and Clarence Logan, a friend, were with me. I offered the cheque, but she demanded $20,000 more. I resolved not to give her a cent, and tore up the cheque.

"Then the fight started. She manhandled me something awful.

Heads Library Board

J. A. O'Brien was re-elected chairman of the Public Library Board at the annual meeting held last evening. V. J. McElderry, K.C., was appointed convenor of the Finance Committee, Joseph Crowe convenor of the Property Committee and Inspector A. Mowat convenor of the Books Committee. Mr. O'Brien represents the Separate Schools on the Board and Mr. Mowat the Public Schools.

"Balaclava," at the Regent Theatre, on February 18, 19 and 20. This is a British film, approved by the Board of Education, and a special children's matinee will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

The Chapter is looking forward to a bridge party at the Empress Hotel on April 10th, when the fifteenth anniversary of the Chapter's foundation will be commemorated. Mrs. J. A. McNabb and Mrs. Fraser Skinner will be in charge of refreshments, and Mrs. C. E. Graham will be in charge of the tables.

It was decided to continue the present system of holding regular meetings at the homes of the members.

GOVT. HANDED LIST OF REQUESTS BY NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Ask More Stringent Control of Firearms and Laws Against White Slavery.

WOULD REGISTER DIVORCES

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 6 (C.P.)—The National Counsel of Women of Canada waited on the Government at noon yesterday and submitted a number of resolutions. Among the requests were:

Simpler and more stringent laws against white slavery to be provided by international agreement.

More stringent control of firearms.

Amendments to the Criminal Code so that adultery or the registering falsely as man and wife be made crimes.

Legislation to provide that in criminal cases in which women or children are principals a portion of the jury shall be women.

All divorces should be registered the same as births, marriages and deaths.

Calendar reform.

Health examination before marriage.

County health units.

Central bureau on housing and town planning.

Pensions for blind persons, also for long service and for women

Establishment of a Canadian broadcasting company by the Dominion which would operate and control all broadcasting stations in Canada to eliminate direct advertising "and by the increase of a license fee from one to three dollars, finance a greater number of Canadian programs."

That equal consideration and opportunity for work be given to unemployed women as well as to unemployed men in view of the fact that women have been forced out of the home into a competitive labor market.

DROUGHT CONTINUES IN U.S.

WASHINGTON Feb. 5. (AP)—The devastating and unprecedented drought of 1930 still persists.

Reports of the Department of Agriculture say: "The lack of moisture in large areas, especially as relates to the subsoil, continues very acute, especially from the Mississippi valley eastward over the Ohio and Potomac drainage basins.'

London, Port Stanley Railway Be Probed

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 6—Legal machinery was set in motion yesterday to secure an immediate start on the long-awaited judicial investigation into charges of irregularities in the operation of the London and Port Stanley Railway.

County Judge Wearing, following a conference with Mayor George Haymon and City Clerk Samuel Baker, intimated that the probe would probably begin within a week or so as soon as the present sittings of the supreme court are at an end.

CARBON MONOXIDE GAS IS SAID TO HAVE KILLED TWO OF MEN

TENT WAS AIRTIGHT.

LONDON, Eng., Feb 6. (CP)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, writing in the current "Spectator" lifted a corner of the curtain which enshrouds the death of Andree, who never came back from his polar balloon expedition of 1897.

Andree and K. Fraenkel whose bodies were found in the Arctic wastes last August, were overcome by the subtle fumes of carbon monoxide as they sat about a kerosene stove in their virtually airtight tent, Stefansson believes.

He developed his theory from evidence discovered on White Island where the bodies of the explorers and the remains of N. Strindberg, another member of the expedition were found. He almost died himself of the same cause Stefansson writes, in an Eskimo snow house on Coronation Gulf twenty years ago.

"Their tent was nearly airtight, the article says, "for it was made of balloon silk and the floor was sewn to it. It stood in a lee and in the first storm of the year the airtightness was increased by a blanket of snow.

One of the men was cooking when the other fainted. Then the cook released the pressure on the stove, just as I did on Coronation Gulf, and it went out. We know he did that because the stove was half full of kerosene when it was found. Then the cook fainted too before he could make a hole in the tent for ventilation."

There was plenty of food and plenty of fuel, he says, so Andree and Fraenkel could neither have starved nor frozen to death. He believes his theory is the only one thus far advanced which fits all the facts.

Public Will Hear Maj. Butler's Trial

WASHINGTON, February 5 (C.P.)—Copies of the formal charges against Major-General Smedley D. Butler rested in a Navy Department safe to-day, mimeographed for public distribution. Word from Secretary Adams was awaited to release them.

The charges were served upon the Marine General yesterday. His counsel, Major Henry Leonard, said they were "severe."

Butler's court-martial in Philadelphia, February 16, for his now celebrated speech referring to Premier Mussolini of Italy, will be open. Leonard said yesterday the General would want the hearings public.

CHANGE IN TARIFF BEING PREDICTED

IMMEDIATE PREPARATION.

MONTREAL, Que., February 6 (C.P.). — The Gazette to-day published the following despatch from Ottawa:

"While the previous intention of the Federal Government was to avoid any further revision of the tariff at the coming session of Parliament, in view of the fact that an Imperial Economic Conference is to be held here next August, it is understood that the pressure of the Canadian manufacturers has been so strong and so persistent for more protective measures at an early date that the Prime Minister has decided to accede to their position.

"With a view to meeting their demands as far as possible, it is believed that work preparatory to that revision in Parliament will commence immediately and that, as in the case of the special session, much of the burden will fall upon R. W. Breadner, Commissioner of Customs. Attention, however, will be confined almost entirely to the general tariff column, as the Prime Minister is not disposed to disturb in any particular the British preference until the conference meets."

YOUR CHILD NEEDS the sustaining energy of Quaker Oats

CHILDREN expend twice as much energy before noon as they do in all the rest of the day. That's why they need a hot Quaker Oats breakfast.

Quaker Oats is best for children because it contains 16% protein, for growth; 68% carbohydrates, for energy, and minerals and vitamins in abundance.

No other breakfast is so sustaining. Order Quick Quaker Oats today. See that the Quaker figure and the Quaker name are on the package. You can't expect Quaker quality unless you get the Quaker brand.

In large household packages with or without chinaware . . . smaller 10c. size. Never in bulk. All Quaker packages contain coupons with which you can get valuable premiums.

A surprise in every package marked "Chinaware"

Every Quick Quaker package marked "Chinaware" contains a piece of genuine English chinaware, attractively patterned. As pretty as you can buy. Beautifully coloured . . distinctively shaped and bordered.

MRS. WHITE RE-ELECTED REGENT OF ONTONABEE CH APTER OF I. O. D. E.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Mrs. C. A. White was re-elected by acclamation as regent of the Otonabee Chapter I. O. D. E., at the annual meeting held in the green room of the Y. W. C. A., with a good attendance. Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mrs. F. L Robinson are honorary regents, and other officers also elected by acclamation, are as follows: Mrs B. W. Harvey, first vice regent; Mrs. W. N. Hayes, second vice regent; Mrs. J. A. Robinson, treasurer; Mrs. J. D. Cameron, secretary; Mrs. F. H. Dearborn, educational secretary; Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Echoes secretary; Mrs. S. H. Mitchell, standard bearer. Councillors: Mrs. H. Beal, Mrs. W. P. Blackmore, Mrs. W. Burrell, Mrs. C. E. Blewett, Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. B. Jackson, Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, Mrs J. A. Morgan, Mrs. B. McLean, Mrs. J. P. Fulkinghorn.

Annual reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. J. D. Cameron, and the treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Robinson.

Miss S. A. Tomkins presided at the election of officers, when Mrs. R. R. Hall was added to the list of honorary regents of the chapter.

A donation of $5 was made to the fund for the gift to Lady Willingdon and Mrs. F. H. Dearborn, Educational secretary reported on the excellent work done by the students in the Commercial school during Christmas examinations. As the Commercial term has been enlarged to three years, it was decided to complete the terms of the pupils now being assisted by the society.

The Chapter will hold a Valentine tea on Wednesday of next week, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Morgan.

During the afternoon, several, much enjoyed, vocal solos were given by Miss Bertha Hill, accompanied by Mrs. James Matthews, also a reading by Miss Dorothy Boorman. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the past year successful.

At the close of the business session, tea was served and a social hour spent.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. J. D. Cameron, showed a total membership of sixty-nine, with an average attendance of twenty-one. The Chapter assists three pupils in the Commercial School and presented prizes totalling $40 at the P. C. I. Commencement exercises to the two students standing highest in the first and second Commercial forms. This work cost $325 during the year.

Contributions were made to the Well Babies Clinic, $28.40; the Health Association, $28.40; the Sailors' Mission, $10; the Navy League of Canada, $10; the work in India, $2; the Y. W. C. A. $5; and the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, $15.

The society co-operated with the other I. O. D. E. chapters of the city in a tag day for the blind.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Robinson, showed receipts for the year totalling $738, with a balance from the previous year of $254.-38, and expenditures of $746.85, leaving a present balance of $245.50.

Reports Are Read By Ennismore Board

ENNISMORE, Feb. 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — The members of the Board of Health of Ennismore Township met in the office of Dr. McNulty in Peterborough recently, those present being Dr. McNulty, M. O.H., Timothy Murphy, chairman, Reeve Thomas Cavanagh, Charles Perdue, secretary.

Dr. McNulty tabled his annual report on which the board complimented him for the splendid work he performed.

Dr. David Gordon, Eminent Physician and Surgeon of Minneapolis, Minn.

"I am taking this opportunity of writing to you about Vitalex," says Dr. Gordon. "In my 33 years of practice as physician and surgeon, I have had marvelous results in prescribing many of the ingredients contained in your Vitalex. In Vitalex, however, you have a scientific combination of these herbs with Vitamins B, C, and D added, making it a perfect tonic and remedy for conditions arising out of disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bladder.

You probably are aware, and being a druggist myself, as well as a physician and surgeon, I know that it is impractical to prescribe this combination of herbal juices with the valuable health-giving Vitamins and have this prescription compounded for each individual patient. Vitalex solves this problem, and I believe, as does Dr. John N. Kirk, of Philadelphia, Pa., that the eliminative action of some of the herbal juices and the vitalizing forces of the Vitamins B, C and D have been combined in your Vitalex in the most palatable and efficient manner of any formula."

FASHION SERVICE

This model is especially adaptable to women with figures a little above normal.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

VALENTINES

There are Valentines of many kinds
That every window grace,
There are pretty ones with flower wreaths
About a smiling face.

And then there are the funny ones
With ugly pictures on,
And verses meant to knock you
And make all kinds of fun.

But they are not the kind I like,
I think they're mean, I do:
The Valentines that I like best
Say simply "I love you."

Several Papers Read At Warkworth Meeting

WARKWORTH, Feb. 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).— The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Young People was held on Monday evening with a good attendance. After the business and devotional exercises, Miss Mowat, convenor of the devotional committee, took charge. Her topic was "Christian Endeavor" and its relationship to the church. Several short papers were given on the topic by different members and an interesting program of duets, solos, recitations and readings was given. Rev. Mr. Duncan gave a short address and the closing hymn brought to a close a pleasant evening.

The young people are planning on putting on a play in the near future.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

AS LIFE BIDS US

As life bids us, so live we,
Not from every bondage free,
Not unfettered to aspire
To the dearest heart's desire,
As we fondly fancy life
With no struggle, with no strife.

Rather, yoked always we go
In dull fashion, plodding, slow.
We, who glimpsing the devine,
Make of every dream a shrine,
Weaving for the soul's delight
Images serene and bright.

As life bids us, live we must,
Heirs to every shining trust,
Girt with glamour unpossessed
Faithful to the fruitless quest:
As life bids us, so we go,
And to nobler stature grow

GETS 2 YEARS FOR FALSE PRETENCES CHARGES.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 6. (CP)—Found guilty on five separate charges of false pretences with intention to defraud, Ernest Jasmin, notary, was yesterday sentenced to two years less one day in jail. The five charges involved a sum of approximately $10-000 which Jasmin is said to have misappropriated while acting as intermediary for persons loaning and borrowing money.

INDIGESTION RUINING HER HEALTH

TANLAC Brought Happy Relief

The stomach trouble was bad enough in itself, with the pain and heaviness after every meal. But the nervousness was worse. It kept her on the ragged edge all the time, and some nights she hardly closed her eyes.

That was Miss Mary Brown's condition when she first tried TANLAC. Writing from 350 Sixth Street, Brandon, she says, "I improved so much on one bottle of TANLAC that I kept on taking it until I was completely well. My appetite is splendid and I can digest anything I eat without any trace of pain or heaviness. Now, if I feel a little run-down or overtired, I always go back to TANLAC, which fixes me right up again."

You can depend on TANLAC to give you quick results in indigestion and constipation—to relieve gas pain after eating, dizziness, nervous attacks and headaches.

More than 55 million bottles have been sold—over 100,000 endorsements have been received.

That Body of Yours

FOOD FOR HEALTH AND SICKNESS.

Perhaps you wonder why health writers talk so much about food. And yet, when you think about it, from the human standpoint, food is the most important thing in life. It not only supplies the material to give energy, but it becomes a part of every cell in the body.

And so, just as farmers have found that certain foods are necessary to produce sound hardy animals, so have research man learned that human beings can be strengthened or weakened according to the kinds of food eaten.

Now the mistake that was made a few years ago, was trying to induce people to eat so much of each kind of food daily.

As you know, you disliked having to try and remember what you had for breakfast, lunch and dinner so as to make sure you got certain foods in definate amounts each day. Eating should be a real pleasure, a joy in fact, and having to watch practically every mouthful took all pleasure and joy away.

If you are in ordinary health, allyou need to remember is that someraw food and some green food should be eaten daily. Eat everything you like—bread, butter, meat vegetables—but, add some fruit and green stuff and you need think no further about your diet.

But what about people who ar not well?

There is no question but that in certain ailments, food is the most important point in the treatment. Just as it has been discovered that the starchy foods—bread and potatoes—must be cut down in diabetes, so also in cases of high blood pressure, heart disease, chronic stomach and intestinal ailments must the diet be cagefully watched.

Dr. L. Langstroth, San Francisco, investigated 500 cases of patients suffering with above ailments, and introduced into their diet a large percentage of "protective" oods, rich in vitamins—eggs, milk, fruit, vegetables, and especially lettuce. A diet containing 70 per cent of these foods was given in the above 500 cases. Of this number 73 per cent were much improved or greatly relieved. There was an improvement in body weight, skin, and mucous membranes, showing that food, and food only, was responsible for these changes.

Under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, a very successful tea and sale of home-made cooking was held yesterday afternoon in the Lecture Room of the church. The color scheme was delightful, the arrangement of the table being carried out in a lovely effect in yellow and mauve. A Cluny lace cloth was centred by a silver basket filled with yellow daffodils and soliel d'or, and the mauve note was in candles in silver holders and stocks in silver bud vases. Large ferns were placed about the room and the little tables were done with small vases of narcissus, tulips and soliel d'or (golden narcissus). The guests were received by the president of the W.M.S., Mrs. W. R. Turner, and Mrs. D. Jordan was general convenor, assisted by Mrs. G. S. McKee. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Allan and Mrs. E. F. Mason, and the sale of home-made cooking was in charge of Mrs. S. Taylor and Mrs. T. Gilgour. Miss Nina Davidson acted as treasurer. Assistants included Mrs. H. B. Cowan, Mrs. W. J. Hancock. Mrs. J Gillespie, Mrs. J. Garbutt, Mrs. C. A. White, Mrs. J. P. Pulkinghorn, Mrs. R. McGregor, Mrs. W. Lyburn, and Mrs. J. McCaw. A very pleasant musical was furnished by Miss Daisy Davidson and Miss Bertha Hill, in vocal solos, with accompaniments played by Mrs. James Matthews.

One of the most successful card parties in the history of the hall was held last evening at the Canadian Legion building, when the members and friends of the Alumnae of Nicholl's Hospital gathered there for a pleasant evening of bridge. Eighty-one tables were played. The Alumnae made splendid arrangements for the party, decorating the hall attractively with the red and white of the Valentine season and carrying out the same colorful idea in the heart-shaped refreshments served at the conclusion of the games. The guests were received by the past president of the Nicholls Hospital Alumnae, Miss Fanny Dixon, and by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent at the hospital. The president, Miss Helen Anderson, was absent through illness. Miss Alma Dobbin was convenor of the social committee, Miss Mabel Watson was in charge of the bridge games and Miss Lily Simpson looked after the decorations. The prizes were drawn for and were announced by Dr. A. G. Howson. They went to Miss Margaret Eastwood, Mrs. W. M. Lang, Mr. C. D. Osterland and Mr. Alan Gray. Mrs. F. E. Saltman won the lucky number prize. A pleasant intermission was the graceful ballet dance by Miss Sophie Yeotes, with accompaniment at the piano played two young ladies were presented with pretty bouquets of tulips. The funds derived from the bridge will be applied to the objective of the Alumnae; the furnishing of a room in the projected new wing of the Hospital. Among those present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. Detcher, Mr. and Mrs. J. Comstock, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brackenridge, Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hills, Dr. and Mrs. G. Hon. Joseph Dillon Recalls Days When Legislators Carried Own Grabstakes

MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—Bastling members of the Legislature who find their journey to Quebec ruined if their taxi is a couple of minutes late or their chambrette is a degree or so too cool, should have sat with Dollard Assembly, Knights of Columbus, recently when Hon. Joseph Dillon conjured up for a few moments halcyon days of old Quebec.

"Those were the days of no parliamentary indemnity," said the minister. "The members, or many of them, took their provision with them when they went to the session which lasted from November to Spring. What they took in the way of provisions is interesting to note. A little barrel of salt pork, another collecton of roasts of fresh pork, potatoes galore, while one traveller tells of having met one honorable member who had a small keg of ready - made pancakes." The speaker quoted Fairchild: "Some of them went to Quebec in their own boats and anchored for the session in the St. Charles River. They took their provisions and firewood with them. There they lived, smoked their pipes and drank large quantities of rum. Legislation suffered little at their hands and they took their time at it."

For Mayor Houde and the aldermen of 1931, who debate amid marble, teakwood, ebony and bronze, there was an illuminating scene of the City Council of 1844. "They met in a building on Notre Dame street, near Bonsecours street, owned by a Mr. Hays who ran the waterworks. On one occasion, it is related, during a hot debate in council, part of the tank gave way, and the mayor and aldermen were nearly drowned."

The audience agreed that times have changed—everything but the weather. For, outside, snow whirled down in sheets into deep-rutted streets, just as it did generations ago.

Churchmen Debate On Book Of Genesis

LONDON, February 6 (C.P.). — That old dispute about literal interpretation of the Book of Genesis created a brief debate in the Church Assembly to-day, when the Bishop of Birmingham protested against the serious consideration of a proposal that the Assembly go on record for literal acceptance of the first chapter of Genesis.

Asserting that the chapter demanded the regard of the church "because of its emphasis on the creative activity of God," he nevertheless protested the resolution which he said was to be introduced by the Rev. C. E. Douglas of London.

That clergyman, however, said that he had not made such a suggestion seriously, and the brief flurry was over when the Bishop asserted that literal interpretation had become invalid in the face of scientific discoveries.

Spain's largest railway systems, the "Norte," did $1,600,000 more business in 1930 than in 1929.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY ELECTS DR. A. J. MADILL AS PRESIDENT

CONSTITUTION AMENDED.

The Peterborough Horticultural Society held its annual meeting in the City Council Chamber last evening, at which the following officers were elected for the coming year: Honorary Presidents, His Worship Mayor Denne and W. H. Young Vice-Pres., Alderman W. Stocker; President, Dr. A. J. Madill; 1st vice-pres., R. M. Glover; 2nd, Miss A. M. Lancaster; Secretary Treasurer, S. T. Harris; Directors, J. S. Bell, F. H. Dearborn; A. Spencely, G. Clark and Miss A. M. Price; Auditors, F. Holmes and W. Stocker.

The retiring president, W. H. Young, in his address, mentioned that the membership, 99, was not as good as it might have been, but that the Society was financially sound. He also referred to co-operation with the C.G.E. in the flower show display.

The secretary, John Edgar, read the recommendations passed at a meeting held on January 27, as follows:

That a paid secretary be appointed.

That options up to 60 cents in value, wholesale prices, be given to members.

That directors of the Society should not tender for options.

That committees be appointed at the annual meeting.

That a nomination committee should be formed under the leadership of H. L. Beal.

These recommendations were discussed at some length, and were finally adopted.

The following members compose the various committees, the first named in each case to be chairman: Finance and Campaign, H. L. Beal, S. T. Harris, A. Spencely; Publicity, R. M. Glover, J. H. Callander, J. S. McGiffin, T. H. Adams; Competition, W. H. Young, F. Biddle, F. Hall, J. Seymour, Miss A. M. Price; Show, S. T. Harris, W. H. Young, H. Carter, R. F. Ivey; Premium, J. Edgar, F. Biddle, J. Seymour, Miss A. M. Lancaster; Beautification, J. S. Bell, Ald. W. Stocker, Dr. J. E. Middleton, W. A. Prest; Juniors, F. H. Dearborn, J. B Nelson.

The financial report for the year 1930 as given by the secretary is as follows:

Receipts.

Balance on hand for 1930	$59.27
Legislative grant	176.00
Members' Subscriptions	99.00
Donations	17.00
Junior Members	81.60

Stamps	5.77
Fees and badges	29.54
Printing	113 0
Total	$356.36
Balance on hand for 1931	$80.11

Dr. Madill delivered the report of the Junior members. There 535 members, 1097 packages of seed were given away, and 207 exhibits sent in by 120 entrants in the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

J. B. Nelson, local representative of the Department of Agriculture, was highly commended for his work during the past year in obtaining plants from farmers and distributing them to the rural schools. Last year Mr. Nelson procured enough plants to supply eight schools with perennial beds. For this reason he was tendered a vote of thanks.

The president elect gave a few remarks. He spoke of the large amount of work to be done in the beautification of the home and the city. He complimented the Society on selecting such a fine executive for the coming year, but stressed the point of the necessity of an increased membership.

Messrs. Harris and Biddle were appointed as delegates to the Canadian Horticultural meeting at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto., on Thursday, February 12.

The business part of the meeting then gave way to discussion. The desirability of a membership campaign was unanimously recognized by those present at the meeting. It was emphatically suggested that the people of the city co-operate to beautify their particular section of the city, and to help let Peterborough remain one of the most beautiful cities of the province.

TOMATO JUICE IS RECOMMENDED BY HEALTH MINISTER

Hon. Dr. John Robb Says It Supplies Deficiency in Ordinary Diet.

GUARDS AGAINST SCURVY

Ontario's Minister of Health, the Hon. Dr. John Robb, is a firm believer in the healthfulness of tomatoes, particularly in the efficacy of the juice of canned tomatoes in the winter season when the average diet is deficient in vitamin C, as a protection against scurvy and kindred conditions.

In the course of an interview at his Queen's Park office, the Hon. Dr. Robb explained the food and medicinal values of tomatoes, and in view of the large supplies of fine-flavored Canadian tomatoes now obtainable at record low prices, it would seem that this commodity is one answer to the quest of Canadian women for nutritious, healthful foodstuffs that can be economically purchased.

Protects Against Scurvy

"The tomato," pointed out the Hon. Dr. Robb, "contains pulp, seeds, and a large quantity of juice. The valuable properties of the tomato, from a dietary and medicinal pont of view, are contained in the juice, and the most important element in these dietary properties is a large proportion of the vitamin which protects against scurvy, known as vitamin C."

"During the winter months vitamin C in the ordinary human diet, especially that part represented by milk, is considerably reduced, and therefore it is particularly essential that in the winter our dietary deficiency be taken care of by some food or food-accessory rich in vitamin C. Nothing in this connection is superior to tomato juice," declared the Minister of Health. "A fortunate fact in this connection is that the vitamin C in tomato juice is adequately protected by the presence of fruit acids, so that the heat required in the process of canning is not sufficient to materially reduce the vitamin C content of the juice.

Recommended for Infants

"Orange juice has long been recognized as an excellent protective against scurvy, and its use during the winter months for infants artificially fed has become common. We know now that tomato juice is equally as good as orange juice for this purpose, and it has the advantage that the required amount of juice may be taken for the infant, and the balance of the can, when we serve canned tomatoes, may be used as an excellent food for the family.

"The important point to be noted is that our regular diet requires a supplement to provide in the winter for the deficiency in vitamin C. Tomato juice adequately supplies this deficiency."

PETERBORO' RELIEF ASSOCIATION WILL MAKE APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Work of Organization Appreciated By Central Charity Board Which Recognizes the Necessity for its Existence.

The Peterborough Relief Association has been operating for the past three weeks through its members, and it is a consolidation for co-operation of some forty relief organizations that have been operating in the city for the care of the needy for a long time. The executive of the organization has had meetings with the Central Charity Board, of which R. C. Braund is chairman and Arthur Metheral, relief officer. This body has expressed, in a resolution, its appreciation of the work done by the Peterborough Relief Association and endorsed means suggested of raising funds necessary for the carrying on of its work.

Every legitimate case that can be taken care of by the Central Charity Board, it has been arranged, will be taken care of through its relief officer, but the Board realizes that there are many necessary cases of relief that it is impossible for them to deal with, and others only in part. Some of such cases which the Relief Association finds it necessary to assist are as follows.

Homes where the families have not been residents of the city sufficiently long to secure relief. Families whose head is on part time work in factories require help especially during the winter when an extra supply of fuel is necessary. Families in the townships are receiving some assistance.

Families who will not ask for relief, but friends or neighbors advise some one confidentially of their plight. Medicines in homes. Homes where boarders are residing but out of work, and have placed a burden on the head of the home, who does not care to put the young men out on the street. There are new problems to meet every day, and every family is being visited with a view of helping their condition. Very often a call will come between five and six o'clock that some one is altogether out of wood, or provisions; in this case the order is always filled and a personal visit made. Material has been purchased and garments are being made for newly born babies.

All this work and relief requires funds, this has been provided by about $800.00 of publicity, subscribed money and $1,000.00 cash obtained through the proceeds of two dances and the midnight show in the Capitol Theater. To this must be added the individual funds expended by the various relief organizations, before the consolidation which are now exhausted.

That only this amount of money has been necessary in the City up to a few weeks ago causes amazement to all interested in relief work here or elsewhere. For the past two weeks the Association has been making its purchases against an overdraft on the bank and it is now necessary to secure funds to carry on.

The Advisory Board of the Peterborough Relief Association, composed of representative men of the city are arranging that an appeal be made to all citizens who are on full time for a subscription to the relief fund of at least one days pay for two months to carry on the very necessary work required in the City. Further particulars will be given in the press from day, to day.

FRUIT TERMINAL TO BE STUDIED

Col. Kennedy Named to Appoint Committee to Settle Matter.

FINLAYSON PRESIDES.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 6.—A conference was held to-day at Parliament Buildings, presided over by Hon. Wm. Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, between officials of the railways, and Toronto fruit and commission men into the proposed union fruit terminal for Toronto. Hon. Mr. Finlayson presided in the absence of Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, who is speaking to-day in the Grenville by-election.

It was determined that Col. Kennedy should appoint a committee representative of the railways, the commission men and fruit dealers, the City of Toronto, Harbor Commission, and growers. This committee is to study the problem in an effort to arrive at a desirable agreement to all parties concerned.

"Considerable progress was made toward starting the terminal," said Hon. Mr. Finlayson, "all being agreed that its construction is most desirable but upon terms that are agreeable to all those concerned."

LEFT WING SCORES TRIUMPH

LONDON, Feb. 6 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Labor's left wing scored a fleeting triumph in the House of Commons to-day. After five hours' argument they secured second reading of a bill which aims to establish a national minimum living wage. The Conservative members strongly opposed the bill. They called it the "Wrecking Industries Bill," and the "Triumph of muddled thinking."

SKIERS END LONG TRIP.

TORONTO, Ont., February 6. — Eleven days for three youths to cover 350 miles on one giant pair of skiis is the accomplishment of Ken Kearney, Bill Soughton, and Jim McCauley, North Cobalt youths, who left the northern town on January 25, and arrived at their destination here to-day.

MAN IN DROWNED

OACALA, Fla., Feb. 6.—One man was drowned and several reported injured to-day when a glass bottom boat caught fire from a gasoline explosion at Silver Springs, near here.

J. A. Perkins, 68, Oak Park, Ill., was drowned when he jumped from another boat during the excitement, witnesses said.

OSHAWA COPS EASY VICTORY FROM LOCALS

SMOOTH COMBINATION.

Winners Shape Up as Potential Winners of Provincial Championship.

Unless a miracle occurs in Oshawa on Saturday night the Peterborough Intermediates are out of the O.H.A. race. Said miracle might take the form of pneumonia or some other dread disease suddenly descending upon "Doc" Rowden and his colleagues, because enjoying normal health they proved all to conclusively here last night that they outclass the Petes. They encountered little difficulty in handing the locals a 7 to 2 defeat in the first game of the group championship series.

In fact Oshawa showed such smart form last night that they shape up as the potential winners of the provincial championship. It might have been better for all other intermediate clubs if the O.H.A. had dumped Oshawa into the senior series. They perform like a senior club.

Except for the last period when the Petes shoved everyone up on the attack and succeeded in hemming the redshirts in, Oshawa controlled the play. In the first period they scored three goals and returned for three more in the second. In the final stanza they boosted the count to 7-0, then easing off they allowed the Petes to carry the play to them. The blue shirts did it so well that they kept Goalie Burr on edge for three-quarters of that final canter and succeeded in steering two past him.

Smooth Combination

Oshawa performed like a well-oiled machine. They had a smart passing attack when they cared to use it; backchecked the Petes all the way, thus making a defence that the blues seldom managed to penetrate. Their strongest threat consisted of their first-string forward line of Rowden, Bond and Black and this trio accounted for five of their goals. Rowden led the way with four. Conlin, a substitute helped himself to two and Black scored the other. Bond, their smooth and fast-skating centre, gave two passes that were turned into goals.

A weak spot was not evident in the whole Oshawa team. Their defence pair, Elliott and Densen, gave Burr great protection, and made dangerous rushes. Houck, a substitute, is a player of long experience and he gave much punch to the subline.

Relief Players Good

The relief forwards gave the most valuable service to the Petes. Dallin was bororwed from the juniors for the night and he went as good as any of the blue-shirted players. Jarvis teamed up nicely with him and together with Calladine they staged some of the best work for the Petes. Dallin gained the score sheet on a pass from Calladine and Jarvis gave Lebarr the pass for the other goal.

Offensively Lebarr took a prominent part making many solo excursions that carried him within scoring range. Hatton played his usual steady game and Maudsley several times stickhandled his way through, but was generally knocked off balance by the defence.

Both goalies turned in nice cards. Gillespie being given a very busy evening for the major part of the game, and making many brilliant saves. Every shot fired at him was a bullet drive and the Oshawa snipers knew when and where to shoot.

The teams:

Oshawa—Goal, Burr; defence, Elliott and Densen; centre, Bond; wings, Black and Rowden; alternates, Conlin, Houck and Robinson.

Goal—Gillespie; defence, Lackey and Lebarr; centre, Maudsley; wings, Hatton and Creighton; alternates, Dallin, Jarvis and Calladine.

Referee—Norm Cook of Orillia.

The game had just got nicely underway when Rowden went down and burned one off Gillespie's pads and into the nets for the first goal. Up until that time the Petes had been backchecking nicely and Rowden's shot was the first on the Petes' nets. Rowden continued to give the Petes the greatest trouble and he was in for several close shots. Lebarr went up, but his shot was wide. With Calladine serving a penalty Conlin drove a shot from the blue line past Gillespie for the second goal. Creighton pumped a long shot at Burr and Hatton went in for the rebound, but Burr saved. Creighton and Lackey returned on a combination rush, but the red-head's shot was wide. Bond drew the Petes' defence to his side and then passed to Black, who waltzed in on top of Gillespie for the third counter.

Opening the second period, Lebarr, Maudsley and Hatton in turn and together carried the rubber in for shots at Burr, Dallin and Calladine combined for a shot that forced Burr to split. Rowden and Black returned but Gillespie made a great save. Rowden went down alone, stickhandled around the defence and backhanded a shot into the nets. Later, Conlin did a solo act, splitting the defence to lift the rubber into the corner. Oshawa continued to open all the real opportunities and less than five minutes went by when Bond gave Rowden a perfect at the defence to allow Rowden to again pick the corner for Oshawa's sixth goal.

Rowden raised Oshawa's ante to seven in the first minute of the third period when he blazed a shot in from outside the defence. The contest began to warm up somewhat and Referee Cook issued penalties rather freely. The Petes earned their first success when Calladine gave Dallin a pass out in front of Oshawa's nets form the corner and Dallin, who was parked on Burr's mat, plugged it in. The Petes sent five men into the attack and kept the play up in Oshawa's end. Several times Oshawa was short-handed with penalties, but they managed to stave off the Petes' determined attempts until eleven minutes later when on a face off near Oshawa's goal Jarvis passed to Lebarr who shot and scored. For the remainder Oshawa continued to allow the Petes to carry the play and while the losers laid many shots at Burr they failed to raise the score.

Summary:

Rangers Defeat is Biggest Surprise of Soccer Season

Here is a photograph of Glasgow Rangers Football Club, whose defeat by Dundee in the second round of the Scottish Cup last Saturday was one of the biggest surprises of the season. Last season Rangers created a record by winning everything for which they entered. Their successes included the Scottish Cup, Glasgow Cup, Glasgow Charity Cup, Scottish League Championship, Scottish Second Eleven Cup, and Scottish Alliance Championship. This was a second world's record for the club, the previous one being in 1896-9 when they won every match in the league schedule. Included in the above are players who have often played for Scotland, and one, Alan Morton, who is considered one of the finest players the game has ever known. We are indebted to William Struth, manager of the Rangers, and to The Daly Express of Glasgow for the photograph. Back row, left to right: J. McPherson, J. Fleming, J. Doherty, A. L. Morton, J. JUNIOR SEXTETS MEET SATURDAY

St. John's and Hockey Club Hook-up in Second Game For Group Championship.

GREAT GAME EXPECTED.

Saturday night Peterborough's two Junior O.H.A. entries will again step out on the Brock street arena to continue the series for the group championship.

On the dope sheet it is Hockey Club's turn to win. These two fast young teams have clashed three times this winter the blue shirts taking the first and St. John's winning the other two. St. John's grabbed the first game of the championship series by 3 to 0, but while they failed to register on the score sheet Jimmy McMartin's lads had a great share of the play. In the game tomorrow night the blues will throw everything into the attack in order to win. Goals count on the round, so that if Hockey Club overcome St. John's lead they will be group champs.

Both teams will be at full strength for the clash and there promises to be a full house of fans to watch them tangle.

The game will get underway at 9 o'clock, thus allowing merchants in the city to see this tidy battle.

RANGERS ADVANCE TO PLAY-OFF PLACE

Blank Americans 2-0—Dillon Scores Double Counters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Cecil Dillon, the newest member of the New York Rangers, outshone the established stars last night as the blue-shirted New Yorkers defeated their intra-city hockey rivals, the Americans, 2 to 0. Dillon scored both the goals that put the Rangers back into third place in the American division of the National Hockey League.

Late in the first period, Dillon was on hand to catch the rebound of "Butch" Keeling's shot and force it past Roy Worters, brilliant little American goal-keeper. In the third frame, he broke away from the closing drive of the A's and tricked Worters out of place for the second counter. In addition to these scoring feats, Dillon played a great defensive game and his clever checking helped the Blue Shirts on the many occasions when penalties left them a man short.

HAWKS BEAT QUAKERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The combination of Tommy Cook and "Stew" Adams lifted the Chicago Blackhawks to a 6 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Quakers in a ragged National League hockey match at the Chicago Stadium last night.

Cook whipped in three goals and helped on two scored by Adams and their all-around play contrived to keep the puck in Philadelphia ice most of the evening. Cook scored two in the first period and his last one in the second, Adams connected in the second and again in the final session. Frank Ingram was responsible for the other Hawk markers.

KING LOOP LEADERS TANGLE TO-NIGHT

Bisons Travel to London While Indians Meet Bulldogs at Windsor.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 6. (By Geo. Maguire, Canadian Press Sport Writer).—The four leading teams in the International Hockey League clash in to-night's two game schedule. Both tussles will be played on Canadian rinks with the leading Buffalo Bisons travelling to London and the third place Cleveland Indians meeting the Bulldogs at Windsor.

The Tecumsehs, during their recent remarkable rise from the bottom to a contending position in the standing, trounced the Buffalonians decisively and look good enough to bring the pace makers two points nearer the pack by downing them again.

Mickey Roach's thoroughly drilled team are leading Windsor by four points, but a defeat at the hands of the Londoners coupled with a victory for the Bulldogs, will place both Canadian teams within easy striking distance of the top rung.

The Indians are five points behind the Bulldogs, but their object to fight is not in reducing this margin so much as placing a safe distance between them and the Tecumsehs who are only one point behind the Ohio city champions.

COUNTER BY SMITH SPELLS 5-4 VICTORY

Detroit Falcons Given Surprise By Senators in N.H.L. Win.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 6.—The Ottawa Senators won their sixth National Hockey League game of the season here last night, beating the Detroit Falcons 5 to 4 in a loosely played game that saw each team pile in four goals during the first period.

After the first period scoring spree, which came about largely through loose defensive play on the part of both squads, the game turned into a dull affair, with both teams bungling passes and missing easy chances at the net. Goalers Dolson and Connell played brilliantly in the last two periods, furnishing most of the exciting moments for the 7,300 spectators.

MAROONS TIE CANUCKS 4-4

Four Major Penalties Incurred in First Period—Munro Men Rally.

PLAY OVERTIME.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 6.—An overtime session failed to break a 4—4 tie between the Canadiens and the Montreal Maroons in an exciting National Hockey League battle here last night. The Maroons came from behind twice to tie the score, and then Canadiens batted in a goal and tied the count for a third time with fifty seconds left to play.

The overtime session was fast and furious, but stout goaltending and back-checking forwards prevented any further scoring. The first period of the game was goalless and rough. There were four majors handed out for a young war, with S. Mantha, Gagnon, Stewart and Boucher going to the bench. In contrast, there were no penalties handed out in the extra session. Altogether timekeepers charted twenty-one penalties.

ORILLIA CURLERS WIN BURDEN CUP

TANKARD CONSOLATION.

TORONTO, February 6. — By defeating Lindsay in the final by 16 shots, Orillia carried off the Burden Trophy, consolation event of the Ontario Tankard competition, at the Toronto Club yesterday afternoon.

In the semi-finals yesterday morning, Lindsay defeated Sarnia by 3 shots and qualified to meet Orillia. The semi-final match was close all the way and was not won until the last end of the Butler-McKenzie game, Butler scoring the winning margin on that end. In the other, Carew and Watson finished in a tie at 13 all.

The afternoon game saw Lindsay secure an early lead, but fail to hold it. Dick Butlers' rink was 8 shots up on J. E. Hinds at the end of the fifth, but did not score again until the fifteenth. The Orillia curlers made a great recovery to come from behind and double the score on their opponens. Dr. Harvie's rink captured the other game, taking the lead after the sixth end and holding it from then on. The games were featured by three or four big ends, considering that it was a final.

The rinks and scores were:

CANUCKS BLANK CORSAIRS 1-0 IN THE OPENER

South End Sextet Forced to Put Up Furious Battle to Come Away With Win.

SEVERAL PENALTIES.

Stars Outspeed Electrics to Take Big End of 3-0 Count in Second Game.

The Shut-out League, otherwise known as the South End City League, ran true to form last night when the two games played both ended in whitewash coats for the losers. The ice at the Sacred Heart rink was good but continuous falling snow made puck carrying difficult and teamwork practically impossible. The twin bill presented four junior teams, and the action was thrilling, if at times spotty.

Pirates were forced to walk the plank for Canucks in the opener, 1 to 0, but it was a battle all the way. The first period saw considerable shooting, but from a distance. It was a fairly fast and even frame, with neither team able to score. The boys began speeding it up in the second, and the play became rougher. Butt-ending, boarding and slashing started the big parade to the penalty-box, both teams sharing equally. Half way through, Heffernan bored in on the Bucs' net for the only tally of the game. The final period was plenty rough, with the heavy going making anything but individual efforts impossible. The play was mostly up at the winners' end toward the last. Rogers worked hard for the losers, while for Canucks "Moose" Bailey never slowed up. The teams:

Electrics Lose Out 3—0

In the second game, Stars outspeeded Electrics to take the big end of a 3—0 count. It was a clean game and featured by nice back-checking on the part of the losers. Both goalies were good, but "Chuck" Clark for Electrics keeping out a flock of goals, was the most valuable man on the ice. The opening stanza was still young when Tranter batted in Pierson's rebound for the first one. Toward the end, Cotton went in on a pretty rush to make it two. Neither outfit countered in the second chukker. In this period, Stars were much faster, but Electrics checked persistently. Cotton netted one more in the last chapter to make it three for the winners. Electrics had four men up at the last. When one of the Electric players went off for a minute in the third, it was the first Electric penalty in six games.

Referee—C. Raney.

Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth star and world's wrestling champion, has been thrown for a fall by "Dan Cupid." He is shown here with Miss Marie Dorothy Elliott of Belmont, Mass., to whom he has just announced his engagement.

CHURCH LEAGUE PLAY-OFFS ON MONDAY NIGHT

Mark Street Earns Way Into Berth By 4-3 Victory Over All Saints' Last Night.

CLOSE PLAY.

Trinity Cop Victory in the Second Game By 1-0 Count—Knox Put Up Great Battle.

Two midget games at All Saints' rink last night wound up the Church Hockey League schedule. Snow on the ice made the going tough, but despite that, both games were battles from beginning to end. The play-offs begin Monday night of next week. This is how the midget section finished:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
George Street	4	1	0	8
Mark Street	4	1	0	8
St. Paul's	3	2	0	6
All Saints'	1	3	1	3
Trinity	1	3	1	3
Knox	1	4	0	2

In the first game last night, Mark Street earned their way into the play-offs by a 4—3 win over All Saints. The only superiority shown by the winners was on team-play. The score was 1—1 at the end of the first period, and 2-all in the second. With the play lightning fast through the final go, the boys from East City went in on several pretty combination efforts, only to be robbed by the goalie. Five minutes before the bell, they whistled the prize one into the corner of the net. The teams:

Trinity Blanks Knox 1—0

The second game went to Trinity 1 to 0, but Knox made it a great scrap right till the end. The going was slow, and the players were inclined to mix things up at times, but both outfits were quite evenly-matched in every department. The first two chapters were scoreless, though plenty of shots kept the net-guardians on their toes. Individual thrusts marked the contest, while hard back-checking kept the play going up and down. The third period was almost over when Jim Thorburn snaked his way right in and slipped a low one past LeClair. Trinity played a strictly defensive game for the remaining few minutes.

Referee.—H. Hall.

SNOWSHOE MUSHERS START ON 6TH LAP

Hoey's Lead Seriously Threatened By Gavuzzi and Desroches.

BERTHEIR, Que., Feb. 6 (C.P.)—The sixth lap, from Bertheir to L'Assomption, a distance of 25 miles, of the international snowshoe marathon from Quebec to Montreal, started here this morning.

Though seriously threatened by Peter Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England, and Fred Desroches, of Montreal, Frank Hoey of Montreal won yesterday's lap of 20 miles from Louisville to Bertheir in 2 hours, 58 minues and 20 seconds. His elapsed time, 19 hours and 9 minutes, just one hour and 7 minutes ahead of Arthur Newton, South African veteran, who is second in elapsed time. Gavuzzi today was fourth in total time standing, and Descroches third.

SCHAAF IS VICTOR OVER 2 OPPONENTS

Baer and Tommy Loughran Meet To-night in Madison Square Garden.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(CP)— Max Baer and Tommy Loughran, who are matched in a ten round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight have at least one thing in common — they've been beaten by Ernie Schaaf of Boston.

Loughran, after he retired as undefeated light heavyweight champion and joined the heavyweights, dropped two decisions to Schaaf. Baer, after a sensational career in the far west, made his eastern debut a few weeks ago against Schaaf and was outpointed for his pains.

Few boxers ever came east more mightly touted than Baer and the Californian has not shown much to justify the ballyhoo. He looked aggressive enough against Schaaf but he did not appear to advantage in his knock out victory over old Tom Heeney, the New Zealand blacksmith. Heeney was giving the youngster a fine beating when he was smoked out of the ring in the third round and counted out when the officials got their mathematics all tangled up.

Seventy Skiers Entered In Ontario Competition

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. ...—(By the Canadian Press.) — More than 70 skiers from leading clubs in Eastern Canada will take part in the Ontario ski jumping and cross-country running championships to be held in Ottawa this week-end. Montreal, Toronto and the Cliffside and Ottawa ski clubs have large entry lists while Dartmouth College of Hanover, N.H., will be represented by Donald Cruikshanks, former Ottawa boy who during his sophomore year at Dartmouth won the Intercollegiate title in contests with the best college skiers of Canada and the U. S.

The 10 mile cross country run will be held Sunday afternoon on the heights of Camp Fortune, in the nearby Gatineau Hills of Quebec.

Perkins Meets Wingate In Golf Champ Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 6.—(CP)—T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, faced his greatest potential threat of the tournament as he crossed clubs with Robert Wingate, Jacksonville, National public links champion in the semi-final play of the National championship of golf club champions here to-day.

Perkins overwhelmed Donald Mackay, White Plains, N.Y., 11 and 10, to get to the semi-final round while Wingate was giving Jack Cummings, Cleveland, Ohio a drubbing.

Dann also smashed his way into to-day's 36 holes by a 5 and 3 victory over Tommy Goodwin, Monroe, N.Y., co-medalist for the tournament. Reynolds had little difficulty advancing as he licked R. H. Lansdell, Hackensack, N.J.

CURLING

The results of the schedule games played at the local curling rink last night were as follows:

Activity in Steel and Automobile Industries Much Improved During the Month of January

The month of January has justified expectations of an improvement in the business situation. Activity in the steel and automobile industries has increased and has been paralleled by a general broadening out of business in other important lines. Employment reports indicate a substantial expansion of payrolls in the manufacturing centres. Sentiment among business men is distinctly more confident, and in general the business situation wears a more hopeful aspect than it has in some time.

To what extent the improvement in sentiment is due to the better trend in the security markets is impossible to say. Whether at any given point it should be said that business reflects the stock market or that the stock market reflects business is always a question for debate. Doubtless in the long run the stock market will take its cue from business rather than the reverse, but the two influences act and react upon each other, and there can be no doubt that the swing of stock prices is an important factor in shaping public psychology.

Naturally, the reports of expanding operations in various branches of industry likewise have been helpful to sentiment, even though at this stage it is difficult to differentiate between purely seasonal and more permanent gains. Knowledge, also, that the country has come through the critical days of December without more serious upsets has tended to inspire greater confidence in the soundness of the economic fabric, while with some people a feeling of relief over the passing of 1930 and a tendency to see some magical significance in the "turn of the year" seems to be the basis for a not-so-well-grounded optimism.

GREASE IS FICKLE SKIERS FIND OUT

32 MILES PER DAY.

ORILLIA, Feb. 6—Three tired rhythm into Orillia Tuesday night with a lesson well learned, that grease doesn't always mean easy motion. Douglas Stoughton, 20, and Jim McCauley, 19, "Cobalt to Toronto in ten days" skiiers, standing in that order on a 18-foot pair of skis that weigh more than 30 pounds. It had been a hard day, hard at least from Severn Bridge to Orillia.

"We came into Severn in great style and swing," Ken Kearney said. "Then we decided that the skis needed 'tarring,' so we lit a fire and "tarred" them well. Then we tried to start. Our pace out of that village was two miles in two hours, with all the villagers laughing at us. We went out as if we had legs on."

32 Miles a Day

The trio started last Monday, January 26th, and stopped over a day at North Bay, held up by storms. "We have done 245 miles in seven days' travelling; that's about 32 miles a day," said Kearney. We'll reach Toronto on Friday, all right. We can do eight or nine miles an hour going strong, but we only go at it in short bursts. We do, say, ten miles an hour, sometimes two."

Frank Hongo, Finlander at North obalt, fashioned the unusual skiis. "We figured out last summer that we could work a pair of 18-foot skiis," explained Kearney. "Everybody laughed to beat the band and then said he'd try if we could find the wood in the country.

"Well, the three of us went out with an old horse into the woods and we found a peach of a birch tree," continued Kearney. "A great big, straight one, so heavy that the old horse could hardly drag it out. We got it out on Sunday and on Monday the old Finn had the skiis strung up to dry. He cut them clean as a whistle, hewed them out of that birch with a broadaxe. He sure can handle a broadaxe, but I guess it's the first time he has hewn a pair of skiis like ours."

Some stretches have been lonely. In one place they found the scattered remains of a slaughtered deer, run to earth by wolves. Tracks of wolves, deer and other animals have been found all along the highway.

To-day Kearney's left leg started to play out from overstrain. Stoughton led the first twelve miles, McCauley the next fifteen and Kearney almost all the rest of the way until the last mile to-night. A good rest and his legs will be all right he thinks.

"A little bit of frost to-night and the going will be good in the morning," said Stoughton. We'll make Toronto by Friday

Max Schmeling Faces $25,000 Legal Suit

Heavyweight Champion Sued For Causing Bodily Damage to Process Server.

ELIZABETH, N.J., Feb. 6. (CP)—No stranger to legal complications Max Schmeling will have to defend himself against a $35,000 damage suit in the New Jersey court.

The world's heavyweight champion was arrested at Summit, N.J., yesterday and required to post a bond for his appearance at trial of a suit brought on behalf of Joseph Rahl, Jr., 20-year old process server of New York.

Asking $35,000 damages, Rahl alleged that Schmeling tossed him down the steps of a New York hotel Monday when he attempted to serve papers in another suit on the German boxer. An additional $10,000 is sought by Rahl's father for loss of his son's services, and for medical treatment.

Rahl, in his suit, charged that "Schmeling violently and outrageously battered me and lifted me bodily and hurled me down the fifteen marble steps."

Deputy sheriffs served a capias writ on Schmeling just as the boxer and some friends had completed nine holes of golf and were having lunch before finishing the round.

Pittsburg Club Head Complains of Referees

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6. (CP)—R. Y. D. Schooley, president and manager of Pittsburgh club of the International hockey league, issued a statement to-day criticising work of some of the referees in the loop. He said: 'I never did believe in complaining about a referee, but it looks to me that the referees in this league, by accident or design, are determined to put Pittsburgh's pennant chances in the eclipse. The team really can not be blamed for not being up around second place.

I can recall at least a half dozen games which I witnessed and in which the Yellow Jackets played excellent hockey and had they gotten any breaks at all from the referee, would have won in each instance." "I hesitate to believe the referees would intentionally discriminate against us, but the thing seems to be getting a habit with them.

LANDIS ACTION AIRED IN COURT

Owners Believe Commissioner Overstepped His Authority in Bennett Case.

Challenge To Dictatorship.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. — Kenesaw Mountain Landis' side of the question in an injunction suit brought by the Milwaukee club of the American Baseball Association, was due today for presentation in the court of Federal Judge Lindsley— the same court in which Landis once handed down decisions.

The case is listed as a petition for injunction to restrain Landis as commissioner of baseball, from preventing the St. Louis club of the American League, in its efforts to send Outfielder Fred Bennett to the Milwaukee American Association Club, a St. Louis "farm." It is considered, however, as a challenge to Landis' dictatorship over organized baseball.

Bennett, purchased from Tulsa of the Western League by the Browns, later was sent back to Tulsa, also affiliated with the St. Louis 'organization, and still later to Milwaukee. He was ordered to report to St. Louis last season, but Landis ordered that he remain with the Brewers on the ground that the frequent transfer of the player constituted a violation of the major minor agreement.

Bennett, at the same time, asked to be made a free agent, and sought an injunction preventing his transfer to St. Louis.

Yesterday's hearing was devoted to listening to the case of the plaintiff during which officials of the Milwaukee and St. Louis clubs asserted the commissioner had overstepped his authority by interfering with the movements of the player.

T. E. Hall Elected To Head School Board

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The annual meeting of the Campbellford Board of Education was held on Wednesday in the Public Library, Campbellford, with the secretary, W. Stephens occupying the chair during the election of officers for the year 1931.

Three nominations were made for chairman, two however withdrawing and T. E. Hall being elected to that office. The Rev. N. Clark Wallace was appointed to fill the position of vice-chairman of the board.

Mr. Hall assuming the chair, the meeting proceeded with the order of business. On motion it was decided that the chairman, secretary and G. O'Sullivan be appointed a committee to elect the standing committees for 1931.

Mr. Stephens was reappointed secretary-treasurer of the board for the current year.

Another motion that carried was that the chairman or vice-chairman have power to sign all cheques and transact all business with the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

It was also agreed that the secretary and the chairman of the finance committee be authorized and empowered to contract for safety deposit boxes at the bank and to designate all persons who would be allowed access to them.

After the passing of accounts the meeting adjourned until the regular session, February 23.

REGULAR MEETING BAILIEBORO Y.P.S.

Editors For Society Paper Chosen for Month—Interesting Program.

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—The weekly meeting of the Y.P.S. of the United Church was held in the church on Tuesday evening, with about thirty of the members present.

The president, F. Barnard presided and led in the devotional service. The scripture readings were taken by Mrs. N. Thompson and Miss D. Dawson. Miss E. Jeurison gave the explanation of the scripture readings. Misses M. Barnard and C. Seense, Messrs. C. Lang and J. Porter led in brief prayers.

The secretary made the necessary announcements and transacted the business period. The young people decided to prepare a monthly paper within the organization. L. Dawson was elected editor for the paper this month, while Miss C. Seense was chosen assistant editor to prepare the editorials. Miss Esther Lang was appointed social editor, and J. Barnard sports editor. The Y.P.S. paper will be prepared and read at the citizenship meeting on February 17th.

The president then gave the topic choosing for his text, "Is it so that if ye sow to the flesh, of the flesh ye shall reap corruption."

The missionary meeting next week will be addressed by Rev. Mr. Moir, pastor of the Springville United Church.

HINDUS CLASH WITH MOSLEMS

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 5 (C.P.)—Seven Hindus and seven Moslems were injured in a communal clash here Wednesday.

The Hindus were carrying a golden image of their goddess Siva past two mosques where Moslems were celebrating the feast of Ramadan. The Hindu music disturbed the Moslems and a conflict ensued, with stones and bottles as the principal weapons. The police finally calmed the melee.

Board Room Gossip.

With advices from New York urging caution, it is not surprising that Montreal traders are taking only a passive interest in the market. The general expectation is that the Spring will witness only a seasonal improvement in business, and the public is not making the same mistake it made in 1930, when a sharp run-up in the market occurred in the winter months in anticipation of a substantial improvement in the Spring months, which failed to materialize.

A very substantial comeback in industrial activity this year is not looked for, and in fact, is not hoped for. A slow, steady and sure recovery over the balance of 1931 would be much better, as it would dispel a great deal of the pessimism that now prevails and pave the way for sustained prosperity.

Now is the period when the far-sighted investor adds to his strong box the outstanding securities that are practically entirely deflated. The big fortunes of this country have been made by people who were able to think for themselves and were not swayed by mob psychology. The time to buy stocks is when a depression is nearing its end and offerings are plentiful, and the time to sell is when prices are booming and everyone is bidding. It is true that if this policy was followed out in the last bull market, many investors and traders would not have gotten top prices, but they certainly would have avoided heavy losses in the subsequent break.

The proper thing for investors and traders to do now is to take stock of their position, weed out the securities that hold out little promise for the next few years, and replace them with holdings more attractive. There are so many excellent securities selling at levels below their intrinsic worth, that it is superfluous to name them. Any bank, investment house, broker or Financial Service will gladly supply a list of investments that should be adequate to meet the requirements of even the most discriminating of investors.

International Nickel around current levels is selling about 58 points under its 1929 high. At the peak, the capital stock of the company sold for more than $1,000,000,000. Fewer shares were out standing then than now. The present outstanding 14,609,467 shares at $14 a share, have a market value of less than $205,000,000. No doubt International Nickel was selling too high in 1929, but to-day it may be selling too low, even though it pays only 60 cents a share annually. International Nickel still has its ore reserves, although they are less valuable on a basis of present metal prices than in 1929 when copper, nickel and other of its products were commanding higher prices.

There has been no change in the character of the New York market. Because of this fact, conservative observers are maintaining their waiting attitude and keeping followers on the sidelines. Most of them favor reducing long holdings during good rallies because the leading stocks have encountered resistance when they have moved ahead and failed to carry through on all recent recoveries.

THE BANKRUPTCY ACT.

PROVINCE LARGEST CONTRIBUTOR TO ROADS OF PETERBORO COUNTY

Grants by the Ontario Government in 1930 Totalled $101,979, Including $20,825.51 Spent on Colonization Roads —Details Submitted By T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., in Report to the County Council.

In his statement to the county council last week of the monies spent on the roads of the county in 1930, T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P. of Havelock, laid special emphasis on the provincial government's total subsidy of $101,979.

The total expenditure on all roads in the county amounted to $186,806 in round numbers, of which the county contributed $86,827, and the government paid $101,979. The aggregate of all payments include the grants from the government, the county, the city of Peterborough and finally the townships, and Mr. Lancaster's detailed report shows that $20,825.51 was paid by the government for the improvement of colonization roads in the townships of Galway and Cavendish, Harvey, Burleigh and Anstruther and Chandos, with $2,000 as a special grant for work on the western boundary road from Bobcaygeon to Kinmount. The statement also sets out the allocation of the colonization road monies contributed by the Ontario government.

The city's share is included in the item for county roads as distinguished from township roads, and the total of $44,016 paid by the county and city was duplicated by the government by reason of the fact that the province pays "dollar for dollar" on the cost of constructing and maintaining these roads.

Mr. Lancaster's report to the county disclosed not only his interest in providing this information to the members of the county council and through them to his constituents, but it also indicated his activity in implimenting the promises which he made in his election campaign. As Mr. Lancaster remarked, the various grants from the government speak eloquently for themselves, and Mr. Lancaster's success in his first year as the representative of the major section of Peterborough county will be generally appreciated.

The first of the following tables shows the total amounts spent on township and county roads last year, one column listing the amounts paid by the county, townships and city, and the other the government's grants; with the total appearing in the third column. These figures include the subsidy for colonization roads.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY EXAMINER.

"Skinny" Sick Father Gains 15 Lbs. in 3 Weeks, New Pep

ANSELMO, Alta.—Mr. E. Kother says: "I was so run-down, weak nervous, couldn't work. Then tried Ironized Yeast. Gained 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Regained my health."

"Skinny," weak, nervous people amazed at gains of 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows, bony limbs fill out. Blemished skin clears. New pep first day. Constipation, indigestion, "nerves" go overnight. Avoids danger of serious ills.

Ironized Yeast is too great tonics in one. Weight-building brewer's yeast plus strengthening, blood-enriching iron. Many times more effective than unmedicated yeast. Results in half the time.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

The old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure has no truer application than in the case of fire.

Carefulness costs nothing, yet thousands of dollars are saved every day, for instance, by the matches that are not thrown away while burning.

Every child should be taught to recognize and appreciate the dangers that lie in all exposed flames.

Of the ten thousand annual deaths by fire in the United States, one-third are children under ten years of age.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 65 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

After setting the infernal machine Paulvitch blew out the lamp and stepped from the cabin. Cautiously he made his way to his former bunk and hastily gathering together his few possessions, crossed the deck and lowered himself in silence into his canoe. A minute or two later he was paddling toward the shore to be swallowed up in the darkness of the jungle night, meanwhile congratulating himself on the promising success of his plans.

Could he have had even a slight foreknowledge of what awaited him in the long years to come in the terrors of a hideous jungle existence he would have fled to the certain death of the open sea rather than endure it. But for the moment his thoughts were occupied with his fancied triumph and his earlier life in old Russia, where he had been taught the dastardly business by which he now believed he had doomed the Kincaid.

Years before, under the rule of the Czar in his native land, Paulvitch had been a prominent member of a famous and much feared band of Nihilists. In old St. Petersburg he had learned and practiced the making of these deadly machines which so often laid low the hated upper classes. To escape Siberia he had finally joined Rokoff's band to embark upon that villain's kidnapping expedition and its promise of gold.

During the long voyage to the African coast he had employed his spare time in constructing the infernal machine whose potential destructiveness could wipe out in the fraction of a second every enemy aboard the Kincaid. Paulvitch licked his lips in anticipatory joy. "Life and vengeance are not to elude me after all," he thought as he visioned the outcome of this night's gruesome work.

Downing Street Now Becomes Art Centre

Wife of Chancellor Holds Art Exhibition Just Next Door to Famous No. 10.

LONDON, February 6 (C.P.). — Mrs. Philip Snowden, wife of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, recently held a private exhibition of art at No. 11 Downing Street, the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, next door to the Prime Minister's official residence No. 10, and thereby inaugurated something new in official circles. Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald is interested in paintings and in living artists, and he showed more than passing interest in Mrs. Snowden's innovation.

The artists whose work was on exhibition are Fred Stratton, well-known both for his oil paintings and water-colors, and his son Hilary Stratton. Two reception rooms at No. 11 were filled with oil paintings, water-colors, and sculpture, the work solely of Stratton Senior and Stratton Junior.

CHANGE IN DUTY IS SAME AS RISE

New Car Tariff Would Be Assessable on List Price Only.

MEANS INCREASE.

OTTAWA, February 6. — A change in the method of computing the customs duty payable on United States automobiles, which is equivalent to an increase in protection of 15 per cent., and more in some cases, is reported to have been decided upon by the Government. This is in line with Premier Bennett's policy to safeguard the Canadian market for Canadian producers.

Hitherto automobiles manufactured in Detroit have been imported into Canada and valued for customs duty purposes at the Detroit list price, less the Canadian distributors' discount of from 25 to 30 per cent. The Government now proposes that duty shall be paid upon the Detroit list price, less an arbitrary discount of only 20 per cent., regardless of the actual discount allowed to Canadian distributors by the Michigan manufacturers.

Thus the duty on a car listed at $1,500 in Detroit will now be $330, instead of $275, the rate of duty being 27½ per cent. Upon a car listed at less than $1,200 in Detroit the rate of duty is only 20 per cent. and on one popular model, of which Canada has been importing more than 10,00 annually, the additional duty will be about $16.

The new figure of 20 per cent. discount from list prices which the Government is said to have decided upon is a compromise. Canadian manufacturers had suggested 17½ per cent. as a fair discount from the Detroit list prices for customs purposes, while the old rate averaged around 28 per cent.

Hundreds of Canadian distributors and dealers will be affected by the new ruling, which will be sanctioned by Order-in-Council.

Marriage Act Change Stirs Keen Debate

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 6. (CP)—Conservative opposition to a Government bill which would permit civil marriages in Manitoba provoked spirited debate in the Legislature yesterday but ended in the defeat of a motion aimed to strike out this clause. The bill to amend the marriage Act, introduced by A. T. M. Poole, Government member for Beautiful Plains, was given second reading.

Col. F. G. Taylor, Conservative Leader, contended the marriage ceremony in Manitoba should be kept strictly religious in character. Government members, supported by Liberals, supported the Poole bill, claiming that county court judges should be authorized to perform marriages for those who prefer the civil ceremony.

Lymburne Skier Will Lay Claim To Record

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Feb. 6. (CP)—G. Lymburne, Revelstoke skier, whose jump of 196 feet on the big hill here during the Canadian title event Wednesday was disallowed because officials ruled the hill was too dangerous for use, will make an official claim for the Canadian ski-jump title.

Lymburne bases his claim to titular honors on the fact that the big hill is the recognized class "A" hill of the Revelstoke Ski-Club, under whose auspices the Canadian championships were held.

co-operated with the Ontario Government in the expenditure of over $2,000,000 in rural road building in Northern Ontario.

"The Federal and Provincial authorities agreed that it would be wise that the opportunity to secure work should be spread to as many needy people as possible. It was, therefore, decided that the men should work eight hour days instead of the customary ten hours. We felt that 25c to 30c an hour was not enough particularly with men working only eight hours, and we fixed 35 cents as the minimum in all road work in which the Dominion Government co-operates. The men working in Northern Ontario are getting from five to ten cents an hour more than was the scale before unemployment relief was inaugurated by the Dominion Government and are working two hours a day less. I do not consider that shows slavery conditions."

must be increased. Neither made any definite statement on the Commonwealth Arbitration Court's refusal to allow the Commonwealth Government's request for postponement of the reduction of 10 per cent. in the basic wage, which the Arbitration Court recently ordered as a measure of national emergency.

The trouble started when Premier Scullin refused to allow the report and recommendations of a committee of experts, declaring that experts must confine their report to statistical data and that they must not attempt to dictate the Government's policy.

The representatives of all States except New South Wales expressed deep disappointment at the trend the conference had taken and admitted it was doomed to failure for all practical purposes.

As chairman, Premier Scullin declared that some experts estimated the total fall in national income at more than $500,000,000. The national credit was at a low ebb overseas, and borrowing was impossible, he said.

Unemployment Growing.

"Unemployment in Australia is increasing," Premier Scullin frankly declared. "The Commonwealth deficit is estimated in millions of pounds and the States deficits at five million pounds ($20,000,000). There will be larger deficits next year, unless conditions change in the meantime."

The Prime Minister declared it was utterly unjust to say the bulk of the Commonwealth's expenditures was due to Governmental extravagance. Some plan to deal with the short term overseas debt was essential. At the end of February the short term indebtedness overseas would amount to $270,000,000, of which $190,000,000 was owing to London.

Besides this there was an annual liability of $170,000,000 for interest on long-term loans overseas, and the unfavorable rate of exchange on Australia had now added $50,000,000 a year to this figure.

"The national spending power must be increased," said Premier Scullin. "The farmers urgently need help. Above all, the utterly unwarranted lack of confidence of investors in Government stocks must be removed."

MANY OLD SITES BEING SHOWN IN MODERN VILLAGE

SIMPLICITY OF PLAN.

By JEHANNE BIETRY SALINGER
(Special Writer for the Can. Press)

TORONTO Ont., Feb. 7.—How to build a purely modern village without including a single modern house within its boundaries, is demonstrated by a group of architects at the exhibition of the Toronto chapter of the Ontario Association of architecture, a preview of which was held last night at the Art Gallery of Toronto.

The complete exhibition includes photographs and drawings of the architects' work, a group of eighteenth century drawings by important architects of London, England, a group of scale models of contemporary buildings by members of the Toronto chapter, a group of United Empire Loyalist furniture, models of interiors from the firm of White Allon Company (Sir Charles Allon is decorator to Her Majesty the Queen), tapestries, sculpture, furniture and other examples of allied crafts and models portraying an early Ontario village.

To those who are beginning to feel Ontario conscious in their effort to evolve a style of architecture which would all at once be indigenous to the country and yet in keeping with the demands of our day, simplicity of plan, smooth surfaces as well as a perfect fitness of the interior to the exterior, it will appeal that the main feature of this exhibition is to be found in the model portraying an early Ontario village.

The portrayal of this early Ontario village shows it as it looked about one hundred years ago. Each model is absolutely accurate and has been made to scale. The village however, is arbitrary in that it includes models of buildings found in various localities throughout Ontario. The plan of the village recalls the arrangement of the streets in Colbourne and is due to Mr. Gordon Culham who was assisted in his work by Mr. Ryrie. In the center of the village and dominating the square planted with trees, rises the steeple

Arsenal and Sheffield Wednesday Gets Draw in Soccer Games.

ASTON VILLA WINS.

LONDON, February 6 (C.P. Cable) —When Arsenal and Sheffield Wednesday got only draws to-day in the English League soccer matches and Aston Villa and Derby County won, the condition of affairs at the top of the First Division championship table became congested. Arsenal and Derby County are close on their heels.

Everton in the Second Division continued to win in impressive form, to-day beating Charlton in London by seven goals to one. They are well out in front in the averages. Tottenham Hotspurs, runners-up, drew further away from West Bromwich Albion by a win over Oldham Athletic.

In Scottish senior soccer, Celtic consolidated their lead by a win at Morton, while Rangers dropped back to third place when they lost to Airdrieonians. Motherwell, who beat Clyde, move up.

ENEMY BULLETS FINISH CAREER OF POWERFUL GANGLAND CHIEF

WIFE SUSPECTED.

DETROIT, Feb. 7. (CP)—Chester La Mare, for years a powerful factor in the underworlds of Detroit and Hamtramck was shot to death early to-day in the kitchen of his home on Grandville Avenue.

Found by his slayer in a house which he had plentifully stocked with pistols and ammunition, the gang leader was shot down in the one room where he had neglected to place a weapon. Whether the shooting was the work of La Mare's gangster enemies or a betrayal by his friends, is not known to the police.

La Mare's Wife, Anna, who notified the police of the slaying and later told police and assistant prosecutor Frank G. Schemanske, a story which the latter said was full of contradictions, is detained at headquarters.

The police who answered Mrs. La Mare's call to the Grandville avenue address found La Mare on the floor of the kitchen face down. He was in his shirt sleeves and had been struck by two bullets, one through the right ear and the other through the right cheek. On the dining room table was a cocked and loaded pistol.

Guns in Every Room

The house had pistols scattered in practically every room. The police search of the place revealed three .38 calibre pistols, two .45 calibre pistols, one .25 calibre pistol, a shotgun, a rifle, a gas gun and gas bomb and more than 2,500 rounds of ammunition.

Orders were sent out for the arrest of Joe Tocco, Angelo Meli and Leo Cellura, figures in the Detroit and Hamtramck underworlds. The men have been known as La Mare's enemies ever since a split occurred between East and West Side bootleggers.

Mrs. La Mare told her questioners that she met her husband at their home last night for the first time in 10 days and left soon after to drive one of his friends to another part of the town. The two hours and a half which Mrs. La Mare told the police she spent on the drive is questioned by Schemanske as too long.

Farmer Has $9,000 Seeks Relief Work

LINDSAY, February 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The story is told of a farmer living on the outskirts of the town, who applied for relief work on the Caroline Street sewer and worked for a short time until it was discovered that he was not a resident of the town. That was not so bad, but when it was mooted that the man in question had something like $9,000 in the bank, the foreman had no hesitation in dismissing him.

Haliburton Man Traps Large Eagle

LINDSAY, Feb. 7.—The largest eagle yet heard of in these parts was killed by Fred Hicks of Ingoldsby, in Haliburton County. It was a brown color, not a bald-headed variety, and measured eight feet from tip to tip of wing. A trap had been set with bait on the ice, and when Mr. Hicks was coming near the large bird was able to hold the trap in the air at full length of the chain, and had swept the snow away for a considerable space. A bird of this size could carry off a twenty-pound lamb.

FEW HOPES SEEN FOR SETTLEMENT STATES GANDHI

Announcement Comes on Eve of Meet With London Parley Delegates.

MAY STIFFEN CAMPAIGN.

Claims Sapru Must Have More to Offer Than There is in MacDonald's Statement.

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 7 (A.P.) —Prospects for settlement of the Indian question on a basis of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's declarations at the Round Table Conference are hopeless, Mahatma Gandhi told the Associated Press in an interview to-day.

"There is no hope of settlement," he said, "unless Sir Tej Mahadir Sapru has brought back more from the London Conference than I have been able to find in the Prime Minister's declaration."

The wizened little man, who is almost a god to millions of Indians, made his announcement on the eve of a meeting with the Indian delegates to the Round Table Conference.

"I hope," he said, "Sapru will be able to convince me. I don't think the death of Pandit Nehru will make any change in the attitude of the National Congress Party. Future events alone will show whether the civil disobedience campaign must be stiffened."

Condemns Repression

The Mahatma reiterated his condemnation of the "black repression of civil disobedience volunteers and said he had not received a reply from the Viceroy to his letter urging an investigation of charges that police used force unnecessarily to disperse women paraders at Torsad.

Gandhi is expected to remain here for several days at least, and it is probable that the Congress Party working committee will meet here to talk things over before the parleys with the Round Table delegates. Senator Gupta, the Bengal Congress leader, already has arrived.

YOUTHFUL VICTIM IS POUNCED UPON WAITING FOR BUS

Dragged Into Sedan St. Thomas Girl Puts Up Valiant Fight.

POLICE IN ARMS.

Is Found About Midnight Badly Beaten and Nearly Overcome With Cold.

ST. THOMAS, February 7 (Special to The Examiner). — City and Provincial Police are searching to-day for two men in closed car who brutally assaulted Annie Palmer, 15-year-old girl, of this city, late last night, leaving her lying in a semi-conscious condition at the side of the street near the city gas works. A woman who was returning to her home at midnight saw the girl lying in the roadway and notified the police.

She was almost overcome by cold and exhaustion. For two hours or more the police gave her stimulants as they questioned her. The girl said that she was standing at Flora street about ten o'clock last night waiting for a motor bus when a closed car suddenly drove up to the curb and two men leaped out. Before she realized what was taking place, they had seized her and carried her into the car, one man covering her mouth with his hand to prevent her shouting for help.

Clothes Torn Off

The girl told of fighting her assailants in the car until the clothing was literally torn from her body. When she opened her tattered coat in the police station, she stood virtually divested. One glove had been torn from her hand and stuffed into her mouth, only the cuff remaining around her wrist.

She was unable to tell in which direction she was taken or how long she was in the car. She remembered being thrown from the car to the street and then lost consciousness.

Chief of Police Herbert Gunson declared it to be the most atrocious attack of the kind in his experience. The girl was able to appear at the police station with her parents this morning. Her face and body were bruised, evidence of the attack on her.

POLICE GREETED BY BLAZING GUN

Shooting Occurs at London Officers Seek to Arrest Man For Shooting His Wife.

PELLETS JUST MISS HEADS.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 7.—A blazing shot-gun greeted two police officers as they endeavored to arrest a South London resident at 2:15 oclock this morning. Shots from the gun lodged in the woodwork of the Attic stairway not three feet above the head of Sergt. George Pilgrim as he attempted to mount the stairs and place the man under arrest.

As a result of the shooting, Chester Herald, 43, shipper of 232 Tecumseh Avenue is lodged in police cells without bail to appear in city court one week from today.

He pleaded not guilty to shooting at a police officer when he faced Magistrate T. W. Scrandrett this morning.

The shooting took place when Sergt. Pilgrim and P. C. Ayres responded to a call that Herald had been abusing his wife. Police state today that Herald had been drinking but was not drunk and had been approached on the street by an officer would not have been arrested for being intoxicated.

Before Herald was finally subdued and handcuffed, Sergt. Pilgrim was forced to call reserves from the King Street police station and three officers, Constables Stuart, Fraleigh and Black responded to the call for help in a police flyer.

RELIEF ASSOCIATION IS ASKING CITIZENS FOR FUNDS TO DO WORK

Day's Pay a Month For All Those on Full Time is Suggested.

TO HOLD CAMPAIGN.

Up to the present time relief in Peterborough has been admirably handled by the Central Charity Board, by the City Council plan of relief work, and by the forty or more relief organizations which have given freely of their funds to assist the needy. These organizations for the purpose of doing more effective work and preventing duplication of efforts, now compose the Peterborough Relief Association, which is working faithfully and very effectively with over a hundred men and women actively engaged in different ways, some repairing and renovating clothing; others visiting homes and giving advice when there is sickness, supplying medicines, fuel, and the bare necessities of life to a great many homes in the city and surrounding immediate district.

The individual organizations have exhausted all their funds and are in debt at the present time, thus they have no cash to turn over to the Peterborough Relief Association, which has been carrying on, believing the citizens of Peterborough would supply the funds when asked for, as they have always done in the past.

In connection with the Peterborough Relief Association there is an advisory board composed of Messrs. G. A. Gillespie, J. R. Marshall, J. J. Duffus, R. Abbott, J. W. Fraser, J. E. Sullivan, R. T. Hicks-Lyne, Dr. J. F. O'Brien, F. D. Kerr, K.C.; E. F. Mason, C. A. Salmonson, W. R. Morris, Andrew Brown, and James Dutton, whose share in relief work is to advise ways and means of obtaining money with which to operate, and as an outcome of their deliberations a campaign is to be inaugurated and put into operation at once, whereby everyone employed on full time in the city in Discharged Customs Agent Tells of Conspiracy to Aid Liquor Traffic.

WRITES TO RYCKMAN.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7 (C.P.).—Allegations of conspiracy among customs officials at Windsor to facilitate shipments of liquor to Detroit will be investigated by an inspector, it was announced at the Department of National Revenue to-day. The allegations are contained in a letter written by R. J. Sinasac to Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue. Mr. Sinasac was a customs excise examiner at Windsor, but on Jan. 22, an Order-in-Council was passed by the Cabinet dispensing with his services "for failure to properly account for certain sums of money collected in connection with seizures at Windsor." He has since written the letter to the Minister in which he alleges many irregularities covering a period of years, and he will be given an opportunity of substantiating these allegations.

PANAMA CITY, February 7 (C.P.) — A pretty, dark-haired, brown-eyed girl captured the fancy of the Prince of Wales, who danced with her most of last evening on the pavilion of the Union Club overlooking beautiful Panama Bay.

She is Miss Eleanor Nichols of Newport, daughter of Commander Newton Lord Nichols, in charge of the Balboa Naval Radio Station. She spent most of the evening dancing with the Prince of Wales.

24 INMATES FLEE STATE HOSPITAL DURING BAD FIRE

600 FREED AT OUTBREAK.

Several Fugitives Branded Dangerous—Blazes Does $2,500 Damage.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., February 7 (C.P.). — City officers combined with guards of the Central State Hospital to-day in thrashing through suburbs in quest of approximately a score of inmates who escaped during a fire in the male quarters last night. Several of those at large were called dangerous by Superintendent S. Farmer.

All of the hospital's occupants about 600 persons, were freed from their quarters when the fire was discovered. A check showed 24 to be missing, but several then were seized in the vicinity of the buildings.

Officials said the fire, starting in a clothing room, was discovered about 10 p.m., and caused damage estimated at $2,500. Guards at the institution kept the inmates bunched together as closely as possible, while fighting the flames until aid arrived from the Nashville Fire Department.

Baker Misses Death In Crossing Tragedy

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Feb. 7. (CP) —P Baart, Delhi baker, who was reported killed in a level crossing accident near Tillsonburg yesterday is alive and well. The two men killed were Van Duselar, 34 a brother-in-law of Baart, and Bernard Brinker, 19

Baart owner of the bread wagon in which the two men were riding turned up late yesterday at Otterville where the badly mangled bodies of the men were taken and identified the bodies. Brinker was employed at the bakery.

Big Section Breaks From Main Ice Floe Men Drift in Lake

Twenty-five Erie County Fishermen Are Adrift on Ice Cake in Lake Erie When Wind Breaks Off Huge Section on Which They Were Fishing.

COAST GUARD CREW BEGIN DESPERATE EFFORT BEFORE FLOE CAN BREAK UP TO SAVE THE MEN

Ice Was Only Little Over Six Inches Thick and it is Feared Wind and Waves Will Soon Smash the Floe to Pieces, —Four Men Leap Ashore.

BUFFALO, N.Y., February 7 (C.P.). — Twenty-five fishermen were carried out into Lake Erie here to-day when a north-east wind broke off a huge section of the ice on which they were fishing.

Identity of the men could not be determined immediately, but marine officials began compiling a list of those probably adrift from the license numbers of automobiles parked along the shore. Indications were that the men were all from Erie County.

Coastguard crews began a desperate fight to reach the men, drifting in the open lake about three miles off the Buffalo Harbor, before the ice floe should break up. They reported the ice where the floe broke away was only six or seven inches thick, and it was feared the wind and waves soon would smash the floe to pieces beneath the men.

Coastguards Set Out.

One coastguard crew put off in an ice skiff, which can be used either in the water or on ice, while another crew launched a cabin boat and prepared to smash a lane through the drifting ice in the open lake. Only ten men could be brought ashore at a time in the ice skiff, and it was feared that many of the drifting men would suffer extensively of exposure before the cabin cruiser could reach them.

When the ice floe broke away four of the men on it leaped ashore, and from their stories coastguards gleaned meagre details of the accident.

The men rowed out to the harbor breakwater early to-day, moored their boat, and climbed out on the ice to fish. The ice floe apparently had torn away from the breakwater and drifted a considerable distance before the majority of the men on it learned their danger.

SCOTISH MARQUIS MAY BE GOVERNOR

Ottawa Remains Quiet on Who Will Be Governor-General.

CROMER REFUSED.

(Special to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7.—The latest gossip about the Governor-General is that he is to be the Marquis of Linlithgow, Victor Alexander John Hope. The official silence on the appointment has not been broken, but an Ottawa paper gives the most recent report the dignity of publication and there is said to be good reasons for the rumor.

The Marquis of Linlithgow is Lord Lieutenant of West Lothian and chairman of the Royal Commission on Indian agriculture. At one time he was Civil Lord of the Admiralty. He is president of the Edinburgh and East of Scotland College of Agriculture. He is 44 years of age. He fought with distinction in the war, is fond of shooting and is a good golfer.

There appears to be no doubt that the Earl of Cromer was invited to Come to Ottawa, but found it necessary to decline the invitation.

Scots Are Beaten By Welsh Players

CARDIFF, Wales, Feb. 6 (C.P. Cable).—Wales defeated Scotland by 13 points to 8 in their annual international rugby match here to-day.

Forty-five thousand people stood before the opening of the game and sang hymns, a time honored custom on such occasions. The kick-off was preceded by a minute's silence, during which the vast throng uncovered as a tribute to T. Aikman Smith, former secretary of the Scottish Rugby Union, who collapsed and died on the train at Crewe yesterday while en route to the match.

NO AUTOS FOR DOCTORS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 7 (CP) Bermuda's Legislative Council to-day voted 5 to 2 against a measure which would permit physicians to use automobiles on the island. Bermuda has resisted for years all attempts to introduce the motor car.

WHEAT GROWERS OVER AUSTRALIA WILL GE T BONUS

Premier and State Treasurer Adopt Federal Govt's Plan For Loan.

NEED OVER $25,000,000.

Will Provide 12 Cent Bounty Per Bushel For Export—69 Cents Bulk.

CANBERRA, Australia, February 7 (C.P. Cable via Reuters). — The conference of Premier and treasurers of the different states to-day adopted the Federal Government's proposal for a loan to provide a bonus for wheat growers. The scheme was evolved by Prime Minister Jamess Scullin, who mentioned a figure between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 following the Commonwealth Bank's decision that it could not afford to advance more than 56 cents a bushel as initial payment through the pools.

The forthcoming loan will be used to provide a bounty of 12 cents a bushel on wheat for export, assuring the farmers of a total of 68 cents a bushel on the bulk of their crop. A fund will also be set aside for the use of the State Governments in assisting farmers who are in needy circumstances. A committee was appointed to decide the extent of the fund for this purpose.

DRASTIC ACTION FOR AUSTRALIA

Experts Claim Further Reduction of $75,000,000 in Annual Expenditure Necessary.

CANBERRA, Australia, February 7 (C.P. Cable via Reuters). — A further reduction of $75,000,000 in the total annual expenditure of the Commonwealth and State Governments is the basis of the three-year financial stabilizing plan drawn up by a committee of experts and presented to the conference of Commonwealth and State Government representatives to-day.

Hitherto there has been no sign that the conference will be able to reach agreement on the plan.

The experts' recommendation, described as the gravest and most plain warning given to the Australian Governments, urge that in order to avoid default in payment of debts the salary of every civil servant must be cut, and the scale of old-age and invalid and war pensions revised downwards.

The financial position is declared to be menacing, but the experts add that while their proposals involve severe sacrifices to all classes the alternative of default in debt payments would cause immeasurably greater evils and suffering. Inflation is condemned as the road to collapse, not recovery.

The Weather

Another one of those sudden changes which seem peculiar to this Winter occurred yesterday evening. In the afternoon the temperature stood at the freezing point and it was thawing in the sun. At night the temperature went down to 8 degrees below zero. This morning at 7 o'clock it was just zero.—W. P.

PIONEERING DAYS IN PETERBOROUGH TOLD BY COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Odinno De Laplante Are Married Fifty Years.

HALE AND HEARTY

Mr. Laplante Was Born in Peterborough Seventy-five Years Ago.

A story of pioneering days in Peterborough is told by Mr. and Mrs. Odinno De Laplante, 178 Lansdowne Street, who recently celebrated the fiftieh anniversary of their marriage.

Mr. Laplante's father and mother left Montreal for Peterborough in the spring of 1856 and the trip was made in a flat bottomed boat.

From Lake Ontario they travelled what is now the Trent Canal but what was then nothing but a second rate waterway through wooded country. The elder Laplante rented a clapboard house facing Little Lake.

Born 75 Years Ago.

On July 26 of the same year Odinno was born. He was early interested in logging and when a boy delighted in skipping school to wander out to the shanties in the woods. Mr. Laplante remembers when George street was a muddy lane running between two rows of boarding houses, frame dwellings, stores and few brick buildings. Where Hood and Cummings Service Station now stands there used to be two rows of houses, and where the Brewery Warehouse is was an old foundry. An extensive area around the present location of the De Laval was nothing but cedar swamp. The South end was almost primeval forest.

Mr. Laplante recalls the familiar sight of Little Lake full of cribs of square timber and the numerous cookeries along the shores. The lumbermen came down the river with the logs and the dozen or so boarding houses had to accommodate as many as 80 lodgers each.

On January 25, 1881, he was married to Elizabeth Gordon. Mrs. Laplante is a native of Laprairie, in the historic and romantic old province of Quebec, most of whose children are of the hard-working French-Canadian race. She was born on June 20, 1857.

Carpenter By Trade.

Following his marriage, Mr. Laplante took up the carpenter's trade and has constructed many of the moulds for the concrete sections of the locks and piers on the Trent Canal.

For some time after 1881, he lived in the house now occupied by J. T. Moran, 164 Lake street. In this connection it may be noted that Mr. Moran was kind enough to lend the house to the Laplante family for the 50th wedding anniversary a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Laplante have five sons, Ned and Ormand, of Peterbouorgh; Joe and Tom, of Iroquois Falls and Henry of Toronto; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Richer, of Toronto; Mrs. Caverley, of Buffalo, N.Y., and Hermine at home; also thirty-two grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Mr. Laplante attended St. Peter's Cathedral until 20 years ago when the Sacred Heart Church was built and was once a member of the Ancient of Foresters.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Laplante are in excellent health. They are a sturdy looking couple and the half hour's conversation in French with The Examiner proved an interesting one, both as coming from the clear mind of a couple well on in years and as a pioneering story of the early days of the city.

Gandhi Pays Tribute To Pandit M. Nehru

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 7 (C.P.) —Mahatma Gandhi paid eloquent tribute to the career of Pandit Motilal Nehru Kashniri Brahman and Nationalist Leader, in a funeral ceremony last night. Mr. Nehru died early yesterday morning at Lucknow.

"This is not time for grief, but for joy," Gandhi said. He recalled a conversation he had with the dying Nationalist. "If you get well we shall get Swaraj (home rule)" Gandhi said he told him.

Mr. Nehru replied: "We have already got Swaraj; there is no question of Swaraj." Gandhi explained that the Pandit was so impressed with the sacrifices that the country had made in the course of the civil disobedience campaign that he fully believed India already had attained home rule.

GRADUATES GIVEN DIPLOMAS AT CAMPBELLFORD

Commencement Exercises at High School Are Splendid Success.

PROGRAM REPEATED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Bringing to a close the annual Commencement exercises, the auditorium of the Campbellford High School was crowded to capacity last evening to witness the second half of the event. So well was the function put over on Thursday evening that many who saw it that night were again present and delighted anew in the riot of music and song, fun and merriment and good acting which evidenced the whole proceedings. Winding up the evening, an informal dance was staged by the pupils which was attended by a large crowd.

The evening's function was featured by the presentation of graduation diplomas and scholarships. Dr. O C. Watson handled the former, briefly addressing the audience before the ceremony. Congratulating the graduates on their success, he also extended congratulations to Principal E. H. Grieg and the staff of the High School for the splendid success of the commencement, declaring it the greatest entertainment in Campbellford during the year.

There was a time, he said, when people used to attend the exercises out of courtesy, but now the function had become so popular and worthwhile that there was no need to go out to sell tickets. Those receiving diplomas were: Dorothy Barnum, Ina Bowen, Lillian Bowie, Jean Cameron, Margaret Cock, Hyacinth Collinson, Claire Curtis, Helen Gillespie, Olive Ireland, Grace Irwin, Mary McGregor, Eva McKelvie, Jean Morency, Jean Nelson, George Osborne, Edith Richards, Margaret Richards, Muriel Thomson.

Dr. Watson also had another pleasing function to perform. This was the presentation to Malcolm Hutcheon, the champion senior boy orator, of a small trophy, a duplicate of the larger Dr. O. C. Watson Cup, which he has won three years in succession, but cannot retain. Because of this fact, Dr. Watson gave the smaller trophy into his possession for permanecy.

The presentation of the Board of Education Literary Society and A. L. Riendeau Scholarships was made by Dr. H. C. Richardson. In performing this duty he stated that seldom had one the privilege of presenting his own son with an award, but that

CAMPBELLFORD USERS OF POWER MAY GET HIGHER DISCOUNT RATE

A. L. Riendeau Would See Increase From 20 to 25 Per Cent For Prompt Payment.

BOARD TO DECIDE.

CAMPBELLFORD, February 7 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—An additional increase in the discount for users of domestic and commercial current in Campbellford is predicted in the near future, when at a meeting of the Campoelliford Water and Light Commission Board held on Thursday evening, the chairman, Commissioner A. L. Riendeau, served notice of motion that at the next meeting of the board he would present a motion calling for the increase from 20 to 25 per cent. for prompt payment on commercial and domestic service bills.

This motion, which was discussed by the board, will allow the ten-day time limit for this discount, with a fifteen-day limit to meet the obligation, after which service will be discontinued with a charge of one dollar for connection. It was thought that by increasing the prompt payment discount that it would encourage users to increase their consumption and would further aid collections, besides rendering a real service to the citizens of Campbellford.

The secretary, J. F. McGregor, brought up the matter of the interest on money loaned to the town of Campbellford. The interest stated on the motion authorizing this loan was the same rate as that given at the bank, and this was thought to be 3 per cent. However, it was discovered that the bank's rate of interest for this kind of account was 2½ per cent., and it was agreed that this figure should hold good in the matter of the loan.

Hiring Authority.

Much discussion was caused over a resolution presented by Commissioner W. Blue, reading that anyone permanently employed on the Water and Light staff must meet the approval of the board.

The engineer, W. Scott, speaking on this subject, pointed out that he had always tried to meet with the approval of the board in any action he had taken regarding the hiring of men. He said, however, that the power was given him to hire men by the contract he entered into with the board.

To clear up this point the clerk read the contract to the board which bore out Mr. Scott's statement.

Commissioner Blue thought that Mr Scott could not hire a man to read the meters without the approval of the board, and round this point the discussion occurred.

Mr. Scott stated that there had been for some time criticism about the fact that his son had been reading the meters in town, and stated that this had started owing to the fact that the man who had been employed doing this work had quit and that he had been placed in such a position that he had to engage someone in a hurry. His son had filled the breach and the work had been performed well. However, he stated that he had now hired another man for the job and expected good results.

The chairman, Commissioner Riendeau, stated that it was evident by the terms of the contract that the engineer had the power to hire, and that the motion was out of order, with the result that Commissioner Blue withdrew it.

All accounts were passed on presentation.

DOOMED SLAYER WARNS OF REVOLT

"ENGLISH GLORY DYING."

LAHORE, Punjab, India, February 7 (C.P.). — Smiling, Sajah Singh, a former Sikh soldier, accepted sentence of death to-day for the murder of an English woman, and then in a speech from the shadow of the scaffold warned Great Britain of the "fading of the house of her glory in India."

He admitted the murder of the English woman, Mrs. Curtis, wife of Captain Curtis, on January 13, and the wounding of her two children and said that had he been acquitted he "would repeat the murders of Englishmen."

He said that he had brooded in the grievances of his community and realized that the day of the great fight for freedom in 1857—the date of the Sepoy Mutiny — had begun again.

He told the court that "preparations for a great revolution were already in progress in the villages of India, and that only a match was needed to kindle the conflagration."

11-Plane Squadron Sold To Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 7 (A.P.)— The entire squadron of eleven Italian seaplanes, which reached here after a trans-Atlantic flight from Rome and Portuguese Guiena, has been sold to the Brazilian Government.

The negotiations were conducted by the Minister of Marine with the Italian General Pellegrini, the price being 870,000 lire (about $43,500) for each plane.

Declare Moratorium Is Cry Of Liberals

LONDON, Feb. 7 (C.P.).—The cry of a moratorium for reparations and the war debts has been taken up by a group of Liberals, three of whom are members of Parliament, Viscount Elmley, Edgar Granville, and Frank Owen.

In a statement the signatories says: "Nothing but an emergency plan operated by a scientific government and backed by national push can save the standard of life of our people.

"Payment of reparations and the American debt causes a distortion of international trade and credit and we must declare a moratorium over a period of our internal development schemes for all debts of this kind whether payable to us or by us.

"When payments are resumed they must take the form of merchandise."

NORWOOD BEATS COGNAWAGAS BY 3 TO 0 COUNT

Kempt's Sextet Gets One Counter in First and Two in Third Stanzas.

HEAVY CHECKING AFFAIR.

Norwood Combines gained a pair of valuable points when they defeated the Cogs at Norwood last night by 3 to 0. The Easterners are now in the hunt for the East Peterborough League championship and will make things interesting for the opposition at home and abroad. Manager Kempt's athletes were always in front in last night's game getting the only counter in the first period and scoring two more tallies in the early stages of the third period.

The Cogs with their strongest team on the ice could not move away from the hard-checking Combines for combined attacks on Beavis, and individual efforts were equally fruitless. The clubmen were simply smothered and given no chance to get going. Wright at centre for the homesters played his most effective game of the season, the first tally coming off his shot which Payne blocked but lost out in the scrimmage at the goal line. Hill pushing the rubber across for a tally after ten minutes of play. A pretty backhand shot by Wright gave Norwood their second counter a minute after the third period opened and Pete King added another tally, five minutes later.

The teams:

Referee—Ray Rose.

ORDER RESTORED IN QUAKE AREA.

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 7. (AP)—The High Commissioner for New Zealand to-day received a cablegram from the New Zealand Government stating that order had been restored in the earthquake zone about Hawkes Bay and that relief organizations were doing splendid work at the towns of Hastings and Napier.

Among the 100 known dead, the message said, are 42 women and girls.

McCREA REFUTES SLAVERY COUNTS BY PETER HEENAN

Says Men of North Are Not Squealers—Ready to Work in Hard Times.

GOV'T DOING ITS BEST.

Cudgel in Defense of Attorney General Price is Taken Up Strongly.

HAMILTON, February 7 (By Frank Flaherty, C.P. Staff Correspondent) —Northern Ontario provided the material for a two-day political debate in the West Hamilton by-election. The principals in the debate were Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines in the Ontario Government, who hails from Sudbury, and Hon. Peter Heenan, former Federal Minister of Labor, who represents Kenora in the House of Commons. Last night Mr. McCrea from the same platform replied to the charges made by Mr. Heenan the night before that men employed by the Provincial Government on road building operations in the north were no better off than slaves.

No Welchers.

When hard times hit the north country, Mr. McCrea said, men were willing to buckle down and work. They were not "squealers and welchers." It was true they were paid 35 cents an hour, but the Government was doing its best to give them work and they also knew if it were not for unemployment conditions the road work would not be done at all at this season.

Besides replying to Mr. Heenan Mr. McCrea dealt with the charges against Hon. W. H. Price Attorney-General, in connection with the Brokerage situation. Mitchell F Hepburn, Liberal Leader, and Elmore Philpott, Liberal candidate, he charged, were trying to slander, and by misrepresentation to run down a man "whose shoes they are not fit to tie." They were aided by men who were enemies of the Attorney-General because he nipped their wild cat schemes in the bud and protected the people of Ontario.

The Liberal Leader seemed to think every man who lost a dollar should blame it on Mr. Price, said the Minister.

Defence To Appeal Murder Sentence

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Conviction of Abraham Steinberg yesterday on a murder charge will be appealed.

Announcement that an appeal would be filed was forthcoming from defence counsel last night after the question had been considered. Although the statue provides for a 30-day period in which appeals may be filed, Steinberg's appeal will be put in immediately, T. H. Lennox, K.C., stated.

Three grounds will be advanced as the basis for the move. The defence will claim insufficient evidence to warrant the verdict of guilt. Mr. Justice Jeffrey's charge of the jury will be protested, following Mr. Hellmuth's complaint in court that it was unfair to the accused. And a report in Wednesday's Globe of alleged threats made to a crown witness will be put forward as being in contempt of court and prejudicial to a fair trial.

LIBERAL LEADER SAYS DRY PLANK IS OUT TO STAY

Affairs Suffered Long Enough Over Befogging Liquor Policy Talk.

POWER CONTRACTS UP.

Promises to Relieve Municipalities of Gas Tax Burden if Party is Returned.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 7.—(C.P.)—Emphasizing the decision of the Ontario Liberal party to discard prohibition as a Liberal plank, Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Elgin West, and Provincial Liberal leader, declared at a banquet in his honor here last night that his party will concentrate attention on taxation and "the horrible record of extravagance of the present government."

Mr. Hepburn said he had always maintained prohibition was a social question. "It it out of politics, and as long as I am leader it is going to stay there," he proceeded. "The affairs of the people have suffered long enough by the befogging effects of liquor discussion."

Following this declaration of his policy the Liberal leader turned his guns upon the present government. He criticized the administration at Toronto for awarding large power contracts to private companies, for not securing restitution for those who suffered by the operations of stock brokers and for the appropriation of $10,000,000 for Northern Ontario development. This sum, he claimed, was not used for this purpose but to "build up a Tory political machine."

The speaker concluded his address by reference to the government's gasoline tax. Of the sum collected in this manner not one dollar was spent for the purpose for which it was levied, he said. If the Liberals were elected to power he continued they would stand pledged to relieve the municipalities of their burden of gasoline tax.

POLITICAL CHIEFS GIVEN NICKNAMES

Col. Amery Dubs MacDonald "Surface Mac" and Lloyd George "Slippery Dave."

BALDWIN DUE FOR "RIDE."

MORECAMBE, Eng., Feb. 7. (AP) The nicknames of gangsters are being applied to British political chieftains by Col. L. C. S. Amery, former Colonial Secretary, in political speeches which he is making about the country.

Referring to an alleged Liberal-Labor entente in Parliament which is keeping the Labor Government in office, Col. Amery last night declared that "Scarface Mac—Premier MacDonald — and "Slippery Dave" meaning Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader—had fixed up a deal to take "Honest Stan" —Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin—for a ride.

"Just as much political principle is involved in this pact as there is in any of the compacts which are made between rival gangs of Chicago racketeers to keep others from their pitch and to share the loot."

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

IT has been said "The compiler is always with us, but the researcher is very rare, and promises to be rarer. It is he who should make haste and take account of the years, and see that his long labor is not fruitless."

THEY sat together before an open fire. The only light in the room came from the dancing flames which had their origin in the heart of that fire.

I'm not sure whether they both smoked or not! I do know that one of the two is very fond of his pipe. On a rare occasion I have seen him smoke a cigar, but I have yet to see him with a cigarette. He believes that smoking a favorite pipe is a luxury that lends itself to meditation. Cigars! Well, he thinks it is all right to smoke these at some social function, when everybody is present in evening dress and doing their best to make each other feel that they really enjoy appearing in such attire! But cigarettes, he contends, were planned by some prophet in anticipation of the day when femininity would go to smoke as well as to powder! There is something almost indefinably woman-like about cigarettes. Pipes are for men—cigars fit into those moments when men have stolen a precious hour or more to suffer the silly babblings of some after-dinner speaker—but, cigarettes were made to be smuggled across the border, or to give a few females the chance to pucker up their lips without having to resort to a persimmon.

A Strange Disease.

For several minutes not a word had passed between them. A silence that was broken only by the tick-tock, tick-tock, tick-tock of a grandfather clock which stood back amid the shadows and was worth a small fortune to such as treasured such things, prevailed in the room.

To a thoughtful person, taking in the scene, the setting of that scene was a beautiful illustration of at least one meaning of the phrase, "Silence is golden."

During those silent moments both men had an opportunity to think a little more in preparation for the next bit of conversation.

If most of us would talk less and think more I have an idea that while there would be less of our talk there would be more to it! The principal of one of our schools, speaking to a gathering of men a short time ago, said, "This age is suffering from a foot and mouth disease."

I think I know what he meant, although I was not present when he said it. To me it was most significant that he was not speaking of women—his words were addressed to men and were meant to apply to men!

The Conversation Continues.

One of the two said: "I have so much back correspondence that I don't know when I am ever going to get it cleared away! At times it troubles my mind like some awful nightmare. I'd give almost anything to be able to speak one magic word which would clear my desk and give me the chance to make a fresh beginning. There are letters I'd like to write for which I need more time than I have at present—letters to friends in far-off corners of the earth. Since I cannot see these friends I'd like my letters to be conversational and as intimate as though we were face to face."

The other one of the two said: "Letters are good reading if they are written straight away as fast as the pen can be driven; that is, if they are frank talk. And when postage was dear and pence were few, letters had their golden age. I saw lately a correspondence between two northern lads carried on nearly fifty years ago.

"Both were in remote places, both were full of hope and fear, both were entering the enchanted world of literature, and the more magical land of love. The ink was brown, the blue paper faded, and the letters had been read to tatters amid the northern snows. Yet the best printing was not so attractive as these descriptions of the white world, the warm fire, and 'To-day I began Ivanhoe. I have little doubt I shall like it better even than its predecessors.' And the young ambition, 'I wonder whether our names will yet be known beyond these little parishes.' And 'I do not know what progress you are making in the affairs of the heart. When last in A. I met Miss V——," and then follows a minute account of how she looked, and spoke, and held her head. No, there cannot be letters like these nowadays."

Silence again took possession of the room, to be broken only by the stately old clock which seemed to say, "Go on! I'm listening as I have listened to many another conversation in this house."

The Clock Chuckles.

"As I have registered the onward march of time I have had the privilege and the pleasure of hearing some wonderful words. I have shared the secrets of more than one young life as hearts have united in breathing out 'Love's Old Sweet Song.' Ah, me! the world has not changed much, if any, since those days in the long-ago when Jacob first set eyes on Rachel. Love may be blind, and I often think that many who imagine themselves 'in love' are stupid, but I can bear testimony that love, as I have seen it in this room, is not dumb! I have listened to some bits of love's language at which I have wanted to laugh out loud. But, of course, that would never have done—so I had to content myself with a quiet chuckle.

"I remember one night—one glorious night—in the late autumn, when there was just enough chill in the air to make a fire very acceptable, that two of them came into this same room. At that time the piano stood over against the north wall. He sat down and began to play and sing. The glory of that hour I will never forget. He had a glorious voice which was splendidly supported by a strong, winsome personality.

"Do you know, I have an idea that the reason why some singers will never be anything else but mediocre is that they lack personality.

"I guessed that they had been spending the earlier hours of the evening wandering through 'Lovers' Lane.' This was to be the sequel to those sacred moments which had flown all too quickly by. This was to be the musical dressing for all that had gone before.

Love Sings a Song or Two.

"She sat down by the fire as he commenced to sing a song which must have thrilled her heart as it did mine.

"'O, my love is like a red, red rose
That's newly sprung in June!
O, my love is like a melody
That's sweetly played in tune.
As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,
So deep in love am I;
And I will love thee still, my dear,
Till a' the seas gang dry,
Till a' the seas gang dry.'

"Then by a quick change of key he does not give her a chance to respond before he fills the whole house with the haunting words and thrilling music of

"'O, wert thou in the cauld blast,
On yonder lea, on yonder lea,
My plaidie tae the angry airt,
Wad shelter thee, wad shelter thee.
Or did misfortune's bitter storm
Aroond thee blaw, aroond thee blaw,
Thy bield should be my bosom,
To bear it a', to bear it a'.

Or wert thou on the wildest waste,
Sae bleak an' bare, sae bleak an' bare,
The desert wert a Paradise,
If thou wert there, if thou wert there.
Or were I monarch of the globe,
Wi' thee tae reign, wi' thee tae reign,
The brightest jewel in my crown,
Wad be my Queen, wad be my Queen.'

"From that fine old song, for which one of the greatest of all composers wrote the music, he glides gracefully into a few bars of 'The Old Refrain.'

Singing For Another Meeting.

"Then, with a curious blending of abandonment and yearning, he broke forth into a song which, when properly interpreted by a tenor voice, is one of the most thrilling of all Scottish songs:

"'There's music in the wild cascade,
There's love among the trees,
There's beauty in ilk bank an' brae,
An' balm upon the breeze.
There's a' of nature and of art
That maistly weel could be,
An' oh! my love, when thou art there,
There's bliss in store for me.

Then meet me, love, by a' unseen,
Beside yon mossy den,
Oh, meet me love at dewy eve,
In Morag's Faery Glen.'

"He arose from the piano and went over and sat beside her. Not a word was uttered that I could hear. She leaned her head against his shoulder and they both sat and gazed into the fire. I almost forgot to say ticktock. I wished that I had had feet as well as hands, so that I might have tip-toed out of the room and left them all to themselves."

The Ministry of Fresh Air.

One of the two men coughed and the other said as he struck a match to light his pipe: "Nowadays people with colds, even those whose colds have passed into pleurisy, pneumonia, and consumption, are told that the cure is in fresh air, that they should be out in the open as much as possible. So much is this idea being pressed, that institutions are built for the treatment, and I should not be surprised if at last we are told that it is best to live night and day in the open air."

"This would mean he abolition of dwelling-houses, and of rent, and of mankind."

Let us draw down the curtan upon this picture and put ourselves to bed, so that both body and mind will be wide-awake when we go to church to-morrow. If you, dear reader, have failed to get in this brief article all that you expected in the way of "religion," why not go to some church to-morrow and try one or two diets of worship?

The Hour Of Prayer

WE bless Thee who art eternal, immortal, invisible, for the great cloud of witnesses by whom we are compassed about, for their memory, for the works that do follow after them, and for the safe trail they left behind them. But more we bless Thee for our confidence that their beneficent strength must still be practiced, that they have not forgotten us or left us far behind, but now among the ministering spirits whom Thou dost send to bring us good are those who know us best, and serve Thee best by serving us. Amen.

Italian Proverbs

The Proverbs of a nation are not only an epitome of its wisdom, but crystallise for us much of its national temperament and popular habits of thought.

Proverbs bear age, and he who would do well may view himself in them as in a looking glass.

Sparks From Many Anvils

THE mark of the man of the world is absence of pretension. He does not make a speech, he takes a low business tone, avoids all brag, promises not at all, performs much. He calls his employment by its lowest names, and so takes from evil tongues their sharpest weapon.

• • •

IT is easy in the world, to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude, to live after our own. But the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.

• • •

WHEN you find a person a little better than his word, a little more liberal than his promise, a little more than borne out in his statements by facts, a little larger in deed than in speech, you recognize a kind of eloquence in that person's utterance not laid down in Blair or Campbell.

READING is indeed to the mind as food is to the body—the material of which its fibre is made. It is surprising to note the difference in the quality of mental thought which even one-half hour's good reading each day will make.

• • •

NO man need hunt for his mission. His mission comes to him. It is not above, it is not below, it is not far—not to make happy human faces now and then among the children of misery, but to keep happy human faces about us all the time.

The watchwords of age are Endure and Enjoy; the watchwords of youth are Believe and Achieve.

A woman wishes and believes, a man wills and achieves. The wish of the woman hardens into a faith, the will of the man ripens into a fact.

How The Devil Feels

WHEN the absent are spoken of, some will speak gold of them, some silver, some iron, some lead, and some always speak dirt, for they have a natural attraction towards what is evil, and think it shows penetration in them As a cat watching for mice does not look up though an elephant goes by, so they are so busy mousing for defects that they let great excellences pass them unnoticed. I will not say it is not Christian to make beads of others' faults, and tell them over every day; I say it is infernal. If you want to know how the devil feels, you do know if you are such a one.

A few more smiles of sympathy, a few more tender words, a little more restraint in temper, may make all the difference between happiness and half-happiness to those with whom I live.

A SUCCESSFUL REPORTER

YOUNG man, if you are taking the newspaper "game" seriously, you must bring to it a trained and receptive mind, and an understanding that is alert and sympathetic. You must learn to observe with reasonable accuracy and make every question a pertinent one. It is your business to ascertain and present the truth. Cut out all irrelevant matter and state your facts so that their significance shall be immediate and impressive. Perhaps Kipling was thinking of you when he said:

"I keep six honest serving-men.
(They taught me all I know):—
Their names are What and Why and When
And How and Where and Who."

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

It is disappointing to observe from the report of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society that the membership in this most desirable organization has dropped below the one hundred mark—to be exact, is only ninety-nine.

This is a community of home-lovers, of people who take a pride in the appearance of their homes and a pleasure in trim lawns and attractive gardens, and it would naturally be expected that a society that exists for the beautification of the city would appeal with great force to hundreds of citizens.

There seems no good reason why the membership of an organization such as the Horticultural Society should not be at least five times as great as it is at present.

The financial obligations are not heavy, there are obvious personal advantages in being a member, and the opportunity that is given for real service on behalf of the community should be attractive to many citizens.

The reports presented at the annual meeting indicated a most useful year's work, and it is not difficult to visualize what could be accomplished were the membership to be increased to the strength it should be.

The Horticultural Society is in every way worthy of community consideration and support.

THE PROVINCIAL BY-ELECTIONS.

The provincial by-elections in the constituencies of West Hamilton and Grenville necessitated by the death of Hon. Fred. Smye and the resignation of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, respectively, are attracting widespread interest.

Voting takes place next Wednesday, and a most vigorous campaign is being conducted by both sides, with Hon. W. H. Price's administration of the Attorney-General's department as the chief issue.

These are the first by-elections since the choosing of Mitchell F. Hepburn as provincial Liberal leader, and the new chieftain is in the forefront of the battle line on both fronts, with Captain Elmore Philpott, who contested the convention with him, as his chief lieutenant and his candidate in Hamilton.

The intensity of the barrage laid down by these two new provincial battlers has resulted in the Government sending most of its shock troops into action, and the electors of both ridings have been deluged with oratory—to what effect, however, will not be known until next Wednesday night.

The most unusual feature of the campaigning aside from the fact that most of the opposition thunder is being directed at one Cabinet Minister and not at the whole Government, is that none of the Liberal members of the Legislature are taking any part in the affray.

Mr. Sinclair, who will continue to lead the Opposition in the House until such time as Mr. Hepburn secures a seat in the Legislature, has not appeared in either riding, nor have any of his followers among the elected members, and political observers are somewhat at a loss to explain the significance of that development—if indeed it has any significance.

THE PRICE TREND.

A supplement to the Labor Gazette, issued by the Federal Department of Labor gives some interesting figures on recent price trend in this and other countries, pointing out that during 1930 a general movement throughout the world to lower price levels occurred and that the downward tendency of recent years was accentuated.

The fall so far, the report declares, has been most severe in the prices of raw materials and foodstuffs, with the cost of living declining in most countries, especially in regard to food products.

It is interesting to note, coming to conditions in this country, that wholesale prices in Canada in December were 19 per cent. lower than a year ago and 21 per cent. below August, 1929, when the recent downward movement in prices began.

In retail prices and the cost of living, foods were 15 per cent. lower in December than a year ago.

Clothing was down slightly, while the other groups, fuel, rent and sundries, were practically unchanged, so that the index number for all items was down 6 per cent. for the twelve-month period.

The cost per week of a family budget of twenty-nine staple foods, calculated from the average retail prices in sixty-nine cities, was in December at the lowest level since 1916, with the exception of the spring of 1924. The feature of the movement was that, commencing in January at the highest point reached since 1921, the decline continued throughout the year, there being no seasonal advance in the autumn. During the first six months of the year prices were higher than during the corresponding months of 1929, but from June to December prices fell considerably, especially potatoes, bread, beef, pork, flour, sugar and prunes. The average cost of the food budget for the year was $10.96, as compared with $11.34 in 1929, a decrease of about 3 per cent., but the decline from December, 1929, to December, 1930, from $11.83 to $10.10 was 15 per cent. Including the cost of fuel and rent with that of foods, the total budget was down in the average for the year from $21.61 in 1929 to $21.29 in 1930. The fall between December, 1929, and December, 1930., was 7½ per cent. Fuel was practically unchanged for the year, while rent was slightly higher.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

It has been announced that there will be no inquest into the death of two children who lost their lives in a fire that destroyed their home in north Haliburton when the little victims were left alone in the house.

There have been so many such tragedies in various parts of Canada this winter that The Examiner is of the firm opinion that every fatality of this kind should be officially investigated, not with the intention of punishing the parents, but rather to serve as a warning to other careless people who follow the dangerous practice of leaving small children alone at home.

It is a practice that cannot be defended and that can only be explained in most cases by selfishness that subordinates the safety of the children to the pleasure and convenience of their parents.

The frequency of tragedies that result from fires breaking out in houses where small tots are left alone does not seem to impress other parents who are guilty of similar neglect.

Despite the almost daily headlines in the newspapers telling of little victims being trapped by the flames, people continue to go blithely out and leaves their small children alone at home, supremely confident that "everything will be all right."

They never seem to realize that the parents of those other children whose tragic deaths are featured in the newspapers probably said the same thing as they departed on pleasure bent.

WOMEN AND THE VOTE.

Several newspapers in Quebec are advising the women of that Province against pressing, at this session, bills intended to give the vote to women and to allow them to practise law. The argument is advanced that, while the voting on these questions at the last session showed that the women had made progress, the opposition to their requests had formed counter organizations of such strength as to threaten disaster to the franchise seekers from which they would not recover for a long time.

The women do not seem to be much impressed by this view, nor would any body of men, seeking just privileges, to whom such a suggestion was addressed, listen to it. Both advocates and opponents, in the interim, are endeavoring to commit every member of the Legislature, which has a House of 85 normally, though there are four vacancies just now. It seems that last session twenty members failed to vote on either the franchise bill or that to allow women to be called to the bar. Each, no doubt, had a perfectly good reason for his attitude, though the promoters of these measures think that "diplomacy" is the kindest word by which it could be characterized.

Premier Taschereau is himself strongly opposed to any such legislation as that asked for by the women, and presumably most of the members of his Cabinet are with him. They might, with profit, spend some time in studying the situation in Ontario and other Provinces where women voters and lawyers no longer attract attention or call for comment, and where, in neither spheres, have they usurped the authority or the rights of men. There are no more women members in the Ontario Legislature than there are in that of Quebec, for the women themselves do not seem to favor their sex in that capacity. But just as certainly as the women of Ontario obtained the franchise and the right to practise law in Ontario, so will they get it in Quebec where the Legislature, which is not an immovable body, is eventually bound to give way to an irresistible demand.—Brantford Expositor.

MAYBE.

The Honorable Mr. Duranleau, Minister of Marine, in his speech at the banquet given to the Honorable Mr. Stewart on Monday last here repeated his arguments given elsewhere on the radio situation.

Premier Taschereau of Quebec takes the ground that the Provinces possess the constitutional right of control over broadcasting, and this the Minister of Marine combats vigorously. It may look like a bit of a quarrel between the Conservatives in Quebec and Premier Taschereau, but it is significant that up to date no provincial Conservative in that Province has taken issue with Premier Taschereau.

The arguments in favor of federal control are strong, and the Recorder and Times believes that, no matter what constitutional rights may be, control by Ottawa of broadcasting is more satisfactory than it would be under the various Provinces. Its ramifications are not only interprovincial but international, reaching all over the world, making it reasonable to conclude that it is a federal rather than a provincial matter. But the ways of the statute and the interpretation thereof are sometimes almost "past finding out." This same air through which radio messages are sent is traversed by aircraft, a recent invention, and this air is just as much international as are the ether waves that conduct radio messages. The Federal Government, through the defence department, undertook the development of aircraft under both military and civil control. When the Provinces desired aeroplanes for the protection of their forest wealth, they engaged these planes from the defence department and they were subject to the latter.

One day, however, the provincial Premiers without any apologies whatever declared that the air which surrounded their Provinces was provincial, and they proceeded to inaugurate a flying service of their own. This service is now being carried on successfully by both Ontario and Quebec.

This is an almost parallel situation to that discussed by Mr. Duranleau and it may just be that Premier Taschereau under the constitution has the right to control all the air in which the Quebec people live, move and have their being. This paper is inclined to disagree with Premier Taschereau, but, as in the case of aeroplanes, it may be wrong.

But recently a judgment has been given by the Privy Council of England placing to a very marked degree the jurisdiction over insurance companies in the hands of the Provinces. It looks very reasonable that the federal authority should be the controlling factor for companies doing business all over Canada, and particularly does it appear the right thing that the Federal Government should control foreign companies, as that surely would come under the head of international business relations. But the Privy Council has declared differently.

It would, therefore, be wise before arriving at a decision, for the public to wait because the Privy Council, if the question be carried that far, may upset any previous notions that may exist as to the jurisdiction between the Dominion and the Provinces, even over radio.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

At least these by-elections cannot be described as Priceless affairs.

That speed of four miles a minute attained by Captain Malcolm Campbell is enough to make local speed fiends give up in despair.

A typographical error in the reference to the Board of Education estimates in these columns the other night resulted in the estimated expenditure for 1931 for the Vocational School and Collegiate Institute being given as $27,500 instead of $127,500, the correct figure.

News of Our Own Village

Billy Lytle of this village has been appointed as radio inspector, so if you get squeals and howls on your set better get in touch with Bill, say we.

Judge Raney held court in the village this week and found time to say a few words about the way justice is administered in the U.S.A., south of here.

The village Kinsmen's Club is going to put on a show soon called "Hay Fever," and it's not to be sneezed at, your scribe hastens to opine.

There is going to be lots of excitement here next fall owing to the Ontario plowing matches going to be held in our midst. Hot dog vendors and others please note.

The fish and game association met here Wed. nite and decided to ask the Govt. to stop hunting in some of the townships north of us. Most folks thought the wolves had already done that.

Villagers is asked to bear in mind the fact that the Social Club of this here paper is going to throw another dance for the relief fund Tues., Feb. 17. Mose Yokom's band is going to dish the music for the same.

Village School Bd. met this week and decided they could get along with less money this year. Mayor Denne and the village council is slowly recovering from the shock, your scribe learns.

Village Kiwanians is reported in fair shape but not yet outa danger following a alleged hockey match at the Karnival Fri. nite. Boys will be boys, say we.

Weather notes—The weather has been cold nearly every morning this week your scribe has been informed on good authority.

A hockey team from Markham, west of here, passed through the village Wed. en route for Lakefield, but hadn't time to drop off and see our lift locks. Come again, boys, say we.

A Thought

REVELATIONS OF SCIENCE

Science has enlarged our conception of God by enlarging our conception of the universe. Before science did this, our little world was considered to be in the centre of creation; and it was believed that the sun, moon, and stars revolved around it every twenty-four hours. Our little planet was the most important place which God had created, and the Lord was supposed to have this for His chief care. But astronomy came, and showed us that the earth was one among myriads of planets, the sun only one of many million suns, our world but a speck in the heavens. And so, with our knowledge of the universe, grew our idea of its Creator.

FINLANDER SUICIDES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Feb. 7. (CP)—News from Hearst tells of the suicide there Monday, of Johnannes Johnson, who went into the woods about two miles from Stavert and slashed his throat with a razor. No reason for his act is know. He had been employed and had $200 in his pockets. He had a wife and family in Finland.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

As she rose after a time to go about her work, the door between the two rooms opened and Rickey came in. Virginia had laid over the foot of the bed the old blanket robe which he had left behind him, but it had pleased him to don a luxurious Japanese affair which he had worn on the yacht, with bright blue butterflies on a black ground. It set off his fairness brilliantly.

He threw himself on the couch and piled the pillows back of him. "You might get me some coffee, Jinny."

She got it for him setting a careful tray, making toast and boiling an egg.

"I've been thinking," he said, when he had finished, "about Burning Beauty. There's no reason on earth why McMillan should have it."

"Except that you're bound by a promise."

"I know, my dear—"

Out of a long silence she spoke to him quietly of the future, of fame, success, fortune. "You have it in you to do anything!"

He listened avidly. "Marty didn't believe in me," he said, "but I'll show her. And I'll show McMillan." He came back to his grievance. "You might as well understand, Jinny, that he's not going to have the book. And you needn't throw it up to me that you've worked on it all winter. I didn't ask you to do it."

A sudden sense of justice flared within her.

"The manuscript," she said, "is as much mine as yours. I think if you will face facts, you will admit it."

He began to laugh. "That's rot, Jinny, and you know it."

She was very pale. "Rickey, you are not to speak to me like that."

Her eyes held his and presently he muttered, "I'm sorry."

She dropped on her knee beside the couch and laid her cheek against his. "Oh, Rickey, you know I love you, don't you?"

He did know it and said so. He was not himself he told her. His life was over.

"What have I to live for? Jinny, when I got Marty's letter, I should have flung myself into the sea if I had not been held back by the thought that some day I'd show her. I shall write The Silver Witch and she will see herself as I see her. I'll have her grow old and ugly and when she tries to weave her spells, men will laugh at her."

He was talking wildly. Virginia set herself to soothe him and when at last she stole downstairs to telephone to Michael, he seemed to sleep.

But he was not asleep. His disordered mind was going over the things he and his sister had talked about. He had shut his eyes so that he might not see Jinny—Jinny, whose strength was a constant reproach to his weakness; Jinny who set her will against his own; Jinny, who had made him say, "I'm sorry."

Well, a woman was only a woman—and Michael should not have the book. Jinny needed a lesson. She had presumed to set herself above him, to hint that the book was as much her own as his. All of which was nonsense. There was only one genius in the family. Dad might have made a hit if he hadn't been so old-fashioned. The men in the Oliphant family had all had brains. It was enough for the women that they had beauty..

He got up and went to the window. The sun was shining and the pigeons were preening themselves on the roof. He opened the window and scattered crumbs. The soft air came in but it did not seem to bring coolness with it. Rickey's hands were hot, his skin dry.

He roamed about the room, restlessly, looking at himself in a mirror as he passed it, seeing the spots of red color in his cheeks, his blue butterflies, his blazing hair.

Heavens, did Jinny think he was going to stay here, between these dingy walls? not if he knew it. He saw on the table his mother's letter, and read it. He was touched by her tenderness, yet raged at the thought of a return to Annapolis. No. He would break loose from all of them. Live his own desperate life in his own desperate way.

He stood now beside the desk, on which lay the manuscript, neatly typed, evidence of Virginia's hours of labor. The thought of those hours infuriated him.

And Michael should not have the book.

As he snatched up the manuscript he laughed aloud. He knew now what he would do. It remained only to do it. He crossed the room and opened the top of the little round stove. Then as fast as he could stuff it in, he fed the pages to the leaping flames.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX.

Sgain the Chinese Maiden.

Mary Lee Logan had risen early and she had come to the old house in Washington Square before ten in the morning. She wanted to know if Virginia had had news of the wedding. She had slept little the night before. Rickey and Marty. Rickey and Marty. The two names flamed in her mind like fire.

She had bought the morning papers and had searched the society columns. Surely if the thing she dreaded had happened, the headlines would show it; there would be food for eager readers in the details of Marty Van Duyne's marriage to her unknown poet.

But nothing was in the papers, and when Mary Lee ascended the stairway of the old house she was trembling with apprehension. Virginia might already have had a letter or a wire. Mary Lee felt if her fears were confirmed, she would not be able to stand it.

As she opened the door of the attic apartment, she said, "It's Mary Lee, Virginia," then stopped and gasped. For the sight which met her eyes was so astounding that it seemed as if she must have, for the moment, a hallucination. Virginia was not there, but standing in front of the little stove was Rickey, wrapped in a gorgeous gown, his face as pale as death, his eyes blazing.

He turned with a start as Mary Lee said sharply, "What are you doing, Rickey?"

"Burning a book—my book."

She saw at once that something was wrong, that the brightness of his eyes was the brightness of fever. She crossed the room and tucked her arm in his. "I don't care about your old book. Aren't you glad to see me? Really aren't you glad, Rickey?"

He stopped for a moment in his orgy of destruction and looked down at her. "Glad?"

"Yes, glad to see me—little Mary Lee Logan?"

"Why should I be glad? Why should I be glad about anything?" His voice rose hysterically, "there isn't any gladness in the world since Marty wouldn't marry me. Marty—" He swayed a little and the papers in his arms went fluttering to the floor.

When Virginia arrived Mary Lee had helped him to the couch and stood leaning over him. "He fainted, Virginia. But he's better. Mrs. Barlow is telephoning for the doctor."

He opened eyes which saw nothing and murmured, "I burned the book, Jinny—so Michael—couldn't have it."

But the book was not burned, only a few pages and there were crabons to match them. But Virginia did not care about the book. She had only one thought—Rickey. People came and went in the room—Mrs. Barlow, the landlady, the doctor, a nurse, and at last Michael.

"He is very ill," Virginia whispered to her lover.

"I know. Dearest, let him be moved to my rooms, this is no place for him. And you'd like his being there better than in the hospital."

"Yes, but he'd hate it."

"Why need he know? I'll go to the hotel and give the place up to the two of you and the nurses."

She allowed herself at last to be persuaded, and before night it was all accomplished. Rickey was in Michael's great bed with its crimson canopy, and Virginia sat in her mother's ladderback chair in front of Michael's fireplace.

Michael from the other side of the fireplace was saying: "And now you have nothing more to think about ever, but getting Rickey well."

"How shall I ever thank you, Michael?"

"By loving me."

She reached out her hand to him and said, "Michael, you've got to be strong for me. The men I've known best have been weak—Daddy and Rickey. I might as well tell the truth about them. They have never faced life. I want to face it with you."

He held her close. "Nothing will be hard if we face it together, all the hardness will seem happiness."

A little later she read to him her mother's letter. 'Do you think we could go back? Grogan wrote that the house was sold, but he didn'g give the name of the new owner."

"I am sure you can rent it. The new owner is a friend of yours," Michael hinted.

"Of mine?" Birginia cried, her curiosity piqued.

"Yes Jinny, my dear, I bought the house. I couldn't let anyone else go and live there with your dear ghost going up and down the stairs."

He had his reward in the radiance of her countenance. It was easy enough to plan he told her. He and she would have a gorgeous time getting the old house ready, "when Rickey is better," as they always said.

When Michael left at ten, Virginia went in and looked at her brother as he lay under the crimson canpoy. He was still unconscious, and he might have been dead for all the movement he made. Once he murmured, "Marty," but it was just a breath of a sound and only Virginia's quick ears caught it. The nurse, pouring medicine in a measuring glass said reassuringly, "Things seem better to-night, I am sure they are better."

In spite of all the common sense she brought to bear, she could not rid herself of the feeling that her loyalty to Michael was disloyalty to Rickey. She told herself over and over again that it was stupid to think of thing like that. Yet she couldn't help it.

A week later Rickey opened his eyes and looked up at the crimson canopy. "Where am I?" he asked.

The nurse said gently, "Your sister brought you here. It is much better than the hospital. She thought you would like it."

"I do like it," Rickey said, and went to sleep.

When he wakened he said, "This is a wonderful room." The lamps were lighted and his eyes roamed about, seeing the dull gold of a screen, the black wood of a Jacobean chest; and when his sister came to sit beside him, he asked, "Whose bed am I in?"

THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

To the Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir.—There seems to be a rather widely extended opinion that it is the business of the Lord's Day Alliance to enforce the Lord's Day Act. This is not in accordance with the facts either as a matter of history or of policy. The Alliance has consistently refused to exercise the functions of the police. It does no detective work. It does not prosecute. The only instances in which the Alliance has felt justified in taking a case directly to the courts have been either to obtain an interpretation of the meaning of some clause in the Act or to appeal from some court judgment with which it did not agree.

The Lord's Day Alliance conceives its function to be a threefold one:

1.—To endeavor to bring about a better observance of the Lord's Day Act by correspondence or interview with companies or persons who have been reported as violating that law.

2.—To bring pressure to bear upon the civic authorities in the interest of a better enforcement of the Act.

3.—To educate and stimulate public opinion (a) as to the character of the Act, (b) as to the value of Sunday observance.

Thus, the Alliance remains true to the slogan adopted many years ago, "Education, not dictation: persuasion, not coercion."

What To-day Means To You

"AQUARIUS"

If February 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., and from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Tendencies for the day (February 7th.) influences will make you heady, and you will be inclined to rush into things precipitously, but not wisely, and expensive errors of judgment may be made. Overhead expenses will run away with profits. Fate will be kinder to young folk, who will have a thoroughly good time, and will make progress in their studies.

The child born on this February 7th will have a tenacious, quiet and practical character, which may find its outlet in many departments of life, according to circumstances. It may not be master of any trade, but it will be a fool at none. It will be lacking in enthusiasm, but will have energy.

You may not be a muscular athlete but you are a mental athlete, and although you may neglect physical excercise you do not neglect mental excercise. You are neither a mental or physical coward, and you always try to learn to ride the horse that threw you. You have the power of standing up to things, the never-say-die spirit. You have health resilience and are never a quitter.

You have an equable disposition, but one which is not without fire. You are a dignified and forceful fighter and your manner more than your words, indicate your displeasure. You are a born disciplinarian and have a ruling personality. There is enough gentleness and so much squareness about your nature, that you win both respect and affection. You are fitted to do both menta' and physical work. Either one alone would not satisfy one of your make-up—you need both menta' and phy ical outlets.

When you have luck in life, you are anxious to share it, and you never lose any part of it thereby. If you have good news, you spread it—if you have bad news, you keep it to yourself, if possible.

Your head and heart are joint rulers of your life and their united efforts should secure your success in the field of matrimony. You are not a prude but you believe in clean living and clean thinking. You will never grow too old to be a "kid," with children.

"AQUARIUS"

If February 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., and from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 2 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

This date will not be especially eventful, but it will be pleasant and happy for that reason, and you will enjoy passive and restful hours. Travel is likely. Journeys will be made easily and profitably. Increased health and vitality.

Children born on this February 8th will probably be called frivolous, indifferent, cynical and spiritless, and will probably, also, deserve such accusations. They will, however, have latent characteristics, which will come to the front, during early maturity, which will assure them a future adult success. Underneath their seeming "thickskin," beats a heart full of unexpressed affection and suppressed emotions.

You are inclined to be a faint-heart, and once defeated, you seldom give you self a second chance, and you will continue life on the lower slopes of the humdrum and commonplace. Your spirit may often rebel, at your so-called fate, but you lack the courage and stamina to change things. You would know how to enjoy a life of luxury, and how to grace it, but you will never secure it, on your efforts. The proverbial "rich aunt," or some other obliging relative, is pictured as coming to your rescue, after you have reached the age of thirty. You are not really a spend-thrift, and you will hang on to any good luck which comes your way.

If you be a man, you have a mechanical bent, and you love to tinker at things—a handy man about a home. You refuse to be rushed, and at all times, you will take your own good time about doing things. Your finished jobs, however, usually display good and careful workmanship. Laziness is not one of your faults, and if you had more pluck and nerve, nothing could hold you back. You will never fail through ignorance, as you keep yourself well informed.

You love sociability, and are a very cosmopolitan mixer—you will be a brother to anyone who is brother to you, and you have nerves which do not mind a noise. There is likely to be some misfortune or in harmony connected with your parents.

Slight Improvement In Investment Stock Demand

STEADY GROWTH OF QUIET CONFIDENCE GIVEN IMPETUS BY STABILITY OF MARKET

IN THE DOMINION.

Seems to Fine Echo in Investment Buying of Market Favorites.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7 (By Thos. C. Thompson—C.P.). — A slight improvement in demand for investment stocks was discernible beneath the extreme dullness of trading on Canadian stock markets this week.

Individual advances were by no means spectacular, but the steady growth of quiet confidence, voiced in the statements of bankers and business leaders, was given further impetus by the market's stability.

The week's business news included the highly unsettling influence of proposed new legislation in the United States in connection with war veterans' pensions, and the possible effect of such legislation was regarded, from the stock market standpoint, as bearish. Commodity prices in Canada and United States continued to show declines in the latest available statistics, and added to these influences was the more immediate factor of continued pressure on New York stocks by professional operators for the decline.

The market situation derived its favorable aspects largely from the psychological effect of confident predictions regarding the business outlook in the Dominion, and these predictions seemed to find an echo in investment buying of such issues as Brazilian Traction, Gold stocks and a few of the industrials.

Brazilian Traction was an outstanding feature of firmness, both in Toronto and Montreal, and on the Toronto stock exchange the shares ended the week at 24¼ compared

The gold issues maintained their recent advances and in spite of some profit taking the majority of these shares experienced further demand. Dome Mines, which a week ago sold at $10.05, ended the week at $10.95. McIntyre Porcupine at $23.10 compares with 22.45 a week ago and Hollinger at $8.55 compares with $8.33 last week.

Leaders Fluctuate

The reconized market leaders, International Nickel, Walkers, Massey-Harris and more recently Atlantic Sugar continued to fluctuate within narrow price limits, and it was in this section of the market that lack of leadership was most apparent. Interlisted shares were particularly confusing in their price changes and International Nickel at 14¾ closes the week at approximately the same price at which it sold last week, when sales were made at 14¼. Reports that distillery interests have been successful in apportioning export business among themselves seemed to have been fully discounted so far as the stock market was concerned, and Walkers at 7⅞ shows little change from its price of 8¼ a week ago, while Distillers Corporation at 12 shows no change for the week. Atlantic Sugar new continued to attract buying based largely on favorable reports concerning the company's business and during the week it touched a new high price for 1931 at 26, where it compared with 2 last week. Closing sales yesterday were made at 26¼. Massey Harris was among the less active issues, closing at 7⅝ compared with 7¼ last week, while Abitibi at 10½ and Service Stations at 31½ also show little change from last week. The oil group was interesting only to the extent that it reflected a marked lack of activity among traders.

SLIGHT LOSSES MINOR ISSUES

Despite Gains Predominating at Opening of Toronto Stock Exchange.

CANADA DREDGING UP.

TORONTO, Ont., February 7 (C.P.). — Prices were strong on the Toronto Stock Exchange during this morning's short session which wound up the week.

Brazilian advanced to 25 just before the close, Bell Telephone sold above 151, Ford gained nearly one point to 24½, Page-Hersey was up ½ point, C.P.R., Dominion Stores Loblaw's, Massey-Harris, Walker were firm and unchanged to a smal fraction advance. Nickel was firm

Oils were also very slow, Imperia somewhat easier, the others unchanged.

CAR HITS TRAIN—THREE KILLED.

DETROIT, Feb. 7. (CP)—Three men were killed at 3.45 this morning when their automobile struck a Pere Marquette freight train at the Joy Road crossing.

The victims were tentatively identified as Albert Thompson, 30, Fred Walker, 20, and Benjamin Barrett, 27.

Trainmen said the automobile approached the crossing at a high speed and struck the second car of the train.

World's Speed King Prepares for Home

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7.—Having hung up two new world's automobile speed records in two days, Captain Malcolm Campbell, intrepid British race car driver, to-day began making preparations for his return trip to England.

He plans to leave about the middle of next week.

Campbell said he was firmly convinced automobile speed never would equal that of airplanes. The present airplane record is 358 miles an hour, which also is held by Great Britain.

DROP IN JACKSON-MANION SHARES 000 DAMAGE SUIT RESULTS IN $350,

H. E. Harcourt Alleges Breach By Defendants of Underwriting Agreement.

TWO ACTIONS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7.—(C.P.)—Harry E. Harcourt, Toronto, is claiming $350,000 damages in two actions begun by writs issued at Osgoode Hall to-day, as an aftermath of the decline in market price of shares in Jackson-Manion mines.

In the first action he is suing R. R. Bongard, of Bongard and Company, Toronto stock brokers; T. A. Richardson, Toronto broker; James Dunn, Toronto financier, and Andre Drofman, of the Huronian Mining and Financial Corporation, Toronto, claiming damages of $200,000.

In the second Harcourt seeks $100,000 damages from Andre Drofman and Charles D. Kading, mining engineer.

Harcourt on behalf of himself and all other members of the Jackson-Manion underwriting syndicate, alleges a breach by the defendants of the underwriting agreement, seeking damages for losses suffered by reason of the fall in market price of Jackson Manion shares which he alleges was brought about by actions of the defendants.

Two Set History; Escape Dartmoor

PRINCETON, Devonshire, England, Feb. 7 (A.P.)—Nobody in history has ever succeeded in making good his escape from dread Dartmoor prison near here, but two desperate men to-day were making a bold attempt to break the record of many years.

They are John Mullins and John Michael Gaskin, one a forger and desperado, and the other a burglar. Both are serving long sentences.

They effected their getaway yesterday by slipping from the tail of a marching line of convicts within the prison enclosure and scaling a 32-foot wall by means of a secreted rope ladder.

WILLING TO ARBITRATE

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Athens to-day said the Greek Government was to inform Bulgaria through the Greek Minister at Sofia that it is prepared to adopt the British suggestion that disputes between the two nations should be submitted to arbitration.

MINING FRATERNITY PREDICTS MORE PROSPECTING THIS YEAR

Evidence is Found in Increased Attendance at Government Classes.

FOR MINERAL SPOTTING.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7. (Special to Examiner.)—Among members of the mining fraternity it is contended the coming season will see the most intense prospecting effort in Ontario and Quebec fields experienced in a long time. Evidence of increased interest is found in the attendance oat prospectors classes held by provincial governments where geologists teach the art of detecting and identifying the numerous minerals found in Canada's pre-Cambrian shield.

Fort William, for instance, this week sees the largest registration of prospectors for Dr. Burwash's classes in mineral spotting ever assembled in that city, with 65 potential mine finders attending the meeting. This is almost as many as Toronto has assembled for the same purpose in any year, and shows quite conclusively that prospectors of northwest Ontario are awake to the situation.

According to a statement issued in Montreal efforts to the Abana shareholders protective committee were intended merely to promote and establish co-operation between shareholders and the board of directors. The statement continues: "The committee is anxious to rehabilitate the Abana property, and is willing to co-operate in any constructive financial plan, but naturally desires to know the nature of the plan sufficiently in advance of its execution to permit its members to form an intelligent opinion as to its merit."

Whatever the intention of the "Abana shareholders" protective committee may have been, it is stated officially to have very definitely succeeeded in making it impossible for the present board of directors to arrange financing. In view of depressed metal prices and the clouded outlook for the mine, it is not to be wondered that even a suggestion of discordancy was enough to scare off interests who might have been prevailed upon to provide the very necessary funds. The present board, have done everything possible to improve conditions, is leaving the field open, and the meeting on February 18 in Montreal, should result in developments of great moment to shareholders in general. The decision of international nickel directors to reduce dividends on the common stock by 40% means a saving to the company's treasury, of almost $6,000,000 per annum. The $1 disbursement, according to latest figures, required an outlay of $124,588,704 annually or $3,647,176 quarterly. On the new basis of 60 cents per share dividend outlay on the same outstanding stock, would be $8,753,222 a year or $2,188,305 every three months. Thus, the company's reserves promises to benefit at the rate of $5,835,482 a year or $1,458,871 each quarter.

Kinsmen Are Planning To Hold Big Barbecue

The Kinsmen of this city are holding a sequel to the King's Plate in their Dance Marthon at the Carnival and Barbecue, at the Chemong Pavilion on Thursday, February 12.

A stag dinner will be given in the Empress Hotel at 6.30 p.m. Following this, the members of the Club will go to Chemong by bus and the Carnival will commence at 9 o'clock. The dance is given in honor of the business depression, and there will be a whole raft of novelties. There are already two entrants in Marrathon Ed. Riley and Dr. M. Crough.

A heavy fine will be imposed on all those wearing tuxedos or evening dress of any sort, as ordinary sports or old clothing is to be worn. The Kinsmen guarantee a real good time to all those who attend the Carnival.

Flappers of Cuba have a craze for American shoes with colored uppers.

Train Strikes Auto Four Occupants Die

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 7. (CP)—Struck by a freight train which carried their automobile four blocks, two men and two women were killed early to-day.

None was identified, but it was believed one of the victims was Herbert Campbell, of Dayton. Campbell, according to his landlay, left his home at Dayton yesterday with another man and women whose names she did not know. The license number of the wrecked automobile had been issued to Campbell.

HOLLINGER STRONG IN EARLY SESSION

International Nickel Sells 20 Higher at 14.50 on Standard Exchange.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7 (C.P.) — Action of Dome Mines stood out in a rather dull and irregular session on the mining market to-day. While rate of turnover in the bulk of lower-priced stocks held up fairly well, price movements were confined and slightly lower in tendency.

Dome, which showed strength for several days, moved above $11 for the first time in two years, the price touching $11.35 and closing up 30 at $11.21. Balance of the higher-priced golds were practically unchanged. Eldorado firmed a cent to 40, but Kirkland Lake Gold was down a point at 69, and the rest of the medium-priced golds were in the discard as far as trading was concerned.

Base Metal stocks were listless with Nickel up 10 to $14.40 and Noranda off a quarter in odd lot trading to 17.25. Petrol was stronger in the oils, but Ajax, Acme and Nordon lost a cent each.

RELIEF ASSOCIATION

factories, stores, offices, etc., will be asked to contribute at least the equivalent of one day's pay for the months of February and March, payable in pay day installments. N. H. Crowe, a representative of the Canadian Legion, is manager of the campaign and offices have been opened in the Chamber of Commerce.

Opportunity will also be given to every citizen to contribute to the fund. The relief agencies have been functioning so efficiently that no complaints have been heard of families not looked after, but it is only those citizens who have been engaged in the relief who know the extent of the help that has been given and know that funds are urgently needed to carry on the work. When the opportunity is given we know the citizens of Peterborough will respond.

POPE OPENS VATICAN POWER PLANT

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 6. —(AP)—Taking another step away from the medieval atmosphere and tradition of the Vatican into the modern world of science, Pope Pius today inaugurated the Vatican's new electric power plant, recalling that fifty-two years ago when he was first ordained a priest the Papal Palace was lighted by gas and candles.

The Pontiff blessed the turbines, motors and generators which create enough power for the Vatican City, including the new radio station. Then he pulled a switch which started the dynamoes.

C.G.E. GROUP NO. 2

A heavy hitting aggregation of bowlers for C.G.E. Group No. 2 left the points distributed as follows: 8—0 decisions for Drafting Room, Stores and Fitters No. 2 over Wire Department, Fitters No. 1 and Pay Roll and an even break between Brass and Production teams. Bud Weese headed a big list of 600 men, topping off his 748 with a 321 single. Others well up included C. Grant 693, J. Houghton 654, A. Musther 621, F. Lockhart 609, F. Martin 669, J. Playford 623, A. Bogie 627, A. Padgett 638, D. Ahern 620, T. Ryan 638, V. Shaughnessy 627, D. Grant 692, F. Hickey 667, H. Foster 662, and W. Metheral 642; the last four players teaming up for the Drafting Room to pile up a 3,237 total.

C.G.E. GROUP No. 3

Thursday was moving day for Group No. 3, the eighth place Cost No. 3 and fifth place Tool Room teams moved Switchboard No. 1 and Fractionals out of the lead; 6 to 2 defeats were tacked on the latter teams. Cost No. 2 shut-out the tail end Armatures and stepped from the fourth to the top rung, while Cost No. 2 landed in second position after defeating Accounting 6 to 2. Lightning Arr. could not change Inspection's standing although they managed to get one game. High triples were scattered among all the teams. R. Pilling topped the heavy hitters with 694, W. Bennett made 659, S. S. Shaughnessy 658, G. Whaley 656, E. Montgomery 651, H. Northrop 617, and F. Shannon 605. Pilling and R. Waldron featured the play with 316 and 300 singles.

C.G.E. GROUP No. 1

Six ladies' teams of C.G.E. Group No. 1 bowled on Tuesday night, resulting in a 6—2 win for Office No. 4 over Fractional, a tie between Office No. 2 and 3 teams and an 8—0 win for the leading Office No. 1 team over Meter No. 2, the latter team, although handicapped with only three players, gave their opponents a close run in the first and third games. A 547 triple by Marion Timm was high over all the girls; Miss Gatfield and Miss Benson totaling 534 and 517. Miss Creighton and Miss Gatfield touched the high spots with 248 and 231 singles, but the real headliner was the way Miss Condon's 183 snared a box of cigars.

C.G.E. ENGINEERS' LEAGUE

Price Setting and Industrial Control set and controlled all the points handed out to Mechanical Engineers and D.C., the latter teams going home with the zero end of 8—0 counts. Laboratory and Switchboard No. 2 were more liberal, allowing a game each to Induction Motors and Switchboard No. 1. Two of the old-timers, Osterland and Munroe stepped out for the night, the former nailing 723 pins and Munroe packed in a 292 single to count 660. Fanjoy of Ind. Control had three even scores for 625.

WESTERN CLOCK LEAGUE

Eight to nothing in favor of Cullen's and Eames' over Martin's and Delahaye's, and Beckerman's on the big end of a very close 6 to 2 battle with Ainslie's, were the results of the Western Clock weekly roll. Evans bunched three fine singles to total 703; Eames, Cupoli, Delahaye, Cranford and Robinson chalked up 676, 672, 668, 631 and 627.

LADIES' CITY LEAGUE

High triples and singles went to the ash-can in the Ladies' City League on Thursday. Zelda Northey's 631 beat Evelyn Drury's and Agnes Dixon's 623, and Mrs. Hewitt went one better than Lillian Campbell's 306 to chalk up 307 for the best single to date. Notwithstanding Miss Northey's good performance and the big scores of Miss McIlmoyle and Miss Murdock, the Quaker Oats lost 6 points to the Nashua Paper, the Misses D. Copping, M. Hatcher and L. Lockhart heading a well-balanced team to count 565, 547 and 530.

The Brintons bowled 2,600 pins all alone to add 8 more points; Mrs. Hewitt, Miss Taylor and Mrs. Firth hit hard to chalk up 617, 591 and 581.

Playing off a postponed game on Tuesday, the Metropolitan Stores took third place away from the Brintons by winning 6 of the 8 points. Miss Holland of the Stores turned in a 588 count which included a 224 single. Miss Doran and Mrs. Nimmons won the first game for the Brintons with 219 and 217 singles, but Mrs. Hewett's 508 beat them out for the three games.

AUTOMOBILE LEAGUE

The Automobile League started away again from scratch on Wednesday night. Buicks got the jump on Chryslers this time, taking all the points, Shaughnessy and J. J. Duffus supplying the punch for the winners with 653 and 613. Chryslers were short-handed, but Forsyth turned in good scores.

Interest boiled over in the Hudson and Essex-Ford tussle, the latter team nosing two game and pinnage from the Combines. Al Juby and Andy Wilson shaded Carl Duck and Mrs. Carney's good bowling with 575 and 559 triples.

Pontiacs left something for the newly-christened Willy-Knights to shoot at, Bill Hickey chalking up 649, his 302 single rubbed Joe Detcher's 293 off the board.

SAVING DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE

Total in Canadian Banks at End of November Amounted to $1,439,000,000.

COMMERCIAL LOANS HIGHER.

In the interpretation of Canadian banking statistics, the relation of Savings Deposits to Current Loans is significant, and an upward trend in the volume of Savings Deposits is an essential to a satisfactory money situation. From July, 1930, to the end of November, the latest date for which information is available, the total of notice or savings deposits in Canada showed a steady increase. From a peak of $1,526,000,000 in January, 1929, there had been a decline until the total for July amounted to $1,402,000,000. In August a small increase amounting to two million dollars gave a tentative indication that this decline had been checked. The figures for each subsequent month gave confirmation to this theory, and the total savings deposirs in Canada at the end of November amounted to $1,439,000,000. This is particularly striking in view of the reduced returns which have been received for grain, lumber, paper and other commodities, and the reduced wage payments caused by curtailment of business.

During the prosperous years preceding the present depression, the credit requirements of Canadian business greatly increased with the general expansion of the period. Commercial loans in Canada amounted to $1,473,000,000 in October, 1929. During the following thirteen months, these loans declined approximately $290,000,000, reflecting the general slowing down of business during 1930, as well as the attempt on the part of business men to place their affairs in a more liquid position. The decline in commodity prices and the decreased inventory values resulting from this decline, as well as the reduction in stocks of merchandise carried, were also important factors in reducing the commercial loans outstanding. The ratio of commercial loans in Canada to savings deposits and the general credit position have been improved by this process. When loans were at their peak, the total was approximately $3,000,000 in excess of savings deposits. With the decrease in loans and the increase in deposits, this position has been gradually improved and such deposits are now some $255,000,000 greater than commercial loans.

There must necessarily be a period during which savings are accumulated and the total is built up to sufficient proportions to encourage an expansion of credit and business. The upward trend shown in recent months denotes the return of habits of thrift. Should the movement be maintained, a strong foundation will be laid for the further development of Canadian industry and trade.

ROBINSON LEADS DOGS TO VICTORY

Canadians in International League Are Winners in Last Night's Games.

TORONTO, Ont., February 7 (By George Maguire, C.P. Sports Writer) — Canadian clubs of the International Hockey League came through with flying colors in last night's matches against two of the strongest United States contenders for the championship.

Earl Robinson, sniper extraordinary, who is leading the league point scorers by a wide margin, led the Windsor Bulldogs to a crushing victory over the Cleveland Indians, winners of the title last season. The final score was 6 to 2, with Robinson featuring by notching the first two goals and the final race in the closing minutes.

While the Bulldogs were smothering the Indians and creeping up to within one game of the leading Buffalo Bisons, London Tecumsehs were humiliating the Bisons by handing them a neat shellacking, 3 to 0. Coupled with Cleveland's loss the victory gave Roy Brothers' pupils third place by one point over the Ohio city purchasers.

Three games are scheduled over the week-end. Detroit and Syracuse are the teams billed for the weekly two-game grind. The Stars travel to Pittsburgh to-night, and then return home to entertain the Olympics who meet the Bisons in Fort Erie to-night.

A double triumph for the Olympics will place them in a play-off berth again, but if their past conflicts with the Bisons are any criterion, they will not do any better than break even for the Buffalonians have beaten them every start this season.

CANADA IS DESTINED T OPROGRESS RAPIDLY SAYS AMERICAN LIFE HEAD

"Canadians May View Future With Supreme Confidence" According to Mr. Bradshaw.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The North American Life Assurance Company in its Fiftieth Annual Statement reports a highly satisfactory year in 1930. The new business during that year was decreased slightly while the total assurances in force showed a smaller increase than was recorded in 1929. However, the surplus earned during the year increased $610,247, over that of 1929. The same relatively high interest rate was earned as in 1929, namely 6.14%. The expense rate was reduced and dividend payments to policyholders increased by $120,834.

These were some of the high lights from the Fiftieth Annual Report of the North American Life Assurance Comdany at its Annual Meeting on Thursday, January 29.

Mr. Bradshaw in presenting this report spoke on general conditions and compared the present reaction in business to that which occurred after the Napoleonic Wars in Europe and after the Civil War in the United States. Continuing, he said, it is very difficult to predict the course of prices and values. If we should assume that the unprecedented development of the last fifty years in science and business was for the time being retarded we might look forward to an era of reduced commodity values and general lowering rates of interest. If, on the other hand as we may assume there shall continue to be an advance both in pure and applied science, we will continue to have tremendous demands on capital which may present a prolonged reduction either in prices or in interest rates. Revolutionary and evolutionary changes are occuring both in the political and economic life of the people of the world, but as far as Canada is concerned we may with supreme confidence, look forward to the future. We have not only tremendous natural resources but our country is stocked with fine virile, God-fearing people. It may well be open to question whether it is wise by artificial means to force population and business, but it at least may be said that in the natural way and without special stimulation our country is destined to progress very rapidly and steadily to increase in population and wealth.

Development of Assurance.

Life Assurance has undergone a tremendous development in Canada during the past fifty years increasing from ninety-one million to over six and one-half billions in force and from $21.65 to $650 per capita. Next to the United States and Great Britain, Canada has at the present time more assurance in force than any country in the world. Our people share with the people of the United States in carrying the largest per capita assurance of any country in the world.

During the past year with the dissipation of so many fortunes and with the many losses that have occurred the value of life assurance has come home as never before. Our people are assurance minded and realize that nothing has been devised to make its place. I believe that Life Assurance as an institution will continue to make great progress and to play an even more important part in the future than it has in the past. I am sure that our Company that has been built upon such a solid sound foundation will become the commanding structure that the founders envisioned and others have worked for.

Mr. Bradshaw spoke in a reminiscent mood and reviewed the growth of the Dominion of Canada and that of the Company. It was interesting to observe, he continued, that the founding of the North American Life was almost coincidental of that of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

In commenting upon the character and sterling qualities of the men who had played an important part in the early history of the Company he mentioned by name many men prominent in the business and political life of the Dominion many years ago who were identified with the Company.

Statement Read At Caledonian Meeting

The regular monthly business meeting of the Caledonian Club was held last evening in the Woodmen of the World Hall. A good representation of members were present, and A. D. Clark acted as chairman in the absence of W. Petrie.

The minutes of last business meeting were read by the secretary, and a financial statement for last year was given by the treasurer.

Several new members were added to the roll.

A program was drawn up to cover this month's activities. Next Friday a ladies' executive has arranged for a Valentine dance, when each member may bring a friend. A sleigh drive is also being anticipated by the younger set for the 27th.

After the business meeting a social hour was spent in dancing and in the service of dainty refreshments.

TRESPASSERS HANDICAP WINNER.

LINGFIELD, Eng., Feb. 7. (AP)—G. H. Bostwick, riding Victor Emanuel's Bangle the Second, to-day won the Trespassers' Amateur Handicap hurdle race here by three lengths.

C. M. H. Harmsworth's Michaelmas Day was second and S. Wyton's Obrino, third. Bangle the second paid three to one. The race was worth $758.

MINERAL PRODUCTION SHOWS BIG INCREASE DURING PAST DECADE

NEW RECORDS ESTABLISHED

Mineral production in Canada showed greater expansion during the decade just closed than any other major branch of industry. The total output of Canadian mines was valued at $172,000,000 in 1921. This increased to a total of more than $310,000,000 in 1929. The industry shared the effects of the prevailing business depression and operations during 1930 were curtailed in many fields. As a whole, however, mining continued to progress and provided one of the greatest stabilizing influences in business during the year. New records were established in both the quantity and value of gold, petroleum and natural gas produced. Prices for copper and zinc were materially lower than in 1929, yet new quantity records were established for these metals. The output of silver was also increased and was greater than in any year since 1915. As a result of the decline in metal prices, the aggregate value was less than in the previous year, dropping to $276,850,000. This stands second only to the record established in 1929 and is nearly two million dollars greater than the total for 1928, the record up to that time. A comparison of these amounts with the total for 1921 shows the great advance made in mineral production during the decade. Further, the maintainence of such a high level of production under the adverse conditions of 1930 is striking evidence of the soundness and underlying strength of Canada's mining industry.

The Canadian copper-mining industry has developed at a particularly rapid rate. The extraordinary demand during the war resulted in greatly increased production, the total output amounting to nearly 119,000,000 pounds in 1918. In the post-war period, the output dropped to 43,000,000 pounds in 1922 but recovered rapidly, increasing 100 per cent in 1923. Production made another great advance when it increased from 140,000,000 pounds in 1927 to 206,600,000 pounds in 1928. Expansion continued during 1929 and 1930, production reaching the record total of 301,000,000 pounds last year. The increase in Quebec has been most pronounced during the past three years. The output in this province was only 3,120,000 pounds in 1927. Discoveries in the Rouyn district were rapidly developed and production amounted to approximately 80,000,000 pounds in 1930. In this same year, the production of British Columbia amounted to more than 91,000,000 pounds and that of Ontario to 127,600,000 pounds.

Until quite recently, practically all the copper produced in Canada was shipped out of the country for refining and Canadian manufacturers of copper goods were forced to import their requirements of the refined commodity. When the industries were small, and both the production and the consumption of copper in Canada inconsiderable, such a condition was perhaps unavoidable. The rapid increase in mine production in recent years has led to the construction of refining plants so that today the copper refineries of Canada, either operating or under construction, are capable of producing refined copper in excess of Canadian requirements. The most important project of this kind is the refinery at Copper Cliff, Ontario, which is jointly owned by the International Nickel Company, the American Metal Company, The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company and Ventures, Limited. This refinery has a capacity of 120,000 tons of refined copper annually and went into operation last July. A copper refinery is also under construction at Montreal East by Canadian Copper Refiners, Limited. This plant will have an annual capacity of 75,000 tons of refined copper and it is expected that it will be ready for operation during the present year. It is being constructed primarily to refine the copper produced by the Noranda smelter, but will also do custom refining. The completion of this plant will bring the total refining capacity of the Canadian industry to 210,00 tons annually, as compared with a total production of copper in 1930 of 150,000 tons. It is expected, however, that production will expand when metal prices improve. There are also two plants in Canada, one in operation and the other under construction, for the primary stages of the fabrication of copper. In the future, therefore, Canadian copper-using industries will have available as raw material an ample supply of refined copper from purely domestic sources.

DO NOT LEAVE HATCHING EGGS LONG IN NEST

Gather Them Several Times a Day, Thus Avoid Chilling.

USE UNIFORM TYPE.

Eggs Should Not Be Held Over Ten Days—the Fresher the Better.

Eggs that are being sold for hatching purposes should be gathered several times a day. Good eggs oftentimes become poor hatching eggs simply because they are not gathered before they get chilled in the nest.

When eggs are gathered, they should be graded, and those of uniform type, shape, size and color saved. For the most part these egg qualities are inherited; so you will want to avoid setting or selling for hatching purposes off-colored, misshapen, small eggs or eggs with shell imperfections.

Right Temperatures

To hold hatching eggs, keep them in a room where you can maintain a temperature of 50 to 55 degrees. If the temperature is below 50 degrees, the germ is apt to get chilled, while if the eggs are held in a temperature above 55 degrees, there is danger of the germ starting to develop. In either case, it proves to be a direct injury when the eggs are incubated.

The fresher the eggs can be placed in an incubator, the better. They should not be held over ten days at the most because the hatching quality decreases rapidly after the tenth day. When holding hatching eggs, it is a good policy to turn them once a day.

There is no one cause for poor hatches. It may be any one or a combination of improper handling of hatching eggs, faulty incubation, and poor nutrition. Breeders should be properly nourished through the winter months. They ought to be in good condition and in good health when the hatching season starts.

QUEBEC GAINING AS SEED GROWER

INTEREST INCREASES.

During the last few years the interest in seed production in Quebec has greatly increased. Large quantities of hay for commerce are grown in this province and the amount of clover and grass seed used is, therefore, considerable.

As the winter climate is rigorous, hardy strains, particularly of clovers, are needed and there is a strong demand for home grown seed, hence the development of the production of red clover seed in the district of Lake St. John, the Eastern Townships, Soulanges and Vaudreuil and other counties of the Montreal section and in Temiskaming County in the north.

Very little red clover seed was grown in the province ten years ago but in recent years quantities often exceeding 100,000 pounds have been produced in the areas named.

Impetus has been given to the production of red clover seed in Quebec by reason of the numerous clover seed hullers and cleaning machines provided by the Provincial Department of Agriculture in co-operation Further impetus has been given during the past year by the Co-operative Federee of Montreal, which now acts as an agency for distributing much of the seed grown within the province.

It is interesting also to record that in the County of LaPrairie there is the largest production in Canada of spring vetch seed, 150,000 pounds being produced for commerce in this county in 1930. This seed supplies a large part of the domestic requirement and surplus quantities are exported to Europe.

Following are the estimates of the marketable production of other kinds for 1930: Red Clover, 200,000 lbs; Timothy, 60,000 lbs.; Flax, 65,000 lbs.; Seed Oats of Registered grades, 9,600 bus.; Spring wheat of Registered grades, 500 bus.; Barley of Registered grade, 900 bus.

In several of the seed producing centres co-operatives have been organized through which the local production is marketed.

Farming Changed In Past Few Years

Some appreciation of the change which has taken place in farming in Canada during the past fifty years is afforded by the observations made on a recent occasion by Dr. J. F. Booth, Commissioner of Agricultural Economics, Ottawa. In the early days of Canadian agricultural history, he points out, the farmer was a self-sufficient producer and in a small way a manufacturer. To-day the farmer depends for existence upon his ability to produce commodities for market. He is no longer a technician who produces his own food and manufactures his own shoes, clothing, etc., but instead is a business man who is dependent upon a knowledge of both technical production problems and the intricacies of domestic and foreign have some appreciation of the problems involved in the assembling, grading, transportation, storage, financing and marketing of his products.

CHICKS REQUIRE LIBERAL RATIONS PROPER QUALITY

Feed Must Be of Nature That Provides Heat and Energy.

OATMEAL RECOMMENDED.

Check Over Your Brooder Stove and Clean Brooder House.

While you may not expect to brood any chicks for several weeks or more, you no doubt have been thinking about it. There are so many things, such as cleaning the brooder-house, checking over the brooder stove, ordering the baby chicks, selecting the ration, and the like, that one must do before the chicks arrive.

First Feed Important

Few poultrymen fully appreciate hom much depends upon the first feed that baby chicks receive or they would excercise greater care in the selection of the ration. A chick starter to encourage rapid soun,d growth and keep the chicks in good health, besides being easily digested, must be rich in available proteins, minerals and vitamins. A good portion of the feed must also be of such a nature so as to furnish both heat and energy.

The chick must not only have a sufficent suuply of protein in the ration, but it must be of proper quality. A chick ration where all of the protein is supplied by the plant life is not inducive to growth or muscle building as is a ration which has part of the protein coming from an animal origin.

Possibly no part of a chick ration is so often neglected as minerals. Practically all feeds contain some mineral matter, but the average one is deficient in meeting the need of the chick. Often slow growth or uneven development in a flock may be traced to a lack of minerals.

A ration may be correct in every respect, yet if certain of the vitamins are missing, the chicks cannot grow. Vitamins A, B and D are very vital in the Chick Starter.

Oatmeal Good

Practically all chick rations have an ample supply of carbohydrates and fat, but there is a difference of birds developed, depending on the kinds of carbohydrates used. Oatmeal, for instance, develops an unusually fine quality of flesh and fat.

It is quite apparent that the baby chick demands a ration composed of a variety of ingredients combined in correct proportions. To make sure that the chick gets just what it needs, select a good commercial chick starter. It will eliminate worry and insure rapid, economical growth.

SHEEP INDUSTRY OUTLOOK BRIGHT ACROSS CANADA

Production Grows Steadily But Still Well Below Consumption.

HAVE PROPER BREED.

Two Million Lamb Carcasses Needed to Fill Total Yearly Needs.

While the future of wheat and any other agricultural commodity of which there is a large exportable surplus depends on world conditions and therefore cannot be completely settled by Canadian farmers themselves, the same hardly holds true in regard to our sheep industry. Particularly in lamb and mutton is our production very considerably less than domestic consumption so that the whole problem of marketing is purely one concerning this Dominion. Moreover, with consumption steadily improving and with a relatively fair profit to producers at present prices both lamb and wool, the future of this particular branch of the agricultural industry would appear to be reasonably sound. To the man with the proper breed of sheep, authorities point out there should be no thought of liquidation at this time but rather the reverse.

Consumption Grows

In 1927, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, our consumption of lamb per capita was 6.09 pounds, but by paying more attention to breeding and feeding and particularly more attention to growing high quality lambs and turning them on the market at the right time and in prime condition that consumption has been gradually increased until 1930 we find it standing at 7.1o pounds for every man, woman and child in Canada, or a gain in four years of slightly over one pound. To the casual observer this gain may seem small, and judging by the present trend, it is going to be small in comparison with the increase in tne next four years, but reduced to a more readily understandable basis, it is really impressive. With our present population of approximately ten million people the one pound increase represents 10,000,000 pounds or about 300,000 carcasses or eight per cent of our total sheep population. That is not a bad record for four years and especially when we consider sheepmen during this period have received no special assistance nor even the benefit of having their lamb branded "Canadian," and graded. And when we view our total production and consumption figure we will see that this progress is sound and safe as we are still far away from any saturation point. Two million lamb carcasses are required to fill the total wants of the Canadian consumer to-day, while at best our Canadian production is around 1,500,000 carcasses per year. These figures are irrespective of local country consumption on which no statistics are obtainable.

Staple Food

But even our present total consumption, sheep authorities point out, is no indication of ultimate figures to which this industry might be safely expanded. Lamb used to be considered a delicacy; now with lower prices it is being regarded as a staple. With better breeding, perhaps the elimination of some breeds, docking and castrating of lambs, and with grading to make sure that the consumer really gets the high grade home article, this industry can go much farther and without any imposition on the consumer either, because as several prominent sheepmen have pointed out to officials of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers during the past season, "There are plenty of good farmers making a good profit out of eight cent lamb and ten cent wool to-day."

The hope is also being quite freely expressed through the country that some actions should be taken in the very near future to preserve for ourselves a home market not already ruined or saturated and with which we may grow and develop.

Roseneath Heifers Qualify In The R.O.P.

A pair of two-year-old Holstein heifers have recently been qualified in the R.O.P. by A. J. Campbell, Roseneath, Ont., both with good average production in milk and butter to their credit. The one heifer, Bluebell Keyes Ormsby, finished her lactation period with 12,084 lbs. milk containing 538.75 lbs. butter giving her an average test of 3.57% fat. The other heifer, Belle Keyes Triumph, produced 10,921 lbs. milk containing 4553.75 lbs butter. Both heifers made their records on twice a day milking.

CANADIAN GAME RESOURCES

Notwithstanding the fact that serious inroads have been made on many species of game native to North America through the advance of settlement and development, there still remains in the vast wooded and unsettled portions of Canada an abundance of wild life. Thanks to wise legislative measures and strict enforcement of laws, these valuable resources have been protected and conserved with the result that game is well distributed throughout practically every province from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Warsaw Short Course Class Visit Westclox Plant

In connection with the annual short courses in Peterborough County which took place in Warsaw this year, a visit of the students to Peterborough was arranged. The members of the class are pictured above, outside of the Westclox factory, which was one of the places of interest visited.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—The local butter market showed only fair activity during the week, with most sales of any consequence being made in the earlier days. Fair-sized lots moved at the first of the week at prices of 31½c to 32c for No. 1 creamery, solids, and 30½c to 31c for No. 2, with the higher prices in effect for top-scoring lots only. Yesterday cars of high quality Western butter were not finding any buyers, but prices held firm, as previous purchases have only been heavy enough to take care of immediate requirements. Buyers have adopted a cautious attitude of late, and have been buying very carefully, with the result that there is a buying splurge every two weeks or so.

Higher Cream Prices

Cream prices advanced during the week 1c on all grades, and country shippers were quoted 31c to 32c for specials, 30c to 31c for No. 1, and 27c to 28c for No. 2, f.o.b., country points.

Cheese Up

Less new cheese was offered this week, and prices were ½c higher to shippers, but steady to retailers, as wholesalers had considerable supplies on hand. Prices were quoted to country shippers of 14½c to 14½c for new large, 14½c to 14¾c for twins, and 14¾c to 15c for triplets. Retailers were quoted 15½c for new large, 15¾c for twins, and 16c for triplets.

Egg Market Steady

The egg market was steady, with prices slightly better to country shippers and firm to retailers. Brokers were offering graded supplies at 29c to 30c for extras, 26c for firsts, 22c for pullet extras, and 20c for seconds, in free cases, but toward the end of the week they found the 30c price on extras impossible to procure. The demand has been good for all grades, and receipts were clearing well, but buyers refused to pay the 30c price for extras, except at the first of the week.

Country shippers were quoted 24c to 25c for extras, 21c to 22c for firsts, and 16c to 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Retailers were quoted, extras, in cartons, at 32c to 33c; extras, loose, 30c to 31c; firsts, loose, 27c to 28c; pullet extras, 23c, and seconds, 21c. Wholesalers also offered the trade candled out of storage supplies at 19c for extras, 17c for firsts, and 15c for seconds, and brokers offered storage eggs at 17c to 17½c for extras, 15c to 15½c for firsts and 13c for seconds.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—Butter prices were lower, and egg quotations were slightly higher, while cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of fresh eggs were quoted unchanged at 29c to 30c a dozen for extras, and 25c to 26c for firsts and pullet extras. Storage eggs gained 1c, being quoted at 14c to 17c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Receipts were 607 cases.

Western butter declined one-quarter of a cent, being quoted at 32c a pound, while Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized dropped one-eighth of a cent at 32¼c a pound. To retailers, solids were 34c, and prints 35c a pound. Receipts were 1,229 boxes.

On the cheese market, trading was very light. Receipts totalling only 22 boxes. Winter white was quoted at 12c a pound, and colored at 14c, while summer cheese was 15½c to 16c a pound. New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots were 75c per 90 pounds bulk, and to retailers 85c per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, February 7. — Light local offerings in the wheat market here combined with a bullish Chicago market to boost prices fractionally here again yesterday. Net gains at close of trading were ½c to ¾c for the day.

Export business overnight reached a small total and foreign interest in Canadian wheat was very limited. Dry weather in the south had a sympathetic effect locally and with very little wheat for sale the market easily held its advance. Cash wheat was traded in at spreads better than the previous trading. Coarse grains were dull and featureless. Futures:

Stewart Deals With Objections To Draper

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7 (C.P.).—Discussing the demand for the resignation of Chief of Police Draper at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last evening, Mayor William J. Stewart said to-day "if any citizens have any matter to lay before the Police Commission they will have an opportunity to appear at any time before the board."

The Mayor declared he will not carry on a controversy over police affairs but is always willing to discuss such matters at the Police Commission meetings.

TALL CANADIAN TREES

Douglas fir attains a larger size than any other tree in Canada. Not infrequently trees of a height of 250 feet have been found.

DAIRY COW PLAYS IN DUAL ROLE DURING LIFETIME

Contributes to Profits and Helps Maintain Value of Land.

ODD BAVARIAN CUSTOM.

Presence of Dairy Herd on Farm Influences Yearly Plan For Corps.

A friend of mine who traveled abroad this summer was struck by two observations he made while motoring through Bavaria in southern Germany. Houses and barns were built together unde rone roof. The very finest country homes were erected in that way so that it was not a matter of economy. The other thing that impressed him was the value placed upon fertiliser. Out in the front yards, alongside the highways, one could see the carefully stacked piles of manure, guarded and cared for as if it were so much grain.

This leads us to one of the most important benefits of dairying—its relation to the fertility of the soil

Grain Comes First

The history of farming shows that the raising of grain is always the first development. It is true the discoverers of this country brought some cattle with them. But it was two hundred years after the coming of Columbus that we began to think seriously of the dairy cow. Then we decided to import a few improved breeds from Europe where dairying was already an outstanding industry.

The year 1850 is given by most writers as the date when dairying in this country really came into its own. About that time we inaugurated milk trains which furnished the city with milk from distant points. It is said the first cheese factory was established in New York in 1851. Condensed milk was discovered in 1856. There followed in order the cream separator, which revolutionized the dairy industry, the Babcock test, cold storage, the formation of dairy associations, instruction in agricultural colleges, studies of nutritive values in milk, and the present era of improved herds and greater production.

But the raising of grain crops has always been the mainstay of the American farmer. The inevitable result is a decline in the fertility of the soil. The ground must contain nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in proper quantities to be productive. Those chemical elements are removed when grain is harvested and sold. They must be returned to the soil in the form of fertiliser. For instance, if we replace the chemicals that a bushel of wheat takes away with it, we spend about 27 cents for fertiliser. A bushel of corn robs the soil of about 23 cents worth of fertiliser.

Dairy products, on the other hand, take little from the fertility of the farm and the herds return in the form of manure the most valuable form of fertiliser we have.

It is estimated that the value of fertiliser produced by an average dairy cow in a year's time is equal to about $38 in commercial fertilizer. If proper methods are employed, 80 per cent of the quantity of fertilising element from farm animals can be saved and used.

Indirect Benefit

An indirect benefit that comes from the dairy herd is the fact its presence on the farm influences the yearly plan for crops is necessary. Hay and silage which can be fed to the cattle, and which take their place in the cycle of crops, naturally are welcome.

It seems to me that in this article and the one preceding it I have established a pretty good case for the farmer who includes the dairy cow in his program. First of all, milk is an essential food in our diet. Secondly, skim milk is the best food there is for poultry and hogs, also the dairy cow is a cheap producer of food, excelling the hen and the pig in this respect. And as I have attempted to demonstrate in the above, the dairy cow contributes very materially to the fertility of the farm land. When we have learned the value of natural fertiliser as the European farmer has learned it, we will place dairying in its proper place throughout agriculture.

AMBER MICA

Both of the commercial varieties of mica—termed by the trade, amber mica and white mica—occur in Canada; the deposits of the former are the more important. The occurrences of amber mica are found chiefly in those parts of Ontario and Quebec contiguous to Ottawa, and within a radius of about a hundred miles.

GOVERNMENTS PAY 50 PER CENT. CLEANING PLANT OF COST OF SEED

Hope to Establish Two or Three Plants in Peterborough County.

COST IS ABOUT $1,000.

The Government is entering upon an enterprise whereby grants are being given to encourage the erection and operation of power seed cleaning plants in Ontario, and it's expected that some two or three of these plants will be constructed in Peterborough County.

The total grant (Federal and Provincial) will in most cases amount to 50 percent of the actual invoice cost plus freight from factory to point of installation of seed cleaning and grading machines, and a total grant of about $500. However, the application for the grant must be accompanied by a statement signed by 25 "bona fide" farmers residing in the district supporting the application for such seed cleaning machinery.

Requirements

It is first necessary that the Minister of Agriculture be satisfied that the installation of the machinery is in the best interests of agriculture in the district, and that the applicant install and equip seed cleaning machinery as specified by the Minister. The farmers must then promise to operate and keep the machines in repair, and render satisfactory seed cleaning service to their fellows at a reasonable charge. The contract is to be binding for a period of seven years.

These cleaning machines will be erected wherever they are needed, and the benefits accruing from their construction may readily be seen. It has been noted before that many of the destructive weeds in grain fields or garden plots are the direct result of "dirty seed." Thus by a process of cleaning, the bad seeds are removed. And a far better crop is assured, thereby netting the farmer a much larger profit.

Overfeeding Hogs Is Wrong Policy

With an abundance of low priced coarse grains and wheat available there is an apparent tendency on the part of farmers to overfeed their market hogs. This is shown by the increase in the average weight of hogs now coming onto the market. The two hundred pound hog is the ideal market weight A. A. MacMillan, Chief of the Sheep and Swine Division of the Federal Department of Agriculture, points out. With the price of lard what it is to-day, relatively lower than the price of bacon, it is the bacon type which means money to the producer. Farmers should watch hog feeding closely to guard against both light weight and excess fat—he must keep away from the out-weight grades if he is going to get the top of the market for his hogs.

IODINE VALUE BEING REALIZED

Especially Important That it be Fed to Stock During Winter Months.

DOSES VARY.

"I would not be without it," states A. F. Cameron of Pembroke, Ontario, in referring to the feeding of iodine to his sheep flock to prevent goitre, "the saving of one lamb more than pays for the cost of the potassium iodide." More and more Canadian stockmen are coming to the same opinion, as are all Government officials including heads of the Dominion Experimental Farms who have experimented with this material. And Mr. Cameron has not minimised the cost. Outside the ranges the average sheep flock in this country runs between twenty and twenty-five animals and the cost of insuring this against the all too common loss by goitre would be much less than the value of a single lamb each season.

Good For All Stock.

But iodine is not simply a sheep cure. It is advocated in all classes of stock feeding, for preventing weak and hairless litters in swine, weak calves, and joint ill in foals. While it is particularly necessary for animals during pregnancy, Dr. Lionel Stevenson and other leading animal health authorities urge its general use in feeding and especially during the winter months when stock have not access to minerals which they would secure under natural conditions. Iodine for the sake of convenience is usually fed in the form of potassium iodide and mixed with the salt fed to the stock. Doses vary according to the different classes of live stock, but all this information as well as further details regarding the value are given in a special bulletin, distributed by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Toronto, which has been prepared by George B. Rothwell, well known live stock authority with the Dominion Experimental Farms.

NORTH AMERICAN GOLD

Ten years ago the gold output of the United States was three times as great as that of Canada. To-day, chiefly owing to the increase in Ontario, the two countries produce almost equal quantities.

CANADA'S MINERAL RESOURCES

At the opening of this century, gold and coal were the only two large items of Canada's mineral production. To-day the Dominion mining industry owes its magnitude not only to coal and gold, but to copper, nickel, lead, silver, zinc, asbestos, and, in short, to perhaps as wide a diversity of resources as any country affords to mining enterprise.

CANADA'S TEXTILE INDUSTRIES

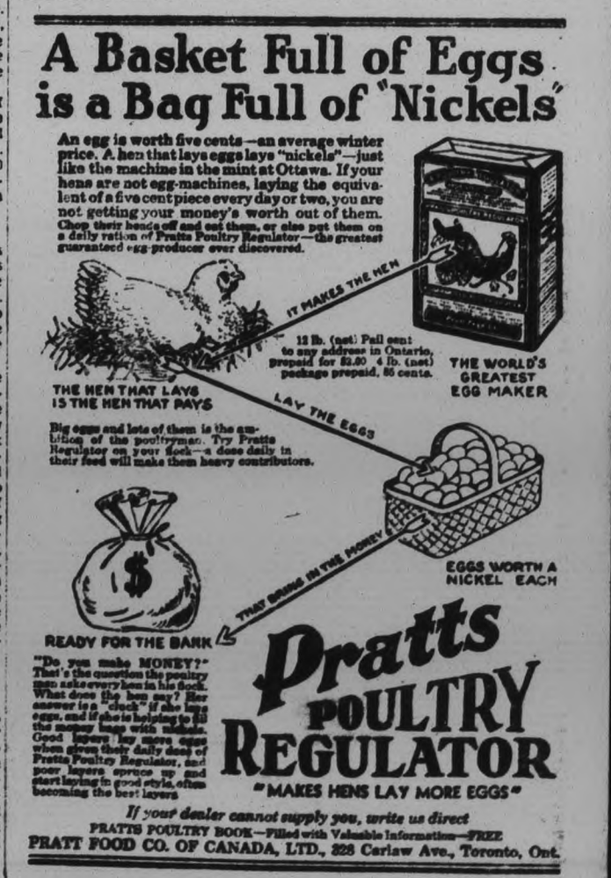
Establishments to the number of 1,885 were engaged in Canada in 1928 in the production of textiles and textile products, 882 being situated in Ontario; 689 in Quebec; 105 in British Columbia; 83 in Manitoba; 48 in Nova Scotia; 39 in New Brunswick; 36 in Alberta; 22 in Saskatchewan; and 1 in Prince Edward Island.

WHITE SPRUCE

White spruce is the most important as well as one of the most widely distributed commercial tree species in Canada. The estimate of white spruce by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, is about 20,000,000,000 cubic feet, or one-third of the total spruce stand of all species in Canda.

TOURIST TRADE IN CANADA

Estimates of the expenditures made in the Dominion by tourists from other countries run back as far as 1920, and it will be found that during this ten-year period, 1920-29 inclusive, tourists from abroad are estimated to have spent in Canada a total of roundly $1,682,000,000.



THEATRE NEWS

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN'S LUCK

Irish Girl Recalls How Frank Borzage Noticed Her in a Dublin Restaurant and Offered Her a Film Part.

Maureen O'Sullivan, a little Irish girl who was lifted from a quiet dinner in a Dublin restaurant to a career in Hollywood because Frank Borzage happened to be in the same restaurant and liked the tilt of her nose, left for her native heath on the Europa Thursday. When she arrived some sixteen months ago, fresh from a London convent, her mother accompanied her. Last week she arrived in New York with Mrs. Joseph Reilly, wife of the Fox Chief of Police, but she sailed alone—firmly and even a trifle belligerently alone.

Miss O'Sullivan is the daughter of Major Charles O'Sullivan and Mrs. O'Sullivan of Saintsbury, Killarney. Typically Irish in temperament and appearance, she is a brunette, with blue eyes and rosy cheeks. She speaks with a rich brogue and a native wit which London, Hollywood and Paris combined have only slightly softened.

Mr. Borzage was in Ireland directing exterior "shots" for John McCormack's first picture, "Song o' My Heart." Maureen, back from the Convent of the Sacred Heart in London, lived quietly with her parents driving about in a small car and journeying now and again to Dublin, elven miles away, to shop—or attend the Metropole Theatre and dance at the Plaza Restaurant. At the Metropole she saw American talking pictures. At the Plaza she heard the only modern jazz orchestra in Dublin.

Staring dreamily across the city's spires from the thirtieth floor of the Savoy-Plaza, Miss O'Sullivan told the story:

Picked for the Screen.

"I was having dinner with a friend one evening and I noticed a party of Americans at another table. One of them stared at me all through the meal, but I thought they were just some more impudent Americans, you know. I didn't pay any attention. The next evening the same thing happened again. I wasn't preoccupied, so I watched them more closely. The boy I was with was nice, but not really very interesting, understand?

"Well, the American came over afterward—he was Mr. Borzage. He used me whether I would like to play in the motion pictures, and I said, rather lightly, you know, that I would. So the next day he gave me a screen test and sent it to London, and meanwhile I played in some exterior scenes. The test came back and there I was, in the films. At first my mother didn't like the idea at all, but I finally won her around and she let me go to Hollywood.

The little Irish colleen denied that she never used make-up until she went to Hollwood. "How can a girl go around with a shiny face?" she wanted to know. Her only previous acting experience was as one of the fairies in a production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the convent. She was very, very bad, she said.

Playing in "The Princess and the Plumber," she had to ride a horse over a narrow bridge. The horse was to shy, and the ingenious director managed this by nicking the animal in the leg with a leaden pellet. Maureen said she was too frightened to act frightened, and the scene had to be retaken some ten times.

She was very proud of herself when she cried naturally before the camera the first time she tried. Now she doesn't think she's so smart, because instead of getting easier with practice, acting is getting more and more difficult.

Miss O'Sullivan has just finished playing a featured role opposite Will Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee," which will probably be shown at the Roxy Theatre, New York, early next month. She will be gone four weeks on her vacation.

HOLLYWOOD USING 600 PLOTS YEARLY

Stage Supplies Only 25 Plays and Novels 100.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7.—Picture makers are relying too heavily upon the stage and the published story field for material, accordingto B. P. Schulberg of Paramount in a communication to his writing staff for more original stories.

According to Schulberg, Hollywood must create at least 400 stories of its own each year to take care of the current demand.

Schulberg points out that the picture business now uses an average of 600 stories a year. For this quota it can count on only an average of 25 stage plays and less than 100 yarns from the novel and short story field. The others must be Hollywood-created, he maintains.

Story shortage howl is a perennial affair. With a library full of old silents from which to draw for remakes, the producers didn't take the situation too seriously but with remakes getting to be a tough problem and the stage's fallown on camera material, all studios are now taking cognizance of a situation which heralded its approach as far back as late summer.

KIWANIS TO STAGE NOVEL PROGRAMME

Midnite Show is Being Planned for Friday, February the 13th.

The Kiwanis Club are staging a midnight performance in the Capitol Theatre commencing at 11.30 p.m. on Friday evening, February 13th. This entertainment will be a real treat to the citizens of the city inasmuch as they have secured two exceptionally splendid features particularly for this performance. The feature picture is that screamingly funny comedy with the inimitable comedian, Harry Green, "Kabibtzer" which was so successful that it had to respond to a considerably longer run at Loew's Theatre, Toronto. In addition that pair of comedians which cannot be excelled in comedy, Laurel and Hardy, in the "Bacon Grabers" also a novelty Sing Song picture and vaudevile.

This special show has been arranged exclusively for under-privileged child work and also for local relief work which is being extensively carried on by the Kiwanis Club this winter. Those patronizing this performance will not only find extremely good entertainment but will also be assisting in a very noble work in the inteersts of the welfare of the city.

Ease in 5 Minutes—Comfort in 5 Hours

Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

SCREEN AND STAGE NOTES

The first Technicolor print of "Fifty Million Frenchmen" has reached New York. It is a straight dramatic comedy, singing and dancing having been eliminated. Heading the cast are William Gaxton, Claudia Dell, John Halliday, Helen Broderick, Carmelita Geraghty, Evalyn Knapp, Charles Judels, Lester Crawford and the team of Olsen and Jonson.

• • •

George Arliss' new picture, now in production at the Warner studio, will be called "The Millionaire" instead of "The Ruling Passion."

• • •

R-K-O continues to wrestle with the problem of box-office appeal in titles. "Ladies for Hire" will hereafter be known as "Forgotten Women" and "Private Secretary" will be seen as "Behind Office Doors."

• • •

Warner Brothers' forthcoming version of Dashiell Hammett's novel, "The Maltese Falcon," will be known after all as "The Maltese Falcon," and not "All Women." In the cast will be Bebe Daniels, Ricardo Cortez, Dudley Digges, Una Merkel and Robert Elliott.

• • •

Ruth Chatterton will have no vacation in Europe at Par's expense now that she's signed with Warners. Instead of one picture her present bosses will have at least three for her to do before she quits.

• • •

Location bomb tossed Lilyan Tashman several feet into the air during production of Liberty's "Women Like Men." She suffered minor injuries.

• • •

United Artists have decided, after much discussion pro and con, to release "The Front Page," the newspaper play by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, which Howard Hughes is now making in Hollywood. Lewis Milestone, director of "All Quiet on the Western Front," is directing this screen version. Louis Wolheim will play the managing editor, Pat O'Brien the reporter and Mary Brian the reporter's heart interest. Mae Clarke has the other feminine part. The cast also includes that smooth comic, Edward Everett Horton, Walter Catlett, Fred Howard, Matt Moore, Frank McHugh, Phil Ted and Spencer Charters.

• • •

"Body and Soul" is the new title of the Fox picture which will introduce Elissa Landi to American audiences. It has been known previously as "Wine, Women and Sin" and "Woman and Sin."

• • •

Another member of the Coogan family is following in the footsteps of Jackie. His younger brother, Robert, 5 years old, is to play the role of Sooky in the Paramount version of "Skippy." Mrs. Coogan insists, however, that it is only just this once, as one actor in the family is enough.

• • •

Carmen Barnes, 18-year-old schoolgirl novelist, apparently had reached the heights last December when Paramount sent her to Hollywood to write screen stories. Last week she scored higher by winning a contract to star in pictures. Miss Barnes will be seen first in the leading role of "A Debutante Confesses," the story of which she is writing herself.

• • •

The newest of the screen Cinderellas is a slender blonde. Born in Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1912, she showed literary ability as a child. Her father was a wealthy manufacturer and her mother is Dianatha Mills, poet. When only 15, she began work on her first novel, "School Girl," which she completed at school just before her sixteenth birthday. A year ago she started "Beau Lover" and the dramatization of "School Girl." Her second novel was published last fall.

• • •

Bebe Daniels is still considered a crack bridge player on the Coast, playing for extremely high stakes.

• • •

Kay Francis' drawing account on a weekly basis is a jump of from $760 with Par to $2,760 under her new Warner contract.

• • •

Richard Barthelmess will take time off for a trip to Panama and South America after "The Mob" is finished.

• • •

Four former Ziegfeld girls are in Radio's "Bachelor Apartment." They are Mae Murray, Irene Dunn, Claudia Dell and Noel Francis.

• • •

Campbell to Make No Further Trials

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.— (A.P.) —Captain Malcolm Campbell, who yesterday established a new world's automobile speed record of 245 miles an hour, announced to-day he would make no further trials in his Bluebird racing car before returning to England.

He may leave for home some time next week.

Captain Campbell issued the following statement:

"The Bluebird already holds the five kilometer and five mile world's records, achieved in South Africa in April, 1929, in addition to the kilometer and mile records set up February 5 at Daytona Beach.

"Therefore, it will not be worth the time and expense involved, owing to the uncertainty of the beach and weather to attempt to set new marks for the above distances.

If, however, these records are surpassed in the future, the Bluebird will again be called upon to defend her title."

evening he had the honor of performing that duty for two of his own sons, so was naturally proud of the fact.

Addressing the pupils he urged them to choose their vocation as early in life as they could, and then to put all energy into their work that was possible. The awards were as follows:

Board of Education Scholarships.

Form I.—Harry Richardson, William McComb.

Form II.—Russell Rowe, Jessie Hay.

Literary Society Scholarships.

1—Pupil standing highest in Canadian History in the Middle School—Franklin Linton.

2—Pupil standing highest in Mathematics in the Middle School —Ronald Richardson.

3—For general proficiency in the Upper School—Hyacinthe Collinson

A. L. Riendeau Scholarship.

For the pupil standing highest in Latin and French in the Middle School—Ruby Townsend.

The presentation of the specialties, choruses, and dances went with a swing. Coming up to the high standard that was set on Thursday evening, the youthful artists coined as great a success with their new audience as they did with the old.

The comedy drama, "Barbara Makes a Splash," was again presented, and again received the hearty approval of the spectators. Playing perhaps with a little more confidence than on the previous evening they put all they had into their parts, with the result that a first-class play was staged.

Contributing to the evening, the orchestra, under the direction of Albert Hazell, rendered musical selections during the acts.

HOARDS COP OFF SECOND POSITION

Menie Lands in Third Place By Virtue of 2-1 Defeat at Hands of Leaders.

SEE-SAW AFFAIR.

BURNBRAE, Feb. 7. (Examiner Correspondence.)—As a result of Thursday evening's games on Stirling Ice Hoards is in undisputed possession of second place behind Glen Ross while Menie, by virtue of their 2 to 1 defeat at the hands of the league leaders are back in third position. Hoards won the encounter with Springbrook by a score of 3 goals to 2. The first game was on a par with many senior fixtures for speed and hockey ability displayed. The Menie squad showed the lack of condition and speed to stay with the Glen Ross fast young team, but on the whole had an even share of the play due to somewhat superior stick-handling. The Glen Ross attacks were featured by splendid combination, while as the game progressed and Menie players tired, they depended more on lone rushes to stem the tide.

The teams:

Glen Ross—Goal, Tonis; defence, Brown and L. Fraser; centre, G. Fraser, wings, Joblin and A. Fraser; subs, Herns, Armstrong.

Menie—Goal, Eagleson; defence, Shellinglaw and Hay; centre, Rannie; wings, Whitton and Little; sub., Milne.

Referee—Beatty of Stirling.

See-saw Affair

The Hoards-Springbrook encounter provided many thrills for the fans being a see-saw affair with many good plays and several stunts that bordered on the burlesque. McGee scored early for Springbrook on a long shot which Hoard, subbing for Roy Oddie in goal, missed completely. Ken Oddie soon tied it up on a nice close in play. The opening of the second spasm saw G. Wellman the hard hitting defence player for the Brook team bat in a pass out from the corner on which Hoard had no chance to save. Stunned by his success and the applause of the crowd, Wellman forgot to skate back to his position until warned to do so by Referee Beatty who ruled with a lenient hand throughout merely checking up on glaring offsides and heavy body checks or trips.

Hewitt who played a consitently good game at left wing for Hoards, tied the score again on a sizzling wing shot. The third session was full of effort on the part of both squads and just as it began to look like a tie Jones broke away flanked by Oddie. The pass out at the blue line gave Oddie his chance and he broke through the defence to plant the disc for the winning counter. Hobbs took this occasion to even matters with Wellman and playing five men up to Hoard's weakened line, Springbrook bombarded the net in the dying moments but Charlie Hoard rose to great heights of brilliance and staved off shots from every angle.

Springbrook—Goal, McInroy; defence, G. Wellman and Hazlett; centre, McGee; wings, Ketcheson and Kirby; subs., Heath, Bateman, J. Wellman, Bailey.

Hoards— Goal, Hoard; defence, Jeffs and Heagle; centre, K. Oddie; wings, Hewitt and Hobbs; subs., Jones, O. Rannie, Rimington.

JOINT W.C.T.U. MEET.

Bridgenorth and Peterborough Ladies Enjoy Splendid Program and Social Hour.

BRIDGENORTH, Feb. 7. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The W.C.T.U. of Bridgenorth had the pleasure of meeting with Peterborough W.C.T.U. in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

Miss Musa Cox rendered a solo and Miss Maynard gave a whistling solo, accompanied by Miss Cox.

The meeting was brought to a close by prayer.

The members were then invited to Mrs. Clayton Telford's home for refreshments where a very enjoyable social hour was spent.

Agriculturists Blank Bannockburn School 5-0

MADOC, February 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — An interesting game was played between the students of the Agricultural School and Bannockburn hockey team on Madoc Arena on Wednesday evening. With good ice and the students 'team supplemented by Arthur Brady as centre, the boys played largely individual stunts, but the puck was kept moving from one net to the other, each man trying to put one over the other fellow. The score was 5-0 in favor of the Agricultural School, Brady scoring four of the five goals.

The line-ups:

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK

That the members of the Women's Institute should plan, and enjoy, another hike was the practically revolutionary suggestion offered at a meeting of a northern branch. Nevertheless, after the Oh's and Ah's had subsided, and the matter had been given some discussion, the suggestion was adopted, and as one member afterwards expressed herself, "Even if a muscle did squeak for a day or two during the next week, it only would make us remember what a good time we had. But if any other branch is planning a hike, like one we had, I would like to warn you all to wear large, easy shoes, of a kind built especially for walking."

It was on a Saturday afternoon in the late fall that the outing referred to was carried out, the members who were willing to "try out" the new plan, gathering at one of the homes, laden with boxes of sandwiches, or cookies, with one or two carrying a small basket containing the tea, cream, and sugar, while still others had the big pail in which the tea was to be made, once it was swung over a blazing campfire. No one was over-burdened with parcels, and as the day was warm and sunny, for this time of year, and Nature particularly lovely in her coloring of trees and sky, and grasses, and there was no occasion to hurry beyond a pace making for comfort, the "trial trip" was really delightful occasion—enough so to make the hikers want to try once again the pleasant way of having a good time together.

"I do believe," stated the president at the next meeting, "the hike idea is a good way of getting rid of extra fat: airing our lungs, stretching our muscles; storing up health, and lovely memory pictures." Taking along newspaper and matches as a help in starting the fire when enough bits of dry wood have been collected, is a wise precaution.

Some recipes given at a recent Institute meeting are worth passing on, particularly an unusual one called "Goulash' Brown three sliced onions in two tablespoons of hot fat, and into this put one pound of hamburger steak, and two cups of tomatoes. Season with salt, pepper, celery salt, and paprika, and let simmer slowly for twenty-five minutes. Serve piping hot. Celery cut up fine, or chopped carrots, may be added, if desired.

To induce children to eat prunes, which are a healthful adjunct to the diet of adults or younger folk, alike, try making an "open-faced" pie, using stewed and stoned prunes for filling, and dotting with bits of grated lemon rind. This is delicious, and if whipped cream is added as a "top", before serving, the pie will be all the more appealing, and nutritious

HAVELOCK

Mrs. Robert Bonney gave a paper entitled "The Unity of Things," at a recent meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute, and which appears in part:

"We live in a Kingdom of mystery, and the more we learn, the more we find is still to learn: or in other words, the wider the illuminated disc the greater is the curve of surrounding darkness. But this is not all, the light only makes the mystery more profound, and too, the centre of mystery is always shifting. Today, has the centre of wonder not shifted rather to the infinitely little than to the vasrly gret of other days? The atom in days gone by was supposed to be the last word in the division of matter, but science today has revealed new wonders to our astonished senses and the atom stands revealed in its parts, which are a perfect system of electrous minute points of electric energy, too small to conceive, which move in orbits like the stars, and with the speed of light. Surely this is mystery beyon our father's ken.

Again our wonder shifts from things, to the inter-relation of things as once in awhile we catch a glimpse of the fact that all forces, things and lives are linked together so that the whole system of which we form a part, is a unit; an ordered, complete whole.

Another wonder is that each fact stands related to every other fact. For example, what is a bit of chalk to the child, or even to the teacher himself, at the blackboard? But that piece of chalk is an ancient cemetery in which the creatures lie buried that lived and had their part in the system of things whole ages ago.

We say spring brings the buds out and causes them to busrt forth in all their young beauty, but after all, what is back of this explanation? The bud is only the last link in the chain which runs back to the Eternal, the tilt of the earth to the sun causes the seasons, and that takes us back to the Author and upholder of the universe, Who sends the sun and the showers to His creatures.

Again, whence comes the pink of the rose or any color on the leaf of a flower? From the sun, you say, but think what that implies. Eight minutes ago that color was 93 millions of miles away and by some process of vital chemistry that baffles science, that flower leaf disintegrates the ray or light wave and takes into itself some of the color elements or re leets others, even while we gaze a it this miracle is performed before ourvery eyes and this end, as Emerson says, is but the beginning of another series of facts, for the light from the bud sends ts vibrations through our optic nerve o the brain, and by another mystery bef ore which science is dumb to the out/.

The Universe is a vital unit and all its parts belong to each other, effect each ot her, and are part of each other And if this is true of the forces, changes and things that make up the visible Universe, it must be true in a higher and closer sense of the human race—the crown of things—the race which has for the material universe the function that the thinking brain has for the human body.

One nation dreamed it could grow great by destroying another one class that it could prosper at the expense o another, and history shows how natur or rather that Moral Government which is above the Universe and use nature as its tool, has whipped all suc selfishness. Society is a ship in which we are all passengers and what endangers the ship endangers all The strength of a nation, its wealth, its happiness, are but the sum total of the strength and wealth and happiness o the units which compose it.

We are bound to each other in th moral realm by ties more subtle than anything nature knows. The character of each of us is a force that for good or evil is perpetually touching all other characters. Service to each other is service to God, while neglect to o other is neglect of God. The dema another's need runs up to the Crow the Universe and sends its echoes on to the Judgment Seat itself.

We must think of the Universe, not in fragments but as its Maker planned and Himself thinks of it—as a unit and an ordered Kingdom, knit together through all its forms and to its utmost boundaries by relationships so close that they cannot be escaped, yet so subtle that they can hardly be realized."

WARSAW

Germany organized its first "Hausfrauenverein" Housewive's gathering in 1898. It is non-sectarian, and non-political as is ours, but the idea came within themselves. Since 1913, it has been affiliated with the National Council of Women, but is independent of it. It was "born and brought up" from the town, but organized in the country, and seems to have a good view of all the needs of the country-women.

Their present work, is the training of rural women for modern housekeeping and the improvement of commodities, for which there is a demand on the market. One of their leaders says they are like the Australians in readiness to help, like the English in the sense of enrichment of country life, like the Americans in protecting country arts, and like the Estonians in being very practical.

One thing we must remember, the German women, even the peasants, always took a pride in their national dishes. One third of Germany's population is rural, but there are not so very many large farms. It was a hard task at first to get the rural women organized but now they feel themselves part of it, and while some of the leaders are wives of the agrarian magnates, many are from among the peasant women, and these are often experts in home and garden work.

Time was when wives of great landowners led idle lives, now it is not so. They must be their own housekeepers, take part in public affairs, and have a practical interest in home and garden. It is difficult for her to do all she should do, as she cannot get all the help she should have.

They have a center in the Reischbund for practical dairy work, which is connected with 1,681,000 dairy clubs. The main topic is how to augment production, and produce most economically.

The improvement of farms, and better methods of rural housework is a special section of their work, and is supported by the German Chamber of Agriculture.

They are trying to introduce labor-saving devices wherever possible, electricity is generally too expensive. They have even built trial stations for trying-out the use and value of implements needed by women.

They have systematically organized centres for research and consultation and country-women of all classes use them, consequently they are considered seriously by the men. They work with the men, not against them.

The peasant woman is so overworked in house and field, that she becomes old too young and everything that can lighten her labor and give more time is welcomed.

The German organization is happy in being able to influence legislation. In many professions the women have to fight the men of the same profession.

Work is the lot of the German country-women, and it is the joy of the Housewives' Association to help them, and to direct their attention beyond the needs of the moment to higher things.

TECUMSEH'S BURIAL SITE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7 (C.P.). — Discovery of human bones on Walpole Island, believed to be those of Tecumseh, renowned Indian chief, has been called to the attention of Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, departmental officials stated to-day. Should the relics be established as those of Tecumseh the historical sites and monuments board will be invited to consider placing a cairn over the burial site.

ORANGE LILY

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

Send Ten Cents for Ten Days' Treatment

Orange Lily is a certain relief for disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissues. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief. The blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened and the circulation is rendered to normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, and ovarian troubles. One month's treatment $2.00. A ten day trial, worth 75 cts., sent to any suffering woman enclosing 10c.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND ACTIVELY BUILDING

Disquieting Figures of Communicants and Baptisms Offset by Construction Projects.

LONDON, Feb. 7, (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent) —In a recent cable Canadian Press furnished some rather disquieting figures concerning the Anglican Church. These showed a considerable decrease from the year previous in the number of Easter Communicants, infant baptisms, and confirmations. Such statistics, however, are but a very indefinite guide to the real strength of Anglicanism in this country. The Church of England is the official religious ministrant to the country at large, and her services are accepted by many who fail to qualify to be classed as recognized church-people.

There are evidences, at any rate, that the Church of England is anxious to maintain a pioneer spirit even within the borders of this old country. A number of new scheme are now in hand for providing additional church buildings. This year, the Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. Arthur Winnington Ingram, has launched an appeal for at least $1,-250,000 to provide churches in the rapidly growing suburban districts. On the other side of the Thames the Bishop of Southwark launched a scheme five years ago for building 25 new places of worship on London's new southern residential areas. His Lordship asked for a central fund of $500,000 and this was raised within three years. Ten churches and seven halls have already been built. The Diocese of Chelmsford, another of the mighty limbs of London, has a fund for church building which brings in nearly $100,000 annually, and a new appeal is about to be issued for $875,-000. In the North of England the Bishop of Sheffield is appealing for $500,000.

Some kindly critics are rather doubtful where the man-power for existing churches, let alone new ones, is to come from. Last year 503 men were admitted to Deacon's Orders. Since 1921, when only 346 were admitted, there has been a gradual improvement in the number of candidates, but it is doubtful whether the admissions cover even the wastage by death and by men becoming too old for active work.

WOMEN ARE ASKING

How They Can Regain Loss of Strength and Energy.

"Is there anything that will give me back my strength and energy—that will make me fit for the every-day duties that are expected of me?" That is a question asked by many over-worked girls and women. Worry, and in many cases, work beyond their strength has sapped their vitality. They eat little and do not even properly digest that. Weakness increases; the heart palpitates and the nerves become jumpy.

What is needed above all else is good blood—the rich, red blood that in coursing through the veins brings health and vitality. Such blood is supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their whole duty is to make rich, red, health-giving blood.

You can buy Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Actors Slur Words; King Regrets This

His Majesty Wishes Preservation of Dignity of English Language on Stage.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (C.P.) — The King's interest in the theatre, and especially His Majesty's interest in the proper use of the English language, were referred to by Sir Nigel Playfair, the well-known actor and producer, when presiding at an "at home" at the Embassy Theatre recently.

"When I had the honor," he said, "of speaking to the King after a performance he had witnessed in which I was acting, I was astonished at the tremendous interest he took in the English theatre, not only from the point of view of entertainments, but also as a means of preserving the dignity of the English language. The King emphasized how important he thought it was that actresses and actors should give good speech, and what a pity it was that some of the younger ones slurred their words and dropped their voices at the end of sentences."

Sir Nigel added that slurred speech was not confined to young actors and actresses. "I have known many older ones," he said, "whose chief aim seems to have been to keep the author's words a dim secret."

British Heir Poses For Film Of Talkies

S.S. OROPESA, Feb. 7 (C.P.).—The Prince of Wales, spending his last night aboard the Oropesa before touching United States soil at Cristobal, made a talkie film for a number of cinema men aboard the vessel.

With his brother and Captain Rose he posed for a half-hour on the liner's bridge deck while a half dozen cameramen busily worked their batteries of complicated sound and picture recording instruments. During the picture-making the Prince had a large map spread on the table in front of him and discussed his present and previous tours with his brother and the captain.

The Prince was greatly interested in the recording apparatus and asked the cameramen many questions. They all speak admiringly of his technical knowledge, and expressed delight at his generous action in making the picture.

GREAT THRONGS FLOCKED TO SEE PASSION PLAYS

J. Mercer Denholm Describes Passion Play to Murray Street Audience.

250,000 ATTENDED.

Members of Cast Were All Residents of Village of Oberammergau.

The dream of a boy sitting in an apple tree on a long Sunday afternoon, reading stories that began "Once upon a time"—the dream of a lad of fifteen, starting out from home on a bicycle and ending up by way of a cattle boat, in the the Old Country, where two companions told him about the Passion Play of Oberammergau — those old dreams had their fulfilment last year when J. Mercer Denholm of Blenheim journeyed to that far-away Bavarian village, nestling in the majestic Alps and saw with his own eyes that wonderful presentation of the Passion of the Redeemer.

Mr. Denholm, proprietor and editor of the News-Tribune of Blenheim, had a fine audience of close on to three hundred people when he spoke in the Sunday School rooms of Murray Street Baptist Church last evening, on the Passion Play, and preluded those pictures with brief pictures illustrative of foreign war cemeteries and war scenes.

Introduced by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe as the brother-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Scott, Mr. Denholm commenced with some pictures of the devastated war area: Mount St. Eloi, the ruins of Arras and the desolution of Lens and those famous Ridge Tunnels of Vimy, where 20,000 Canadians had a refuge in the network of twelve miles long.

Then came pictures of the last resting-places of the gallant soldiers of the King: the cemeteries of France and Flanders, with the serried crosses, "row on row." In one notable instance in the cemetery on the Arras-Cambrai road the German pillboxes that formed a portion of the impregnable Hindenberg line have been covered with white cement and the British Cross of Sacrifice rides over their top In the famous War Memorial over the Menin Gate at Ypres, a couchant British lion looks out over the country, from the broad wall and within it are the Halls of Memory where the names of 67,000 fighting men who lost their lives in an around this sector, are inscribed in stone. "Canadian soldiers wrote their names here during the War. Please do not add yours" is the cogent message at the famous Vimy Ridge tunnels.

The Passion Play

Reciting briefly the history of the famous Passion Play, which owed its regularity of presentation to a vow made by victims of the hideous Black Plague, in the year 1630—a vow religiously fulfilled during every decade since, except during the parlous times of the war, in 1920—Mr. Denholm told in interesting fashion his experiences at the little village of Oberammergau—over the little river of Ammer which flows through its streets—when he visited it last year, after flying for nearly eight hundred miles, from London to Munich, to reach it in time for the Sunday performance of August 17th.

Among the many regulations made by the villagers is one which says that the tourist desiring to see the performance must register in the village befored inner the previous night and must not leave until after breakfast the following morning. The Play takes from eight in the morning until six in the evening, to produce, with a two-hour interval at noon.

The speaker commented on the ease with which these villagers go about the business of giving nearly fifty performances during the four summer months, at the same time, housing among their 2300 inhabitants, the 250,000 people who flocked last year to see the Play. He was roused at morning, at six o'clock, by the sound of their wooden shoes going to Mass, prior to the commencement of the performance, which is a major event in their lives, and for which voting for parts takes place two years before the presentation.

In the house of the village blacksmith, Hugo Rutz, Mr. Denholm was billeted, receiving the slip for his billet before he left London from the Cook's Agency there. Rutz was the Caiphas of the play, pronounced by the critics as one of the best of the many actors, and his calm, unsmiling but friendly face on the screen was a notable portrait.

Brilliant color added a charm to most of the scenes portrayed. No wigs or makeup is allowed, and every man in the village grows a beard No married women are allowed to take part. The stage is practically an outdoor one, with a covered roof arch- and steel-grained for the inner stage.

The first portion is a prologue in which various scenes from the Old Testament are portrayed, and about forty brief tableaux are given; such as Moses striking the rock Abraham and Isaac on Mount Horeb, the spies returning from the Promised Land bearing huge branches of grapes. The Prologue has a good deal of recitative and prophetic utterances. All the dialogue is in German but text books, easily followed, are available in every language, so that the action is interpreted without difficulty.

There were several portrait slides: the famous Anton Lang who portrayed the Christus three times; the impulsive and talkative Peter; Hugo Rutz as Caiaphas, and Andy Rutz as the mild-eyed, serene-browed Mary, Mother of the Saviour. The action commenced with the triumphal entry of Christ into Jersalem and the scene where in His anger, He drives the money-worshippers from the temple, and progressed, by dignified stages to the last solemn and dark-tinged scene on Calvary's hill, with the three silent figures on the brow, and the gamblers in the foreground, throwing dice for the seamless garment.

In the role of Judas, Mr. Denholm found a new light. This Judas, considered by many as the best actor in the play, brought to the part a different conception, making him more the victim of the sly workers of the Sandhedrim than the betrayer of his Master.

To the speaker, an eloquent vote of thanks was accorded by the Rev C. V. McLean, and seconded very appropriately by L. J. Pettit.

Prior to the commencement of the lecture, a well-rendered vocal duett was given by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and Dr. S. J. Graham, with accompaniment played by Miss E. Webber.

LOCAL ARTISTS DELIGHT CLUB

Deane Miner and Miss Mildred Magee Provide Program For Music Club.

PLAN FINE LECTURE.

A very interesting program of violin and vocal music was the entertainment for the members of the Women's Music Club in the studios at the Conservatory of Music yesterday afternoon, when Deane Miner, violin teacher at the Conservatory, and Miss Mildred Magee, lyric soprano pupil of Dorothy Allan Park, provided the program. Both were accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Logan-Green, whose expert work at the piano added, as always, the perfecting touch to the ensemble.

The president, Miss Mabel Clarry, announced the musicians and also spoke of the forthcoming visit, in March, of J. Murray Gibbon, publicity agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, who is at present giving a very fine lecture on Folk Songs.

Mr. Miner, whose violin playing is a source of real delight to his hearers, proved his expert musicianship by his memorizing of several difficult numbers. The major effort was a Mendelssohn Concerto that was splendidly played and that received the enthusiastic appreciation of his hearers. The three movements so beautifully interpreted were the Allegro molto appassionato, the Andante, and the Allegro molto vivace.

In his second group, Mr. Miner played the deep-toned Bach Air for the G string, a Nocturne by Boulanger in romantic, peaceful mood, and the gay music of Gypsy Airs, by Sarasate, with a dancing bow and difficult pizzicati for the left hand in the gay and brilliant finale.

Miss Magee pleased her hearers immensely with the sweetness and clarity of her graceful lyric soprano voice. Her fine, delicate tone with its pleasing variations in a bird-like upper register contrasting with smooth, expressive modulations in the lower pitch, was most attractive.

She sang three numbers in a group that opened with the graceful aria from Haydn's "Creation", — "With Verdure Clad", followed by "The Night", by Strauss, and "Batti batti", sung in Italian, from Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

The assisting artists of the day were thanked by Miss Clarry, who also spoke of the very poor reception given in Peterborough to visiting musicians from Toronto who are acclaimed and entertained in other Canadian cities.

The meeting closed with the service of afternoon tea.

CHILDHOOD SUFFERING

Can Be Banished With Baby's Own Tablets.

At the cost of a few cents every mother can add to her own happiness and to her children's safety. While the cost of Baby's Own Tablets is small the value of keeping them in the home is great.

What mother does not suffer when her little one suffers—when they are undergoing the tortures of the teething period; the agonies of constipation and indigestion or the miseries brought on by colds? What mother can sleep when her child does not sleep? She can banish these troubles, however, and in banishing them make a happy household for the happy child makes everyone else happy.

To banish childhood suffering Baby's Own Tablets are needed. They regulate the stomach and bowels and thus soon put baby right again. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Automobile registrations in Egypt increased from 10,300 in 1925 to 27,-675 in 1930.

Mrs. Clarence McMasters Gives Address on Japan

WOOLER, Feb 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Women's Missionary Society met on Tuesday in the United Church, when Mrs. Gertrude Curry and her group served a hot lunch at the noon hour.

At 2.15 the meeting opened, Mrs. C. R. Terrill at the piano and the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. W. J Lawson Mrs. A Poulter favored the gathering with a vocal solo and a quartet by members of the Mission Circle was much enjoyed.

The president, Mrs. S. L. Terrill, opened the discussion period and called on Mrs Clarence McMasters to give an address on the new study of Japan, which aroused the many listeners, with the encouraging conditions and the brilliancy shown by the Japanese Mrs. McMasters will continue this study throughout the year. Thirty members answered the roll call.

Birmingham, England, has opened five rest rooms providing newspapers, games and radio for the unemployed.

For TEETHING troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria — made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I don't think I have particularly noticed it, but I am told that plaids are coming back into fashion, once again.

• • • • • • •

Just recently I read an article which said, "Plaids are enjoying a decided vogue in decoration at the present time. There are plaid wall papers, plaid upholstery textiles, furniture cover-fabrics, floor covering designs, cushion covers," and so forth.

• • • • • • •

While too much plaid in any one room is confusing, it is possible to use the motif in a number of ways in a room to make it up-to-date and retain its restful decoration.

• • • • • • •

Plaid wall paper and wall treatment are seen to good advantage in bathrooms. They are a modification of the tile which may be suggested in the alteration of dark and light hues in adjoining squares.

• • • • • • •

Or again the plaids may consist of sharply outlined squares with disconnected lines forming smaller squares inside each larger one.

• • • • • • •

Some of these papers are excellent also for kitchens. The self-toned plaids in textile effects supply a plain background that is well-suited to chambers and some halls, though seldom a main hall.

• • • • • • •

The paper must be very high grade and it should be embossed plaids for main halls.

• • • • • • •

Plaid floor coverings may be a woven textile. The heavy linen woven rugs with the design alike on both sides can be so soft in tone that they are artistic.

• • • • • • •

In most instances, plaid designs come in floor oilcloth and are on the general order of patterns found in the wall papers as described. These are useful for bathrooms and kitchens and back halls.

• • • • • • •

Plaids area welcome change from stripes in furniture slip covers. They are smart without being obtrusive as the upholstery textiles strike one as being.

• • • • • • •

We are accustomed to check hangings since ginghams have been popular for sometime. One must be careful to choose plaids of soft harmonious hues that will fall in attractive folds.

• • • • • • •

For cushion covers any of the plaid textiles are good. As for blankets there is a perfect craze for plaids in them.

A. MACDONALD GUEST SPEAKER

Fifty Boys Enjoy Humorous Address at Friday Night Supper Club.

TALKS ON "FOOD."

Adrian Macdonald was the guest speaker at the Friday Night Club last night and the fifty some boys who sat down for supper enjoyed a most interesting and humorous lecture on "Food."

G. H. Roper introduced the speaker and Mr. Macdonald replied that he was always glad to come to the "Y" to speak to the boys.

The speaker did not deal with his subject in a modern setting but took his audience back several hundred years to the time when our ancestors used to eat three ordinary meals in one. Many fitting and very humorous remarks were introduced by the speaker throughout his talk and several fine recipes for pies were offered the boys.

Mr. Macdonald explained that one reason the ancient folks consumed such heavy meals was that the cooks prided themselves greatly on their ability to cook and present the food especially delicate dishes.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by Terry Hall and Pete Gordon, and Chairman C. A. Salmonson voiced his thanks to Mr. Macdonald.

President Bub Killally reminded the boys that the annual dance of the club would take place next Friday evening in the Conservatory Hall. All present and past members of the club are invited to be present. The boys were asked to bring their friends who were prospective members of the club, and a good time was assured all. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Ferdie Mowry and His Collegians and the musicians will strike up the band at 9 p.m. The boys were assured that the supper at the dance would put to shame anything that the speaker of the evening said concerning old time dishes.

Famous Actress Ill

An attack of tonsilitis confines Evelyn Laye (above) noted British actress, who scored Canadian and United States successes last year in "Bitter Sweet," to her bed. The illness prevented the actress from participating in a display with other actresses at the forthcoming British Fashion Ball.

No Account David.

Every available inch of seating capacity was taken long before the curtain rose on "No Account David" the comedy drama which was presented last night in the Sunday School Hall of Mark Street United Church.

The Mark Street Dramatic Club has the happy faculty of choosing their plays with unerring good taste and judgment.

"No Account David" is on no account "no account" for this is a singularly human story woven around an entirely lovable character.

The action revolves about the coincidence which brought two chaps who had chummed in the underworld of the big city, into a wholly different environment in Ned Golden's home town. He had come to hide from justice after holding up a gas station and becoming complicated in a shooting affair.

Though clever and well educated with a fine background, Ned has not made good, while David, who had never seen anything but the seamy side of life, has an innate love for the higher things. He is crude and uneducated, but his generous heart and sunny smile put him across in all sorts of difficult situations. His great act of unselfishness in taking upon himself the guilt of Ned for the sake of the girl he loved wins for David the admiration he deserves, and eventually leads to his success in the literary world, providing the proverbial happy ending.

One of the best amateur plays of the season "No Account David" fairly sparkles with laughter and fun from start to finish, yet with a deep note of pathos which is most appealing.

With an enthusiastic, and well-trained cast who realistically lived their parts, under the able direction of Miss Annie Crocker, the text loses nothing through this artistic production.

The story opens in the dismantled home of "Gran" Golden, dear, white haired old lady whose character is sympathetically portrayed by Mrs. L. Agnew.

The old homestead is about to be sold out by the Sheriff and hearing of Gran's trouble Jean Matthews, the charming little school teacher hurries with sympathy to her old friend, Gran.

To the accompaniment of rolling thunder and lightning the hero David makes his first appearance in the old home in search of food. He finds Gran fast asleep with her Bible on her lap.

The part of the hobo was perfect in the skillful portrayal by Gilbert Harrison both in his acting and the difficult dialect of the street gamin.

Love at first sight was the result of his meeting with Jean who is already affianced to Ned Golden, a half-hearted lover.

Ned, the unworthy and shiftless, but rather likable, grandson of Mrs. Golden, was enacted in excellent form by L. Agnew.

The providential appearance at the farm of the Zonas, a mud-stranded theatrical troupe, changes the trend of affairs for the better and adds to the play a delightful bit of comedy. The Zonas consisted of Chum, his wife Mattie and their daughter, Zetta, whose clever acting elicited continued peals of laughter and much applause.

Mr. Zona, a beloved, but rather henpecked husband, with a disgruntled manner was made quite realistic by W. Smith while Mattie, his wife, was a masterpiece of spontaneous acting by Mrs. E. Wand. The part of the vivacious and pretty daughter, who immediately appropriated Ned, was admirably taken by Miss Mary Burnham.

Mr. Cooper made a typical small town sheriff with his dignified and business-like manner, while the wealthy banker, Mr. Cooley, in his brief appearance was well presented by A. Graham.

Little Fred Agnew did the part of Bill as a material witness against Ned, in a most effective and boy-like manner.

Description is entirely inadequate in depicting this splendid performance, which must be seen to be fully appreciated.

A delightful between act program was provided by the club, consisting of piano selections by Miss Freda Kilcher, vocal solo "Shadow Time" by Mad[illegible]es Greenslade and Ellis, and "The [illegible] Town Express" were contributed in sweet voice by Miss Jean Hurl.

Rev. Mr. Thornley, pastor of the church made the announcements, and the successful performance was brought to a conclusion with the National Anthem.

TUXIS TO CONDUCT SELLING CAMPAIGN

New System This Year in Bond Selling For Good Work Funds.

The Bond Selling Campaign commences today. The Premier of the Older Boys' Parliament has a word to say to our adult friends.

"Again we come to you asking for your support in our Bond Selling Campaign. Through this effort we will be able to finance co-operative church work among boys for the coming year. This work is carried on under the auspices of the Ontario Boys' Work Board, which provides the service of two secretaries and an office staff.

"Our parliament believes that the boys of this country will largely determine its destiny and therefore feels that the development of Christian Character is the vital issue. To make this possible we are appealing to you for help in raising the necessary budget of $15,000.

"While your bonds will not be paying cash dividends we do promise that splendid returns may be extracted in developing a finer character, a greater personality and a deeper sense of responsibility in the boys with whom contact is made. Might we assure you that your financial support will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
John H. Lauman,
Premier, Tenth Older Boys' Parliament.

Rev. W. A. Cameron, pastor of Yorkminster Baptist Church, who acted as Lieutenant-Governor of the Parliament, has a word to say.

"I have been interested in the Ontario Boys' Work Board for some time and never more so than now. The invitation to act as Lieutenant-Governor of the Tenth Older Boys' Parliament brought me into contact with that aspect of their programme. Under such training boys are becoming qualified for future leadership in Church and state. I commend their undertaking to all church people interested in the conversation and development of boy life."

"The complexity of modern life has so increased the difficulty of the home in caring for the needs of the boy that, of necessity, organizations have come into being to meet that need. Among them the Ontario Boys' Work Board merits your support. Knowing it to be a worthy cause, I have pleasure in recommending this opportunity of investment. You can rest assured that the money received will be well administered."

A. W. Applegath, President of the Rotary Club of Toronto, also speaks a word.

"It is a fine and unselfish thing the boys are doing in raising the money needed for co-operative boys' work in Ontario. Our club has entertained the members of the parliament on numerous occasions and we have found them to be a splendid group of young men. In seeking to extend to others what they have enjoyed themselves, they and those associated with them, deserve your generous support."

In Ontario there are 900 groups of Tuxis and Trail Rangers with an enrolment of 12,000, as well as hundreds of organized classes. Last year there were 3,244 badges awarded for work well done. They have 30 summer camps. There are also boys' conferences held every year. Fourteen Area Conferences were held last year and hundreds of Father and Son banquets.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

CONSULTING THE SPECIALIST

It seems only the natural and sensible thing to do when your eyes bother you, that you should go to an eye specialist, that if you think your heart is affected that you see a heart specialist, if the ear an ear specialist, and so forth.

And yet is this really wise?

A prominent eye specialist tells us that before treating the eyes, except for vision, he prefers the patient to be thoroughly gone over by a general practitioner, so as to know the condition of the other parts and organs. 'Fully 80 per cent of diseases of the eye have a cause outside the eye, and we are not able to tell the cause of it, nor can we treat it."

Further, it is estimated that fully three out of four patients who consult physicians have really no organic trouble. They feel badly, have something that is bothering them, but have really no underlying disease.

You can readily see then, that if they go to a specialist who confines his work to just one part of the body, that they are likely to be dissatisfied with the examination.

Because, after all, that body of yours is one complete piece of machinery and what may be causing a pain in the big toe may be really due to a bad tooth, a lazy liver, or constipation; a pain in the head may be due to any one of twenty or more causes; while what you think is heart disease may be caused by faulty digestion or insufficient chewing of food causing gas formation which presses against the heart.

Now the biggest thing you can possibly possess is good health; it is your greatest asset, and if you don't feel well, or have special symptoms such as a pain in the head, in the abdomen or elsewhere, don't hesitate to go to your family doctor first, and find out what is really the underlying cause.

If there is any real trouble he is likely to locate the cause. Remember, he has had a training on organic diseases, and if any disease is present, it can usually be found. If there is no real organic condition, but pain or distress in any part, he can give you the best general advice thereon.

Should the services of a specialist be required, and they are certainly required at times, your physician is really in the best position to tell you so, because he has been over your entire body.

LADIES OF CAVAN HOLD JOINT MEET

W. A. and W.M.S. Discuss Many Topics and Reports Are Given.

SOCIAL HOUR HELD.

CAVAN, Feb. 7 (Examiner Correspondence.)—On Thursday afternoon a joint meeting of the Cavan W.A. and W.M.S. was held in the United Church, Cavanville, with Mrs. J. E. Whitham in charge of the devotional period. The hymn "Jesus Saves" was used as an opening number. Mrs. Swain led in prayer and Mrs. Ray Sver read the Scripture lesson. The president, Mrs. D. J. Hunter, took charge of a short business session of the W.A., in which reports by the Conveners of Committees were given and by the financial secretary and treasurer.

Activities for the winter months were discussed. The roll call was responded to with a verse of Scripture, commencing with F. It was decided to contribute twenty dollars to the M. and M. Fund, the same to be paid quarterly.

The repeating of the Lords' Prayer in unison closed the session.

The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Richard Matchett, took the chair and opened with the hymn "From every Stormy Wind." The roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture bearing on "Praise."

The Scripture topic for the March meeting will be "Come."

The treasurer's report showed $8.25 received in January.

The report of the W.M.S. Presbytery meeting will be given by Mrs. P. S. Staples at the March meeting.

The secretary was instructed to order mite boxes and monthly envelopes.

It was decided to observe the "World's Day of Prayer" and invite all ladies of the community to attend, as well as the ladies from the other appointments on the Circuit.

The Heralds who contributed articles were Mrs. Snider, for Christian Stewardship, an article on "Envelopes," showing how systematic giving helped. Other Heralds who contributed were: Mrs. Hunter, for China; Mrs. Sver, India and Mrs. Perrin, Temperance.

The president also referred to a newspaper article, stating that the report, which the Commission appointed by President Hoover to investigate, how prohibition was working in the United States, brought in a statement that conditions were better under prohibition, than before its introduction.

Mrs. J. C. Swain and Mrs. J. E. Whitham took up the Chapter of the Study Book, on The Development of Missions in Japan, in a concise interesting manner.

The collection was two dollars and five cents, after which the president dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Tables had been prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. C. Carr and Mrs. D. J. Hunter. A pot luck supper was served, some of the men of the Church joined the ladies at the tea hour. A pleasant social time was enjoyed, and a collection taken which was added to the W.A. treasury.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Roseneath Friends Present Miss Beatrice Smith With Many Gifts.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith opened their home to the young people of the village and surrounding neighborhood, on Wednesday evening, in honor of their eldest daughter, Beatrice's birthday. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, either in dancing or playing games.

Mrs. Smith received the guests, assisted by Miss Jessie Smith. The guest of honor, Miss Beatrice Smith, received many very beautiful and useful gifts, among them was a box presented by Mr. Harold Blodgett, and was well-filled with articles of several varieties to be put aside for her "Hope chest."

This present made heaps of fun and laughter after which a delicious luncheon was served and dancing continued till early morning.

NEWLYWEDS WELCOMED

After giving Mr. William Elliott and bride (nee Mildred Blodgett) a royal welcome home, the boys presented them with a beautiful gift of half a dozen silver knives and forks and bread knife. The girls in Mildred's Sunday School class presented her with a very serviceable gift of a pair of wool blankets and the L.O.B.A. of which she is a member, showed their love by presenting her with a lovely tray and tea service. The C.G.I.T. gave her a half dozen silver tea spoons as a token of remembrance. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott leave shortly for their new home at Perrytown.

Congratulations was extended to Miss Elva Sandercock on Sunday, who celebrated her twentieth birthday. A dinner was served in the evening to a number of her intimate friends.

Mr. Dave McGrath was in Ottawa during the week attending the funeral of his brother. His son, Emmett McGrath, of Peterborough, took charge of the grist mill here.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

CONSEQUENCES

In truth, if what you do
Begins and ends with you,
Your way is very good;
Words spoken, actions done,
If these brought pain to none,
If none misunderstood

Then each man would be free
If all his acts coud be
For but himself alone;
But none can ever know
How far the ripples go
From any stream-tossed stone

And since time first began
Through all the ages span,
Close-linked, life ever went;
Far off and long ago,
Down ways no man can know
Was shaped today's event.

THERONOID

RESIDENTS OF PETERBOROUGH AND VICINITY ARE TELLING US ALL THE TIME OF THE GREAT BENEFITS THEY ARE RECEIVING FROM THE USE OF ELECTRO-MAGNETISM AS APPLIED BY THE THERONOID.

We are giving you a list of ailments in which many wonderful recoveries have been reported by THERNOID USERS:

ASTHMA	INSOMNIA
Anemia	Lumbago
ARTHRITIS	NERVOUS DISORDER
Bronchitis	Neuritis
CATARRH	PARALYSIS (following Apoplexy)
Constipation	Poor Circulation
ECZEMA	RHEUMATISM
Fistula	Sciatica
GALL-BLADDER	STOMACH TROUBLE
Goitre	Tumors
HEMORRHOIDS	ULCERS
High Blood Pressure	Varicose Veins
HEART TROUBLE	ETC., ETC., ETC.

MEDICAL AUTHORITY FOR USE OF MAGNETISM is expressed as follows: Dr. William James Dugan, former lecturer on Electro-Therapeutics at Jefferson Medical College Philadelphia, states in his "Hand Book of Electro-Therapeutics":

"Action of the Magnetic Wave is a sedative and antispasmodic, it promotes secretion; it inhibits a too rapid pulse and lowers high blood pressure; it quiets restlessness to a remarkable degree, and benefits insomnia, Anemia, arteriosclerosis, chorea, convulsions, hiccough (especially the hysterical form), hysteria (with blood pressure), insomnia, melancholia, migraine, neuralgias, neurasthenia, neuritis, nervousness, rheumatism and tremors are among the affections in which this form of treatment has been followed with benefit. Careful blood examinations have been made which show that, under the magnetic wave treatment, there had been found in several cases an increase in the number of red cells, together with an increase in the percentage of hemoglobin."

Many other medical men, both in this country and abroad, have reported results similar to those obtained by Dr. Dugan, and since the THERONOID has been perfected, competent physicians have stated it to be the most efficient solenoid yet devised for use in chronic conditions of ill-health.

Markham Eliminates Lakefield In O. H. A. Play-Offs

Defeated On Round By 10 to 3

Lakefielders Put Up Much Better Brand of Hockey Than in First Period.

SETTLED IN SECOND.

Junkin Plays Sensational Game in the Net For Cementville Sextet.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

MARKHAM, February 7. — Lakefield was eliminated by Markham from the Intermediate O.H.A. race here last night by the score of 5-2. The count on the round was 10-3.

The teams were as follows:

Markham — Goal, F. Lunau; defence, Hare and Max Reesor; centre, Howard Crosby; right wing, Prentice; left wing, Glendenning; subs., Hubert Crosby, Hagerman, and J. Rennie.

Referee—Tracy Shaw, Toronto.

Summary:

First period—

Markham, Reesor, 15m. 50s.

Second period—

Markham, Prentice (Reesor), 2m.

Lakefield, Mahood (Wood), 4m. 48s.

Markham, Reesor, 5m.

Third period—

Markham, Howard Crosby (Glendenning), 3m.

Lakefield, Gray (L. Sabatino) 8m.

Markham, Hare (Crosby), 4m. 36s

Showed Big Improvement.

The East Peterborough League leaders redeemed themselves last night with one of the best games they have played this season. Forgetting the disappointing exhibition they gave at home on Wednesday night, one of those lapses which happens occasionally to the best of teams, they stepped on to the bigger local sheet and grabbed the major share of the opening period's action, although one fluke goal counted against them.

The game's decision was settled in the second frame, when Markham added two goals to their score while holding the visitors to one. Probably that lone goal in the first period was the determining break that showed the way the tide was going to turn, for it came when both outfits were battling for a lead. Lakefield proved conclusively that they are not a small ice and home town team, and they dispelled any idea that they were slower afoot than Markham, an impression which may have remained after that performance last Wednesday. They met Markham stride for stride, and their combination showed an encouraging improvement, although there was still a shade of superiority in the smoother and more finished attack of the local front line.

Knock 'Em Down Finale.

The third period developed into an old-fashioned body-checking affray, box car, blow-the-man-down encounters that kept the crowd roaring. Stiff, hefty body-checks with no backing up by either side, especially the opposing defences, with not a penalty nor a warning by Tracy Shaw, left the honors about even. Tom Wood and Johnny Sabatino took their share of the spills, but they handed out more. On one of his irruptions into the Markham blue line territory Sabatino bowled over both Hare and Max Reesor as they tried to sandwich him, and a little later Hare upset Wood and White in the Lakefield defence area. But apart from this heavy hip and broadside work, the last period was lightning fast. Naturally Markham had nothing much to worry about at that stage, but Lakefield sent up most of their force to the firing line. Three or four times they were stranded around the local nets by passes out to the blue line and quick breaking away by Prentice and Glendenning.

Junkin Was Good.

The star of the Lakefield team and the outstanding performer of the game was Junkin, the slim youngster who gave another exhibition of net guarding that was at times sensational. He was certainly responsible for holding the Markham score down to five goals. At least a half-dozen times, the local marksmen were right in on top of him. Twice he went out and spiked the shot, outguessing the attackers, and other shots he picked off with a cleverness that won the applause of the home crowd.

Tom Wood showed his best form this season. He blocked and rushed more effectively than ever, and generally played a strong, helpful game.

Johnnie Sabatino was as steady as usual. Blewett was back in shape after an illness that slowed him up at home, and his recovery made a big difference on the front line. Stabler and Louie Sabatino tried hard to get on the score sheet, and their back-checking was a feature. The two Lakefield goals went to two subs. Mahood and Gray who with White provided capable relief. Gray was out for the first time this season, and should be an asset in the remaining East Peterborough games.

Lakefield last night displayed more combination work than usual, although there is still room for improvement, more appreciation of the blue line passes, and quicker breaking with their rushes. The lessons of the series should be reflected in the rest of their games this season.

Prentice, Glendenning and Hare were the best of the Markham team, and none of them were weak, although the younger subs failed to get into the picture as they did at Lakefield.

An Easy Goal

Stuffy Mahood should be credited with an assist on Markham's goal in the first period. He stuck up his stick at a fast shot from Max Reesor after the period was fifteen minutes under way, and, to revert to a baseball expression, the best he could do was a foul tip that deflected the puck into the net, catching Junkin out of position and unexpecting Mahood's gesture.

Markham's second goal was scored by Prentice on a pass out from behind the Lakefield net by Reesor, shortly after the second period started. Junkin hadn't a chance to get in the way of that shot. Blewett, Louie Sabatino and Wood were stepping into the limelight around the Markham net, and Wood finally ended one of his rushes by whipping the puck out to Mahood who was all set in front of the Markham net. That was Stuffy's second goal of the two-game series. Gray missed a great chance when Lunau after blocking a shot passed the puck a few yards out to him. And on almost the next play Junkin made one of the rather numerous brilliant saves that marked his night's work. Prentice, the young farmer who makes a good job of Markham's right wing position, sifted through the visitors' defense and set himself to beat the goalkeeper, but as he closed in Junkin went out and met him, and turned back a dangerous threat. The Lakefield goalie repeated almost the same stunt on Howard Crosby's net, momentarily turned back the play, but Crosby recovered possession with the net wide open. Crosby's shot was a foot outside the post. And on top of that hectic session, Max Reesor streaked down the boards and drove a hard shot into a corner of the net.

Markham scored their fourth goal two minutes after the third period opened. A combination rush by the first string forward carried Clendenning with the puck behind the Lakefield goal line. He passed out to Howard Crosby who counted. In the heavy going at that stage Tom Wood barged through the home defense for a close shot. Clendenning and Crosby swooped down again on Junkin, and the Lakefield goal tender stepped out of his net to spoil the shot.

Lakefield's Second Goal

The visitors showed that they could make a combination effective when L. Sabatino, Gray and Mahood went down in a line. Sabatino swung past the net, and whipped the puck out to Gray for their second goal.

Wood hit the Markham goal post. Max Reesor deliberately cross-checked J. Sabatino, probably as a variation to the barrage of body-checking, and drew a penalty. Junkin made a fine save on a shot that was flung at him from a scrimmage near his goal. Blewett footed through the Markham defense, but the puck was hooked from him as he was about to shoot. Tom Wood settled his score with Hare as the game was drawing near the end. Hare had been stepping into all and sundry with everything he could muster, and incidentally he was met with the same reception at the Lakefield end. As Wood rushed, Hare went out to meet him and in the collision which neither man tried to avoid, Hare took a sprawl and Wood skated back smiling.

Hare rang up the final goal on a smart combination with Howard Crosby. Their passing play penetrated the Lakefield defense, and as Hare approached the net he took lots of time to pick out the spot in the twine he intended to hit. And he did.

Tracy Shaw made a fine job with the bell. The game was clean, penalties were few and although it was strenuous in the last phase it was not malicious, and there was practically none of the peeveishness that flared up at Lakefield.

A score or more of fans accompanied the Cement town team, and they were more than satisfied with the game.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, soon after this gets into print 2 outa our 3 hockey teams will hang up their unies for the current season. Our intermediates put the skids under Bowmanville and earned the right to meet Oshawa, but it was just a case of prolonging the agony a few days. Mister Ken Randall and his red shirts come up here Thurs. nite for the group playoffs, and without even working up a sweat bumped our lads 7 goals to 2. What the result mighta been had Mister Doc Rowden and his pals really gone to work, I for 1 ain't prepared to say, but certainly the Motor City lads didn't exert themselves none to speak of. Mister Rowden himself was only out there about 20 mins. all told, but managed to help himself to 4 goals, which ain't bad pucking. Oshawa with a squad of a dozen and ½ players all told ain't got any more license being back in the intermediate zerious than the Petes would have in the senior A division. What the O.H.A. magnates was doing letting them slip back outa the senior B section where they belong is a mystery to all and sundry round these parts. A few years ago when the Petes was making hockey history the powers that be shot them up into the senior ranks without asking them whether they liked it or not, but now when there is a special section of the senior serious to take care of just such cases, a real senior outfit like Oshawa is allowed to play intermediate which don't exactly appear reasonable.

In the junior race, Mac, the 2 local rivals will fight it out tonite, and the winners will take on the Lindsay Midgets next week. The latter is so hit up over their team's prospects they can't hardly wait for the local tangle to get unscrambled so they can get at them, but mebbe next week they won't be so cheerful about it. The clash here Wed. nite was as interesting a argument as the Brock st. ice palace has staged this season, Mac. The 2 teams camped on the trail of their opponents' goal-getters so close that Calladine and Gardner of the Saints and Dallin for the Petes hadn't a minute to get lonesome, but while they was being watched some of the others was leaking through for shots, and both goalies was busier than a trap drummer all nite. The Saints managed to bag 3 goals and shut their opposition out, but the Petes almost scored so often that nearly everybody had heart failure before the hectic doings come to an end. Tonite the kids go at it again, and another real argument oughta be staged for the Sat. nite crowd.

Well, I'll be seeing ya'. Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

Frankford Wins From Campbellford 4-2

FILION SCORES FOUR COUNTERS FOR FRANKFORD

Trent Valley League Cellar Teams Provide Excitement For Fans.

GOALIES GOOD.

Whitton, Ingram and Cowell Are Stars For Homesters.

FRANKFORD, Feb. 6. (Examiner Staff Reporter)—Hockey history was made here last night when Filion starring on the forward line, registered every one of Frankford's four goals against Campbellford's two, in a Trent Valley League fixture which kept the crowd of fans agog with excitment and expectation throughout sixty minutes of keen play.

Refereed by Joe Smith of Kingston, who handled the bell to the satisfaction of players and spectators alike, the tussle between these two outfits who occupy the cellar positions in the league, nevertheless resulted in a fast, clean brand of hockey on a par with what might be expected from the league leaders.

The score which was tied at the end of the second period, was fully indicative of the evenness of the play, while the climax was attained in the final stanza with the Campbellford sextette on the offensive for the major portion of the twenty minutes, during which time Prevost gave a good account of himself in the home net. Filion's two tallies in this period, as was the case with his other couple of twine bulgers, were secured on his own initiative; his flashing speed and strategy completely outwitting the entire opposition.

For Campbellford the honors might be evenly divided. The maroon and yellow outfit gave strong evidence of cohesive effort, both on the forward line, where Whitton at centre was actually the centre of attraction, and also on the defence line where Ingram and Cowell proved equal to anything, but those dazzling dashes of the enemy star forward winger.

The Lineups

Frankford — Goal, Prevost; l. defence, W. O'Malley; r. defence, Borland; centre, Bowen; r. wing, MacLean; l. wing, Shaw; subs, Munn, C. O'Malley, Filion.

Campbellford—Goal, Saunders; l. defence, Ingram; r. defence, Cowell; centre, Whitton; r. wing, McArthur; l. wing, Fleming; subs., Smith, Blue, McKay.

Referee—Joe Smith of Kingston.

SUMMARY

First Period

1—Frankford, Filion, 8 minutes.

2—Campbellford, Whitton, 7 mins. 30 sec.

Penalties—None.

Second Period

3—Campbellford, Ingram, 5 minutes.

4—Frankford, Filion, 9 minutes.

Penalties — Campbellford, Smith. McKay; Frankford—MacLean.

Third Period

6—Frankford, Filion, 3 minutes.

6—Frankford, Filion, 13 minutes.

Penalties—Campbellford, Ingram; Frankford, MacLean and Shaw.

Prior to the face-off, which was considerably late owing to one of the Campbellford cars becoming snowbound en route with all the equipment, the large crowd observed a half minute silence in respect to the memory of Mrs. (Dr.) McMullen, who died on Thursday night at a Kingston Hospital, and whose husband is a great booster for the local hockey club and incidentally the team physician. Frankford Town Band then played the opening bars of the National Anthem, immediately after which the puck was thrown into action by Referee Smith.

Stars From Start

Eight minutes even going and Filion, who had just stepped out from the subs' box, commandeered the rubber. The fans yelled in gleeful expectation, and were not disappointed. The hometowners' first score was chalked up. Frankford, her green clad aggregation encouraged by the initial success, pushed home a concentrated attack, but the visitors warded them off, and Fleming, on a dash down the left wing, pressed the Frankford goalie to the limit. Both went down in a heap at the mouth of the net, and chance robbed the visiting team of a well-merited goal. A few minutes later, Whitton, on an individual dash, went right through the cordon of the enemy defence and put his team on equal scoring terms, with the tally 1 to 1.

The opening minutes of the second period, compared with those of the first in so much as the play was of the give-and-take variety, but of a much faster kind. The visiting team put up a stubborn resistance subsequently against a strong attack from the MacLean,Bowen-Shaw combination, and recorded the first penalty of the game through Smith.

On a wonderful single play, involving a short, sharp dash on the left wing, Ingram put Campbellford's second counter past the goalie from close range, and after the puck was put into action again the homesters' right winger, MacLean, was sent to the cooler for a breach of the rules, to be joined there a moment afterwards by McKay of Campbellford.

Again the tough breaks were with the visitors, McKay, on his return from the penalty box, coming within inches of converting a pass out from corner ice.

The Frankford forward line, now working in complete harmony, sallied out again on the offensive tack, but good checking by the Maroons kept them at bay, Filion staking his luck at a long shot from centre ice against his previous tactics, won out and evened up the score for Frankford, 2—2. The end of the period was marked by good combination play by Whitton, McKay and Fleming on Campbellford forward line.

At the outset of the final struggle Filion was out on the warpath, but repeatedly met with opposition of the toughest calibre, from Whitton at centre. MacLean, on the Frankford right wing, was also aggressive and assisted in making a breach in the visitors' defence, through which Filion dashed hot-foot to net the third tally for the homesters.

Campbellford aroused to concert-pitch action, retaliated with vigor. Whitton starring still at centre, and proving his ability as an adept stick checker.

Cowell, on the Maroons' right defence, who played a nice game all through, became a casualty in a race for the rubber along with MacLean of Frankford near the boards. He tripped, sprained his ankle, and was carried to the dressing room, his performance for that session brought to an abrupt conclusion. MacLean was penalized, and also Shaw. For a few moments the homesters were two men short. Meanwhile the Millers were giving an exhibition of hockey combining the features of fast-skating and good stickhandling, in a confident and dashing bid to even up the count. Three minutes from time, however, Filion put in the final score, Saunders, the custodian, making a determined effort to stem the onslaught and winding up in a prone position in front of the net with the puck well back of him and in an irretrievable position.

MADOC RETAINS WHITTY TROPHY FOR 2ND YEAR

Defeats Tweed in Two-game Round 2-1 For Interscholastic Honors.

PLAY CLEVER HOCKEY.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, Feb. 7.—In the Interschool series, Tweed High School Hockey Team played Madoc's High School Team on Madoc Arena on Thursday evening of this week, with ice in perfect shape, and both teams in the pink of condition, and splendiddly matched. Fair play ruled, and good hockey was from start to finish. This being the final game a good crowd was present.

From the first Madoc boys were on their toes, and only a few minutes had elapsed before Whytock landed a shot from the blue line right into the net for the first count for Madoc. Each team was careful, at first, not to give the other an opening, but after Whytock's blue line shot, play speed up. Tweed had the advantage of three alternates to Madoc's one, but this was overcome by careful manoeuvring.

Whytock's count made things interesting all round, as it evened the count, Tweed being one ahead, having won 1—0 in the last game in Tweed. From then on, the play was keen, and Tweed boys alert for chances to outwit and outscore their opponents. Penalties were few throughout the game, the tally being one for each team in this period. The goalies were kept busy, as Lafontaine and Maguire made many rushes on Nickle's net, and Rupert, Whytock, Ashey and Akey by fine combination kept Tweed's defense line busy, and McCutcheon, for Tweed was called on to make several fine saves. This period ended 1—0, and the round tied.

Cautious Playing

The second period opened with rather more cautious playing on the part of each defence, but other teams were out to break the tie. Madoc boys, playing excellent combination, played Tweed off their feet, and showed the benefits of practising their positions. Every Tweed attack was halted, and towards half time Madoc scored what proved to be the winning tally. West, accompanied by Rupert, crashed through the defense, only to lose the shot, but West recovering passed to Rupert and the round was won, to the frenzied delight of most of the onlookers.

The third period was one of alert defence for Madoc, and heavy checking for Tweed. In their endeavor to again tie the score, but the Black and Gold held their position, and aided by good work of Nickle in goal, were able to hold their victory to the final gong, shutting out Tweed entirely, and leaving the score 2—0 for the home team. Both teams were out for goals, Madoc thinking the best defence a good offensive, repeatedly rushed, while Tweed played four men up to get the equalizer, which never came.

Retains Whitty Cup

Both teams were tiring, but gamely rushing down. Both goalies made remarkable saves, until the final gong wrote "Finis" to another year's struggle, with Madoc retaining the V. Whitty Memorial Trophy for another year and the right to meet Belleville in the next interscolastic play-off.

JUNIOR BATTLE STARTS 9 P.M.

Hockey Dish of Season Will Be Provided Fans To-night at Brock Street Rink.

ST. JOHN'S VS. H. C.

In order to allow hockey fans who turn theatre-goers on Saturday nights to go to-night and see their favorite picture and yet not miss the big game between St. John's and the Peterborough, H. C., the start of the game has been set for 9 o'clock.

The class of hockey provided when these two teams clash is well known tonight. This battle is the second in the championship series and St. John's enter it with a 3-goal lead.

Jimmy McMartin is confident that his team, which downed the Saints 6 to 0 earlier, can take the red shirts again if they just play the hockey that they are capable of. The blues will be at full strength with Dallin, Meagher and Epps for their regular forward line.

Win or lose or draw this game promises fans sixty minutes more of fast, rugged junior hockey.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES ON TAPS OVER WEEK-END

Canadiens Tangle With Bruins While Leafs Meet Americans.

Hawks Encounter Rangers.

New York Victory Over Duncanites Will Cause Merry Scramble For Play-off Berth.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7 (By George Maguire, Canadian Press Sport Writer).—Two international games headline this week-end's National Hockey League schedule. Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens, leaders of their respective groups, meet for the third time this season to-night, while Toronto and New York Americans clash for the fifth time.

On Sunday Ottawa and Detroit meet in the third International tilt while Chicago encounter the Rangers for the fifth time at New York.

The Canadien-Boston result will have no immediate bearing on the standing in either group for the leaders each have a substantial margin on their nearest opponents.

Each squad has a victory over the other on home ice. Canadiens have hung up an enviable record in their last 12 matches by winning 10, losing only one, and tieing one. They had two gruelling matches during the week against first Toronto and then their intra-city rivals Maroons, and may not be up to the mark against the burly Bruins. In addition, the Flying Frenchmen will be without the services of their clever little wingman, Johnny Gagnon, who has been automatically suspended for incurring three major penalties.

The Leafs and Americans have broken even in their four previous engagements. The first two games ended in goalless ties; the Leafs won the next, 2 to 0, and the Amazing Amerks the fourth.

Both Need Victory

Neither team can afford to lose ground at this stage. The Leafs are only three points ahead of the Maroons, while the latter have only a one-point margin over the Amerks.

Kempt Rink Winners Of Norwood Schedule

NORWOOD, Feb. 7. — (Examiner Correspondence.) — H. P. Kempt's rink has been successful in winning the season's curling schedule, this announcement having been made recently.

For the past few weeks the various rinks have been engaged in a scheduled competition. There have been many close games and not until recently was it possible to pick the winning rink which is composed of H. P. Kempt, skip, A. Kempt, vice, A. G. McDermott, second and J. McConnel, lead.

The second place winner has not been announced, but it is understood that it will be either J. A. Finlay's rink or Nelson Wellman's rink.

Windsor Minister To Get New Trial

TORONTO, Ont., February 6 (C. P.). — A new trial is ordered by the Second Divisional Court on the appeal of Rev. William E. Matthews, of Windsor, Ont., from a judment of Mr. Justice Raney allowing him $1,250 damages against Cleo D. Sheffield and Norman Chareton following a motor accident on October 4, 1929.

Rev. Mr. Matthews claimed $15,000, it being set out that he was permanently lame and forced to give up his church.

The jury brought in a verdict first for $3,500, and finally $2,500, which called forth caustic comment from the bench during the hearing of the appeal.

CUPS PRESENTED TO KIWANIS CLUB

Youthful Ball Tossers of Two City League Teams Honored at Dinner.

TRIBUTE TO MANAGERS.

"In all your sports, play to win; but always remember, that it is better to lose a game than to win by unfair or underhand" declared R. M. Glover, in addressing the members of the City League ball teams, sponsored last Summer by the Kiwanis Club, at a dinner last night in the Empress Hotel, given by the Kiwanians in honor of the youthful ball tossers.

Mr. Glover congratulated the Kiwanis Club for the work they had accomplished in sponsoring amateur sport in the city. "Your efforts in this direction are most worthy and are fully appreciated by the citizens in general", he said.

He praised the sportsmanship of the players and also the guidance given the teams by Jack Deannard, who toiled hard in organizing and managing the clubs. "In the years to come you will realize that you gained much more out of sport than you put into it" Mr. Glover told the players. "Sport not only developes you physically, mentally and morally but also gives you a splendid association with sportsmen and leaves you a fund of fine memories."

The weekly dinner of the Kiwanis Club was changed specially for the regular noon-day hour to evening to accommodate the players, and the club members together with a group of visiting Kiwanians from Lindsay and sport leaders of the city joined in honoring the players of the two Kiwanis teams.

Jack Deannard presented the J. M. Greene trophy to the Junior team and Mark Bredin presented his own cup, donated three years ago, to the Juvenile team, which was managed by Raymond Hunter. Both teams were city champions of their respective class and made a splendid showing in their pursuit of Provincial honors. Wm. Kay, district O.B.A.A. representative, congratulated the teams and presented them with medals on behalf of the Kiwanis Club.

The meeting was shortened somewhat because the Kiwanians had the heavy responsibility of managing the Ice Carnival at Brock Street arena weighing heavily upon their shoulders.

Art Moffat was congratulated for his work in organizing and looking after the welfare of the two teams. The cups were given into the keeping of Tom Marks, chairman of the Property Committee.

Harry Huffman gave C. S. Browne a boost it being the immediate past president's turn to have the rather embarrassing honor. John I. Allen, president of the club, was chairman of dinner.

RIFLE SHOOT RESULTS.

RANGERS' RIFLE ASSOCIATION

An application practice, consisting of 5 rounds each, was carried out as a starter for the elimination contest. The shooting was of a high order. The average for the whole club was 23 out of a possible 25. The prize was carried off by J. L. Welsh, who shot off a tie with A. Sutherland. The elimination contest called for rapid loading and getting off a quick accurate shot. The excitement ran high, especially towards the end, when Grant Rightmeyer put Alex McIlvena out of action. An old feud was settled between two rivals when Harry Lord gave George Cowan a R.I.P.

VARIETY OF COSTUMES SEEN AT ANNUAL EVENT STAGED BY KIWANIANS

BURLESQUE HOCKEY GAME.

"A rollicking good time was had by all," both onlookers and participants, at the Kiwanis Karnival sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, on the Brock Street Rink last evening. A large and enthusiastic crowd of people on the "east side," on the "west side" and on the "north side" encouraged the fun makers, from the devils and Julius Caesar down.

John I. Allen, the president, spread his welcome to the visitors by means of a megaphone, and assured everyone of a jolly evening.

The bicycle raders did not turn up for their event, evidently because the ice was slippery that evening. However the C.G.E. and the Canadian Nashua men were game for anything, and decided to find out which could tow the other around the ice. Twenty men on each team joined heartily in a tug-of-war, and thanks to the strength of the rope there were no extraordinary casualities. No rubbers or overshoes were worn by the participants, but it is suspected that someone on the C.G.E. team had rubber heels on his shoes. The electrics bent their backs, like men of war, to the tow line and gradually drew the scrambling and stumbling Nashua men across the thin red line. They repeated this twice more, and so the judges decided that C.G.E. was the winner.

Roy Sedgwick of Lindsay was introduced as the only boy acrobat in the world to perform on ice. His somersaults, sideslips, wheelrolls and loop-the-loops brought forth enthusiasm and applause from everyone.

Remarkable Performance.

The most marvellous performance of the evening was that given by Norman A. Falkner, the world's only one-legged skater. Moved out onto the ice on a chair, he took off the cap on the blade of his skate, and was away like a streak of a will O' the Wisp. With little in and out twists he attained a remarkable speed. He soon completely gained his balance, and commenced his skating backwards, and figure making. His double-lined figure '8' was perfectly executed. The fancy figures, consisting of dainty curves, clover leaf designs, fleur de lis, circle designs and lace-like figures, all perfectly imprinted in the smooth sheet of ice, were nothing short of a marvel. They far surpassed any accomplishments of a fancy or figure skater, Swiss or otherwise. So much did the delighted onlookers appreciate his performance, that he was called upon to repeat his artistic skating two or three times at different intervals.

Hockey Burlesque.

The greatest farce of the Karnival was the "hockey game" between the Lindsay and Peterborough Kiwanis Clubs. McIntyre, Skipworth, Richmond, Widell, Sleep, Baker, Nugent and Arnold played goal, defence, wing and centre as it suited them. For the Peterborough Kiwanians, Al Sharpe, Fraser Skinner, Leland Wade, Isaaac McNabb and Bert Wainman played in various positions on the ice. All of the players were attired differently—in a chauffeur's uniform, rugby helmet and outfit, as a negro, red haired tramp, a fat farmer, hot water bottle padded goal tender. After a while the score became "two all, in the favor of Lindsay." Negro Wainman started a fight with the Lindsay 720-pound player, and a free-for-all ensued, terminating in a large heap of former players. This escapade resulted in all, except the goalers and one player on each side, spending a quiet moment in the penalty box. These two players outplayed their goalers, and the gradual appearance of the ex-players and an additional puck brought the score up well over that of a bridge game.

The Karnival broke out into the apex of fun with the appearance of the costumed skaters. Characters represented every type of man and woman, in every age, in every country of the world; a skating Christmas tree, a dice and card costume, Julius Caesar, a Spanish grandee, Mandy and Rastus, Fat Farmer Fuller, black and yellow haired magicians, a fairy prince and princess, a farmer and his girl, Irish pages, Aunt Jemima, a checkerboard, town bums, a dunce, a red and silver spoons costume, a sailor lass, a pink Priscilla, harem ladies, and a sultan.

Chris Graham and Reg Turner acted as judges and awarded the prizes as follows: Best Man's Costume—V. McNeally, as Julius Caesar; Best Ladies'—Mrs. Wood, as a harem lady; Best Man's Comic—Percival Dunsford, as a Christmas tree; Best Lady's Comic—Grace Gage, as a pink-pinafored baby; Best Boy's—N. Wainman, as an Irish Page; Best Girl's —Hilda Phillips, in a green Costume; Best Boy's Comic—Eric West, as Aunt Jemima; Best Girl's Comic—Ethel Roberts; and a special to Sophia Gilman for her original dice and cards costume.

It is not often that an opportunity is afforded for such side-splitting laughter to be gained from intimate contact with well known people of the city, but the participants in the Kiwanis Karnival certainly showed that even though some were generally of serious mien, they could always arise to the occasion with true Kiwanian humor.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Babe Ruth and Family Leaes For Sunny South

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (CP)—Ruth's 37th birthday to-day coincided with his departure on a Clyde Line steamer for Florida where he will get in shape for his 18th season in the American league.

The great home run hitter of New York Yankeees had as sailing companions his wife and two daughters, Dorothy and Julia Ruth's immediate objective was Jacksonville and its golf courses. Then he planned to move to St. Petersburg for some more golf before the Yankees begin training there March 1.

Ruth is in excellent physical condition. He has shaded his weight to 222 pounds, only six above his best playing poundage.

Landis' Fate Rests In Lindley's Hands

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (CP)—Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley had retired to his home at Danville, Ill., to-day to ponder over a mass of evidence in an effort to reach a decision that may break or will reaffirm Keneshaw Mountain Landis' dictatorship over organized baseball.

Judge Lindley decided late yesterday to take under advisement the Milwaukee American Association clubs' petition for an injunction restraining Landis from interfering with the transfer of outfielder Fred Bennett to the St. Louis Browns.

ERRATIC BALL TOSSING COSTLY FOR FOUR TEAMS

CLOSE CHECKING TANGLES.

Saints Take Undisputed Possession of First Place in Ladies' League.

In two well-played games in the Ladies' Basketball League last evening, the "Y" Elementary defeated the Blue Petes, 13—7, and St. Paul's won a 7—2 decision from the hitherto undefeated "Y" Seniors.

Both contests were close checking affairs and the players were unable to work clear to take many shots. Due to this checking, the scores were naturally low, but the games provided much fine basketball. Erratic ball tossing proved costly to the entire four teams and many fine scoring opportunities were passed up when an accurate shot would have meant a certain score.

In the curtain riser, the Elementary team flashed a little too much speed for the Petes and, led by Sybil Ecobichon, who scored 9 points, were able to carry off the win.

Jean Howson, for the Petes, showed nice form, scoring 3 points and bothering the opposition not a little.

Play opened slowly and it was several minutes before a score was made, S. Ecobichon tallying for the Elementary. A few minutes later M. Simpson scored again for the "Y" but the Petes came right back and Jean Howson scored nicely on a smart combination effort with her forwards. Sybil Ecobichon closed the scoring for the half, giving her team a 6—2 lead.

In the second session Jean Howson scored a single on an opposition foul, and Pat McClellan and Louise Lundy tallied once each to put the Petes in the running again.

The Elementary retaliated and S. Ecobichon sunk two nice shots and a single, and G. Crawford tallied once to give the Elementary the game, 13—7.

The teams:

"Y" Elementary.—S. Ecobichon, M. Simpson, M. Thompson, P. Patterson, forwards; G. Crawford, E. Lynch, centre; D. Patterson, L. McGee, J. Lush, M. Millard, guards.

Blue Petes.—J. Howson, B. Rogers, B. Scott, forwards; P. McClellan, centre; L. Lundy, M. Rogers, A. Langley, guards.

Lead the League

In the second contest the St Paul's entry, by their win over "Bim" Sturgeon's "Y" Seniors, took undisputed possession of first place.

The Saints were without the services of Maisie Cowan, a stalwart on the forward line and the Seniors missed Hazel Jackson on their defence.

The Presbyterians checked the Seniors to a standstill and the "Y" sharpshooters were unable to break lose for any easy markers.

It must be said for the Seniors that they weren't playing their customary game, but full credit should be given the Saints for their determined stand.

Arleigh Comstock and Grace Comstock stood out for the Saints and accounted for all their team's tallies but were ably assisted by the rest of the team.

Clara Patterson, clever forward player, was forced to leave the game when she injured her arm by a fall to the floor.

For the losers Isobel Davidson, Kay Haggart and May Holmes all worked hard for the cause but found the going quite hard.

The Seniors opened the scoring when "Ibs" Davidson scored a single on Edna Morrow's foul but St. Paul's played nice combination to allow Arleigh Comstock to tally two close-in shots. The half time count was 4-1 for St. Paul's.

In the last half, the best the "Y" team could do was to score a single while Grace Comstock scored a single and a nice close in shot for the Presbyterians, giving them the game 7-2 and first place in the standing.

Senior School Girls Win

In a rather listless game played Thursday evening, the Senior School Girls defeated the Wohelo team 16-0. The contest provided few thrills as the Senior School team scored practically at will.

The Wohelo squad worked hard but had little chance against the combination plays of the School.

Helen Cole and Jeanne Harvey were the heavy scorers for their team and had little difficulty in working in for close shots.

WINNERS WILL PLAY MIDGETS

Local Junior Champs to Clash With Lindsay on Monday and Wednesday.

The winner of the local clash between Peterborough Hockey Club and St. John's will not have to wait long for action, as they will be called upon to battle the Lindsay Midgets on Monday and Wednesday nights of next week, with the first game likely in Lindsay on Monday night. The Midgets, who gave the Saints such a gruelling battle for the honors last winter have not been defeated this season, and expect to win handily over which ever one of the Peterborough teams emerges from the local tangle.

Postal Clerks Accept Bus Drivers' Challenge

The recent challenge for a hockey game, issued by the Bus Drivers has been promptly accepted by the Mail Men. The latter are willing to take their opponents on at any time, and are confident the Chauffeurs will be sent to the Dead Letter Office. The pavement pounders point out that their work gives them the advantage of keeping on their feet, whereas the Drivers will find sitting down comes natural to them. Be this as it may, the latter team believe that their usual mode of travel will accustom them to the speed which they hope will leave the Postal Clerks flat-footed. And they say transfers will not be required.

The game will likely take place soon, and will be committed at midnight, though both teams are emphatic in saying that the affair could stand bright light of day. At any rate, people who are abroad after midnight deserve no better fate than to be compelled to witness the fracas.

DEADLY LEFT AGAIN WINS FOR LOUGHRAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (CP)—Thanks to the same deadly left hand that made him king of all the light heavyweights, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia dancing master, had stepped back into the heavyweight picture to-day.

The biggest crowd of the indoor fistic season—12 000 persons—saw the clever Philadelphian jab his way to a ridiculously easy ten-round decision over Max Baer, willing but clumsy California youngster, in Madison Square Garden last night.

McNamara is First In the Sixth Lap

L'Assomption, Que., Feb. 7 (C.P.)—M. McNamara, of Brisbane, Australia, to-day won the sixth lap of the 200-mile international marathon, a distance of 25 miles from Berthier, Que., to this town. Fred Desroches, Montreal, was second; Sammy Richman, New York, third, and Jolo Ray, Chicago, fourth. Frank Hoey, of Montreal, who is leading the pack by over one hour in elapsed time, was fifth to-day. It was the first time since the race started on Sunday that he has not placed first, having won five straight laps.

REBEKAH PRESIDENT VISITS MILLBROOK

Mrs. Lande of North Bay is Guest at Banquet of Golden Sheaf Lodge.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 6. (Examiner Correspondence.)—A special meeting of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, was called to convene in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Wednesday evening, in honor of the first official visit of the President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, Mrs. Lande,of North Bay, who is making her round of the various Lodges in the province, in fulfillment of her obligations as the Supreme Head of the Order.

The dining-hall was beautifully decorated with the Rebekah colors of pink and green, featured in the overhead streamers, the runners centring the tastefully-laid tables, the tall pink and green candles, lighted, and in holders of similar shades, in the covers of frilled, crepe paper for the lights, and in the flowers placed at intervals on the several tables.

The delicious menu provided at the supper hour was thoroughly enjoyed, and afterward adjournment was made to the hall upstairs where a brief Lodge session was held, with the Noble Grand, Sister Isabelle Thorndyke, presiding, and Sister Caroline Harkness in the Vice-Grand's chair.

Sister Irene Fallis, District Deputy President, introduced the President of the Rebekah Assembly formally to the Noble Grand and through her to the Lodge, the address later given by Sister ChristinaLande containing much helpful and encouraging information, particularly about the "Home on the Hill" in Toronto, of which all Oddfellows and Rebekahs are so proud. The relief work being accomplished this winter by the Rebekah Lodges was also stressed by the President, and the urgent need of the 'charity fund', with means of increasing same, was vividly set forth.

Mrs. Arthur Fallis was convenor of the social committee, others assisting being Mrs. H. A. Earle, Mrs. R. O. Larmer, Mrs. Harry Ball, Mrs. T. G. Harkness, Mrs. C. C. Garside, and Mrs. P. I. Bentley, the latter being convenor of the program committee as well.

Millbrook

The many friends of A. J. Fallis, ex-M.P.P., will be glad to learn that he is making satisfactory progress toward recovery after his accident of a few weeks ago when he had a fall while working at the barn, frozen straw being apparently the cause of the unfortunate happening. It was not the distance Mr. Fallis fell, but the wrenching which accompanied the accident, that caused his being confined to bed, under the doctor's care, for some time past. He is now able to be up again, and is convalescing nicely.

Mrs. C. C. Garside returned home on Monday of this week after a pleasant visit with friends at Bowmanville, and other points in the western part of the county.

The members of the Wallace Point Canoe Club held a jolly skating party at the Cosmos rink,on Tuesday, the ice being rented for the entire evening. A number of the lady friends of the members were included, by invitation, in the happy outing, and afterward a supper was enjoyed in the rink building, this giving opportunity for emphasis upon the social side of the happy gathering. H. Cardwell, of Wallace Point, is president, and Lloyd Ryan secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Mrs. Christina Lande,of North Bay, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke at the dinner hour on Wednesday, and of Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Bentley, overnight, during her stay in town.

The local committee has received word that this winter's series of concerts given by the Canadian Chautauqua Company will be presented locally during the third week in March. Last season was the initial time for the Canadian Chautauqua to be in Millbrook, and the week's concerts were events of outstanding enjoyment to capacity audiences. It is toped that this winter will see a repetition of the success achieved in 1930,the generous support of the public being necessary to achieve this desirable result.

Hemorrhoids

Or piles are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is a serious matter to have piles and one person in four has them at one time or another. The annoyance and distress is great. It is difficult to obtain lasting relief. So much so that a surgical operation may be considered necessary. That is unless your physician is familiar with Dr. Chase's Ointment for many doctors recommend this treatment to their patients.

For nearly half a century Dr. Chase's Ointment has been the never failing relief for itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It is now, very generally known by the medical profession, and the public generally, as the standard treatment for this torturing ailment.

Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Ointment for "users are boosters" in this case. Relief comes quickly and you can obtain the ointment at any drug store.

FEBRUARY MEETING BENSFORT SOCIETIES

Mrs. W. C. Wood Hostess to Members—Presbyterial Report Read.

SOUTH MONAGHAN, Feb. 7.—The February meeting of the Ladies' Aid and W.M.S. of the Bensfort United Church was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Wood, on Tuesday, when owing to illness in the home, the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Frank Morrison, was unable to be present, and Miss Mary Nicholson, vice president, was in charge.

After the opening exercises a short business session followed in which plans were discussed and committees appointed for this year.

W. M. S.

The W.M.S. meeting followed that of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. G. Whittington, president, in the chair. Mrs. Stuart Thompson, secretary, and Mrs. F. Buckham, treasurer, gave their reports, the latter also giving an interesting reading from the Study Book. Mrs. Edgar Wood gave a resume of Mrs. Cunningham's report at the Presbyterial meeting and also a report of the conference of the secretaries of Christian Stewardship and Finance.

Mrs. Whittington gave a report of the Presbyterial Conference and also some ideas which she considered most helpful to the society. Mrs. W. C. Wood concluded this part of the program with a resume of Mrs. Moyer's address and some suggestions from the group leads' conference.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed; a vote of thanks being tendered Mrs. Wood for her hospitality.

OBITUARY

CHARLES GORDON

CENTRETON, Feb. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Charles Gordon, whose death occurred on Monday morning, was held on Wednesday from Grafton, the Rev. Andrew McLaughlin officiating, burial being made in the family plot in Centreton Cemetery.

The late Mr. Gordon, who was in his 76th year, was an old and respected resident of Haldimand township. He was born in Toronto and while very small, came with his parents to Haldimand township and has lived at Centreton for many years. A short time ago he went to Grafton to reside with his son James, where his death occurred.

There are left to mourn his loss four sons, James and John, of Grafton; Arthur of Trenton and William, of Pike Lake, Sask., his wife having predeceased him about thirty-one years ago.

The pall bearers were J. Coffey, M. Trotter, P. Fraser, H. Honeywell, J. McKenzie and F. Birney.

SLEIGHING PARTY IS GREAT SUCCESS

MILLBROOK, Feb. 6. (Examiner Correspondence.) The A.Y.P.A. of Saint Thomas' Church held a jolly sleighing party on Tuesday evening, the low temperature prevailing, apparently having no deterring effect upon the young people, so far as numbers were concerned, two large sleighs being required to accommodate the merry-makers who gathered at the Parish Hall at 7.30 p.m., in readiness for the outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lamb, Eighth Line, Cavan, extended the hospitality of their home for the social side of the evening, and thither the sleighing-party proceeded, and were warmly welcomed upon arrival at the farm homestead, Miss Eloise Lamb assisting her parents in the reception of the guests.

Games, music, cards and dancing made the hours pass all too rapidly, the service of dainty refreshments being a concluding feature previous to again filling the sleighs, which were provided through the courtesy of Messrs. E. Larmer and Leonard Henderson, and making departure for the several homes.

This is the second occasion this season when the A.Y.P.A. have enjoyed a sleighing-party as part of their winter's program, the outing of last month being to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred, and Miss Edna Lowery, Fallis Line, when a delightful evening was spent.

W. E. Bonneville is president of the A.Y.P.A., and Mrs. R. A. Ford secretary.

PAYS REGULAR DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, February 6 (C.P.).—The Standard Oil Company of New York to-day ordered payment of the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share, amounting in the aggregate to more than $7,000,000.

This makes the second of the large Standard units to assure its stockholders of their regular income for the current quarter.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make 16 ounces of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Trent River

Mrs. George Longmuir of West Seymour, has made a good recovery from the effects of a fall received a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Waters have returned from their honeymoon trip and are residing on the farm of Mr. Arthur Waters west Seymour, for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Waters, of West Seymour, were visitors Tuesday, with Mr. and Mrs. Morden McMillan, Norwood Road.

Mrs. Knowlton Waters of West Seymour, spent this week with relatives at Trenton.

Miss Marion Inkster has recovered from her recent illness and has returned to her duties on the school teaching staff at Havelock Puclic School.

SOCIETY ACCEPTS GOVERNMENT OFFER

Summer Lecturer Will Address Keene Young People's Agricultural Society.

KEENE, Feb. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Young People's Agricultural Society held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, February 4. Miss Fern McCarthy, the president, was in the chair and Miss Louise Donaldson acted as secretary.

The exhibit was something that could be made from a yard of factory cotton and 20 cents. Some very clever and artistic results were obtained. Misses Marjory Brown and Kathrine McCarthy sang a duet. It was decided by unanimous vote to accept the Department's offer to send a lecturer in the summer at nominal cost.

The chief interest of the evening centered in a debate: "Resolved, That the Home exerts a greater influence on the future progress of Canada through the training of the child until he has reached manhood or womanhood than does the school." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Wilena Nelson and Miss Bertha Elmhirst, while Miss Isabel Davis and Miss Jean McIntyre had the negative.

Both speakers for the affirmative opened with shut-out contentions—one that "There is no place like home"; the other that "it is in the home that the future population of Canada has its being, the home perpetuates the nation!" The judges, Miss Fern McCarthy, Miss Marguerite Bowie and Mrs. Cameron, found great difficulty in giving a decision as the excellencies of the school were so well brought out. Miss MacIntyre stressed the departments in which the school was so nobly stepping into the breach to supply what the home failed to do. The decision went to the affirmative, the judges congratulating the speakers on the whole conduct of the debate, especially in the matter of refutations.

Serve Dinner

The ladies served dinner on Thursday evening to the curling club in the town hall. Harry Reid, the president proposed the toast; to the King and the "Roarin' Game." F. A. Eason responded to this toast. As usual, it fell to the lot of R. J. MacCamus to propose the toast to the ladies, to which Mrs. G. S. Taylor responded. Miss Bryce played during dinner and Jimmy Wilson sang his shanty song.

A very delightful dance was held after the last games had been played off. The Hastings Orchestra provided the music.

SUSPECT FOUL PLAY IN GIRL'S DEATH

DETROIT, Feb. 6. (CP)—A 12-year-old school girl, Doris McDonald was drowned in Detroit River off Belle Isle last night under circumstances which led detectives to believe that she may have been thrown deliberately to her death.

HASTINGS COUNTY AGRICULTURIST DIES

Progressive Farmer of Hungerford Township Had Been Failing.

Hugh Coulter, one of the most widely known of County of Hastings agriculturists, died Wednesday night at the homestead, Chapman's Corners, in his eighty-sixth year. He was in failing health for some years and his death was not unexpected. He is survived by his widow, three sons and two daughters, the sons being Addison of Sidney township; Samuel G. of Hungerford and Harry residing on the homestead in Hungerford and the daughters, Mrs. Fred Blakely of Hungerford and Mrs. A. C. Porter of Huntingdon.

The late Mr. Coulter was one of the farmer class who made his influence felt in the way of good farming. He was progressive in his attitude on agriculture and he was a believer in farming as an industry. In politics he was a Conservative and in religious persuasion a member of the United Church. Socially he was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends in all parts of the Bay of Quinte district.

The funeral took place on Friday to Bethel Church, Hungerford, and burial was made in the cemetery at Thomasburg.

Noted Egyptologist Dies In Lasswade

LASSWADE, Midlothian, Scotland, Feb. 6.—(A.P.)—The Rev. James Baikie, widely known Egyptologist, died at his home here to-day. He was 64 years old.

Rev. James Baikie had been minister of Wardie United Free Church, Edinburgh, from 1912 to 1922 and since then of St. John's, Torphoellen.

He was extension lecturer on Egyptology at Oxford University and the author of many works dealing with ancient Egypt and, in fact, the entire near east.

Felt Tired Out All Day Could Not Sleep at Night

Mrs. Aldamond Lalonde, 2481 St. James St., Montreal, Que., writes:—"After a spell of the grippe I was left very nervous, and felt drowsy and tired out all day, and could not sleep at night. I was also troubled with my heart and did not feel at all like working. I was told about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after taking four boxes I was completely relieved of my trouble, and can recommend your Pills to everyone."

Huntsman To Address Local Canadian Club

A. G. Huntsman, B.A., M.B., Professor of Marine Biology at the University of Toronto, has promised to address the Canadian Women's League at the Library Hall on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Huntsman has been for many years director of the Atlantic Biological Station at St. Andrew's New Brunswick. It is here he carries out his investigations of the fisheries, hydrography, and other problems of the sea. His experiments on refrigeration, including the recent experimental marketing of "Ice Fillets" has brought to inland cities sea fish with all the freshness of those just taken from the water. The Professor is a senior director of the Biological Board of Canada.

The official umpire at Blackburn, England, has just announced that he cannot alter his decision depriving unemployed girls of the dole or other unemployment benefit for refusing work as domestics.

DUFFUS PLANNED BETTER SERVICE

Many Alterations Have Been Made to the Plant of J. J. Duffus Limited.

OFFERS REAL SERVICE.

Radical changes which have doubled their capacity for prompt and efficient automobile service, have recently been completed by J. J. Duffus Limited at a cost of several thousand dollars. In addition to handling the exclusive local sales rights for Cadillac, LaSalle and Pontiac cars and G.M.C. trucks, they are now in a favorable position to handle an increased volume of renovation and overhauling work including battery service and Duco painting.

So far as alterations to the structure of the building are concerned, the stock room has been improved in every detail, while the battery department in its changed location has been made larger with new and additional equipment. The trimming and upholstering department has also undergone improvement, being now more conveniently located and brought up to date with new and improved equipment. The workrooms are now capable of doing all kinds of repairs so that no matter how badly wrecked a car may be, it can be rebuilt to look like new.

The Duco Department has been removed, and is now located in the extreme southern end of the plant. It has natural light from almost all four sides and is so equipped with electric light as to render it practicable for ideal working conditions by night as well as daytime. Here the most delicate color schemes can be executed, making the matching of shades for retouching in case of accident a very simple matter.

In the alterations to the plant the filling and service station has not been overlooked, and provision has been made for the dispensing of oils and gasoline and complete lubrication service on thoroughly approved and modern lines. The inside lubrication racks, capable of taking care of two cars at a time, have been provided with a heating arrangement whereby cars coming in from a sub zero atmosphere, can be 'limbered' up in a few minutes. This has been found absolutely necessary where high class lubrication work is executed, is the contention of the management.

Further storage space has been devised by the changes and greater accessibility. Accessories, tires, etc., are dispensed on the main floor alongside of newly decorated showrooms for the display of new cars. Here also is to be found, the administration department, where efficiency is the key note, and where all the most modern bookkeeping systems are in operation.

Recent visitors have freely expressed the opinion that few larger cities are favored with such a fine and complete automobile establishment," stated J. J. Duffus, who has been engaged here in the automobile industry since the days of the trade's infancy.

With the rearranged facilities, and the fact that the staff of the plant are attending mechanics courses at the Oshawa plant, in relays, where certificates are awarded by General Motors Corporation for efficient and satisfactory work, Mr. Duffus had no hesitation in saying he belived he could offer a service which would meet with the approval and satisfaction of every automobile owner.

H. R. Edmunds, lead; Howard Lancashire, second stone W. E. Ball, viceskip, and G. W. Sayles, skip.

The local curling club constantly renews its challenge for a place in the list of competitors for the Carew Cup, a trophy for which it has several times played, and more than once successfully defended.

SOCIAL EVENING.

King Edward School Association Meets at Home of George Groombridge.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Groombridge, Romaine Street, was the scene of a very successful card party, held under the auspices of King Edward School and Home Association last night.

The guests were received by the hostesses and ten tables of cards were played. Winners for high score in euchre were: Mrs. M. Gillis and Mr. Mackness. The lucky chairs prize going to Mrs. Wagar.

Mr. Groombridge had charge of the tables and awarding of prizes.

At the conclusion of the games, dainty refreshments were served by the committee, with Mrs. J. J. Cooke, convener.

A very pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful silver basket filled with daffodils, accompanied by an address of appreciation from the Home and School Association and members of the teaching staff of King Edward School, to their retiring president, Mrs. J. J. Pollock.

In a few words, Mrs. Pollock graciously acknowledged the gift, and assured the association of her continued interest and assistance, while all joined in singing" For she's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Among those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Groombridge, were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. J. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. H. Butler; Mr. and Mrs. L. Groombridge; Mr. and Mrs. N. King; Mr. and Mrs. R. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. E. Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. J. Roberts; Mr. and Mrs. English. Mesdames—D. Davis; Reynolds; J. J. Cooke; Rooke; Grose; W. Townsley; Hiscrous; S. Gillespie; Rahmel; M. Gillis, J. J. Pollock; W. K. Sloane; E. Hubel, J. Gibson; H. Gibson and J. Miller.

Misses Whitmore; M. Waldie; Kathleen Shangle; Kaye Flaherty and Whitfield.

Messrs — Mackness; Palmer and Hincheliffe.

SOMETHING MORE THAN ADVERTISING

Educational Feature is Being Planned by Louis Green.

Louis Green, one of Peterborough's foremost Men's Tailoring Stores, is now running a series of advertisements which is something more than advertising.

It can be classed as an educational feature. The series consists of a mass of scientific, historical and general information, facts which are most startling and unusual. They are gathered from the most authentic sources and are the result of years of research work by journalists, educators, scientists and photographers. It is difficult to believe many of the assertions made and pictures shown in the series, but Louis Green with his well known policy of sticking strictly to the truth has fortified himself with proof of every statement made in this series.

Folks who may have their curiosity and possibly incredulity aroused by something they read therein during the publication of this series may have the proof by phoning or calling at Louis Green's clothing store. During the coming months there will be an opportuunity to see many farfetched truths which are more strange than fiction, through the columns of this paper in Louis Green's advertising and as Ripley says "Believe it or not" but Louis has the proof.

Enterprising youths of the community will find many interesting facts which will prove valuable in making scrap books for future reference.

Look for it every Saturday on page 2, in this paper and don't forget it's all true and that Louis Green will be pleased to show you the proof.

In the cabin that had belonged to the Russian there ticked on and on through the silence of the night that little mechanism in the small black box which held for the unconscious sleepers the coming vengeance of the last of Tarzan's enemies. Tick..tick..tick.. with apparently unending monotony. Yet second by second a little arm on one of the wheels came nearer its goal upon the dial beside the clockworks.

Shortly after the break of day Tarzan was on deck, noting the condition of the weather. The wind had abated. The sky was cloudless. Every condition seemed ideal for the commencement of the return voyage to Jungle Island, where the beasts were to be left. And then—home. The ape-man roused the mate and gave instructions that the Kincaid sail at the earliest possible moment.

The remaining members of the crew, safe in Lord Greystoke's assurance that they would not be prosecuted for their share in the villainies of the two Russians, hastened with cheerful alacrity to their several duties. The beasts, liberated from the confinement of the hold, wandered about the deck much to the discomfiture of the crew, who knew only too well what the Beasts of Tarzan were capable of doing.

Beneath the watchful eye of Mugambi, however, Sheeta and the apes of Akut curbed their desire to sink their fangs and talons in the soft flesh of further prey. At last the Kincaid slipped down the Ugambi and ran out upon the shimmering waters of the Atlantic....Within the cabin a little hand of death crept on toward the hour which Paulvitch had set. Then, the ticking mechanism would cease—forever.

MANY IN NEED UNABLE TO SECURE RELIEF UNDER THE REGULATIONS

Relief Funds Are Used Primarily For Citizens of Month's Standing.

PLAN CAMPAIGN.

The Peterborough Relief Association is at present making a drive for funds to carry on its work. Most people are unaware of the pressing need that now carries its sting into many a Peterborough home where it is impossible for city relief officer Metheral to deal with and some only in part. But there are cases where the city is unable to help. People move in from neighboring townships and have not yet established the necessary term of residence to allow them to have a share in funds that are used primarily for citizens only. And many of these people have not yet formed church connections, which means that they must be looked after by some such independent organization as the Peterborough Relief Association has become. For instance:

A man and woman with one small child moved in from a neighboring township about three months ago. The man, who is partially crippled, can get no work. The woman will become a mother within the next two weeks. They live in one room.

The old people (the man is a veteran and the Legion helps them as much as possible, but the Legion is cramped for funds at the present time) moved in to the city several months ago. With their cat, they live in a tiny house. They are both very old and have little to look forward to. The man has rheumatic trouble, but not enough to disable him permanently.

A woman with three children is another case that cannot participate in city relief funds. She owns a piece of property in the back country which is not saleable.

Another woman came here from the West with four children of her own and two of her son's whose wife is dead. She lived until recently in a small village nearby and now she is in this city without any means of support except an occasional bit of sewing which she is willing to do.

In another home live fifteen people, also recent arrivals in the city. There is much illness and little work. They have to depend on someone else than the city fund to help them through the winter.

Then there is always the factor that the city fund cannot do everything. In the place of this size, it would be impossible to supply every want. In an ordinary home, there is always money on hand for little needs. But, in one of the homes in the south end, it adds to the terror of existence when the baby wakes in the night with a croupy cough. Who is going to provide money for red flannel and camphorated oil, when every cent goes for the necessaries of life and there is not enough money for even these. Who is going to buy flannelette for a baby's outfit? Who can provide special malt extract for the child with St. Vitus' dance? Who is going to look after the household of a woman with a virulent goitre that has been fought off for fourteen years, in fear of the knife? Who will look after the family of a woman who must go to the hospital soon and leave six small children in a bare and cold house?

These are some of the needs that have to be met with, to say nothing of supplying the ordinary things of life, like window blinds and high chairs and little mats for bare floors. When a woman who is scrupulously clean gets slivers in her fingers every time she scrubs her floor, where can she get a piece of oilcloth? There is no money for it. She asks for it through the newspaper, and nine times out of ten, gets it.

Any woman who put an old high chair away in her attic, years ago, and then fished it out in answer to a request, would be delighted to the heart to see with what gratitude it is received, in a home where the baby lives and sleeps in an old wooden box. And as for the pleasure that an elderly walker for a child gave to the mother of a crippled baby, watching the tiny thing trying to do something with withered small legs—who can measure that, either?

When the opportunity is given you to contribute to the fund of the Peterborough Relief Association, we know you will do your bit.

Examiner Relief Fund.

The Examiner acknowledges with gratitude the gift of a bag of potatoes from T. J. McDonald, Caddy street; cakes from the Old Tyme Dance Club; 4 pairs new boots for children, From E. W. Sargent; a sewing machine all the way from Apsley the gift of Mrs. Joseph Tucker; a Friend, $1; a Friend, $1; No Name, $2; Miss Alberta Brock, $2; a Friend $5; bread from the Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral; box of canned fruit from Miss Finn of Indian River; dressing-gown and slippers from Dr. D. C. King; reading-glass for an invalid from J. H. Callander; from L. C. $1.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McDonald, Downie street have kindly offered to give dinners during school days to two children, and, with the co-operation of M. N. Clark of the Queen Mary School; this has been arranged.

WEDDINGS

TURNER—RODD.
A quiet wedding was solemnized in the parsonage of Northminster Church, Oshawa, on Saturday, January 31, 1931, when Miss Helen Marion Rodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rodd, of Whitby, was united in marriage to Clayton Everett Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner, of Peterborough. Rev. A. M. Irwin, pastor of Northminster Church, officiated at the ceremony, and the happy couple were attended by Miss Frances Sonley, of Whitby, and Lorne D. Kester, Scarboro Junction.

SMART HOCKEY MARKS GAMES IN BOYS' LEAGUE

KING GEORGE WINS.

Flashes of smart hockey marked the three Public School League games this morning at All Saints' rink. The last game was one-sided enough, but the first and second were hard-fought battles. Play was speedy and clean despite the bumpy ice which made the going tough through all three affairs.

Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra went to a 2-all draw in the opening game which was the feature one of the morning. The play was up and down all the way, and as even as could be asked for. Neither outfit countered in the first period, though both were in position to score more than once. In the second frame, the boys from Queen Mary took the offensive to net the rubber twice, both times on individual thrusts. But coming out for the third go, Queen Alexandra began to threaten, and finally go through on two occasions to balance the count.

The teams:

Referee—O. Steer.

KING GEORGE WINS
In the second game, King George outskated Prince of Wales to take a 6—2 count. The latter team scored early in the opening canto but the winners ran in three in a row once they got going. Just before the bell, the Wales team notched another. Play was fairly even in the middle chapter, both outfits travelling fast. King George appeared speedier toward the close, and combined twice to make it 5—2. In the third period, the winners were much better, the forward line doing some nice stick-handling. The losers, however, backchecked hard and held them to one goal, despite numerous shots on the net.

CENTRAL BLANKED
The curtain game saw King Edward letting Central down to the tune of 10 to 0. The winners were much stronger and faster, and experienced little difficulty in going through. The Central boys never quit trying, checking their heads off, and Mintz in goal stopping some tough ones. Play was mostly in the losers' territory, the King Edward outfit sending four players down all through the game. They got four goals in the first, two in the second, and another quartet in the final frame. Play was exceptionally clean on the part of both teams.

Referee—G. Merrett.

CITY BEATEN IN ACKERMAN APPEAL

COURT DISMISSES APPEAL OF CITY ASSESS COSTS

Sir William Mulock Announces Decision of First Divisional Court.

REMOVE BRIDGE.

Judge Huycke Named as Referee to Fix the Amount of Damages.

TORONTO, Ont., February 9 (C.P. and Special Despatches). — Judgment given by Mr. Justice McEvoy in favor of the B. F. Ackerman Company in its action against the City of Peterborough, is sustained by the decision of the First Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall, Chief Justice Sir William Mulock announced to-day. The appeal of the city against Justice McEvoy's judgment is dismissed, with costs Sued for $15,000.

The B. F. Ackerman Co. sued the city of Peterborough for $15,000 for damages to its goods and property, alleged to have been caused by the flooding of its premises by the rising of waters of Jackson's Creek in March, 1928. The company attributed the flooding to alleged obstruction of the flow of the stream as the result of the construction of a bridge across the creek by the city in 1909 and by reason of a concrete-set pipe and square timber laid across the bed of the stream.

In 1909 a new bridge was erected by the city over Jackson's Creek, and later concrete piers were laid over the stream, which all helped to dam the water flow, plaintiffs claimed.

A few years ago, timber and earthwork near the new bridge, fell into the stream, further choking it. Floods, say the plaintiffs, resulted and damage to the plaintiffs' property was considerable.

Besides cash damages, the plaintiffs asked for an injunction restraining the city from damming the stream and a mandatory order requiring the city to remove obstacles in the creek.

While the defendants declared that the diversion of the creek interfered in no way with its flow; that the new bridge gave freer passage to the stream than the old and that the flooding of the plaintiffs' property was owing to conditions over which the city had no control. Mr. Justice McEvoy pinned responsibility on the city.

The Appeal Court upholds him, and Judge E. C. S. Huycke was named referee to fix damages. He will set these, and the city must pay Appeal Court costs.

The Dalhousie street bridge complained of was ordered either removed or repaired by Mr. Justice McEvoy. This order, too, is upheld. It must not impede the flow of the creek.

Mr. Justice Middleton, who wrote judgment, says there is no doubt but that the Dalhousie street bridge caused the flooding of plaintiff's land.

R. S. Robertson, K.C., appeared for the city, and D. L. McCarthy, K.C., for the plaintiffs.

SPANISH PEOPLE VISION NEW LIFE

King Alfonso Sets Date For First Parliamentary Elections Since 1923.

SUSPENDED BY RIVERA.

MADRID, Feb. 9 (A.P.)—Spain looked forward to-day to a new constitutional life, evolved by fully-elected representatives of the people, as for the first time since September 23, 1923, constitutional guarantees were restored and parliamentary elections called.

A decree, signed by King Alfonso, published in the official Gazette, set March 1 as the day for balloting on Deputies for the new Cortes, and March 15 as the day for balloting for Senators. The King himself will open Parliament March 25.

The decree also restored the old constitutional guarantees and lifted the press censorship, reinstituting among other things free speech and writing, freedom of lawful assembly and freedom of political and religious organization during the so-called election period.

The Spanish Constitution was suspended in 1923 with the advent of the Primo De Rivera dictatorship.

Tripoli will hold an international fair in March and April.

TEN WEARY MEN CLAMBER ASHORE OVER ICE FLOES

Last of Marooned Fishermen Finish 50 Hours of Battling For Lives.

LOCATED BY PLANES.

Seven Coastguards Trapped in Rescue Work Spend Chilly Night on Lake.

BUFFALO, N.Y., February 9 (C.P.). — Ten weary men walked ashore over the ice hummocks of Lake Erie to-day and wrote the last word in a tale of 50 hours of battling with cold, exposure, hunger, and imminent death on the drifting ice floes of a wind-swept lake.

Three of those men had spent the entire 50 hours on the ice, drifting helplessly at the mercy of the changing wind.

The other seven were coastguards trapped late last night by a sudden shift of ice as they sought to rescue the last three men on the distant ice floe.

Located by Planes.

The ten were located this morning by airplanes chartered by the coastguard and the Buffalo Evening News which dropped food and coffee to them and flew back to shore to guide rescuing parties to the marooned men.

Fifty-six fishermen in all were sent adrift on huge ice cakes early on Saturday when a blizzard swept down upon the lake out of the northeast, cracking off miles of floes from the main body of shore ice and whirling them out into the open water of the lake before a 50 miles an hour wind.

Seven coastguards who were trapped while attempting a rescue brought the total of those who were stranded on the ice floes at various times to sixty-three.

CLINIC RESULTS ARE EXPLAINED TO ROTARY CLUB

Crippled Children's Committee Gives Details of Work Accomplished.

A LIVE PROOF.

Club Sees Tangible Result of Activities on Behalf of Children.

Interesting details of the recent survey of crippled children and of the clinic which followed were given members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon to-day by Rotarian Dr. A. Moir and other members of the Crippled Children's Committee who were in charge of the program.

An interested guest was Dr. A. W. McPherson, under whose direction the local Rotary Club first began its work on behalf of crippled children and to whose great interest in the matter was due the success of the first clinic held some years ago.

Reporting for the Inter-City Committee, Rotarian Tom Dutton explained that in connection with the inter-city meeting at Oshawa on Feb. 17th, the Oshawa Club was anxious that Peterborough should send along a rink of curlers and a team of badminton players. Rotarian Dutton also announced that an inter-city meeting had been arranged with Lindsay for March 2, both clubs co-operating in the program for the occasion.

The meeting was turned over to the Crippled Children's Committee and Rotarian Dr. Moir expressed hearty thanks to all who had assisted in the survey and clinic, particularly the members of the committee, the school teachers and nurses, the insurance companies, the clergy, the letter carriers, and all others who had supplied information or helped in other ways. Altogether, the committee had through these sources, he said, been brought into touch with 52 children, and after investigation, some 24 of these had been brought before the clinic. Dr. Moir went over the cases that had been examined, gave interesting details of the nature of the trouble, and outlined the treatment that was being given and from which helpful results were anticipated. In one case in particular the objection of a father to having anything done for his crippled child was preventing treatment from being given. The speaker told of one case of paralysis following diphtheria in which it had been possible to effect a complete cure.

Rotarian R. M. Glover, who was in charge of publicity in regard to crippled children work, called attention to the objects of the Peterborough Relief Association, and urged co-operation. Rotarian R. J. Kidd explained the methods followed by the committee in securing the names of crippled children, and paid a tribute to Dr. Moir for the time he had given to the work, and Rotarian An-

Three Men Perish 80 Prize Horses Lost at Oakland

Bodies of Men Too Badly Burned to Be Identified—Additional Hostlers Were Sleeping in Structure and Additional Loss of Human Life is Feared.

ANIMALS BREAKING LOOSE TERRIFIED BY FIRE ARE SHOT DOWN GALLOPING OUT IN MASS OF FLAMES

Grooms and Firemen Save Few Favorites By Risking Lives in Blazing Building—One Stableman Succumbs to Smoke and is Found Dead Beside Body of $35,000 Horse —Suspect Fire Bug.

OAKLAND, Calif., February 9 (C.P.). — At least three men were burned to death and more than 80 prize horses were destroyed in a fire that swept the Oakland Horse Show early to-day.

Th bodies of the men were too badly burned to be identified at once. Several hostlers had been sleeping in the temporary structures housing the show, but whether there was additional loss of human life could not be determined.

Terrified horses kicked through their stalls, snorting and bellowing in agony as the flames licked at them. Some broke through and dashed outside, becoming galloping masses of flame as the fire caught their hair. Officers stood by and shot them to put them out of their misery.

Grooms and firemen dashed into the blazing structures to save their favorites and some of the animals were taken out safely.

Dies Saving Horse.

One of the dead, tentatively identified as Michael McCarthy, a stableman, lost his life in an attempt to save Carnation Lavendula, an animal valued by its owner, the Carnation Stables, at $35,000. The charred bodies of man and horse were found near the edge of the flaming ruins.

Officials of the exhibit said the loss in horses alone would exceed $400,000. They also asserted fire had been discovered in the show on the opening night, and that it had been quenched promptly. This first fire was said by show officials to have been of incendiary origin. Firemen this morning said they had detected the smell of gasoline.

PUMPER AND BUS COLLIDE, FIREMEN ANSWERING CALL

Lindsay Bus Badly Smashed on Saturday Night—Passengers Have Close Call.

OMEMEE MAN CUT.

Six Men on Pumper Were Thrown From Truck—Hydro Pole Smashed.

Proceeding west on McDonnel street in response to an alarm from Mount St. Joseph on Saturday evening the Peterborough Fire Department pumper was involved in collision with the Peterborough-Omemee-Lindsay bus. Both vehicles were extensively damaged, but by some miracle no personal injuries of any consequence were recorded among the dozen and more persons directly concerned in the smash. Both vehicles are insured.

The bus, owned by E. P. McClennan of Lindsay and driven by Howard H. Coppins of Lindsay, was on the outward jurney, having left the terminal point at 6.30 p.m. It was travelling north on Reid street and had the right of way over traffic on McDonnel street. There were from nine to eleven passengers on the bus, it is stated, and of these only one, Albert Carroll of Omemee, received slight cuts on his face and arms as a result of flying glass. He was given first aid by Fireman Bert Mason, driver of the pumper.

Thrown 15 Feet

Assistant Fire Chief George Smith, who was sitting next the driver on the truck, was thrown a distance of about fifteen feet, landing on the pavement on his hands and knees. He was uninjured, the other firemen, A. McDonald, W. Osborne, T. Hatley and G. Gimblett, Jr., had similar fortunate escapes from possible injuries.

Striking the bus on the rear right side, the fire truck skidded on across the interesection as the emergency brake was applied, and came to rest against a Hydro pole on the northwest corner of the crossing. The pole was snapped in two, while the force of the impace between the two vehicles swung the bus completely around so that it faced in the direction from which it had come. The rear right wheel of the bus was smashed, while the glass in two windows on the right side and the two rear windows was shattered. The rear panelling was also crumpled, by contact with the Hydro pole.

Damage to the fire pumper was wholly confined to the front of the vehicle, the radiator, headlights, fenders and chassis extension being considerably smashed. The engine was also displaced a little, and necessitated the truck being sent to the LeFrance Company repair depot at Toronto.

Minor Outbreak

The fire alarm was received at 6.39,

Earl of Bessboro Named Canada's Governor-General

Canada's New Governor-General Has Had Wide Experience in Parliament, in War Service and in Financial Affairs.—Member of the Ponsonby Family.

SERVED DURING THE WAR IN GALLIPOLI AND FRANCE MEMBER OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT FROM 1913-20

Is the Ninth Earl of Bessborough and Viscount Duncannon in Irish Peerage and Sits in the House of Lords as Baron Ponsonby.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 9.—(CP)—Announcement by Premier R. B. Bennett this morning of the appointment of the Earl of Bessborough as Governor-General of Canada was received with great satisfaction in the Capital today. The selection, particularly to those who know the Earl of Bessborough, is looked upon as a very happy choice. The new incumbent at Rideau Hall is of the Irish peerage and is married to Roberta De Neuflize, only daughter of Baron De Neuflize of Paris.

The Right Hon. The Earl of Bessborough has had a wide experience in Parliament, in war service and in financial affairs. He is a member of the Ponsonby family, long prominent in public life of Ireland and of the United Kingdom. He was born in 1880, and after attending Harrow and Cambridge was called to the bar (Inner Temple) in 1903.

After three years' service on the London county council, from 1907 to 1910, and a year in the 1910 Parliament as member for Cheltenham, he served during the war in Gallipoli and also on the staff in France. From 1913 to 1920 he sat in Parliament as member for Dover, resigning on his father's death in 1920, when he became ninth Earl of Bessborough, and Viscount Duncannon, in the Irish peerage. He sits in the House of Lords as Baron Ponsonby, in the peerage of the United Kingdom.

In 1921 the Earl of Bessborough became chairman of the San Paulo Railway, and in 1924 vice-chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(Canadian Press Cable.) — Vere Brabazon Ponsonby, C.M.G., the ninth Earl of Bessborough, is 50 years of age.

He is a former Conservative member of Parliament for Dover, leaving the House of Comomns 10 years ago.

The Earl of Bessborough served in the Gallipoli campaign, 1915, and in France from 1916 to 1918.

Held Old Title.

Canada's new Governor-General holds a title that goes back to the beginning of the 17th century, the family name deriving from John Ponsonby of Cumberland. He is also Viscount Duncannon and Baron Bessborough of Ireland and Baron Ponsonby of Sysenby.

He was a third-grade General Staff officer in 1915 and at the end of the war was a temporary major of the special staff. He holds the Russian Order of St. Anne, 3rd class; Legion of Honor; Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus of Italy; Order of the Redeemer of Greece, and the Order of Leopold II. of Belgium.

His wife was formerly Roberta, only daughter of the late Baron De Neuflize, of Paris. They were married in 1912 and have two children—Frederick Edward Neuflize, Viscount Duncannon, aged 17, and Myora Madeleine, 12 years of age. A third child was Desmond, born in 1915, who died in 1925.

INDIANS GIVEN FEDERAL RELIEF AT CURVE LAKE

Little Work is to be Had as Lumber Camps Idle This Winter.

ROAD WORK PROVIDED.

Truck Load of Flour Sent Out From Peterborough Few Days Ago.

Federal relief has recently been extended to the Indian Reserve at Curve Lake, where the pinch of unemployment has been felt as sharply as in other parts of the country. During the winter season many of the Indians usually depended upon the lumber industry for work in the woods, but the lumber companies are carrying on only light operations and some of them did not open any of their camps.

The Curve Lake men were cut off from lumbering employment, and they were also ineligible for the relief which was available generally in Burleigh Township. Winter trapping does not offer material help, and in these circumstances the Federal Department of the Interior which has charge of Indian affairs and is represented in Peterborough by V. M. Eastwood has provided road work on the 16th Concession, enabling the Indians to some small weekly earnings. One truck load of flour was sent out from Peterborough a few days ago, and the Curve Lake community is receiving the help it needed.

AUSTRALIAN GOV'T WILL BALANCE THEIR BUDGETS IN THREE YEARS

Lang's Drastic Plan Virtually Amounting to Debt Repudiation is Rejected.

TO STEM PRICE DROP.

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 9. — (C.B., via Reuter's).—After unhesitatingly rejecting a drastic plan, virtually amounting to debt repudiation, submitted by the extremist Premier, J. T. Lang, of New South Wales, the conference of Commonwealth and State Governments to-day adopted a resolution undertaking to balance all their budgets within three years.

If during the financial year the budget expectations fail to be realized, immediate steps will be taken to adjust the position by the State or Commonwealth Government concerned. An appropriate monetary policy for the promotion of production will be examined by the Commonwealth Bank Board and Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, to-morrow.

Improve Prices.

The conference further recommended that every effort be made to prevent a further fall in wholesale prices and the plan discussed by the treasurer and the bank should aim at effecting an improvement in these prices. After discussing these proposals with the Commonwealth Bank and representatives of the trading banks, Mr. Theodore will report back to the conference.

Premier Lang declared New South Wales would follow his policy irrespective of the action of the Commonwealth and other State Governments. It calls for abandonment of the pre-

CAR HITS MILKMAN—DIES IN HOSPITAL.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 9 (C.P.).—Roger Pelletier, 17, driver of a milk team, was found fatally injured on Notre Dame Street Saturday night, dying a few hours after being taken to hospital. Physicians said he had suffered a fractured skull and numerous other injuries, apparently having been struck by a motor car. His horse and milk-wagon were found near the injured driver.

Defender Of Verdun New French Air Chief

PARIS, Feb. 9.—(A.P.)— Marshal Petain, defender of Verdun during the Great War, to-day became official head of the aerial defense of all French territory under a decree signed by President Doumergue at a meeting of the Council of Ministers. The 75 year old veteran asked that he be relieved as Vice President of the Superior War Council and Inspector General of Armies so that he might have more time for the new assignment and the government reluctantly granted his request.

General Weygand, hitherto Chief of Staff and formerly the right hand man of Marshal Foch, succeeds Petain as Vice-President of the War Council.

HON. T. A. LAW IS DEAD

RENFREW, Ont., Feb. 9 (C.P.) — Hon. Thomas Andrew Low, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, died at 7.30 a.m., after a short illness. Hon. Mr. Low, who was first elected to the House of Commons in 1908, was taken into the Cabinet of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in 1921 and became head of the Department of Trade and Commerce in August, 1923. He held the post until 1925 when he was defeated at the general elections in October.

Suggest Egg Fight To Reduce Surplus

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—An egg-throwing contest has been proposed by the Exchange and Rotary Clubs of Turlock, Cal., to dispose of some of the surplus created by hens which never heard of a curtailment program. The proposal however, has an opponent.

George W. Lysaght, of San Francisco says the plan to use 100 cases of eggs for fights among the Turlock, Modesto and Merced Luncheon Clubs as a means of stabilizing the industry locally would be "mere waste."

He announced he would urge the Junior Chamber of Commerce here to ask that the extra eggs be given to the unemployed. The retail price of eggs in San Francisco ranges from 20 to 30 cents a dozen.

Part Of Council Quits Election Is Sought

CRANBROOK, B.C., February 9 (C.P.). — Cranbrook's City Council has been split in twain by a resolution presented by leading citizens asking the Council to reconsider its decision to police the city by Provincial officers. Considering the petition a censure by the citizens Mayor Roberts and three aldermen have resigned. With but three aldermen remaining in office, the Council has no quorum, and is unable to transact business.

An application will be made to the Provincial Government for an Order-in-Council declaring an election here.

JUDGE HUYCKE ACQUITS HENSON OF PERJURY IN CRIMINAL COURT

Trial Arose Out of County Court Action Heard on October 23.

11TH HOUR WITNESS.

Samuel Henson, contractor of Milton surrendering to bail at a special sitting of the County Judges Criminal Court here on Saturday, on a charge of perjury was acquitted by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, after a hearing lasting for some hours.

His Honor summing up in great detail carefully reviewed the whole of the evidence, and commenting on that of the three material Crown witnesses stated that while he did not think there had been wilful prevarication, he was of the opinion that there had been some confusion as to dates. "A remarkable story," was his comment on the evidence of F. D. Faulkner of Omemee, eleventh hour witness for the prosecution. Touching upon the evidence of David Clarke a Milton contractor, formerly subpoenad by the Crown, but who afterwards refuted his story, and became principal witness for the defence, His Honor said, "Clarke did a very good thing in going to the police at Toronto and explaining the mistake he had made."

Accused legally represented by J. A. McIntosh, K.C., of Toronto answered to the charge of perjury as the result of a statement which he made on oath at the hearing of a civil action at Peterborough County Court on October 23rd, last in which he was defendant, and Irwin and

Matthews' Appeal Likely This Week

The first direct move in the appeal against Judge O'Connor's nine months' sentence of ex-Constable Leonard Matthews on 11 counts of burglary was made on Saturday, when Matthews, who is confined in the County Gaol, was served with formal notice that the appeal was being made. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., told The Examiner to-day that all the evidence is ready to place before the Appeal Court. The appeal will be dealt with this week, he thought.

COMMUTING RULE MAY BE RELAXED

VISITORS PERMITS EASY.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 9.—Relaxation of the rigid anti-commuting rules enforced by the United States Immigration Service at Detroit during the last few months, is expected here shortly.

Justic Miller, Managing Secretary of the Border Cities Chamber of Commerce, who has been heading the fight to reinstate barred commuters, has received intimation the matter is being considered in Washington.

A. M. Doig, Assistant District Director of U S. Immigration at Detroit, has so far received no official word of any proposed easing up of the regulations. Hints receiving the immigration officers of pending changes he describes as "hearsay". Mr Doig's understanding is any changes which may be made will apply only to visits to Detroit and not to commuting to daily employment. It is reported Mr. Doig said, that Washington plans to make it comparatively easy for "deported commuters" to secure visitors' permits.

Second of Ottawa's Catholic Churches Burned

OTTAWA CHURCH IS RAZED BY FIRE DAMAGE $400000

$25,000 ALTAR LOST.

Second Large Catholic Church to be Destroyed in Capital Since December.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (C.P.).—One of the prominent marks in Ottawa's skyline was removed early yesterday morning when fire of unknown origin destroyed St. Jean Baptiste Church. Loss is estimated at $400,000, including a $25,000 gold altar entirely ruined. No one was injured.

The blaze was discovered shortly before 3 o'clock by priests who were at their devotions. In less than two hours the interior of the edifice had been swept by flames and only the walls remain. The sacred vessels were saved.

This is the second major loss to Catholic parishes of the city in six weeks. Two days after Christmas St. Joseph's Church was razed by fire, with a loss also in the neighbodhood of $400,000.

Standing for nearly fifty years on a promontory in the western part of Ottawa, St. Jean Baptiste Church stood out conspicuously on the skyline, and as the flames leaped upward fifty feet in the air the lurid glare was thrown over half the city.

Apparatus was rushed from several fire stations, and although firemen battled strenuously in subzero weather their task was hopeless from the outset. Fortunately a strong wind kept the flames from reaching the priests' residence, only a short distance away. Priests have already stated that plans for rebuilding the structure will go ahead at once.

FARMER TAKES HIS LIFE

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Feb. 7. (CP). Having brooded over the death of his sister, Francis, , who was knocked down and killed by a motor car six weeks ago, Timothy Hogan, a well-to-do farmer of Louth Township last night took his own life with a shot gun.

He was 58 years of age. A sister, Kathleen, with whom he resided hearing the shot rushed to his side to find a large portion of his face blown off. Another sister, Miss Clara resides at Guelph, and a brother Thomas, in Cleveland.

SEYMOUR HOME IS TOTAL LOSS

Residence of Gilbert Ketcheson is Completely Destroyed By Fire.

STRONG WIND BLOWING.

BURNBRAE, Feb. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—Starting from a defective chimney about 5.30 Saturday evening, fire completely destroyed the residence of Gilbert Ketcheson on the sixth concession of Seymour, just east of Burnbrae Church. A crowd of neighbors was soon on the scene, but the flames, fanned by a strong northeast wind, were beyond control, and after much effort most of the contents were removed without injury.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. Ketcheson on the loss of his home, especially at this season of the year.

Sir Anthony Hawkins Is 68 Years Old Today

LONDON, Feb. 9 (C.P.).—Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins is 68 to-day, and if his full name means little, thousands of Canadians will know Anthony Hope who wrote "The Prisoner of Zenda" and a score of other glittering romances.

The fire of youth lingers with Sir Anthony, but in recent years he has written no romantic novels. When, a few years ago he was asked if he intended to write more novels he smiled and said, "One hopes so but romances come easier when one is young."

Bread Prices Rise; Islands in Uproar

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 9 (A.P.)—Nearly 2,000 troops, sailors and police were speeded today toward Funchal, Madeira Islands, where serious rioting has occurred as a consequence of announcement of Government intentions to increase the price of bread.

Fifteen hundred troops set out for the Islands to-day, and yesterday the destroyer Gundinana left with others who will assist in preserving order.

An official decree has transferred jurisdiction of the Islands to the Azores, whose Governor, Colonel Silva Leal, embarked yesterday for Funchal to open an inquiry into rioting Friday.

SHIFTING WIND HOLDS 10 MEN IN DRIFTING ICE

Coast Guards Manage to Rescue 17 of Marooned Fishermen.

LAST BOAT LOAD CAUGHT.

Two Extra Boats With Mortar Sent to Aid—Some Anxiety Felt.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 9. (CP)—Seven members of the Coast Guard and three of the twenty fishermen they set out to rescue from an ice floe in Lake Erie on Sunday, were trapped in the treacherous, shifting ice, three miles off shore early today.

Seventeen of the fishermen, set adrift when a huge sheet of ice broke away from shore Saturday afternoon, had been safely brought to shore. The last boatload was slowly making its way through constantly changing channels when the whole ice mass suddenly shifted off shore and they were adrift again.

Anxiety Felt

While Coast Guard officials expressed belief that the ten men would be brought to shore within a few hours, it was apparent that there was anxiety for their safety.

A party of ten coast guardsmen equipped with two boats and a mortar was dispatched to a new base at Woodlawn, off which point the Coast Guard boat was imprisoned. One attempt was made to shoot a line from the mortar to the boat but a new channel had opened up and the line fell into clear water several hundred feet short of its mark.

The seven coast guardsmen in the trapped boat were Merritt B Richards, chief boatswain's mate; Walter B. Bittner, boatswain's mate, first class; Glenn Jennings, motor ma-

TWINS ARE BORN INSIDE PRISON

Many Protests Raised in England Because Mother Was Not Released.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE.

LONDON, February 9 (C.P.). — An unmarried mother of four ,who was sentenced to hang for having murdered the fourth baby, has given birth to twins in the hospital of Holloway Prison.

After widespread appeals that clemency be granted, Right Hon. John R. Clynes, Home Secretary, recently commuted the woman's sentence to life imprisonment, but he would not listen to pleas that she be allowed to undergo confinement outside the prison so that the child would be born without the stigma of prison birth..

The woman is Mrs. Olive Catherine Wise, who once was married and bore three children legitimately to her husband. They were separated and she bore a fourth child to another man.

He deserted her and she attempted desperately to feed the four hungry mouths. She even chopped wood and hawked it through the streets, but finally she gave up the struggle, placed the baby in the oven, and turned on the gas.

British law takes no cognizance of exceptional circumstances on temporary insanity in murder cases and she was condemned to hang. A storm of public indignation followed and then sentence was commuted. It is expected that birth of the twins which occurred in jail, will further call her case to the public attention

Speed Naval Building Is Warning To France

PARIS, Feb. 9 (C.P.). — Warning that France must speed up naval construction if she wishes to save her superiority over Germany and not be outstripped by Italy was sounded today in Echoe de Paris and Journal, two organs which often reflect responsible viewpoints.

Pertinax, veteran commentator of Echoe de Paris, complained of the heavy delay in replacement of old units, saying that since 1926 Italian shipyards had been busy. "Little by little," he said, "if we don't take care our superiority of 240,000 tons will consist only of heavy scrap iron."

REDS ARE BLAMED.

Outside Organization Was Attempting to Incite Men Out of Work.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 9.—Reds are blamed for a death-threat letter which has been received by Harry Wray, President of the London Branch of the Canadian Legion, and Superintendent of the Government Employment Bureau here. The letter, which did not pass through the mails, but was stuffed under the door of the employment office, on Carling street, during the night, told Superintendent Wray that he and his wife and children will be killed. It has been given to the city police. Written in good hand it occasionally shows an attempt at disguise, but may have been the work of a foreigner.

The Superintendent believes that the letter was incited by the fact that last week he discovered that outside organizations were attempting to incite the idle men standing around the employment office to "direce action." The agitators, who are said to have come to London from Port Arthur, were urging the men to break into "the stores of the capitalists" and help themselves to the goods. A pamphlet, alleged to have been circulated by the visitors, also came into his hands. It was mimeographed and gave what purported to be directions for the carrying out of such raids. It stated that such organizations have been formed in Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Montreal and Toronto, and that the work is now being carried on in London.

As a means of combating the alleged Communist propaganda, Superintendent Wray arranged with local theatres for matinees during the week to which the unemployed were admitted free, and in the six days he marched a total of 1,500 to the playhouses, where they were warm and comfortable and not subject to the influence of the agitators.

More than $15,000,000 worth of American automobiles were received into Canada last year.

Machinery Favored Over Hand Labor

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 9. — The Montreal Council of the Labor Party of Canada, went on record Saturday as being in favor of the use of labor-saving machinery as against hand labor. A resolution along the lines of abolishing machinery to a degree in the interests of increasing the openings for unemployed on city work, was defeated by a large majority in the City Council, Friday.

HORNEPAYNE FIRE RAZES 5 STORES, $80,000 DAMAGE

STARTED IN BAKERY.

Volunteer Fighters Fought For Hours in Attempt to Check the Flames.

HORNEPAYNE, Feb. 9 (C.P.).—Five business houses were burned to the ground and two others badly damaged in a fire which broke out here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and which raged for some hours before being brought under control. Total loss is estimated at more than $80,000, with little insurance. Hornepayne is a Canadian National Railways divisional point 316 miles north-west of Sudbury.

Townsfolk were aroused from their slumbers by shrill blasts from locomotive whistles and from the C.N.R. shops. They awoke to find half a business block in flames. The alarm was first given by J. McEwan, a C.N.R. inspector in the Hornepayne yards. The path of the fire cut through F. Menzies' butcher and bake shop, the New Ontario Cafe, C. Barnes' billiard parlor, A. McNeil's millinary shop, J. Leggatt's poolroom, and the comparatively new store of H. T. Cockburn. T. Palmer's

PRINCE IS BARBER FOR ANCIENT RITE ON BOARD SHIP

Takes Great Pleasure in Shaving His Brother at Crossing of Equator.

WEARS WEIRD COSTUME.

Whole Court, Including King Neptune and Royal Barber End Up in Pool.

S.S. OROPESA, Feb. 9 (A.P.)—The Prince of Wales had a great time this morning playing the role of barber in shipboard festivities attendant upon crossing the equator, as the Oropesa plowed southward en route from Balboa to Talara, Peru.

King Neptune, ruler of all the oceans, had radioed: "To our Royal Brothers, S.S. Oropesa, Will board you in first dog watch. Have all initiates ready."

He duly arrived at the ship's swimming pool and presided over the ceremonies, ably aided by his queen, who carried a gorgeous bouquet of cabbages and other vegetables.

Wields Great Razor

The Prince of Wales was the barber, entitled "Scrape Jem," and wearing a striped red and blue bathing suit with blue shorts and a yellow and green bathing cap. He wielded an anormous wooden razor and was assisted by his equerry, Major J. R. Aird, as the baber's mate, "Soap 'em." He wore a monkey jacket and shorts.

The Prince had the evident intense satisfaction of shaving his brother, Prince George, and Viscount Ednam, neither of whom ever before had crossed the imaginary line at the earth's girth.

"Policemen" brought Prince George, the first victim, struggling violently to King Neptune, who accused him in loud tones of all kinds of disorderly conduct. Then, grinning with delight, the Prince of Wales, amid roars of laughter and cheers, helped force his brother into the ducking pool.

Doctors tried to force pills and liquid medicine down the victim's throat and the barber's mate lathered him vigorously. Then the Prince of Wales plied his razor, and seizing him by the heels, toppled him into the water, where he ducked him mercilessly.

Prince George emerged smiling and watched Viscount Ednam and twenty other males undergo the same treatment. The women were spared, but the proceedings closed in time-honored fashion with the immersion of the entire Court, including King Neptune and the barber.

The Prince of Wales later said that it was the most enjoyable of many celebrations of the kind in which he had participated.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MARMORA

The scholars of Mr. Prentice's class at the Public School held an enjoyable sleigh party to Deloro on Friday evening.

DOROTHY DIX says

"Wives... keep Charming at the Breakfast Table!"

Advice to Women of PETERBOROUGH

IT is after you have settled down to the everyday business of being a wife that the real test of your allure and your ingenuity comes.

It begins at the breakfast table. Somewhere in HIS heart is built a romantic image against which he is constantly comparing the real you who are sitting opposite. You are very lovely in his picture of you . . . dainty, COLOURFUL.

And as long as you . . . the real you . . . come fairly close to that romantic image, your home is safe, your happiness secure.

MEN LOVE COLOUR

So I say . . . Keep charming at the breakfast table.

I need not say dainty, for you will be that, but, girls, do take pains to choose colourful, gay frocks for your home wear—for remember, men love colour.

And then—just as important—keep them unfaded, charming as new, for with the loss of vibrant colour, there is a corresponding loss in the lovely charm that the dress brings.

You may say—"But how can I do this when these frocks must be washed time after time? Washing takes away colour-charm, sooner or later leaves them faded, drab-looking."

To this I reply that it is true that just ordinary "good" soaps do take out some of the colour along with the dirt. But this will never be the case if you wash them always in Lux.

Lux is made especially to keep delicate colours vibrantly alive, to preserve the soft, dainty texture of sheer fabrics. Any colour or fabric safe in water alone is just as safe in Lux.

KEEP YOUR HOME CHARMING, TOO

It is important, too, that your home should always seem dainty and charming to your husband.

Keep the glamour of fresh lovely colour not only in your clothes, but in everything about the house . . . the dainty curtains in your "breakfast nook," pretty table linens, cushions and draperies in your living room. Here, too, Lux is invaluable in retaining colour charm to the full. DOROTHY DIX.

"THE REAL TEST of your allure—and ingenuity—comes after the honeymoon. Look your charming best even at the breakfast table, so that 'his' picture of you is always colourful and lovely".

If it's safe in water, it's safe in

FASHION SERVICE

2968

This one's charming in a "guardsman" blue and white thin woolen plaid. And incidentally plaids are tremendously chic. The upper part of the bodice, jacket facing and trim are in plain woolen in matching blue shade.

The plaited skirt with its curved out line that starts at either side of the front panel, gives that flat slimness over the hips so modish.

Style No. 2968 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36 38 40 and 42 inches bust.

Plain and printed flat crepe silk wool jersey and the dress of flat crepe with velveteen jacket are smart.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

Price of book 15 cents or 10c when ordered with a pattern.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

MANY IN PETERBOROUGH and especially the children, are eagerly looking forward to St. Valentine's Day which comes on Saturday this year.

• • • • • • •

I suppose there will be a large number of parties given this week and everyone is looking for some new suggestions, both for games and refreshments.

• • • • • • •

You might try a High Hat Party which I am told is lots of fun. Tag each person who comes to the party with a silhouette of a high hat.

• • • • • • •

On each of these should be written the name of some one who you know will be present and then put the girls' names in one and the boys' names in another hat.

• • • • • • •

The hostess picks one at random from the girls' hat to give to each boy as he comes and from the boys' hat the girls' names are picked.

• • • • • • •

If you are giving a party for grown-ups, you might write on the girls' hats, "supper partner" and on the boys', "dance partner". The boy finds the girl for the first dance and when refreshments are served, the girl finds the boy whose name is on her hat, for suppertime.

• • • • • • •

I am told that Abraham Lincoln's birthday is also celebrated this week and I suppose you might play this game at your Valentine Party.

• • • • • • •

For this game the hostess should have written clearly the name ABRAHAM LINCOLN on as many high hats of white paper as there are persons in the company.

• • • • • • •

From the letters in Lincoln's name, answers to the following are to be written on the hats:

• • • • • • •

A member of a nomad tribe; a cereal; what we are reputed to think with; two girls names; two boys names; a deadly reptile; to ascend; an animal with horns; moisture in drops; a shell fish (bivalve); a shell fish that walks sideways; one name for an automobile; the entire company; one kind of currency; the god of the Mohammedans; a negative; part of the head; the best way to cook a steak; a personal pronoun; an abbreviation of a military rank; a holy picture in the Greek Church.

• • • • • • •

Answers to this contest will appear in this column tomorrow so be sure you don't miss them.

• • • • • • •

Refreshments can be served in high hats. Use corrugated paper cups the size of ramekins and for each make an outside cover of black paper, rolled and pasted to it. Cut a circular piece for the brim and slash the inner edge. Turn it back and paste to the paper cup before putting the outside cover on.

• • • • • • •

And such containers then may be filled with refreshments. You might served creamed chicken with slivers of green sweet pepper in it and topped with parsley, or slivers of red pimento.

• • • • • • •

Make the sandwiches in appropriate shapes and you might also serve salted nuts or bonbons and rich cookies.

The tea table was prettily decorated in pink and white. Among those present were Helen Zealand of Port Hope, Enid Hancock, Jean Hancock, Clara Saunders, Evelyn Young, Lulu Young, Isabel Young, Barbara Ferguson, Shirley Nicholls, Eleanor Nicholls, Lenore Nicholls, Margaret Ackison, Jack Ferguson, Reggie Ferguson, Donald Ackison, Billie Ackison, Frank Ackison and Calvin Nicholls.

• • •

Mr. John J. Young of 380 Queen street celebrates a birthday anniversary to-day.

• • •

The program of music given by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, soprano, of Peterborough, at the Hellconian Club on Saturday, delighted the large gathering of members and their friends who were present. Miss Agnes Best accompanied the singer at the piano. The hostesses for the afternoon were Miss Muriel Stark, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Winnifred MacMillan and Miss Kathleen Irwin. The tea table was centred with a silver basket of Spring flowers and pink candles in silver holders, and Mrs. Leo Smith, with Miss Estelle Orton presided. Those assisting were Miss Nellye Gill, Miss Lillian Snarling, Miss Kathleen Wallis and Miss Florence Richardson. Among the guests were Miss Nella Jeffries, Mrs. Roger Priestman, Miss Elfrida Boulton, Miss Beatrice Prest, Miss Ella Smith, Miss Muriel Gladman, Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. E. A. Gill, Mrs. G. H. Callow, Miss Elizabeth Callow, Mrs. R. A. L. Gray, Miss Ethel Lawrie, Mrs. George E. Nyberg, Mrs. E. G. Stephenson, Mrs. J. A. Roberts, Mrs. Guy Hume, Mrs. C. D. Fairweather, Mr. Davis McCarthy, Mrs. W. Schoeni, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whitehead, Miss Enid Gray, Mrs. C. W. Irwin, Mrs. Horace Corner, Miss Frieda Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. S. D. Brush, Miss Olive Brush, Miss Minerva Perry, Mrs. E. Horne Craigie, Miss Jessie Allen, Mrs. T. Dickenson, Mrs. George Harcourt, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Vanderhoef, Miss Edith Turnbull, Mrs. Risdon, Miss Louise Risdon, Miss Jean Agar, Miss Florence Booth, Mrs. Atkin, Miss Atkin, Mrs. H. J. Baker. —(Mail and Empire).

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PASTEURIZING MILK AT HOME

It seems but a few years ago that mothers of young babies or very small children dreaded the summer or hot weather, blaming the heat for the large number of deaths of young children which occured during the summer.

As a matter of fact it was not the hot weather of itself, but the fact that milk was not as safe in the summer, that was responsible for so much diarrhoea, colic, or summer complaint.

The safe pasteurized milk now sold in large cities is sometimes expensive and sometimes not even obtainable, and yet only clean milk is safe milk, milk that is free from the organisms that cause irritation of stomach and intestine.

Consequently to be able to get clean, safe, pasteurized milk in the home whenever it is needed is worth much to mothers.

Therefore the method of Dr. Lloyd Arnold, University of Illinois, whereby mothers can themselves pasteurize milk for the baby is worth knowing. He says "If it is desired to cool the milk, we have determined that one quart mason jar, filled with milk at 145° F., and placed in a large pan of water, can be cooled in thirty minutes.

For the pasteurization of milk the following is recommended. (1) Quart vacuum bottle, (2) Two-quart enamel pan, (3) Thermometer with rubber protector over it and between 100-200° F., (4) Rubber stopper

The method is as follows:

(1) Boil a pan of water.

(2) Scrub vacuum bottle, thermometer and rubber stopper with kitchen cleanser—scrub well.

(3) Fill bottle with hot water. Fill it carefully so it will not break, and then put the rubber stopper in the neck.

(4) Do not touch the end of rubber stopper that goes into the neck of the bottle, with your fingers.

(5) Leave the hot water in the bottle for thirty minutes.

(6) Now heat the milk to 145° F., and use the clean thermometer for stirring.

(7) When the milk is heated to 145° F., pour out the water and fill the bottle with the hot milk. Do this quickly.

(8) When the milk has been kept in the bottle for one hour, it is safe for drinking. It can be kept in the bottle for eight hours and still be sweet.

Why do I quote this method so fully? Because like other physicians I have seen the terrible effects of unpasteurized milk, the intense suffering of little children, and the loss of many of young lives.

An investment of three dollars for the equipment above mentioned may save the life of a loved one.

COULD YOU AT 30 RUN AS FAST AND AS FAR

Not many men at 30 to-day, especially city men, can run five miles straight away, in any time. Yet on January 30th, 1930, Dr. Robt. G. Jackson, at 72, did this in forty-seven minutes, before 6 a.m. It's only a matter of keeping the blood normally alkaline, or non-acid, which he does by eating alkaline Roman Meal, the only alkaline-forming grain food, because the only food containing flax-o-lin. Because of a diseased heart twenty-two years ago, Dr. Jackson was given only four months to live. Now he can suspend his body between two chairs resting on heels and head, with 180 pounds on his abdomen—a great feat at any age, but at 72, marvellous! Write for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofy-sub, the new alkaline beverage to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 502 Vine Ave., Toronto 8, Ont.

Mr. J. N. West and Elliott West will be guests of honor at the complimentary dinner given to 86 Ontario cheesemakers in the Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The guests will be cheesemakers who were awarded 100% first grade cheese in 1930.

Former Sterling Man Hurt.

Earl Tice (who recently moved from Sterling), met with a serious accident Thursday morning, while motoring near the pump house in Belleville.

His car was struck by the train, dragged 100 feet and thrown into the ditch, a crumpled mass of steel. The train stopped and the crew rendered every possible assistance.

The ambulance was called and Earl Tice was rushed to the hospital.

St. Valentine's Day

Charles Lamb the English essayist, once wrote: "This is the day on which those charming little missives called Valentines cross and intercross each other at every street turning. The weary and all but spent two penny postman sinks beneath a load of delicate embarrassments, not his own."

The same statement is as true today as when it was written those many years ago, and just so true as it was many, many years before that, so true will it be in many, many years to come.

There are many explanations given for the celebration of this day, and I am going to tell you one of them that very recently came to my ears. Valentine was a humble bishop of Rome, who achieved sainthood by being beaten to death on February 14th, in the year 278 A.D. To all appearances his career had been staid and unromantic, yet he became the Godfather of the most sentimental of English holidays. To find out how this came about we must go back to the days of pagan Rome. There, at the annual feast in honor of Pan and Juno Februata it was customary for each Roman youth to draw from a receptacle the names of one of his city's maidens, who thereupon became his sweetheart. When Christianity overwhelmed paganism the Church introduced a change in the celebration of this popular festival; the name which was drawn by both youths and maidens was not that of a fellow-being to be admired, but that of a saint who was to become the special object of worship during the ensuing year. The old date of the Roman festival remained, but under the Christian modifications the drawing of the patron saints came to be associated with St. Valentine for it was on the date of his martyrdom, February 14th, that the choice was determined. Later the names of women were again substituted for saints, and love missives became the by-word of the day.

There is another explanation given for St. Valentine's Day. It was said that on February 14th the birds first chose their mates. An old English dictionary has this statement: "About this time (month of February) the birds choose their mates, and probably thence came the custom of young men and women choosing Valentines or special loving friends on this day."

The first Valentine sent were written by the sender to the object of his affections, now it so happened that some young men were not so facile with the pen as were others, and these went to their neighbors and asked that the love messages be written for them. This led to the printing of love verses which could be bought by thpse not clever enough to compose their own Valentines. Gradually the love verses came to be accompanied by pictures emblematic of love and friendship and these in time came to be more important than the verses beneath them.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S EVENING PAPER

When the Furry Fox popped into his den one afternoon his wife asked him:

"When did you get the new white mittens?"

"Mittens!" growled the Fox. "These aren't mittens."

"Aren't they?" asked his wife, sort of surprised like as she looked at the pot of water to see if it were boiling. But she thought, what is the use of boiling water if there is nothing to cook in it. And, as far as she could see, her Fox husband had brought home nothing to eat or to put in the pot.

"No, these aren't mittens," the Fox said, shaking his paws.

"What are they?" his wife wanted to know, curious, like most ladies.

"They are snowballs," growled the Fox, again shaking his paws, and the snow dropped to the floor of his den and began to melt.

"Oh, how funny to come home wearing snowballs for mittens!" crooned Mrs. Fox.

"Funny!" howled her husband. "I guess you wouldn't call it funny if you had to stick your paws in snowballs."

"Who made you do it?" asked Mrs. Fox.

"Uncle Wiggily!" replied Mr. Fox.

"Why the idea of him doing such a thing like that! Did you do it just because he asked you? Sort of silly, I call it!"

"You wouldn't have called it silly if you had been there!" snarled the Fox. "And Uncle Wiggily didn't really asked me to do it."

"Then why did you?" asked his wife. "You are funny!"

"It was like this," explained the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily and that fat pig friend of his were playing ball, I thought."

"And I suppose you asked them to let you play and they did," spoke Mrs. Fox. "But I still don't see why you stuck your paws in the snow—"

"Because I got burned—that's why!" howled the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily and Twistytail were tossing a hot jar of boiled carrots to and fro. I thought it was a ball and I joined in the fun and I burned my paws and I was put out."

"Put out of where?" asked Mrs. Fox.

Out of the den of Mr. Whitewash, the Polar Bear to whom Uncle Wiggily was taking the hot carrot to cure a cold," the Fox said. "I was put out and I burned my paws and I had to put snowballs on for mittens. But I'll fix him for it!"

"Fix who," asked Mrs. Fox, not caring how she spoke.

"Uncle Wiggily!" snarled her husband. "You see they kept tossing the hot carrot back and forth and they didn't hold it long enough to get burned. But I did. Now I am going to play a trick on Mr. Longears and catch him and then we'll have something for supper."

"How are you going to catch him?" asked the Fox lady, who, truth to tell was quite hungry after asking so many questions.

"I am going to hide in the evening paper and catch Uncle Wiggily that way," the Fox said.

"Nonsense! You can't hide in the evening paper!" laughed the lady Fox. "Your tail would stick out or something like that. Besides, where are you going to get an evening paper to hide in? We don't take any. You are never home long enough to read it—always chasing out and trying to catch Uncle Wiggily."

"I will catch him this time—you wait and see!" howled the Fox, for he could do as he pleased in his den and he never was very polite, anyhow. "Just you wait, Mrs. Fox!" he said.

"But you might as well be sensible about it, and not shout so—I'm not deaf!" spoke Mrs. Fox. "Where will you get an evening paper?"

"Listen!" whispered the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily has an evening paper left on the front stoop of his bungalow every night. There's a bedtime story in the paper about him, and that old rabbit is just silly enough to want to read it to see what it says. Sometimes his picture is in the paper. I know what I'm talking about."

"Perhaps you do," said his wife. "Go on—tell me—I'm interested."

Mr. Fox looked shyly at his wife to see if she might be making fun of him, but she never smiled and he said:

"I'm going to sneak up to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, hide in the dark near the evening paper and when he comes out to get it I'll grab him and bring him here to you. How is that?"

"Well, it might be done," said Mrs. Fox lady. "Good luck to you!" she added as the Fox started out of his den to go to the bungalow and hide near Uncle Wiggily's evening paper.

MONTHLY MEETING OF TRINITY W.M.S

Society Meets at Home of Mrs. Dafoe—Interesting Program.

On Thursday, February 5, the W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. W. Dafoe. The hymn, "Take time to be holy," prayer led by Mrs. A. Thompson, Scripture lesson from Ephesians 6, and the hymn, "Sound the battlery," which was followed by the devotional leaflet, "Lead us not into temptation," read by Mrs. Budbrook, formed the devotional period led by Mrs. Fair. The president, Mrs. S. S. Ashley, then took charge of the business. Twenty members responded to the roll call, the Scripture texts used being on "Courage." After some discussion it was decided to hold a social evening later in the month for which the president kindly offered the use of her home. Some splendid thoughts on tithing were then given by Mrs. M. Maybee. Mrs. Rutherford took charge of the program and called for the item of special interest—the report of the Presbyterial recently held at Picton given by the delegate, Mrs. Dafoe. This was a concise report, some practical thought being given to the various department secretaries and also a splendid account of the address of Miss Jamieson, the guest speaker at the convention. A hearty vote of appreciation was tendered Mrs. Dafoe for her excellent report. An appropriate duet, "Share your blessings" was rendered by Mesdames Hulin and Ashley, and appreciated. The fifth chapter of the study book entitled "Current Thoughts on Christian Schools" was taken by Mesdames Rutherford, Bristol, Huffman, Irwin, and Wellman. After closing with the Mizpah benediction a social half-hour was enjoyed, Mrs. A. Kincaid and Mrs. Rivers being assistant hostesses.

Rob you of some Precious things in Life

TO wake up happy is great. To feel "just right" is worth while. To glory in that up-and-coming urge that flows through bodies tingling with health's red glow—surely these are among Life's most precious things.

But, to you, they'll surely be barred if you neglect constipation, and especially through eating the wrong kind of breakfast. Fuss, aim to thoroughly eliminate waste matter daily by eating more roughage. Make this test for two weeks: eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning. With milk or cream as a cereal. Or with berries or fruits, as you please.

Results will astound you. These delicously crisp, golden, toasted flakes are a revelation in flavour. They'll help to tone up your system—enrich the blood—make morning wake-time welcome. Every day regularly, eat Post's Bran Flakes for health and enjoyment. Made in Canada.

now you'll like BRAN

Ordinary cases of constipation accompanied with too little bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal, consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1931

AN S.O.S. CALL TO PETERBOROUGH.

The appeal of the Peterborough Relief Association for assistance from full-time employees and other citizens who are in a position to help take care of the families who are suffering from unemployment will not, The Examiner is confident, fall upon deaf ears.

Peterborough has never failed to measure up to the standard when a genuine call for assistance has been sent out, and nobody can have any doubt of the urgency of the present appeal or of the merit of the cause for which aid is requested.

The present conditions are abnormal; they affect scores of families who have never known want before; they present a situation that the machinery devised for ordinary relief work is not able to cope with.

That is why local social service organizations have decided to co-operate through a central relief organization, and why public-spirited citizens are giving their services to directing and planning a systematic effort to deal efficiently, effectively and economically with the problem.

There are fortunately many people whose income has not been reduced by the period of depression, and it is confidently expected that they in a spirit of gratitude for their own good luck and of sympathy for others who have been less kindly dealt with will be glad to extend a helping hand by contributing to the funds of the Relief Association.

A SURPRISING DEVELOPMENT.

It is a rather surprising development that the Toronto District Labor Council should unanimously pass a resolution demanding the resignation of Chief Constable Draper.

Organized labor in Toronto has been so firm in its opposition to Communism that the Labor Council was not expected to lend itself to the campaign against General Draper, a campaign that is obviously helping the Reds' cause whether or not it was designed to do so.

The general impression outside of Toronto in regard to the chief constable is that under his administration the Toronto police department has improved in morale and in efficiency, and is, as The Examiner pointed out some time ago, a law enforcement unit such as any city on the Continent would be proud of at all times.

It is impossible to work up any sympathy for Red agitators, and accusations by labor leaders that the Police Commission of Toronto is defending the capitalist class against the civil rights of the people have very little force when it is realized they are based on the firm stand which the Toronto authorities have taken against Communism.

"The civil rights of the people" are as a matter of fact being protected when the Police Commission battles against Communism, and organized labor, which on its own account has always turned a cold shoulder to Red propaganda, should be the first to recognize that fact.

If labor refuses to let Communists spread their doctrine within the ranks of the unions, why should it object to the Reds being barred from spreading their doctrine to the general public?

A RADIO COMPLICATION.

The point raised by the Quebec Government that Provincial administrations should have control over radio and the right to license broadcasting stations and receiving sets is one of great interest to the whole country.

The Quebec contention is that the Federal Government has no jurisdiction in these matters, and that "legislative rights in regard to the control and regulation of radio belong to the Legislatures in virtue of the British North America Act," and the courts are to be asked for a ruling, Premier Taschereau expressing his determination to carry the matter to the Privy Council if the verdict of Canadian courts is against his views.

The question should be settled as soon as possible as it is of paramount importance.

If Quebec is right and the Provinces are given authority to deal with radio, it is easy to picture the confusion that would be likely to arise unless the Provinces came together and decided upon a common policy.

In the meantime, the stand taken by Premier Taschereau is almost certain to delay any federal action as to a change in the present radio policy; certainly it would be folly for the Dominion Government to contemplate the launching out of a national radio system while there is grave doubt as to its jurisdiction in the matter.

The sooner the issue gets before the Privy Council the better; there would be nothing but confusion until the situation is cleared.

BETTER MARKETING FACILITIES.

The formation of a provincial marketing board to aid the farmers of the Province in selling their products has been announced by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture.

Farmers would be advised by such a board, the Minister explained, as when and how to market their various commodities, and the board would send agents to various parts of Canada to keep in touch with the situation in the localities in which they were stationed so as to be in a position to inform the farmers as to the needs of their district at any particular time.

The service would also be extended so that representatives of the marketing board in Great Britain could send first-hand reports as to the best time for the disposal of the exportable surplus of Ontario farm products.

There does not seem much doubt that there is room for improvement in the existing methods of selling the products of Ontario farms, and that the farmers have suffered as a result.

The new plan would seem to offer manifold advantages for accurate information as to market conditions throughout Canada and in the British Isles, and would prevent the markets at any particular point from being overflooded and should lead to better prices and larger sales.

The farmers themselves, of course, will have to do their part by being careful as to the quality of their product and insistent upon it reaching the market in the best possible condition.

CIVILIZATION IS A GREAT THING.

Of course, we are a civilized people. We are ready to admit that without argument. From childhood we have been taught that we are more civilized now than ever before; instruction has taught us to regard with pity people who roam around in primitive ways, and often we have been grieved to think they are not filled up with civilization like we are.

How is this boasted civilization working out? If it is as good as we have been taught to believe then it should be producing some excellent results.

To-day we have elevators stuck all over the country, out on the prairie lands and at lake ports, and they are bulging with grain. They really can't bulge much more without breaking open.

Banks report that there are plenty of deposits; there really seems to be no scarcity of money, and it is a fact that there is as much of it in existence as there ever has been. It has not been destroyed or hidden down a well.

Then we have enormous quantites of eggs stored away; more eggs being shipped in from outside points and more eggs being produced locally.

Stores, warehouses and factories are filled with boots and shoes. There is no scarcity of things to wear. We can see every day where merchants state they must reduce their stocks.

There seems to be plenty of produce, and so our civilization must be a fairly good thing, but—

There are more people out of work, more people in bread lines the world over to-day than at any other time in the memory of this generation.

But, of course, we must adhere to our belief that our civilization is really a great thing, although it's a mighty hard thing to prove it to the man with an empty stomach.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

RECOVERY COMING.

It is not exactly fair.

The business optimists, as compared with the pessimists always have the cards stacked—or the dice loaded, if you prefer—in their favor, because of the continuous growth of the country, so the Business Week points out. The idea is much like that advanced by Prof. Irving Fisher in regard to the stock market.

The thought occurs to a number of people as they look ahead. For instance, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, is quoted in the New York Herald-Tribune as saying:

> The one inescapable fact of our experience is that whenever and whatever the occasion of an industrial crisis, the country has come out at least one step ahead—always with higher standards of living, higher wages and a new industrial prosperity.

Similarly, President Frederick H. Ecker of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company makes the emphatic declaration in the New York Sun that there has never been a business depression—and he has seen four big ones—from which "this country, hasn't emerged to go on to greater industrial and commercial cacomplishments than ever before."

"The continuous increase of the elements underlying the purchasing power and business activity of this country," are pictured by the Business Week in a chart. The New York weekly comments:

> There are interruptions in this progress; the rate of growth may be gradually and insensibly tapering off; but obviously the dice are loaded in favor of any one who believes that, after every interruption larger business, greater prosperity and better times are ahead. Despite ups and downs, business has been growing at an average rate of 7 per cent. per year over the past fifty years.

Always there have been recessions in business, observes the Manufacturers' Record in like vein, yet as each depression has run its course we have seen the nation's wealth and production mount steadily to higher levels. And we read in the Baltimore weekly:

> We need only to refer to the census-year 1910 and make a few comparisons with later years to get a true picture of the nation's progress.
>
> When the 1910 figures were compiled, the nation and the world were impressed by their magnitude.
>
> Measured by the country's assets to-day and the volume of productivity, the values of 1910 seem almost trifling.
>
> In twenty years, while our population increased by one-third, our wealth about doubled, and the output value of our factories and mines nearly trebled the figures of twenty years ago. Farm products values nearly doubled; our bank resources and deposits are more than three times as great; saving deposits four times as much; life insurance more than six times, and exports and imports about three times as great as the values reported in 1910.
>
> We are exporting only about 6 per cent. of our combined productive values of manufacturing, mining and agriculture.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Well, the tumult and the shouting will die this week both in West Hamilton and in Grenville.

The problem of finding seats in the Ontario House for Cabinet Ministers will be simplified this session, a contemporary points out, because the Premier, the Minister of Highways and the Minister of Education will all occupy one chair.

Toronto City Council has already slashed $1,164,440 off this year's estimates, which looks like a real gesture in the direction of economy.

Sir Robert Borden says that since his retirement after 26 years of public life he never has had the slightest desire or inclination to return to it. And no one doubts that statement.

Big league ball players have begun to head South, and the small boy is playing marbles. Spring can't be very far away.

And just when we get rid of the by-elections along comes a session of the Ontario Legislature.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

Her heart almost stopped beating, but she smiled at him. "We found—a furnished apartment."

"But who—who is praying for it?"

She had an answer. "Rickey, we've sold the house at Annapolis."

Mary Lee came now every day to see Rickey. She sat by his bed and talked to him. He seemed glad to have her. She was the only one to whom he spoke of Maty. Mary Lee seemed to understand better than any of the others. "She loved me," he would say. "I know that. She would have married me if I had had Anythony Bleecker's money."

"If I were a man I wouldn't want a woman who thought about money."

"All of them think of it."

"I don't. If the man I love, loved me, I'd follow him in rags to the end of the earth."

Rickey turned on his elbow and looked at her. "The man you love? Are you in love, too, Mary Lee?"

"Yes. But he doesn't care—"

"Why doesn't he care?"

"Because he's a fool," Mary Lee blazed. "Oh, I'm not going to talk about him, Rickey. I can't. Only you might as well know you're not the only one who suffers."

Rickey lay back on his pillows and considered Mary Lee's charms. "I don't see why he shouldn't care. You're pretty enough when it comes to that."

"Oh, am I?" cfied Mary Lee, her cheeks still flaming. "Did you ever stop to think that I'm something more than pretty, Rickey?"

"You are a lot of things that are attractive," Rickey smiled at her.

Mary Lee leaned forward a little. "I'm intelligent enough to know what I can do, and that's what I want to talk about. I want you to write a play for me, Rickey."

He sat up. "A play?"

"Yes. Rickey, do you remember my little song about the Chinese girl and the temple bells? Well, I've been thinking of this—It could be amplified into a queer, exotic thing with a lot of color. You'll see what I mean in a minute."

She caught up his dressing-gown which lay at the foot of the bed—the black one with the butterflies, and drew it around her. Then, with his medicine glass and the medicine bottles tinkling an occasional accompaniment, she gave a reading of the poem. But it was more than a reading, it was a reincarnation. She saw she had his attention. Her voice kept to its insistent, tragic note; she used as a background the gold screen, and she had tied up her head in a black silk handkerchief. Her face was powdered to a ghastly paleness. As she took one pose after another, she was no longer Occidental but Oriental.

When at last she finished on a minor note and lay crumpled up on the rug, Rickey cried, "It's marvelous. Where did you get the idea, Mary Lee?"

"Out of my own head. But you must write it. People want novelty, and you and I must give it to them together. I've the money to get it started."

"Why should I use your money?"

And then Mary Lee said a startling thing. "I want you to use my money so that you can get even with Mary Van Duyne."

"Get even?"

"Yes; I hate her."

He stared. "You hate? Why?"

"Because she hurt you, Rickey." She was not looking at him now. She stood very still beside the bed. Suddenly Rickey laid his hand over hers. His heart was sore. The adoration in Mary Lee's eyes soothed and comforted him.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN.

Rickey Hears the Truth.

Rickey's convalescence was slow, but his illness had done this for him: it had dulled, as it were, the edge of the agony of his parting from Marty. There were days when he was still swept by the thought of it and lay beaten and bruised in his bed, days when it was difficult to rouse him, days when even the doctor was discouraged.

But gradually things grew better, and at last he sat up in a big chair in his room, and Mary Lee, coming in, found him with a pencil in his hand and a pad of paper in his invalid's table. "I'm writing the play, Mary Lee," he said. "Listen."

He read to her what he had written and made her go over it with him. She learned the lines quickly, and they rehearsed the scene, with Mary Lee again in the butterfly dressing gown and the black handkerchief.

When at last they had the thing as they wanted it, they called in Virginia. She sat thrilled and breathless with delight. "You two wonderful people," she said, out of the hush which followed the finale. "How did you ever do it?"

Mary Lee laid her hand over Rickey's. "We did it together—" she said softly, and Rickey turned his fingers up to meet hers.

Mary Lee did not always meet such responses. A leopard does not quickly change his spots. Rickey was harsh with her at times, and irritable. Now and then he sent her away in the midst of a scene: "I'm tired," he would tell her, white-faced, and she would know he was thinking of Marty.

He was thinking of Marty one day when he sat in Michael's library. It was the first time he had left his bedroom and he was glad of the change. He was alone for the moment, for Virginia, seeing him safely settled, had gone off on one of the mysterious pilgrimages which had to do with her meetings with Michael, and of which Rickey must know nothing. The nurse was in the kitchen looking after the invalid's tray. Nogi, the Japanese man servant, was in the butler's pantry cleaning the silver. He brought now to the library the malachite bowl with its silver perching Pan, shining with its recent polishing and glinting among the reed-like plants.

Rickey surveyed the piping figure with interest. It was a charming thing, everything about this room was charming—its fine old books, its Spanish leather—its cabinet of ivories the Sorolla painting above the mantel. Whoever had furnished it, had known a thing or two.

This was the kind of room he would have had if he had married Marty. They had often talked of it. "You should live in the midst of beauty," Marty had said, and Rickey had thought of a place like this, rich and glowing.

Nogi brought in now a pair of candlesticks, set them above the fireplace, and went out again. Nogi had had a busy morning. The cook was sick, and Nogi was doing the work of two. Hence his moment of forgetfulness.

Rickey, thinking of Marty, lay back in his big chair, his eyes closed. The soft May breeze came in through the open window and blew cool on his forehead. A sunbeam came in, too, through the open window, and shone straight on one of the candlesticks which Nogi had brought.

When Rickey opened his eyes, that ray of sunshine was like a guiding finger to his gaze. He looked and looked again. Then leaning forward, uttered a sharp exclamation. Up there by the Sorolla painting were the Lafayette candlesticks which Virginia had wanted to keep, and which Rickey had sold, as it were, over her head!

And suddenly Rickey knew the thing which had happened to him. He was in Michael McMillan's apartment! Those books were Michael's books, the little piping figure, the cabinet of ivories, the golden screen in the other room, the bed with the crimson canopy.

Nogi coming in hurriedly to retrieve his mistake, saw that the harm had been done. In all of his years of conscientious service, this was his first mistake. He had been told that the candlesticks must not be put back until Mr. Oliphant was out of the apartment.

And now the sick gentleman was asking him questions.

An hour later, when Nogi saw Michael, he said, "I forgot. I put the candlesticks back and the sick gentleman knows. He asked me—if they belong to Mr. McMillan. I say—nothing. I'm sorry. His sister come and he tell her."

As Michael went into the dining-room which adjoined the library, he heard Rickey's voice: "You can't keep me here, Jinny. When I'm dressed, I'm going to call a taxi."

"But where will you go?"

"I don't care where I go. To the devil, perhaps."

Michael could see them now; Rickey in his big chair, Virginia on the rug in front of the fireplace, the candlesticks above her head. Her face wore the look of one stricken to the heart; her voice was broken. "Rickey, darling, if you go, I'll go with you."

Michael came into the room. His head was up, his eyes bright with something besides laughter. He went at once to Virginia's side, "What's this?" he asked, and put his arm about her.

She welcomed him with a little cry, while Rickey said, "So you thought you could fool me, McMillan?"

Michael looking down at him had stil that brightness in his eyes. "We felt this would be better than the hospital. It is isn't it, Oliphant?"

"If I had known it was yours I'd rather have stayed in the attic!"

PROSPERITY

Prosperity has this property—it puffs up narrow souls, makes them imagine themselves high and mighty and look down upon the world with contempt, but a truly noble and resolved spirit appears greatest in distress, and then become more bright and conspicuous.

What To-day Means To You

"AQUARIUS"

If February 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Something out of the ordinary will happen on this date, the result of a decision made, or change undertaken two to four years ago. The influences favor entertaining, and the lighter side of things generally. Old friendships dropped and new ones made.

The child born on this February 9th will have an original mind, strong convictions and ability for business pursuits. It will be fond of the company of few and will loyally stick to its pals. Despondency is the unkindest trait which nature has given it.

Born on a February 9th, you have been given a high heart and a strong will, sovereign remedies for the unkind blows of fate, and the best equipment for taking advantage of any favorable tide of fortune. You are serious about life without being sad. Solemnity and gloom are the trappings of the timorous and the inefficient, and you are neither of these. You have a mind of your own, and although you are not loath to listen to advice you are not swayed by every one who counsels you. You seldom make excuses for yourself, although you generously excuse others for their shortcomings. You are quick to pull yourself up, when you feel that you are slipping in an undesirable way.

You are a stickler for punctuality, and you would as soon steal a penny as another's time. You are particular about remembering and applying the little but none the less important, courtesies of life, in your fellow relationships. You are too sincere to be a flatterer, but too kindly and diplomatic to be rude or hurtful. Your discriminative facultics are well developed, and you ably judge human nature. You choose, and enjoy, friends arising from every walk of life, and such a cosmopolitan mixture of associates has broadened your views, and given you a liberal education. You learn from the "man in the street." You are inquisitive for interesting information.

Unable To Address Local Manufacturers

The meeting of the Peterborough Manufacturers' Association at which Elmer Davis, of Kingston, president of the Canadian Association, was to have been the guest speaker, has been postponed until the fall, as unavoidable circumstances prevent the speaker from coming to this city, as previously announced. in February. Mr. Davis is going to attend the British Industries Exhibition which is being held in Buenos Aires this month but has promised to address the local manufacturers on his return.

Suddenly entering in full cry after a donkey at Wigginton, England, recently, a pack of hunting hounds refused to be called off, and the donkey leapt ditches and hedges until it found shelter in a farmyard.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—Prices of eggs were slightly higher, and butter cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here last week.

Carlot prices of fresh eggs were unchanged yesterday, extras being quoted at 29c to 30c for firsts and pullet extras at 25c to 26c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were also unchanged. Last week's receipts were 5,001 cases.

Western butter was quoted at 32c a pound, and Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized, grass-make, regraded creamery, was 32¼c a pound, both being unchanged. To retailers solids were 34c and prints 35c a pound. Receipts for the week were 139 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were 75c per 90 pounds bulk, and to retailers 85c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Despite rains and snowfalls over a wide expense of drought territory, wheat and corn prices Saturday went steadily upgrade. The rise was chiefly ascribed to misgivings that wheat crop dangers had been made worse by moisture insufficient apparently except to relieve top-soil dryness for the time being, whereas likelihood of damage in case of a sudden freeze was intensified. Crop experts said a quick switch to low temperatures would not only catch plant sap in circulation, but would cause soil-heaving and frozen-crust pressure.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ cent off to ⅞ up; corn, 1 to 1½ advance; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, February 9. — Wheat values continued to gain strength on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday, and at the finish of the short session advances ranged from 1⅝c to 1⅞c a bushel.

Scattered export trade, combined with light offerings and purchases by Southern interests, accounted for the gain as the supplies moved into strong hands on Saturday.

Demand for the various grades of cash wheat during the morning was quite good, with terminal interests the best buyers.

Trading in coarse grains was limited, but prices were generally higher in sympathy with the wheat futures.

MONTHLY MEETING TRENT RIVER L.A.

Society to Buy New Books For Church Choir—Reports Read.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 9.—The February meeting of the Ladies' Aid met Wednesday afternoon at the church, ten members being in attendance. The president, Mrs. William Preston, had charge of the meeting. The secretary, Mrs. Isaac Lawson, and treasure, Mrs. John Scott, read their reports, also a report from the deaconess, Mrs. Wood, Sr., of having sent fruit to a sick member of the society.

The advisability of purchasing new books for the church choir was discovered and it was decided to get the new books, and Miss Bessie G. French was authorized to communicate with a publishing houst regarding the purchasing of the books.

The ladies decided to hold a ten cent tea at the March meeting and have a suitable program given in connection. One new name was added to the list of membership.

District Notes.

Miss Leatha Davidson has been confined to her home this week owing to an attack of appendicitis.

The late Mrs. Albert Wigmore, whose death took place recently at her home at Norwood, was a sister of Mrs. Ridley Wood of Trent River. Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wood attended the funeral at Norwood.

MAGRATH QUITS POST ON HYDRO

IS 71 YEARS OLD.

TORONTO, Ont. (CP) — Premier George S. Henry, announced to-day that the resignation of Charles A. Magrath, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario has been accepted. Mr. Magrath who is 71 years of age has been chairman of the Hydro Commission since 1925 when he was appointed to succeed the late Sir Adam Beck. For some time he has been desirous of resigning the post. He is chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission.

Hon. J. R. Cooke minister without portfolio in the Ontario Government has been appointed acting chairman of the Hydro. Mr. Cooke will retain his seat in the Ontario Legislature.

ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN FOR RELIEF FUNDS

The campaign for the raising of funds for the Peterborough Relief Association is to be placed before the public this week, and it is felt there will be a most liberal response, according to the means of each individual citizen. Legitimate requests today were for milk tickets, food, clothing, shoes, fuel, medicines, assistance to expectant mothers, all in addition to what the city is able to do in some cases and in others beyond where the city can function. The committee, through its different agencies, is of great value to those who require aid at the present time, and all those who have knowledge of what has been accomplished since early in December realize its importance. It cannot function without funds, and the various organizations now consolidated into one unit for the purpose of co-operation have expended their individual funds. So far, less than $800.00 has been actually publicly subscribed in Peterborough for relief, although the different bodies have expended quite a large sum.

The committee hopes there will be a very generous response to the appeal that will be made.

TEN WEARY MEN

Twenty of the marooned men were rescued during the day by Coastguards, sixteen others found their way ashore at various points where the drifting ice touched for a few moments.

Nineteen fishermen and a nine year old boy still were drifting helplessly for out on the lake when darkness closed down Saturday night.

Yesterday morning an airplane chartered by the Buffalo Courier-Express, morning newspaper, located the little group of exhausted men, clustered before an improvised windbreak.

Five hours after they were first sighted, four of the men and the boy were brought to solid ice and guided across the two miles of ice hills to shore. The rescuers went back for more and the struggle was repeated throughout the early hours of last night.

Ice Shifts

As the Coastguards fought their way through the broken ice on their way out for the last of the marooned fishermen the ice suddenly shifted. The Coastguards fought desperately but without avail. Within a few minutes they found themselves in the same plight as those they sought to rescue. Ten men, seven of them Coastguards faced another night of exposure and darkness.

Intense darkness made it impossible for would-be rescuers to locate them and it was not until daylight that planes spotted them, four miles out and 20 miles south of Buffalo.

Several more hours elapsed before the men were brought across the open water to the shore ice. Despite their experiences all were able to walk ashore over the ice hummocks.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

HEALTHY INCREASE IN PROFITS SHOWN BY MUTUAL LIFE COMPANY

INTEREST HIGHER.

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (Special to The Examiner.)—The year just closed was the biggest in the 60 years of operation for Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada. Complete data on the Mutual Life's company success in 1930 was made public recently by President R. O. McCulloch in his annual report to the Director's Board.

The report he was able to submit filled him with encouragement and confidence stated President McCulloch and showed that the Mutual Life company had been untouched in any way by the business depression that was troubling other businesses. "In 1930 the company not only earned the largest profits in its history, but also paid out to policyholders the greatest amount of dividends," he stated. The amount of new assurance paid for amounted to $31,522,665, and this despite a reduction in operating expenses.

Profits Increase.

Profits also were up, being $5,254,351,-81, an increase of more than $200,000 over the preceding year. The company's surplus funds and special reserves have been increased to $12,468,009.44. Owing to the comparatively low morality rate of interest earned on invested founds reached the high figure of 6.13%.

President McCulloch reports in full was as follows:

"I am happy to say that the Directors' Report of your Company covering the operations for the past year supplies me with encouraging thoughts, which we should broadcast to our policyholders and to the Canadian public. It is, for instance, a fact that in 1930 the Company not only earned the largest profits in its history, but also paid out to policyholders the greatest amount of dividends in any of its sixty years of operation. The amount of new assurances paid for, while not as large as in the record year 1929, was greater than in any previous year; and the net increase of assurances in force— $21,522,665—was very satisfactory, and I regard it as doubtful whether any company of comparative size and age will have a greater gain in total assurances in force in relation to the business paid for than our own Company. It is noteworthy, too, that the substantial volume of our paid-for new business—$60,526,212—and the satisfactory gain in assurances in force was not obtained through any high pressure salesmanship, or at any increase in cost, the expenses of operation having been actually reduced, and having reached in 1930, the lowest ratio to income at which they have ever stood.

"The net profits for the year—$5,254,-351.81—are $211,316.41 in excess of the preceding year, and represent $45.04 for each $1,000 of total assets, which now aggregate $116,662,059.64. The Company's special reserves and surplus funds, which have been increased to $12,468,009.44, include general investment reserves and free surplus available for contingencies of ample amount to take care of any adverse factors.

"The year 1930 was a very difficult one for all classes of business and will be remembered by reason of constantly growing depression in all lines of activity. The situation has been reviewed in many annual addresses and it is not necessary for me to repeat what has already been said and with which you are all familiar. Life insurance is fortunately one business which has been less materially affected than most by the general adverse conditions, as the decline of life insurance sales in 1930 was relatively slight, clearly indicating the value of life insurance and the confidence of the people in its stability. As a speaker recently said, people might chase rainbows at times, but they continue to put their faith in the solid protection of life insurance for the ultimate security of their families.

"The farmers of Western Canada have sustained heavy losses in connection with the 1929 and 1930 crops, and a few of our Western farm mortgagors are finding it difficult to meet their interest payments, not because they suffered from poor crops but because of low grain prices. It is manifest that grain prices will not soon again reach the high figures that were maintained for some years prior to 1930, and this illustrated the necessity of an improvement in present methods and in many cases the adoption of other methods, the elimination of waste, increased efficiency and a greater diversification of production. It may be that the present low cash prices of all grains may prove to be not an unmixed evil, as those farmers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta who have a sufficient number of high-grade dairy cows, beef-cattle and hogs to consume a large portion of their 1930 grain crop stand to realize much more for their wheat and barley through milk, beef and pork production than can be realized at the present time for cash grain. This situation is bearing fruit in forcing many farmers to the conclusion that their future prosperity depends upon a diversified production which will assure them their living and operating expenses quite apart from cash grain. We still believe that, while in some sections of the West natural conditions are not favorable to other than wheat growing, the future success of a very large number of the farmers of Western Canada can best be obtained by a large number of the farmers of Western Canada can best be a proper diversification of crops and the raising of livestock, under competent management, which will bring about a better farm production than has hitherto prevailed and a substantial reduction in the cost of production of grain and livestock which will enable Canada to successfully meet world competition in agricultural products. For this reason our Company has taken a very keen interest during recent years in the development of mixed farming in the West, and, in co-operation with four other Canadian Life companies, two trust companies and the Canadian Pacific Railway, has played an important part in the formation and development of the Colonization Finance Corporation. This organization, I believe, is destined to do much to assist the farmers of Western Canada, as their entire energies are being devoted to giving the farmers of the West, for the present particularly in Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan, the highest type of expert farm management service under the direction of a competent and experienced Chief Farm Manager and his staff or Zone Managers."

Toronto Market Stronger This Morning Than For Some Time Past.

INDIVIDUAL STOCKS ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9. (CP)—Individual stocks again came in for attention on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day and with the usual pivotal issues firm and slightly advanced the market took on an appearance if not robust at least stronger than for some time past.

Leadership this morning really rested upon C.P.R. which shot up nearly two points to just under 44, the highest it has been this year.

Laura Secord, neglected for sime time past, gained 1½ points and also set a new top when it advanced to 43½. Foods and chain store stocks generally were firm. Dominion stores pushed upward through 18, the highest it has been this year.

STRONGER TONE ON STANDARD

Price Movements Confined to Narrow Limits—Lake Shore Firms at Quarter.

NICKEL IMPROVED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9. (CP)—Price movements among mining stocks on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange showed a stronger tendency, though changes were confined to a narrow range when the list was taken at mid-day.

Lake Shore firmed a quartet to $26.25 and Teck Hughes was up 10 to $7.10. Dome held Saturday's advance at $11.24. Wright Hargreaves was up a couple to $2.20. In the lower-priced golds Kirkland Lake gold recovered 2 to 71. Big Missouri a cent to 43 and Algonquin a fraction to 4. Balance of the section were steady.

International Nickel saw improved demand and a gain of a half to $14.90. Noranda responded with an advance of 15 to $17.40. Other base metal issues were quiet.

Oils were slightly easier, Imperial dropping a quarter, Ajax oil and Chemical Research a cent apiece and Home Oil 5 to $1.55.

Strength Maintained On Montreal Exchange

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 9. (CP)—The Montreal Stock market at noon to-day was maintaining its early strength With a wide range of securities showing small gains.

Canadian Pacific Railway stock was selling at 43¾, a gain of 1¾ over Saturday's close. Consolidated Smelting gained a full point at 135 and Montreal Power was up 1 at 56. Atlantic Sugar climbed 1¾ to 26¾ and Brazilian rose 5-8 to touch 25 3-8, Nickel showed a gain of 3-8 at 14 7-8.

Bell Telephone sold off 1 to 10½ and Abitibi sold at 10. National Breweries, Dominion Bridge, Power Corporation, Quebec Power, and Shawinigan all gained a half point.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

Three basketball games are billed for the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium this week. The week's schedule is as follows:

Saturday, Feb. 14—Chev Motors vs C.G.E. Test. Officials. C. McLeish and H. Macdonald.

The mighty Midland Bank of England has just announced that new clerks will receive yearly salaries of $575, instead of $600, after 4 years' employment, and $1,025 instead of $1,150 after 10 years.

Winnipeg Review

Wheat prices continued their upward trend again yesterday, the local market quite strong with prices scoring gains of 1 5-8 to 1 ¾ higher from Friday's close. Export sales overnight were placed at 400,000 bushels but the chief support was the excellent buying futures by seaboard houses, which continued more or less throughout the session and followed the May up to 62 cents. There was also a fair volume of buying in the July and October months, which was spreading between here and Chicago. During the past six weeks, Winnipeg wheat prices have advanced ten cents, again that has been gradual, and hardly notieed and this market is now drawing close to Chicago price levels, which is construed as a healthy sign and a further narrowing up is expected. There is a good inquiry from abroad and it is understood that some fair sized bids are in the market slightly under current levels. It is becoming more apparent that Canadian high grade wheat is needed to mix with the lower grades from other countries. European stocks are decreasing despite heavy shipments from other countries, and undoubtedly European native supplies have been very sharply reduced owing to the restrictions that have prevailed against foreign wheat importations. This indicates larger import requirements during the next five months. There was a very good demand for all grades of cash wheat and buyers were willing to pay a fraction better than Saturday's closing spreads. Offerings were light and only odd cars were coming out. Flour situation still quiet. Buenos Aires closed 3-8 to 5-8 higher. Winnipeg futures closed 1 5-8 to 1½ higher and at the top for the day.

Coarse Grains.—These markets were very dull with nothing of feature going on. The cash markets were also quiet, just an odd car of oats and barley changing hands. Prices were steady but did not respond to the advance in wheat. Oats closed 3-8 to 1-8 higher, barley 1-8 higher to unchanged and rye 1-8 higher to ¼ lower. Flax dull and featureless closing 3-8 to ½ higher.

Liverpool due 7-8 to ¾ higher based on Winnipeg.

LONDON, Feb. 9. (By AP)—Silver reached a new low mark to-day when spot bears declined 1-8 pence per ounce to 12 pence under further offerings from China which moderate Indian buying failed to offset.

Cummings Beat Rishor in Volleyball Tourney

More copious pools of perspiration and large amounts of avoirdupois were shed at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday afternoon when eight business men's teams tangled in another volley ball tournament. The tourney was run off in two sections, C. Cumming's team winning through in one section and honors in the other being copped by Max Rishor's team.

The winners lined up as follows: C. Cummings, G. A. Macdonald, J. Gillespie, W. E. Jones and L. H. Gould. Runners-up, E. M. Rishor, captain, C. Richardson, H. McLeod, R. Kitchen and M. Levine.

Play was close in all games in the tournament and it is likely that another will be held this Saturday.

Young Gang Leader Will Get New Trial

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9 (C.P.).—Morris Silverstone, 20, sentenced to seven years' imprisonment on a charge of manslaughter, arising out of the death of Walter Elson, in a gang fight in a local park in May of last year, will be given a new trial First Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall ruled to-day in a judgment delivered.

Silverstone was convicted by Mr. Justice Logie as the alleged leader of the gang which were responsible for Elson's death.

Rubber planters in Ceylon are reducing wages 25 to 50 per cent.

REMAND IS GIVEN TO 21 MEMBERS AT A.B.C. HEARING

Windsor Magistrate Admits Men to Freedom on Own Bail of $5,000 Each.

THREE TRIAL CHOICES.

Remaining Charges at London Will Be Proceeded With on Wednesday.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 9.—(C.P.)—Twenty-one men accused of conspiracy in restraint of trade, as members of the Amalgmated Builders' Council, were to-day remanded for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Magistrate D. M. Brodie gave the decision in Windsor police court and at the same time cancelled former bail bonds and admitted, the men to freedom in their own recognisance of $5,000 each.

Evidence in the charges was taken last summer but decision was delayed pending a decision by the Privy Council as to the validity of the Combines Investigation Act.

The accused may be tried on the charges laid under the Combines Investigation Act, either at a speedy trial before a County Court Judge at the General Sessions of the Peace; before Supreme Court Judge and jury or before a Supreme Court Judge without a jury. Conferences are being held to-day to decide what election to make.

On the charges laid under the Criminal oCde, which charges are based on the same set of facts as the other charges, the trial must in Supreme Court. If the Combines Investigation Act charges are heard by the County Court Judge and dismissed it is expected that there will not be the second prosecution.

In giving his decision Magistrate Brodie pointed out that he did not see any machinery in the law for bringing Dominion Chamber of Credits and the Canadia. Plumbing and Heating Guild within the decision. He remarked that they could not be admitted to bail and suggested that the only plan to be followed was to proceed against them in the recommendations to the Grand Jury should the whole matter be laid before that body.

All of the wholesalers and manufacturers of plumbing and sheet metal goods who had been charged along with the present accused were dismissed at the preliminary hearing last summer.

George R. Baker, Toronto, former vice-president of the A.B.C., pleaded guilty at the preliminary hearing and was fined $500 and discharged from the case.

Those held to-day for trial are Louis M. Singer, K.C., W. F. O'Connor, K.C., Roy E. Belyea, and Harry Weinraub, all of Toronto. Charles E. Paddon, Herbert Prangnell, Alexander White, Herbert Ward, Arthur Cook, John T. Collins, Albert J. Brian, B. E. Service, Edward J. L. Heureux, F. W. Burford, Frank J. Tansley, J. E. Murphy, J. R. Lynn, H. W. Cunningham, G. W. Wilkins, H. F. Leonard, and W. H. Burnett all residents of the border municipalities.

The remaining A.B.C. charges at London are to proceed on Wednesday next, the preliminary hearing having been delayed pending the Privy Council ruling and the decision in Windsor.

Dixie Minstrels Will Present Good Program

The Dixie Minstrels, who have achieved a reputation for presenting entertaining minstrel shows, will be at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, with their annual production.

Like last year's show, it will be a mixed group of men and women entertainers, with blackface end men to provide a lot of entertaining nonsense, quips, and jokes. These will be Messrs. Maurice Leonard, Hom Lundy, Lawrence O'Toole and E. Chapman. Ed Leonard is in charge of the production. There will be violin numbers and songs by Walter Farr, songs by A. Everitt and the other members of the ensemble as well as banjo and ukulele music.

It promises to be an interesting entertainment.

CLINIC RESULTS

drew Brown told of the investigation end of the committee's activities and urged active support for the movement generally.

A winsome little lassie who had been born with congenital disease tion of both hips, and would never have been able to walk had not the Rotary Club interested itself in her case and provided the necessary treatment, climbed down off her chair at this point and walked round the room to demonstrate to the club members the completeness of the cure in her case.

Dr. A. W. McPherson, under whose direction the case had first been taken up, referred to another similar case that had been successfully treated, and expressed his satisfaction that the crippled children's work was being continued with such good results.

President Robt. Abbott remarked that the club had been fortunate in having had such men as Dr. McPherson and Dr. Moir to direct its crippled children's work. He also referred to the fact that it was the last luncheon at which W. F. Butcher would attend as a regular member, and assured him of a warm welcome whenever he visited the club.

English officials expect a record number of applications for presentation at Court this year, large numbers from America and the Dominions being among the hundred received at the Lord Chamberlain's office.

BRACKEN DECLINES TO DIVULGE LOSS ON 1929 CROP GUARANTEES

Will Be Informed When Further Legislation is Brought Down, Tories Told.

INCOME SUGGESTIONS.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 7 (C.P.) — Information on Government losses on 1929 crop guarantees to the Wheat Pool was demanded in the Legislature Friday, but was refused by Premier John Bracken. Prairie Premiers and the Pool had agreed that it was not in the public interest to announce the losses as yet, stated the Manitoba Government head.

The losses will be made known when further guarantee legislation is brought down during the present session, stated Mr. Bracken, in answer to insistent Conservative demands. He recalled that the throne speech had said that Manitoba Pool assets would not cover the whole liability.

S. J. Farmer, Independent Labor, proposed a program for redistribution of national income claimed to be within the jurisdiction of Provincial politics, and supported by his party. His suggestions were: shorter and fewer working days, minimum wage for all workers, State insurance and increased levies on large incomes and inheritances, extension of co-operative credits, Government acquisition of businesses which have become monopolies, and an economic survey to determine how the Province's wealth is distributed.

states Fire Chief George Gimblett, but proved to be an outbreak of minor consequence. The pumper and ladder truck responded, and immediately following the accident word was sent in for the reserve truck. It is understood that in the event of a serious outbreak of fire, while the pumper is undergoing repairs, it would be necessary to use the old steam engine which is kept at the hall in readiness for such emergencies and which has a good record of service to its credit.

LOSE YOUR FAT
This Sensible Way

Start taking Kruschen Salts—that's the common sense way to reduce—but don't take them with the idea that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd almost forgotten had existed—you get the needful exercise.

As a result instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment and letting flabby fat accumulate you feel an urge for activity that keeps you moving around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do to keep you in good condition.

Kruschen Salts are the up-to-date Fountain of Youth. Take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water tomorrow morning and every morning—be careful of the foods you eat—take regular moderate exercise—then watch the pounds slide off.

JUDGE HUYCKE ACQUITS HENSON

Clemett of Omemee, plaintiffs. The County Judge dismissed that action on the grounds that plaintiffs had no contract with Henson. An appeal was filed by plaintiffs, and was pending the outcome of the present criminal proceedings.

Henson's answer to the perjury charge was a complete and emphatic denial that he was ever in Omemee in the year 1929 given in direct contradiction to Crown witnesses, who stated they had seen him in Omemee during May, 1929.

Witnesses Excluded

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. opened the case for the prosecution and on his application all witnesses were excluded.

Miss M. Moore called to testify, played the dual role of official court stenographer and witness, recording the questions put to her by the Crown and also her answers relative to certain portions of the evidence given in the civil action and on which the perjury charge against accused was based.

H. L. Overholt, sheepskin tacker stated he had heard accused's evidence at the civil action in October last. He did not agree that Henson was not in Omemee in May, 1929. "I know he was, because I saw him," said witness.

Cross examining Mr. McIntosh taxed witness as to the exact date on which he went to Cobourg to work. In evidence at the County Court action he had given the date as July 11 according to stenographic notes, but now stated it was about the third week of May. He had worked in a part time capacity for Irwin and Clemett at Omemee for about twelve months prior to going to Cobourg. He used to sell oil and gas and enter items from the counter check books into the ledger and make out bills.

"I saw Henson at Omemee just once," said witness in reply to defence counsel. "I saw him there about the second week of May, 1929. I do not know the exact date."

You did know at the preliminary hearing, why do you not know now, parried counsel.

After further questioning Overholt said, accused's visit to Omemee was about May 8th or 9th, in the forenoon. Clemett showed Henson how the bills were made out, and also gave him the names of the drivers. Henson asked that the bills should be sent to him. Witness agreed that the bills sent out to the E. Derno Company in 1928 did not differ from those sent out in 1929. "Then," said Mr. McIntosh, "there must have been some other object for this business conference you tell us about."

Witness was firm in his belief that he was not mistaken in his identity of Henson. He now refuted a statement made by him at the preliminary hearing to the effect that he had not talked the matter over with other Crown witnesses, and admitted he had discussed it.

Nobell Arthur Clemett, 57 Park Hill road this city former partner in the Omemee garage business, stated they supplied gasoline to the E. Derno Company through the season 1928. The first supply of gasoline in the 1929 season was on May 8th. "I do not know the date of Henson's visit to Omemee," he said, "but it was some time shortly after the trucks started—about a week after, possibly May 15th." He could not recall the reason for Henson's visit, and after being pressed by Mr. McIntosh, exclaimed, "I don't know."

Questioned on this point by the Crown Attorney, witness stated that as a result of the interview, he and Irwin did business with Henson. He could not clearly recollect any of the details.

Eleventh Hour Witness

Engaged on construction work at Omemee in charge of a crushing plant, F. D. Faulkner said, he saw Henson in Omemee in the early part of 1929 in the company of witness's foreman a Mr. Theodore. Faulkner told of how he had read of the preliminary hearing in the Peterborough Examiner dated January 29th, 1930. He at once recalled having seen Henson in Omemee in 1929. In answer to defence counsel, witness said he did not do anything about the matter and was much surprised to be called as a witness.

"An extraordinary story," commented Mr. McIntosh.

Samuel Henson, contractor of Milton testifying on his own behalf said he became associated with the E. Derno Company in 1928 as secretary. In the fall of 1928 his company had business relations with Irwin and Clemett. It was his duty as secretary to look after the accounts which were sent to him at Milton. Business relations were terminated in June, when Irwin and Clemett were given notice that the E. Derno Company had suspended payment and that a meeting of creditors had been called. Accused said he never had any business difficulties with Irwin and Clemett and no reason at all for going to see them.

Entirely Mistaken

"They are entirely mistaken. I was not in Omemee at any time during the year 1929," said accused in reply to his counsel who asked if he agreed with the evidence given by Clemett and Overholt.

Referring to evidence of witness Faulkner accused said, "Faulkner is mistaken in his dates. I was with Mr. Theodore in the fall of 1928."

Mr. McElderry subjecting accused to a stern cross examination brought out details of the business relations between accused and David Clarke, a contractor of Milton.

"Mr. Clarke and I were never in Omemee together at anytime," said witness. There was never the question of Mr. Clarke taking over the E. Derno Company, but there was a possibility of him taking a partnership in the business.

The court then adjourned.

David Clarke, contractor, first witness for the defence at the afternoon session, said he was in Omemee several times during 1929, but was not there at any time with accused, to the best of his knowledge. "I think in all fairness to Irwin and Clemett I should say I was in their garage and arranging to get gas from them after I took over the contract."

Witness was subject to a searching cross examination by Mr. McElderry concerning his reasons for making a complete "about turn" in his evidence after having refuted a statement made to Provincial Police.

Clarke explained that in making his statement to the police in which he had stated he was in Omemee with accused in May, 1929, he was led to believe that the statement was required in connection with the civil action. On receiving a subpeona to give evidence for the Crown, he first learned of the seriousness of the charge against Henson. He then reconstructed the events of his visits to Omemee in 1929 and was now prepared to state that to the best of his knowledge Henson was not in Omemee in 1929. Witness had had an interview with Inspector Elliott of the Provincial Police and had refuted his original written statement.

"I don't remember that," said witness in reply to a question in which the Crown Attorney asked witness if he remembered telling Allan Adams a Derno Company truck driver at Omemee in the spring of 1929 that he had better see that he had his chauffeur's license as Mr Henson was in Omemee checking up.

The case for the defence concluded after Charles Derno, construction foreman, stated Henson was not in Omemee in 1929, and Cyril Woodcock, who worked for the E. Derno Company in 1929 said, "During that season he did not see Mr. Henson at Omemee."

The prosecution was refused permission by His Honor to call Allan Adams to the witness box.

Backache Made Me Feel Miserable
But Dodd's Kidney Pills Brought Relief

"A year ago I had an operation and I seemed awfully nervous and would get numb and cold. My back would ache and I would feel very miserable," writes Mrs. George J. Furler, R.R. No. 1, Nixon, Ont. "After taking a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt better and could do my own work. I now feel fine."

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply strengthen and heal the kidneys. The work of the kidneys is to strain all the waste matter out of the blood. If the kidneys are out of order they fail to do their work, and the waste matter remains in the blood, causing serious diseases. At the first sign of trouble give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. 000

The February meeting of the Ladies' Aid of George Street United Church was held in the Board Room, the president, Mrs. W. P. Hetherington presiding. Mrs. S. Oke gave the report of the year's finances, showing the society had a very successful year. Mrs. R. Hagerman for the Sick and Visiting Committee reported 105 calls made during the past month, and Miss E. Higgins for the Look-out Committee reported thirty-two calls made. Dr J. E. Middleton gave a brief talk on the need of the church in the West at this time of unusual stress, and appealed to the Ladies' Aid to make a contribution toward this fund. It was decided to give $100 to this worthy object. Mrs. S. Wildman rendered a solo "I shall see Him face to face," accompanied by Miss Bessie Elcome. The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, of Murray Street Baptist Church, who gave an inspiring and earnest talk taking a text from Matthew 6, 22-23: "The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness." He said if people could understand this message as they should, it would be a great boon and everyone would look for the best in other people. In the case of the poor woman who gave her two mites, Jesus looked on her with a generous eye. If church organizations would carry this principle into effect they would have more people and would accomplish tremendous things for the Kingdom of God. Let the Ladies' Aid emphasize the spiritual side. With pure, honest motives and good intentions and looking on others with a generous eye will help the ladies. It's not an easy thing to do, but if you label others as good they will try to live up to it. Christ set us an example. When Peter blundered Christ looked on him with a generous eye. Other examples are the story of the prodigal son, and Christ nailed to the Cross. He looked upon His enemies with a generous eye. These are days of gloom, of jealousy, doubt, suspicion; but thank God, even though evil is coming our way, we can look upon things with a generous eye. At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker and soloist. Afternoon tea was served, the members gathering in groups of winter, spring, summer and autumn, according to their birthdays, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Shooting a Convict Not Warden's Right

Durban Prison Guard Who Shot Native in Jail Lectured and Punished by Judge.

DURBAN, South Africa, Feb. 6.—(By the Canadian Press.)—A warder in a prison has no right to shoot a native convict, so a jury found in the case of a warder named Pretorius who was tried here on a charge of culpable homicide in connection with the shooting of a native named Goke. The jury returned a unanimous verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy, and added that in their opinion men of the mentality of the accused warder should not be placed in the position of guards in prisons.

Pretorius received a sentence of six months' imprisonment at hard labor, suspended for 12 months subject to good behavior.

The Judge said he entirely agreed with the jury's rider, and added: "Before persons are appointed to act as warders over prisoners care should be taken to see that they are thoroughly competent to do the work of supervising convicts." His lordship commented upon a statement made by the prosecuting counsel to the effect that the accused warder had lost control of himself and did not know what he was doing when he shot Goke. The Judge referred to a statement made at the trial that Pretorius was a person of infantile mentality, and the way in which he had given his evidence in his own behalf showed that this statement was not far wrong.

Excusing the light sentence meted out to the accused the Judge said: "Were it not for the fact that you are temporarily mentally unfit ever to have been a warder I would have passed a severe sentence."

BANQUET TENDERED TO CHEESEMAKERS

Marmora and Cook's Factory Representatives Have Splendid Records.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Feb. 9. — Messrs. J. Finnegan and F. Nathan are attending a complimentary luncheon being given in the Speaker's Chambers, Parliament Buildings, Toronto on Tuesday to the eighty-two Ontario Cheesemakers who made 100 per cent first grade cheese in 1930. These makers are attending upon the invitation of the Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario.

Mr. Finnegan who is cheesemaker at Marmora Cheese Factory, has a quarter of a century's experience to his credit and among many valuable trophies won by him is the Mills' Trophy for 1930. This trophy is a beautiful silver cup, presented by A. J. Mills and Company, Limited of London, England and is awarded through the United Dairymen's Co-operative Limited. The cheese is graded at five centres: Belleville, Campbellford, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal. Mr. Finnegan had the high score for all centres, his score being 93.3631. In 1929 he stood third and in 1928 was second among all the contestants.

Not only is Mr. Finnegan successful in his individual labours as a cheesemaker, but he is also deeply interested in the welfare of his fellow makers and for the first two years following the inception of the Madoc District Cheesemakers Association gave unstinted service as its secretary-treasurer. He has been one to whom the younger makers have not looked in vain for advice.

Mr. Nathan, a younger man than Mr. Finnegan has also made a name for himself since choosing his profession and has obtained numerous awards yearly at the various local fairs at which he has shown exhibits. He has for several years been the maker at Cook's Factory, North Marmora.

SHIFTING WIND

chinist's mate, and Surfmen Lee Kokey, Nirschel and Skinner. The three fishermen were Joseph Gutkowswi, Alvin Giardin and Edward Bassett.

Weather conditions favored the men. The temperature had risen several degrees and a moderate southwest wind was blowing the ice field directly toward Buffalo harbor.

Rescue Slow Job

The rescue of the seventeen men was a slow, arduous job for the weary Coast Guardsmen who had been on duty for more than thirty hours without rest. The huge floating ice mass on which the men were adrift was constantly encroaching on the slush-clogged channel through which the rescuers had to guide their light skiff. It was virtually impossible to operate with oars and boathooks. Finally a rope was shot across the channel. Coast Guardsmen on the floe pulled the empty skiff across and then others on shore hauled the boat back with its cargo of fishermen. Each operation took about two hours.

Bakers And Millers Called In U.S. Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (A.P.) — Some of the leading bakers and millers of the United States have been summoned among the first group of witnesses in the Senate's investigation of food prices which opens tomorrow.

The hearings, which are expected to last about a week, will be directed primarily into whether the retail and wholesale prices of bread, meat and dairy products have declined in proportion to the prices paid farmers for wheat, live stock and milk, or whether these prices are being artificially maintained at excessive levels, either by illegal combination or other forms of maninpulation.

GANDHI HAS CLOSE CALL

ATLABAHAD, India, Feb. 9. (AP) Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's Nationalists narrowly escaped serious injury Friday as he was travelling from Lucknow to Allahabad with the body of Pandit Motilal Nehru which was being brought here for cremation.

Gandhi, Mrs. Nehru and others were travelling in a separate car from the body near Raebareli when their vehicle ran into a ditch and turned turtle. The occupants were jolted severely but were not injured and were able to continue their journey in another car.

The accident was disclosed only to-day.

REV. WALLACE GIVES SPLENDID SERMONS

Features Sunday Services at Christ Church in Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Featuring the Sunday services at Christ Church, Campbellford, the Rector, Rev. N. Clark Wallace, was the preacher for the day, delivering two splendid sermons at the morning and evening services. Both of these were choral, with music under the direction of the organist and chairmaster, W. Pearson.

Mr. Wallace took for his text at the morning service, Matthew viii. 27: "What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?" Introducing his subject, he said that we often think of the world of "if only" and "might have been," and wonder if the whole scheme of things is unprofitable. "Yet," said the preacher, "we often see Providence in the way things come about if we only visualize what would have happened if this blow had not fallen or that incident had not happened.

Of the text, Mr. Wallace pointed out that Christ, a landsman, in a boat on a rough sea, with sailors, dominated the situation and had inspired the disciples to exclaim, "What manner of man is thus . . ."

The growth of Christianity, declared the preacher, started with a question. Perhaps there were some who would like to leave it at that; but the more vigorous humanity demanded an answer. The old answer to this question was that all love, truth and beauty were found in the spirit of Jesus. We, to-day, Mr. Wallace pointed out, think of other agencies, social service work and the like organizations. There is only one voice, he declared, the voice of Jesus Christ, the voice that summons power from Heaven and creates the stillness of the soul. "What manner of man is this that even the wind and the sea obey Him."

HORNEPAYNE FIRE

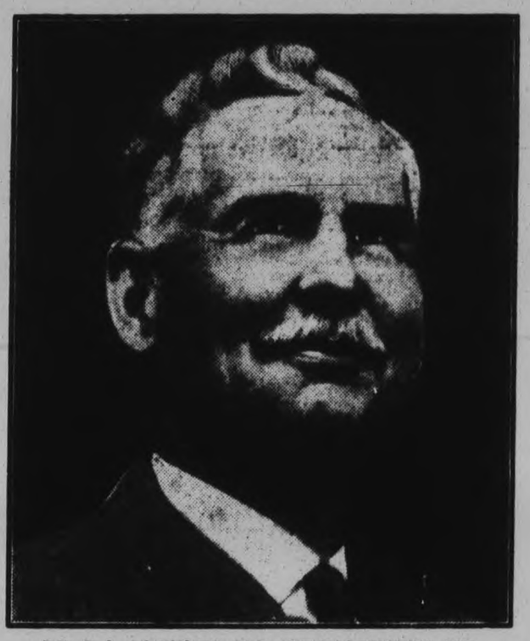
jewelry store was heavily damaged, as was also the Gibson butcher shop.

It is presumed that the fire started in the Menzies' bakery. All the goods in the store were removed by volunteer workers. The flames, aided by a strong wind, spread rapidly, but the stubborn blaze was stopped in one direction by a party headed by William Schmidt, who were successful in their endeavor to save the remaining part of the block. Then the C.N.R. tank car used for fighting forest fires was put into action, and here the costly blaze was effectively checked.

The blaze was similar to the fires which swept the business sections of Foleyet and Gogama within the past two weeks.

The National Union of Women Teachers of England recently passed a resolution urging that teachers with 10 years' service should have vacations up to six months with pay for rest, travel or study.

Baltimore Physician-Surgeon Makes Remarkable Statement



DR. C. L. NUCKLOS, M.D., OF BALTIMORE, MD.

Graduate of the University of Maryland and a Practising Physician in the city of Baltimore for thirty-seven years.

Sleep Soundly and Store up New Vitality as Pleasant Vitaminized Vitalex Brings That Rich Sleep of Health

Dr. Nucklos is known to be very conservative and to only recommend those preparations which his years of experience have shown him to be very effective. Therefore, his words hold real weight when he says: "As a professional man I would indeed neglect my duty to humanity if I did not tell my opinion of Vitalex. I have carefully examined the formula and thoroughly tested its powers in practice.

"The human body will only stand so much exertion. After a hard day's work we become tired, nervous, irritable. We must rest and REST SOUNDLY because in only that way can we restore the vitality that has been used up and calm our highly nervous system. Vitalex, therefore, is of enormous value in overcoming that tired, rundown, highly nervous state.

"Any one who knows the aches and pains that come from stored up body poisons, auto-intoxication, sluggish bile will know almost instant relief from Vitalex. The action of the herbals used, plus the vitamins will be highly important in producing a general metabolism which eliminates body poisons, and nature, thus assisted, will give vigor in place of weakness and pain."

QUEENSBORO COUPLE OBSERVES 59 YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greer of Victoria County Enjoying Good Health.

PIONEER FARMERS.

QUEENSBORO, Feb. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greer, two of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Victoria County, on Thursday celebrated the 59th anniversary of their marriage. They both are enjoying good health and are wonderfully active for their age.

Mr. Greer, who was born in Bailieboro, Hope township, celebrated his 94th birthday on December 26. He is six feet tall, weighs about 190 pounds and is noted for his humor and jovial spirit. He has lived in Fenelon township 72 years and settled on his present farm (which is now one of the finest grain growing places in the district) when it was all forest.

Mrs. Greer, whose maiden name was Sarah Jane Algar, was born in Devonshire, England and celebrated her second birthday on board ship coming to Canada. She arrived at Port Hope and later lived a while at Cavan before going to Fenelon. Her only living brother is James Algar of Santa Cruz, St. Joseph, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Greer were married in Trinity College, Port Hope, on February 5, 1872, by Rev. Charles Bethon, an Anglican clergyman, who was the principal of the college.

Neuritis—Lumbago Sciatica

You Can Expect and Get Instant Relief When You Rub in Joint-Ease

One man wrote a letter and in it he stated: "Joint-Ease knocked out my lumbago over night." Yes! Joint-Ease is like that—it has knocked out thousands of lumbagoes over night—it has brought speedy relief to tens of thousands of fine people who have suffered with Sciatica and Neuritis.

Joint-Ease is something splendid to always have in the house—great for backache, strained or sore muscles, lameness, stiff neck, sore, inflamed feet, chest colds and swollen knuckles.

And of course everybody knows that for joint troubles such as stiff swollen, painful, creaky joints its influence for good is marvelous.

But rub it in good—Joint-Ease is made in Canada and sold by all stores that sell good medicines—a generous tube 60 cents.

INSTITUTE PLANS ON NURSING COURSE

Young's Point Society Meets at Home of Mrs. William Brooks.

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—The February meeting of the Young's Point Women's Institute was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Brooks, with an attendance of twenty-five members including six visitors.

Mrs. W. J. Tedford, president, was in the chair.

It was decided if possible to have the Nursing Course about the middle of March. A committee of three ladies, Mesdames Johnston, Milford Bullock and Darling were appointed to make arrangements for the nursing class.

The roll call was answered by many selections of friendship. The report of the relief committee was given by Mrs. F. M. Young when it was reported that a layette for a baby had been purchased, also garments for a poor family at a sale of work.

A request for some clothing for a boy aged eight years had been received which was being looked after at once.

Miss Velma Bullock has charge of the program for the month of March when the roll call will be answered by an Irish joke.

This meeting will be held in the local school house at 7.30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 4.

After the business of the day was concluded a very pleasing program was given consisting of a paper on "How to be a friend" by Mrs. Milford Bullock; also a paper on "What I expect of my friend" by Mrs. Max Kidd, and a solo, "Just a Wearyin' for you" by Mrs. Elmer Johnston.

The president called for a show of appreciation for the program committee which was given also a hearty clap of hands was given Mrs. Brooks for her hospitality.

MISERABLE FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

Completely Relieved by TANLAC

And what can make one more miserable than Stomach Trouble—with its nagging pain—heavy, bloated feeling—pressure of gas that starts the heart to fluttering and brings on that dreadful feeling of suffocation—the headaches, dizzy spells, and nervous attacks that keep one awake for hours at a time!

Mrs. Elisabeth Dubry, 129 Windsor Ave., Windsor, Ont., knows this. She suffered tortures from her stomach until she read of TANLAC and decided to try it. "By the time the first bottle was finished," she writes, "my stomach did not pain and my nerves had quieted so that I could sleep at night. After the second bottle, I felt like a new person. This was two years ago, and I have never had a sick day since."

Over 100,000 men and women have endorsed TANLAC—more than 55 millions bottles have been sold.

Get a bottle at your druggist's today—money back if it doesn't help you.

St. John's Juniors Win Section Championship

ST. JOHN'S WIN SECTION TITLE AGAIN DEFEAT LOCAL RIVALS TO TAKE ROUND 9 GOALS TO 2

Red Team Makes it Two Straight Over Hockey Club in Playoff Series.

PLAY THE MIDGETS

Saints Tossed in Against Lindsay for the Junior Group Title.

(By F. D. C.)

The St. John's team are once again junior O.H.A. section champions and Tuesday will begin a series with the Lindsay Midgets for the Junior O.H.A. group title, the first battle on Lindsay ice and the return fixture here on Thursday night.

The Saints eliminated their local rivals on Saturday night when they won the second game of the play off series with Peterborough Hockey Club juniors by 6 goals to 2, taking the round by 9 to 2. It was the seventh victory in succession for the red-sweatered team and their third in a row over Jimmy McMartin's Petes.

St. John's were a bit lucky to have shut out the Hockey Club youngsters in the first game of the series, which they won 3 to 0 and perhaps a bit unlucky in not winning by a larger margin on Saturday night when their sustained attack in the second period should have earned them more goals.

Saturday's battle lacked the excitement of the Wednesday affair. The Petes made their big effort in the early stages and when Jones scored for them five minutes after the start their supporters had some hope that the Saints' lead would soon be pulled down. But when Calladine netted the equalizer four minutes after and the period rapidly passed with the count unaltered the outlook changed.

St. John's settled the argument beyond the shadow of a doubt by coming back in the second period and taking almost complete command of the game for the next twenty minutes. Four times they swept through for goals and on a dozen other occasions were frustrated by erratic shooting or by sensational stops by Tommy Foley who kicked out drive after drive. The Petes' attack, on the other hand, had died down to a whisper and when the session ended with the Saints leading 5 to 1 on the game and 8 to 1 on the round the blue team was through.

The last session was just a case of playing out the string. The gallants Petes did the only thing left for them to do at that stage and tossed everybody up on the firing line, but while they managed to score early in the period on a fast shot by Dallin and kept the play in the Saints' territory most of the time they could not bang another goal past Miller and finally, just before the battle ended, Calladine slipped down and beat Foley for the final counter.

On the night's play the St. John's youngsters deserved to win. They stood off the Petes' early onslaught in effective style, outplayed their rivals by a wide margin in the second period and ceased home in the final dash protecting their lead and saving themselves for the hard series with Lindsay. Although they lost to Hockey Club the first time the two teams met, the Saints have since beaten the blue team three times in succession during which they outscored their opponents 20 goals to 7.

In the first game of the play off series the Petes managed to keep Calladine, leading scorer of the group, well under control and most of the effective attacking was done by the Saints' second line. On Saturday night, however, the elusive young centre ice player got going again and four of his team's six goals came from his stick while he waltzed inside on half a dozen other occasions. Cuthbertson and Gardner too turned in much more effective games, the former having three assists and the Saints first string attacked looked like a different outfit. The second line once more broke nicely together and a Merrett to Wilshaw play that ended in a goal by the later was one of the smartest efforts of the night. On the whole the Saints' advance guard passed better and stickhandled to much more effect than their opponents and their superiority in those departments was a big factor in their victory.

On the defence Ellis and Howe handled the Petes' attacks in good style while both contributed a lot of attacking strength by frequent rushes. Miller, who was a star in the nets on Wednesday, came right back with another fine performance. With play in the Saints' territory most of the last period the St. John's goalie was given a lot of work to do, but he was equal to the occasion.

Foley, the Petes' net guardian, also shone brilliantly in his team's defeat. In the second period when the Petes opened their offensive wide out they swept inside repeatedly and only a sterling exhibition by Foley held the red team down to four goals in that almost constant attack on the Hockey Club net. Dallin was again his team's most effective player. It was an iron man stunt for the fast-skating left-winger for Saturday's game was his sixth in the same number of nights and he had enough left to figure in both the Petes' goals, to lead attack after attack and to break up many Saints' plays by speedy backchecking. Epps checked well and was a dangerous attacker while Thirnbeck's poke-checking and the aggressiveness of Jones round the nets stood out. The Petes' defence pair, Wood and Whatley, failed to play up to Wednesday's standard although the former in particular never stopped trying and rushed repeatedly.

The teams:

Peterborough Hockey Club—Goal, Foley; defence, Wood, Whatley; centre, Epps; wings, Jones and Dallin; subs, Tuck, Meagher, Thirnbeck.

St. John's—Goal, Miller; defence, Howe, Ellis; centre, Calladine; wings, Gardner and Cuthbertson; subs, Merrett, Wilshaw, Milliken.

Referee—Elwood Coombs. Lindsay.

The game did not open at as furious a clip as the first battle of the series. The Saints made the first couple of dangerous looking attacks but they went for nothing and it was the Petes who finally scored first. Dallin paved the way for the counter when he tore up the side and drilled a hot one for the corner of the net, which Miller blocked in the air with his stick. The rubber bounced just over the net and Jones tore in fast and in attempting to pass out in front hit Miller with the rubber which bounced back into the net for a somewhat horseshoe's goal.

The Saints put on the pressure but Foley stood them off on several dangerous attacks. At last, however, Cuthbertson drove one at the Petes goalie from the side and Calladine went in fast to net the rebound and tie the score.

There was no more scoring during the period and honors were about even for the rest of the session, Foley and Miller beating off the attackers.

It was a different story in the second twenty minutes. The Saints began to carry the play to the Petes almost from the face off and inside the first minute Foley had to make two great saves on corner shots by Cuthbertson. Calladine stickhandled inside and then shot high and Ellis followed with a rink length rush and missed the net. Then Calladine took a pass from Cuthbertson at the Petes' blue line, wove his way through the blue defence and this time made no mistake, lifting the rubber past Foley at close range, after tricking the rear guard completely. With the exception of an occasional rush that usually ended at the Saints' defense, the Petes could not seem to get going in this period. Calladine increased the winners' lead when Cuthbertson passed the rubber out to him from a scrimmage in the corner. Cal's shot was low and rattled against the net to make the score 3 to 1. Then Howe came down to take a hand in the scoring. He broke away from his own blue line, circled in front of the Petes' defence and skating fast backhanded a swift one into the top corner of the net, a shot that beat Foley completely.

The Saints' second line continued the onslaught when they came out. Merrett sped down mid-ice and slipped a pass to Wilshaw, who closed in fast and gave Foley little chance to save. That made it 5 to 1 and fine goal keeping by Foley kept it at that figure. The last period saw little real hockey. The Petes moved their whole works up on the attack and with Ellis in the penalty box completing a term he had been given just at the close of the second session, Dallin picked up a loose puck and closed in to drive a swift one into the corner of the net. Ellis was penalized again soon after he got back on the ice and the Petes battle desperately to cut down the lead. They did get plenty of shots at Miller, but he coolly turned them aside. The Saints killed time by frequently shooting the rubber the length of the ice. The crowd showed its disapproval of this strategy by booing, but with the round well in hand and a tough game in sight Tuesday night, the Red team were well advised in saving themselves so that they got the last goal of the battle. Calladine stick-handled out of the corner and although apparently closely checked, managed to squirm his way out in front and tip the rubber into the net to make the final count, 6 goals to 2.

Trenton Scores Victory But Fails To Win Round

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 9.—In a dull and listless game, Trenton Intermediates defeated Belleville on Saturday night, 2—0, but failed by one goal to tie the round, as Belleville won in Trenton by 4—1. The local team will now meet R.M.C. of Kingston for the group championship, the latter having defeated Gananoque in a two-game series. Pesistent and close checking made the game dull. The players of both teams bunched in centre ice, and Trenton used a one-man attack to cut down the lead of the locals, but the puck-carrier was generally steered into the defense. The first two periods were goalless, with Trenton scoring twice in the third frame, Filion and Parnell being the marksmen.

CATARACTS SCORE SECOND VICTORY

Win From Kitchener-Silverwoods by Lone Goal in Overtime Struggle.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9 (C.P.) — Niagara Falls Cataracts scored their second victory of the week over Kitchener Silverwoods on Saturday by notching the lone goal of a keenly-contested overtime struggle. The victory placed the Niagara hockeyists back in second place, one point behind the leading Galt Terriers.

Though weakened through injuries the Silverwoods battled the Cataracts to a standstill during the regulation periods. Lack of defensive relief, however, caused them to weaken momentarily in the overtime and "Money" Kuntz took advantage of the lapse to rap in the winning counter after five minutes had elapsed.

The standing to date follows:

Odds Favor Harvey In Dundee Tangle

NEW YORK, February 9 (C. P.). — Len Harvey, British middleweight champion, had Vince Dundee of Baltimore on the floor twice in their first meeting.

He hopes to be able to keep him there long enough for a ten-count when they meet in a return 12-round bout in Madison Square Garden on Friday night.

Harvey, caught Dundee napping and sent him to the canvas twice when they met here a few weeks ago. Much to Harvey's astonishment possibly, Dundee got up and made himself so generally obnoxious the rest of the way he galloped off with the decision.

With a few more weeks in which to get himself accustomed to his new surroundings, Harvey may reverse the verdict. The betting odds favor him by a slight margin.

Other boxing centres have only routine shows of no particular general interest this week.

DARTFORD

Miss Helen Runnels of Norham visited the parental home over the week-end.

Mrs. M. Atkinson returned home on Sunday after visiting friends in Peterborough.

A very quiet wedding took place at the manse in Warkworth on Wednesday, February 4th, when Miss Rose Shopland, of Dartford, became the bride of Mr. Henry Hawkins. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Smith. The young couple will reside on the grooms farm in Percy.

Mr. Marvin Bailey is helping Mr. Hayden Atkinson with his wood.

Mr. Frank Taylor who has been to Montreal having an operation on his throat has returned and is working for Mr. Will Harriot.

Mrs. Alex Lockhart is visiting her mother, Mrs. Davey, who has been in poor health lately.

A shower was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hawkins (nee Rose Shopland) at their home on Thursday evening. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening. The bride and groom received many beautiful and useful gifts.

YELLOW JACKETS ADVANCE IN LOOP

Trounce Syracuse Stars 5 to 1 and Hold Cleveland Indians to One-all Tie.

By GEORGE MAGUIRE
(Canadian Press Sports Writer)

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9. — After lying dormant for some time near the cellar position the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets moved up in the International hockey standing rather threateningly over the week-end. They trounced the tail-end Syracuse Stars, 5 to 1, on Saturday and followed this up by holding the clever Cleveland Indians to a one-all tie, to gain three points.

Buffalo Bisons increased their lead at the top of the pack by blanking Detroit, 2 to 0, but the latter made amends for this defeat by handing the Stars their second successive defeat by a 3 to 2 count.

Windsor and London, the two Canadian entrants, were idle. The second place berth of the Bulldogs was not threatened by the other five teams, but Cleveland tied the Tecumsehs for third place by splitting the points with the Yellow Jackets. The latter in turn moved up to within five points of the London and Cleveland clubs.

The standing to date follows:

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts.
Buffalo ...	34	21	10	3	75	49	45
Windsor ..	34	18	11	5	98	78	41

Opponent Is Wanted For Tommy Loughran

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(CP)—Wanted: An opponent for Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, former world light heavyweight champion. Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Chicago stadium, signed Loughran today for a bout February 20, but when it came to locating a warrior to oppose him, he was shunned by all approached.

Tuffy Griffiths refused the assignment, contending he has a match with Jack Sharkey in prospect. Charlie Retzlaff, the Duluth, Minn., knockerout, also balked, claiming he damaged his hands in polishing off Johnny Risko in Detroit last Friday night. Now matchmaker Lewis is seeking volunteers.

Falcons Drop Into Third Place By Defeating Ottawa—Hawks Win From Rangers.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9 (By George Maguire, Canadian Press Sports Writer).—United States teams outplayed Canadian squads to the extent of two victories to one at the week-end. Toronto Maple Leafs, who nosed out the New York Americans, 2 to 0, were the only Canuck outfit to finish on top. The Canadian group leaders, Montreal's Flying Frenchmen, fell before the American section pace-setters, Boston Bruins, 2 to 1, while Detroit Falcons turned the tables on Ottawa, 2 to 0. Chicago Blackhawks rounded out the four-game program with a 3 to 2 triumph over Manhattan's blue-shirted Rangers.

Canadiens failed to live up to an old Habitant custom. They scored the first tally against the Bruins and it is traditional history that when the Flying Frenchmen accomplish this, the game is as good is in the win column.

Ignore Custom

Art Ross' clever band of goal scorers ignored custom and a few other things, however, by tallying within four minutes after Mandou had opened the scoring with a vicious shot on a pass from Howie Morenz. "Red" Beattie evened the count on a pass from Harry Oliver and soon after Hal Darragh notched what proved the winning marker on a pass from Harris.

The balance of the game was played at a speedy clip with the Bruins' defensive quartette of Eddie Shore, George Owen, Lionel Hitchman and Tiny Thompson in the nets, proving too strong for the desperate Habitant snipers, who tried valiantly to secure the equalizer.

By defeating the Amazing Amerks, Toronto's speedy Leafs just about made certain of a play-off berth. They are now only five points behind the Montreal Red Shirts, four in the van of the Maroons, and six up on the A's.

Eddie Gerard gave his men explicit instructions to tab along with young Charlie Conacher, rated the hardest shooter in the league. It was a wise move no doubt, but it didn't work out that way, as it gave the dashing Harvey Jackson more leeway than he is accustomed to getting. He capitalized on this freedom to the extent of notching both Toronto markers; one late in the opening frame and the second in the middle chapter. The smooth and consistent playing of Joe Primeau received credit for assists on both tallies.

Detroit's hard-earned victory over the Senators, synchonizing as it did with Rangers' fourth defeat by the Blackhawks, boosted the Falcons into third place in the American division once again by the margin of a point.

Last Tuesday the Ottawans had their home game transferred to the Motor City and then turned about and trounced the Falcons for their first victory in more than a month. Last night, however, it was a different story, and the Motor magnates won handily. Ebbie Goodfellow, the league's leading point collector, figured in both tallies. After assisting Herbie Lewis to notch the first in the opening frame, he breezed from end to end in the last session to score a neat goal.

No Lucky Win

While failing to attain victory the Rangers can console themselves with the fact the Windy City squad needed the aid of Dame Fortune to chalk up their fourth consecutive win.

With the score deadlocked at 2-all half-way through the last frame, Helge Rostrum blazed a long shot at the Ranger net which took a queer bound, evaded Goalkeeper Johnny Roach, and crossed the line for a goal.

Each team scored in the first 20 minutes, Frankie Boucher putting the Blue Shirts in front shortly after a minute's play. Wentworth got the equalizer less than two minutes later, Speedy Hal March sent the Hawks into the lead late in the middle frame, but the Rangers knotted the count early in the third chapter on Ching Johnson's goal.

Frank Hoey of Montreal Wins Snowshoe Marathon

MONTREAL, Feb. 9.—Covering the last eight-mile lap from Montreal East to Lafontaine Park in 55 minutes, to the cheers of a crowd of over 100,000, Frank Hoey, 27-year-old runner, who makes his home in Point St. Charles, yesterday climaxed a week of gruelling effort by winning the last lap and first place in the International Snowshoe Marathon, that began a week ago in Quebec. Hoey's victory in yesterday's eighth final lap of the 200-mile test over roads piled high with snow, and fought out through weather often bitterly cold, marked the sixth lap he won during the race, and give him an elapsed time for the run of 26 hours 43 minutes and 40 seconds.

OSHAWA INTERMEDIATES DEFEAT PETES TO CAPTURE GROUP TITLE

Win From Liftlock Crew 9-4 in Second Game to Cop Off Round 16-6.

ONE-SIDED SERIES.

Special to The Examiner.

OSHAWA, February 9. — The Oshawa Red Devils coasted into the group title in the Intermediate O. H.A. on Saturday night, when they outplayed the Peterborough Intermediates to win by a score of 9 to 4 on the game and 16 to 6 on the round. Only a handful of fans turned out to see the Red Devils make sure of advancing into the O.H.A. championship playdowns, but they saw a good game of hockey one in which the Petes, although badly beaten, never quit trying the fact that they ran in two goals in the dying minutes of the game testifying to the kind of battle they put up. Oshawa had too much speed, too much combination, and too much experience for the boys from the Lift Lock City, and these were big factors in enabling the locals to pile up the goals.

Good Hockey in Second.

The second period provided the best hockey of the game. In this period, the Petes held the Red Devils even, each scoring one goal, but with four to one lead at the end of the first, Oshawa could afford to take chances, which they did. In the last period, Oshawa scored four times, but the Petes kept up close, the two goals in the final two minutes enabling them to count three in this frame. It was a clean game of hockey, only three penalties being handed out, Calladine, Lackie, and Black being the offenders, but none of the penalties was for an offence of a serious nature.

The goal scoring was well distributed among the players of the Oshawa team. Rowden led the parade with three, Robinson had two, and Black, Souck, Conlin, and Bond one each. The scorers for Peterborough were Lackie, Dundas, Maudsley and Creighton. Both goalkeepers turned in some wonderful saves, Hollingsworth being particularly good in the second period when he cleared miraculously time and again. Of the Oshawa line-up, Rowden and Bond were standouts, although the alternate forward line of Houck, Conlin and Robinson stacked up well with the first string men and did their share of the heavy work. Maudsley, Lackie, and Creighton were outstanding for Peterborough, the first-named playing a hard checking game, but having bad luck with his shooting.

Taking it all over, it was just the kind of game to get a rink full of fans to an uproar, but the attendance was disappointing, and the crowd seldom raised a cheer. In fact, most of the cheers came when Peterborough scored or when Hollingsworth performed some spectacular feat of net minding. But for a team five goals behind, the Petes deserved credit for the battle they put up, and they made many friends in Oshawa by their display.

While not hard pushed, the Red Devils showed enough to convince the fans that they are going to go along in the semi-finals playoff. Their combination plays were working to perfection, and with the team hardly weakend with the alternation of the ice they will be hard to take into camp.

Bond Gets First

The game was scarcely a minute old when Jack Bond slipped a pass to Black, who coasted in for Oshawa's first goal. Play was even for about five minutes until, with Calladine doing a two minute jog in the cooler, Black passed to Rowden, who drew Hollingsworth out of the net and tapped the puck past him for the second goal. Lackie made it look interesting when he stick handled the length of the rink and slammed a hot one past Burr. A minute later, however, Houcks scored on a pass from Robinson and before the period ended Robinson scored on a single handed effort. First period score, Oshawa 4, Peterborough 1.

The Petes started the second session strongly, and with Black in the penalty box, Dundas and Creighton missed great chances to score, their shooting being off the mark. In a mixup in front of the Oshawa goal, Dundas slipped the puck over Burr's protrate body, for Peterborough's second goal. For a few minutes the Petes out-played the Red Devils, but Rowden and Bond came back strong, and turned the tide, stick handling through the whole Peterborough team to score Oshawa's fifth goal. Second period score: Oshawa 5, Peterborough 2.

Maudsley had hard luck in the first play of the third period, Burr just saving his shot. Rowden and Robinson scored two goals in quick succession, however, to make the count 7 to 2 for the locals and when Conlin and Bond followed with two more, it looked like a rout. The Petes however came right back and finished strong, Maudsley's good work being rewarded when at last he burned one past Burry and Creighton capping a night of hard work when he took a perfect pass from Hatton to notch Peterborough's fourth and final goal to make the full time score 9 to 4 for Oshawa.

The line-up:

Oshawa—Goal, Burr; defence, Elliott and Johnston; centre, Bond; wings, Rowden and Black; alternates Conlin, Houck and Robinson.

Peterborough—Goal Hollingsworth; defence, Lackie and Calladine; centre Maudsley; wings, Creighton and Hatton; alternates, Jarvis, Dundas and Hayden.

TEST WORKERS LOSE OUT 2-1

Winners Score Goals in Dying Minutes of First and Second Frames.

GORE STARS AT CENTRE.

Last week the Engineers and Test men of the Canadian General Electric Co. met at All Saints' Ring in the first game of the annual series in competition for the Tamplett trophy. The Engineers were handicapped, having to play the entire game without substitutes, but came through in impressive style to take a 2—1 decision.

In the opening stanza the Engineers were content to allow the Testers to force the play and after almost a whole period of defensive hockey, W. Auld took a pass from Hayes, and after skating through the entire Test team, scored on a shot that baffled McKenzie, the opposing goalie.

The Engineers continued to take it rather easy in the second frame, while their opponents made many rushes, but were unable to beat Dickson, until all but two minutes of the period had faded into history, when they tallied from a mix-up in front of the Engineers' citadel.

The third period was scoreless, so two overtime periods were played. In the first of the extra sessions, Gore at centre for the Engineers, took a short from outside the Test defence, and following in, netted the rebound. The game ended with the Test forcing the play.

The feature of the game was the brilliant performance by Gore at centre for the winners. After being absent from the game for three years, he made a remarkable comeback and was mainly responsible for the Testers' defeat.

Litster, Harmer and Holgate starred for the Test, who will be strengthened in the next game which will be played early this week, by the addition of Munro, Grasswell and Cobbold. The teams:—

Test Men.—Goal, Mackenzie; defense, Holgate and Lawrence; centre, Woodland; wings, Harmer and Litster; subs., Geldart, Brown, McKeagan and Tracy.

Engineers.—Goal, Dickson; defense, J. R. Auld and Fanjoy; centre, Gore; wings, W. R. Auld and Hayes.

Penalties.—W. Auld.

Referee.—J. Reeve-Newson.

INDIANS SCORE 107 GOAL TOTAL

Pass Century Mark in Wild Scoring Bee Against New Haven Eagles.

PROVIDENCE IS SECOND.

BOSTON, Feb. 9 (C.P.) — The Springfield Indians, leaders of the Canadian-American Hockey League all season, have passed the 100 goal mark with a bang. They needed a single tally to reach the century point, but had a wild scoring session against the New Haven Eagles and now have a total of 107 goals for and but 56 against them.

The Providence Reds continue in second place, three full games behind the leaders. The Boston Tigers regained third place last night by defeating the fast travelling Philadelphia Arrows. New Haven ended another week's play in the circuit's cellar.

The official standing, including games of February, follows:—

	W.	L.	T.	F.	A.	Pts.
Springfield	21	4	1	107	56	43
Providence	16	5	5	84	48	37
Boston	9	17	2	66	49	20
Philadelphia ...	8	15	3	51	67	19
New Haven ...	6	19	3	44	98	15

Heximer, Springfield forward, continues at the head of the league's high scorers with a total of 36 points, 8 more than that of the runner-up, Eddie Burke, Boston. Leo Gaudreault and "Gizzy" Hart, both of Providence, finished the week in a tie for third place, each with 25 points, and "Yank" Boyd, Boston winger, followed them on the list with 23 points.

Eddie Convey of the New Haven club, finished the week leading the penalty carriers with a total of 88 minutes, 60 seconds longer than "Bud" Cook of Providence, who topped the list last week. Boucher of New Haven, continued in third place with a total of 60 minutes.

CITY LEAGUE GAMES BILLED FOR TUESDAY

Four Junior Teams Will Tangle at Brock Street Rink—Games Start at 7.15.

Two City League games are billed for to-morrow night at the Brock Street rink, when the four junior teams take up where they left off last week. The first game begins at 7.15 and will find the Star Athletic Club and Johnson's Sea-horses in action. At 8.30 Choates and C.G.E. Office come on for the second half of the double-header.

Fans who saw these outfits in actions last week were quite surprised at the speed and finish shown by the players. The Stars battled hard to win 3-1 over C.G.E., and Choates and Sea-horses went to a 5-5 draw. If the contests to-morrow night are anything like these witnessed last Tuesday night, spectators will get more than their money's worth.

SEVERAL INTERMEDIATE PLAYERS INJURED DURING PAST SEASON

Jim Gillespie Unable to Play on Saturday on Account of Broken Hand.

RIBS CRACKED.

Although not very large successes crowned the efforts of the Peterborough Intermediate team this year, the 1931 season, which closed for the Petes on Saturday by their defeat at the hands of Oshawa, will long be remembered by some of the players. Broken noses, absent teeth, cracked ribs and operations make the 1930 season a particularly lurid one to most of the Petes. In the matter of injuries the season was a standout.

Jim Gillespie, goalkeeper, went under the anesthetic at Nicholls Hospital on Saturday and had an operation on his left hand. Jim had the bone in his hand severely injured when he caught one of Doc Rowden's hot ones. He was unable to play in the game Saturday night and his place between the posts was taken by Len Hollingsworth. In an earlier game, Gillespie had his nose injured.

Hayden, who was playing on the second forward line for the Petes on Saturday, suffered a grievous injury. His nose was broken in several places and he fainted twice through loss of blood.

"Sailor" Maudsley and Ted LeBarr have both lost three or four more molars in recent games, and must undergo considerable dentistry work before they will be able to chew beefsteak with customary gusto.

Several of the players have reported cracked ribs. Red Creighton and Lackey have played many games with their sides taped up until they resembled totem poles. The others have all had minor injuries.

FORWARD PASS GREAT BOON TO COLLEGE RUGBY

Innovation Should Put Intercollegiate Union Back on Map Again. LIVEN UP THE GAME.

(By Lou Golden. Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—The decision to make a modified forward pass part of the intercollegiate football rules may be just the thing that will put the college teams in a position where they can win a Dominion title. That is taking for granted that the rule will be accepted and used in the Canadian Rugby Union playdowns, and it very likely will.

The colleges with their afternoon practices, their teams not tired out by a day of physical toil before the pads are donned for the workouts on the gridiron, should not only be in the best of condition but the best drilled. Unfortunately in the past five years that has not been the case.

College football has not been good. In many cases it has been exactly the reverse and only the fact of the glamor of the university crowds which draw more crowds has made the games worth watching.

This forward pass with all its modifications will need a good deal of drilling to bring it to the position where it is of any use to the teams. That means grind and more grind and there the university teams will have the advantage over the others who have little enough time before the electric lights to bother with anything new.

With the pass now an actuality Major Forbes of McGill University has been vindicated and his pet theory will be put into practice. For many years the McGill representation on the College Union board has been clamoring for the pass, and now that they have it here is hoping that it proves the thing that will put college rugby on a footing equal to that of the other teams in the Big Four and the best of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

There is something wrong with college football—not at one University but at them all. This pass may be the solution of the ill.

The men attending the universities are no weaker than they were same half a dozen or more years ago. The coaching is no worse and it is hoped that the fighting spirit for which college teams in some years have been outstanding, has not wanted. Whatever the cause, the rugby teams in colleges have been providing an exceptionally poor brand of ball and who knows but this factor of the new pass may be the means, both physically and mentally of putting them where they should be.

But the pass when perfected, and known, if to be of any use, will have to be something different than the lobs seen thrown in junior company. Those who have seen an American gridiron star throw a pass saw a beautiful throw magnificently executed. The throws do not sear in the air and attempt to imitate a put, but if they resemble anything it is the peg of the catcher to second base in baseball.

Which again will mean another modification. It will mean a longer ball with a smaller circumference to enable easy handling and getting a good grasp. The college fans may yet rise in a mass to watch a brilliant forward pass put a team out of the rut of defeat into the smooth path of success. Which ever one of the four universities perfects its use first may be the next holder of the cup that has been on the shelves at Queen's for the past two years.

Several Records Set At Ski Tournament

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Feb. 9.—(C.P.)—Lymburne of Revelstoke, competitor in the ski contests here yesterday, jumped 236 feet under poor hill conditions. He will represent this city at the Lake Placid ski tournament next week. Lymburne came within four feet of equalizing the world's amateur record of 240 feet made by Nels Nelson on the local hill.

Several records were smashed. J. M. Jamieson broke the world's class "C" record with a jump of 139 feet. D. D. Gunarson broke the "D" class record with 92 feet, and E. Croll, 11 years of age, made a record class "E" jump of 82 feet.

Oshawa Waterworks Show Big Surplus

OSHAWA, Feb. 9.—The waterworks department of the Oshawa Public Utilities Commission had a profit of $24,047.71 for its 1930 operations, it was revealed in the annual financial statement presented by City Treasurer P. A. Blackburn at the meeting of the commission recently. This profit is greater than that for any year except 1928 and 1929.

Revenue from operations showed a decrease from 1929 of $13,206, almost entirely attributed to the decrease in water rates effected during the year.

Out of its surplus for the year, the commission paid to the city council $5,000 to be used towards the reduction of taxation, and it used $10,040 for capital expenditures.

The revenue statement shows that $117,939.20 was received in water rates during the year. $1,000 from the city for street flushing and $12,200 for hydrant rentals, $39.65 for shut-offs and water repairs and $769.98 for connections, making a total of $131,968.

Operating expenses totalled $42,675.57. The principal items were: labor, $19,230; fuel, power and light, $8,140; water purification, $426; pumps maintenance, $573; pump house building maintenance, $578; general repairs, $3,069; connection material, $1,908; engineering and office supplies $1,749, and bank charges for collecting water rates, $355.

There was thus left a net operating revenue of $89,293.26, of which debenture payments, including principal and interest took $60,837.10. A sum of $5,692.43 was set aside for depreciation on assets purchased out of revenue, leaving the net income, or profit of $24,047.71.

WEST INDIES AFTER TRADE WITH CANADA

Hurricanes and Droughts Effect Production and Cause Diversion Into Other Channels.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6—Hurricanes and droughts have added to the hardship of unfavorable markets for producers in the West Indies, G. A. Jones, assistant commissioner of agriculture for the British West Indies, said at a luncheon given in the Windsor Hotel under the auspices of the Canadian West Indian League.

In opening his remarks Mr. Jones spoke of the Virgin Islands, a little group that has been badly neglected in the past, he declared. In visiting them recently he discovered that they were qualified to produce many things for which there is a demand, and he asked that its 5,000 inhabitants who have been obliged to trade with the United States, having no steamer service with the Canadian lines, be encouraged in every possible way. He appealed specially to the steamship lines, representatives of which were present at the luncheon.

Of St. Kitts he said, "This year the crop will be only about 10,000 tons as compared with the usual 18,000. They are having a very bad time. Sea Island cotton has been one of their staple commodities and a change in the styles makes it impossible to sell the product, although that grown on St. Kitts is of the finest quality with a very long staple.' In consequence, he said, the islanders are now turning their attention to the raising of tomatoes and other vegetables.

Antigua, the seat of the Government of the Leeward Islands, has had no rain for nine months and will harvest only about one-third of her regular crop. Here the sugar industry had a firm hold, but the market is dreadfully unfavorable. Factories have come to the rescue of the growers of cane and mean to lend them the money they need to plant the 1932 crop, and their action is necessary for it is certainly to be a black year for Antigua.

BELGIUM PLACES BIG PLANE ORDER

Great Britain Received $1,500,000 Airplane Order From Belgium.

WIN OUT IN TEST.

LONDON, Feb. 6 (By The Canadian Press)—Facts which came to light within the last few days emphasize the achievement of a British company obtaining from the Belgian government the largest order for service aeroplanes placed in Great Britain by a foreign power since the war. The struggle among the aircraft constructors of several nations for contracts worth more than $1,500,000 belongs to the high romance of business.

When the British representatives, "Firefly" single-seater fighter and "Fox" two-seater, reached the Belgian testing ground the decision to buy from France and Czecho-Slovakia was already taken, and the contracts awaited signature by the responsible Government officials. These documents were torn up after the British machines had flown in demonstration before Belgian air officers and technical experts.

The "Firefly" gained the day by exhibiting a range of speed and rocket-like rate of climb which far surpassed any other competing aeroplane. In the hands of Belgian air officers, the machine was put through every conceivable manoeuvre, including flight upside down over the entire length of the aerodrome, showing ease and swiftness of control that surprised and delighted the pilots.

The "Fox," powered like the "Firefly" with the Rolls-Royce "F" type motor of about 500 horsepower, was equally outstanding in fierce competition.

Belgium is now assured of flying equipment which will place her air regiments above all other nations, Great Britain alone excepted, in the quality and performance of one and two seater fighting aircraft.

Church Hockey Loop Play-Offs To-Night

The first round of the Church Hockey League play-offs takes place to-night at All Saints' rink, when the midget, juveniles and juniors begin the final fight for the championship of their sections. These teams will play at the same hours next Tuesday night also.

The midget teams Mark Street and George Street, start it off at six o'clock. At seven, Trinity and Knox Juveniles take the ice for their contest. The juniors, Mark Street and St. James, wind up the evening's hockey, beginning their battle at 8.15 sharp.

The boys in this league have been dishing up a clever brand of hockey throughout their schedule, playing fast and clean. With so much at stake to-night, the evening's entertainment should be packed full of action and thrills. A fast sheet of ice is promised for both nights of the play-offs.

Wild Geese Contradict Groundhog's Prophecy

MULGRAVE, N. S., Feb. 9. — (CP)—Early on the morning of February 2, Mister Groundhog emerged from his burrow, observed his shadow and announced at least six more weeks of winter. But yesterday a flock of wild geese, numbering about 150, flew northward over Mulgrave, bound for the sub-Arctic spring. The northward migration of geese from their winter quarters in the Port Joli district of Queens and Shelburne counties usually begins in March, Mulgrave's are wondering whom to believe.

Pla-Mors Hard on Trail Of American Loop Leaders

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 9.—Pennant-bound, Kansas City are hard on the trail of Tulsa Oilers, leaders of the American Hockey League. The Pla-Mors 1930 champions, took sole possession of runner-up position last night by defeating their second-place mates, the wilting Chicago Shamrocks, 3 to 0.

Saturday night they finished a clean sweep of a two-game series against Duluth Hornets, taking an overtime 4 to 3 victory.

Wrote 5 More Lyrics Than He Had Wives

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—Refuting the general theory of both Hebrew and Christian scholars regarding the authorship of the "Songs of Songs," attributed to King Solomon, Abraham M. Klein special lecturer in Hebrew poetry and author of several poems, expressed the opinion that the collection was a compilation of a number of love lyrics, an anthology of folk songs current in Palestine over an extensive period. His address "King Solomon," was given before a large assembly of senior students of Congregation Shear Hashomayim College of Jewish Studies.

"King Solomon has a double character in Jewish lore," Mr. Klein said. "He is both the philosopher and the love poet. Of him, it is said that he had 1,000 wives and wrote 1,005 lyrics."

Italian And French Teams Tie For Lead

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Alf Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, the crack French "red divil" pair, winners of Chicago's last six day bicycle race, were tied today for first place with the strong Italian road team of Pietro Linari and Gaetano Belloni in the 25th international grind at the stadium. The Toronto, Ont. team of "Torchy" Peden and Lou Elder, were two laps behind.

Sensational spills and wild riding marked the first night and early morning of the race.

Dominating the hockey world in 1927 was the team of the Ottawa Senators when they won the world's championship. Back in 1919 this club was the mainstay of President Calder of the N.H.L. when the financial outlook was mighty cloudy. To-day this club has appealed to the Board of Directors of the National Hockey League for financial assistance. This has their claims on the fact that they provide the gate for the other clubs in the league during half of the season, and if they failed to carry on it would affect the other clubs to the same extent that it would affect themselves. Other clubs are also in difficulties due to world-wide depression. The Philadelphia Quakers are stated to take a loss of between $50,000 and $75,000 this season. Statistics show that attendances in major hockey has increased this year, but the increase is towards the cheaper seats. Private interests in Ottawa have offered $100,000 for the Senators' franchise. If the offer is accepted the team will continue its stay in this country. But if it is not, another Canadian team will have dropped from the National Hockey League. This will be sincerely regretted by many followers of this distinctly Canadian game.

$5,000 DAMAGES ASKED OF COUNTY

F. T. Mahood Enters Damage Action Against County of Peterborough.

EYESIGHT IMPAIRED.

A suit for $5,000 damages was filed to-day against the Corporation of the County of Peterborough in the interests of F. T. Mahood, former caretaker of the court house building. Mahood bases his claim upon the alleged negligence and default of the county in supplying him as its caretaker with an unsafe, defective and improper instrument for the breaking of coal to be consumed in the furnace at the court house with the knowledge of the county officials that the instrument supplied was unsafe, unfit and dangerous for the purpose that it was being used and as a result of which Mahood lost the sight of one of his eyes and in the final results his eyesight of his other has been most materially impaired.

Mahood further claims the benefit of the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act and the action is also brought under and subject to the provisions of said Act.

INTERESTING DEBATE IN LAKEFIELD HALL

Held Under Auspices of Ladies' Aid of Knox United Church.

LAKEFIELD, February 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — 'Resolved, That women make a greater contribution to the world through the home than through public vocation" was the subject of a highly interesting debate held on Thursday evening in the school room of Knox United Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild. The affirmative was taken by three gentlemen, while three ladies supported the negative. Rev. T. M. Wesley occupied the chair and introduced the subject, announcing a change in the list of lady participants—Mrs. Davis was unable to take part owing to her health and her place was taken by Miss Elsie Kidd.

A. E. Mark, leader of the affirmative, was the first speaker. "The child is father of the man," that is the keynote. Our faculties develop in regular order from the time a child beats upon the table with a spoon and later wants a play house and if these faculties are not fed they are gone for ever; they are fairly well developed at seven years. In the middle ages the Society of Jesuits, founded by Ignatius Loyola, were the leaders of thought, and one of the greatest of their number, Francois Lavier, made the statement, "Give me a boy or girl until they are seven, and they are mine for ever; they may bend, but they won't break." That is still the slogan of the Roman Catholic Church. A child until the age of seven is in his home, and it is the home, therefore, that is the nation maker, and there the mother holds sway and in many cases the mother influence controls her family all their lives. The ideals of war were taught by the Teuton mothers in their homes for generations, and this was a primary cause of the Great War which was won by the British mothers, who by their gifts and cheery letters helped to keep up the morale of the troops. The men sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and they fought and died to save their homes. Women make the best kindergarten teachers, but in High Schools and Universities women can't make a contribution equal to that they can make in the home. Wives and mothers are never unemployed, they do not swell the list of those who make up our unemployment problem, but they are employed in the highest calling the world knows anything about. The Christian church, in setting apart Mothers' Day, paid the greatest compliment to the greatest influence for good the world has ever known.

Mrs. Yale.

Mrs. W. W. Yale, the leader of the negative, stated that in entering public life women were yielding to evolution; women formerly took a part in agriculture, as Ruth gleaning in the fields, and so on down through the ages. Large families are not so necessary as in the earlier stages of our national history, and anyway so few members of those large families ever came to maturity, most of them died young. There is the great preponderance, too, of women in Great Britain and in our own land the number of girl babies far exceeds the number of boys, and then the scarcity of suitable men keeps many women from matrimony, for while marriage is a blessing to some it is a curse to many, and in the States there is one divorce to every seven marriages. The dependent girl is treading the fossil footprints of feudalism; there is a better part than Martha's with her meticulous housekeeping. The enlargement of women's sphere is one of the fruits of Protestant Christianity, otherwise we would be perpetual minors with no vote. A nation is no higher than its womanhood. St. Paul pays a tribute to the work and influence of Phoebe, and then we have Miriam, the first poetess, one of the long line of which Elizabeth Barrett Browning was a notable example, down to Elizabeth Cameron of our own time. Think of the contribution of the deaconesses of the low church and the sisterhoods of the high church, Edith M. Clarke of China, who made a remarkable contribution to the Christian work in that land, and Frances Willard, the founder of the W.C.T.U., are two outstanding examples of the influence of women in vocational life.

Mr. Porter.

J. A. Porter was the second speaker for the negative. Many women are fond of a fine house, but not so many love a home, and the home is the fabric and foundation of the nation and the state's greatest asset is the products of the home. Home making in its truest sense is the greatest contribution women can make to the state or ever will make. A nation is just as strong and no stronger than the foundation on which it is built. Such great men as Abraham Lincoln, W. E. Gladstone, Henry Ward Beecher, Shakespeare, and many others trace their success to the influence of their mothers. Other women make their contribution through the lives of their husbands in helping them in their success, as has Mrs. Howard Ferguson. Another example of this was seen in Lady Laurier, who was a great asset to her distinguished husband. The better class of women do not wish for public life. Mother is the power behind the throne; God could not be everywhere, so He made mothers. Public life demands much time, and the price we are paying for our vocational women is shaking the moral foundation of our nation to-day. Gone is the family altar and the homes of these vocational women are feeding the juvenile courts, which are doing a truly marvellous work; but as Dr. Margaret Patterson said, "If the mothers of the country would get on to their job, there would be no need for juvenile courts." There is a great depression at the present time, perhaps the greatest we have ever known, due to unemployment. There are two causes of this unemployment problem—one is over-production and the other that women have in many cases crowded the men out of their jobs.

Miss Kidd

Miss Elsie Kidd stated that unemployment is not a new thing and with women in public vocation greater income is brought into the home. She cited several examples of women who have been outstanding contributions to the good of the world, Mme. Curie, who with her husband, discovered radium; Mrs. Herman Tull, who burdened with a bed-ridden husband, has risen to her vocation and is raising wheat, and by her individual effort has this year won the world's prize; Joan of Arc, the saviour of France in the middle ages; Florence Nightingale, whose contribution as a nurse, has never been equalled; Emmeline Pankhurst, who went to prison that women might get the vote; Mme. Montessori, who has revolutionized the world of education; Sarah Bernhardt, the "Divine Sarah" who shared with Victor Hugo and Pasteur the fame of being the greatest of all France in the past hundred years; also there were and are Mme. Albani, Agnes C. Laut, Lody Drummond, Dr. Helen McMurchy, Mary Pickford, Margaret Anglin, Nellie McClung, Lucy Montgomery, Judge Emily Murphy, Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen, Mrs. McGillivray Knowles and others who have done great things for the betterment of the world along many lines. Elizabeth Fry who has done such wonders for prison reform that it is said of her: "Eternity alone will reveal the good she did."

Reeve Tanner

Reeve C. S. Tanner was the third speaker for the affirmative. The whole world gives evidence of the place where women can do the most good. The immortal Burns said: "Oh wad some power the giftie gie us to see ourselves as ithers see us" and women speak for themselves and in the home, by the power of example, speak loudest. Mrs. Wilson, the mother of eight children, was made the first woman Senator, the highest honor in the gift of this or any other nation. The unharnessed water power of this country is nothing to the unharnessed boy power. Premier Bennett says "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world" and it is very true. The list given by the last speaker are exceptions rather than the rule; divorces have brought about the vocational woman which is one of the greatest evils of the day.

Mrs. Wesley

Mrs. T. W. Wesley was the last speaker for the negative and she paid a great tribute to the wonderful work of the women school teachers who have such a great influence over the children and who teach them morals, manners and discipline. Cora Stewart Wilson, who at 83 is still teaching, has done much for the ignorant mountaineers of Southern Virginia. When she retired from teaching in the public schools she went among those illiterate mountaineers and has lifted them beyond the level of merely making moonshine whiskey and keeping up family feuds.

The crime wave among the youth is due largely to the literature they read; the professional librarians are supervising now the reading of the city children and are specializing in story telling. There should also be film supervision. Mary Steesor, the white queen of Calibar refused marriage in order to devote her life to missions. The district nurses in the city, and outpost nurses in rural districts are doing a noble work. We have Dr. Margaret Patterson, the judge of the juvenile court in Toronto who has done wonderful things. Then aHrriet Beecher Stowe, whose book "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did so much to liberate the slaves, has made a remarkable contribution.

The war brought a crisis, and the women shortened their skirts and their hair and went to work to take the places of the men and nobly have they filled them.

Mr. Mark

Mr. Mark was allowed a few minutes for reply. The greatest crime known is to tamper with the sanctity of a home, the speaker saw a man in Saskatoon shot dead for this and there was no trial. Matrimony is a divine institution and should not be lightly spoken of. The missionaries must marry to get the best results for their work as the example of their home life goes far in influencing the heathen races to accept Christianity. Every organization, good and bad, is controlled by the home.

The judges were Rev. S. A. Kemp, Miss Graham and Mr. Connell and their unanimous decision was given by Mr. Kemp who gave credit to both sides for earnest preparation and gave the decision to the affirmative.

Mrs. J. W. Simpson, the critic, spoke of the particularly fine arguments of Mr. Porter, his excellent delivery and well defined points. Miss Kidd had some excellent examples of outstanding women but they were exceptions rather than the rule. Mr. Mark's point on Mother's Day was an outstanding one.

Besides the debate there were several excellent numbers on the program, piano solo "Clayton's Grand March" by Miss Ethel Blakeley; a male quartette, "My Old Kentucky Home" by Dr. Renwick and Messrs. Carveth, Hill and Yale; a solo, "In the Garden of To-morrow" by Mrs. J. R. Hull and two humorous readings by Mrs. W. J. Charlton. Miss Etta Garbutt was the accompanist.

HASTINGS GIRL IS HONORED AT PARTY

Presentation and Address Read to Miss Tuvins.

HASTINGS, Feb. 9.— (Examiner Correspondence.)— Prior to her departure for Toronto where she will make her home, a number of ladies of town and members of the church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel parish met at the rectory on Tuesday evening and presented Miss Tuvins with a substantial purse and the following address:

Dear Miss Tuvins—For many years you have been associated intimately with us in our lives socially, religiously and through your loving care of our late dear pastor, Father Bretherton. Connections as long standing as these are difficult to break and we realize that you are leaving what has been a home to you all these years.

However, knowing you as we do, we feel assured that wherever your future may be you will make yourself a home, happy and hospitable, where your friends will be welcome as they have always been welcome here. This is our sincere wish for you as you leave us, for we know that in religion, home and friendship lies happiness. We ask you to accept this little gift as a modest token of the esteem and affection of your Hastings friends—

Mrs. T. A. Coughlan
Mrs. W. J. Barry
Mrs. T. J. Crowley
Mrs. A. N. Baily

Miss Tuvins feelingly replied to the many kind words expressed in the address and said that she would ever cerish the associations formed during her residence in Hastings. A very dainty lunch was served.

"FIDDLING" WHILE ROME BURNS

THEY say Nero "fiddled" while Rome burned. Probably just to show what a callous monster he was. Nero denied the story. Said he was out helping the firemen.

Really, it is difficult to believe that any human being could view such a frightful tragedy without emotion.

But the salesman Robot can and does "fiddle" while the Art of Music starves—a human disaster of far greater consequence than the burning of Rome.

Those who believe that the Robot and his sponsors should be rebuked may join millions of others in the MUSIC DEFENSE LEAGUE by signing and mailing the coupon.

LINCOLN'S BOYHOOD

A cousin of the great Abraham Lincoln, who knew him probably better than anyone else, tells in his crude unlearned way (in an article published a number of years ago), some little known facts of Lincoln's boyhood and his great longing for books. The following is a quotation from Dennis Hanks' account and notes of Lincoln's boyhood:

"'Denny,' he'd say; the things I want to know is in books. My best friend is the man who'll get me one.' Well books wasn't as plenty as wild cats, but I got him one by cuttin' cordwood. It had a lot o' yarns in it. One I ricollec was about a feller that got near some rock that drawed all the nails out of his boat an' he gota duckin'." 'The story was that of Sinbad the Sailor, in the Arabian Nights.)"He'd lay by the fire and read out loud to me, and Aunt Sairy (Lincoln's stepmother), and we'd laugh when he did.

"'Abe,' sez I, many a time, 'them yarns is all lies.'

"'Mighty good lies,' he'd say, an' go on reading an' chucklin' to hisself. I reckon Abe read that book a dozen times an' knowed all the yarns by heart. He didn't have nuthin' much else to read, except' Aunt Sairy's Bible. He cut four cords o' wood onct to git one stingy little slice of a book. 'It was a life o' Washington. We'd git hold o' a newspaper onct in a while an' Abe learned Henry Clay's speeches by heart. He liked the stories in the Bible, too, an' he got a little book o' fables some'ers.

"Seems to me now that I never seen Abe after he was twelve that he didn't have a book in his hand or in his pocket. He'd go off to plow or hoe, and when noon came he'd set under a tree and read an' eat. An' when he'd come to the house at night he'd read. Aunt Sairy always put a candle for him if she had one. An' like as not Abe would eat his supper thar, takin' anything she'd give him that he could knaw at an' read at the same time. It didn't seem natural, no how, to see a feller read like that. Aunt Sairy's never let the children pester him. She always declared Abe was going to be a great man some day an' she wa'n't going to have him hendered'."

Later in the article Hanks told of the great attachment that existed between Lincoln and his stepmother. She helped him all she could to educate himself and better his condition, and she was the first to appreciate him and his efforts. Hanks, himself went out to tell the good lady of Lincoln's death. He describes the scene.

"I went out to see Aunt Sairy where she lived all alone after Tom died, and said, 'Aunt Sairy, Abe's dead.' 'Yes, I know,' says she. 'I've been waiting for it. I knowed they'd kill him.' An' she never asked any questions."

And this is Dennis Hanks' final estimate of his great cousin:

"That was just one thing Abe Lincoln didn't know; he didn't know how to be mean, to do a mean thing, or to think a mean thought. When God made Old Abe he left that out for other men to divide up among 'em."

FEAR VIOLENCE IN BREAD WAR

Residents in Chicago District Seek to Force Price From Ten to Six Cents.

POLICE CALLED OUT.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.— Police of the Humboldt Park district said to-day they were fearful of possible violence in the fight of residents to force the price of bread from ten to six cents per pound loaf.

While quiet prevailed yesterday, more than 500 persons milled through the streets Saturday night, jostling police who attempted to break up their demonstration.

Two squad cars and special details of officers were necessary to quell the crowd which paraded the streets. Injunctions were obtained Saturday by the bakers when they complained to the courts that members of a Mothers' League were picketing their shops and groceries and forcibly preventing some customers from buying loaves.

YOUNGS POINT.

Mrs. Victor Young who has been on a visit to friends in Peterborough, has returned home.

Mr. Frank Grey of Toronto, was a visitor to the village on Tuesday.

Capt. Carson, of Peterborough, was in the village, on Tuesday.

Rev. E. C. Moore, Mrs. Moore, Miss Matilda Moore and Mrs. Dave Darling, spent Monday in Peterborough.

Mr. W. C. Young, of Peterborough, spent a few days in the village in the interest of the Hydro.

Mrs. P. P. Young and daughter, Miss Irene, spent Thursday in Peterborough.

Among the local folk who attended the hockey match between Lakefield and Markham, played in Lakefield, on Wednesday evening, were Messrs. Victor Young, Frank Carrol, Frank Walsh, David Darling, Leonard Wilson, Andrew Wilson and Rev. E. C. Moore.

Auto-Train Victims Have Chance Of Life

HULL, Que., Feb. 9.—(C.P.)—John R. Warner and Norman Cassey, seriously injured in an auto train smash here Sunday in which three other Ottawa men met death, were reported from hospital to-day as progressing toward recovery. Warner regained consciousness during the night and it is now believed he will survive. The injuries of Cassey are not as serious as those sustained by Warner.

The five Ottawans were driving to their home after an evening's entertainment at the Fairmount Golf Club when their automobile was struck by a Canadian Pacific passenger train at a level crossing. Oswald Scharf, 51, James Tierney, 33, and J. H. Sheddon, 26, were killed as the train struck the light car and sent it careening against a metal signal post.

Men, women and children camped in tents on the snow of the Royal Botanic Gardens, London, for four days and nights during the recent mid-winter festival of the British Order of Woodcraft Chivalry.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 67 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan and Jane Clayton watched the verdure clad shore line receding in the ship's wake, and for once the ape-man left his native soil without one single pang of regret. No ship that sailed the seven seas could have borne him away from Africa quick enough. His eagerness to resume the search for his lost boy made the speed of the Kincaid seem that of a snail to the anxious father.

Yet the vessel made progress even when she appeared to be standing still, and presently the low hills of Jungle Island became distinctly visible upon the western horizon ahead. Jane and Tarzan stood upon the bridge watching the approaching island. The men were forward, also watching the land grow upward out of the ocean. The beasts sought the shade of the galley, where they were curled up in sleep.

All was quiet and peaceful upon the ship, and upon the waters. Suddenly, without warning, the cabin roof shot up into the air, a cloud of dense smoke belched far above the Kincaid and there was a terrific explosion which shook the vessel from stem to stern. Instantly pandemonium broke loose upon the deck. The apes of Akut, terrified by the sound, ran snarling and growling in their panic.

Sheeta leaped here and there screaming out his startled hideous cries that sent the ice of fear straight to the hearts of the Kincaid's crew. Mugambi, too, was trembling. Only Tarzan of the Apes and his wife retained their composure. Scarce had the debris settled than the ape-man was among the beasts quieting their fears, talking to them, stroking their shaggy bodies and assuring them that immediate danger was over.

Articles Are Needed To Brighten Up Home

A number of articles are required in various homes, just to brighten them up a little and give them more of a semblance of a living place for people. Some small mats or covers for tables, window blinds, curtains, mats for the floors, pieces of oil-cloth — anything along that line—would be very acceptable. And one woman would like a wash stand, while another would be very glad of a place—like a chest of drawers—in which to place clothes. Quite a few useful articles have already been received, but we would be glad to get anything in the above-named list. Please telephone The Examiner and we will call.

A man whose family has just suffered from accidental death needs a dark suit and he would also like a pair of working overall. His size is 42. We would be very glad to get such a suit.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR.

An important business meeting (for members only) will be held in the Paragon Hall to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock sharp, when every member is urged to be present and on time. Following the business meeting the usual practice of male voice music will be held. Old members of the choir are asked to be in attendance at 8.30 p.m. on Tuesday. A welcome awaits them.

ILL FATE OF FIRE PUMPER CONTINUES

Freight-truck by Which It Was Being Towed to Toronto For Repairs Stranded in Drift.

The ill fate of the pumper of the Peterborough Fire Department which collided with the Lindsay bus Saturday evening still continues.

The wrecked pumper started off on it trip to Toronto to be repaired in tow of a freight-laden 8-wheel truck and trailer operated by the Toronto - Peterborough Transport Company. Everything went well until after the Watering Trough hill had been passed. The centre of the road was covered with only a thin sheet of ice, and the truck took to the side of the road in order to gain traction power. The surface of the road and ditches was evened over with snow from the fence on the right to the one on the left. The truck went too far over to the right, and slid into the ditch.

Fortunately, however, the fire truck was not ditched. Harold Howell ex-fireman and at present in the taxi business, was called to finish taking the fire apparatus to Toronto. The towing car left the scene of the accident at 6.05 p.m. yesterday and at 10.30 p.m. it was reported in Bailieboro.

After the truck is repaired, at a cost of from $800 to $1500, it will proceed to Peterborough under its own power.

The freight truck was finally drawn out of the ditch by means of wooden beams and Hunter and Forsythe's wrecking car.

Speaking with an engineer from the La France Fire Engine Company in Toronto, it was ascertained that this was the seventh piece of fire-fighting apparatus in Canada to be wrecked by a bus during the last 48 hours.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXECUTIVE HONORS WILLIAM F. BUTCHER

Complimentary Dinner Was Held in Hooper's Palm Room Saturday Night.

DUNNING IS COMING.

The regret of the executive and members of the Chamber of Commerce at the departure of William F Butcher, Manager of the Teco Store in this city, for Toronto was expressed at a complimentary dinner and executive meeting in Hooper's Palm Room on Saturday evening.

James Dutton, President of the Chamber, expressed his personal sorrow at losing Mr. Butcher from business and social circles of Peterborough. "It is more than three years ago that he came to our city as manager of the Teco Store, and during that time he has been a good citizen," remarked Mr. Dutton. Mr. Butcher has identified himself with several organizations, the Rotary Club, Trinity United Church, the executive of the Chamber of Commerce and President of the Retail Merchants' Branch of the Chamber. Mr. Dutton expressed his pleasure that promotion had come, as Mr. Butcher well merited it.

Having received a mark of appreciation from his friends, Mr. Butcher in a few remarks, stated that he would still be interested in Peterborough, even though he would be in Toronto. He would take his many friendships with him, and would welcome any of his friends in Toronto. Remarks were made by everyone present regarding the guest of honor, expressing their appreciation of his stay in the city and wishing him success in Toronto.

Dunning Is Coming

The business part of the meeting opened with the report of the secretary. He noted the inability of Messrs. Loblaw and Davis to attend meetings in Peterborough, but intimated that Hon. C. A. Dunning, ex-Minister of Finance and at present vice president and general manager of the Lucerne in Quebec Association, would address a future meeting.

Alderman Hamilton reported on the membership of the Chamber. Funds from this department amounted to $195 for memberships, $40 from activities funds and $50 from a further pledge thus totalling $285.

Letters of appreciation for services rendered, received from the following, were: J. J. Turner and Sons, Lakefield and local cance companies, Canadian Johnston Motor Co., B. F. Ackerman and Sons, Ltd., and The Examiner. A. S. Zavitz, B.A., of Peterborough, wrote expressing thanks for a letter from the Chamber congratulating him on his appointment as President of Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. A similar letter was received from J. J. Turner for congratulations on his re-appointment as chairman on the Board of Health.

The executive decided to send a representative to the Government to protest the system of road taxation, and to attempt the alleviation of the burden on the municipalities in this connection.

The secretary reported satisfactory interviews in Toronto regarding the replacement of highway bridges south of Lindsay and east of Peterborough.

The annual elections were postponed one week, until Tuesday the 10th. The appointment of a nominating committee and judges of the election was left with the President and Secretary of the Chamber.

Mr. Dutton briefly enumerated the activities of the newly formed Relief Association of which he is the president. He noted the splendid co-operation in granting free use of quarters which was being accorded the association by several citizens. In connection with a campaign for funds, it was intimated that temporary office space had been granted by the Chamber to the association, and was in charge of Norman Crowe, who was supplied by the C.G.E. A temporary telephone was being installed, as a donation from the Chamber.

Treasurer C. S. Cummer pointed out the success of J. J. Duffus in securing for Peterborough the International Plowing Match to be held in the fall. He urged the Chamber of Commerce to back up Mr. Duffus and help to make the meet a success, which would mean much in advertising to the city, and would bring business to the merchants.

SIFTON TAKES UP POWER QUESTION AT KEMPTVILLE

Claims Ontario Paying $3,000,000 in Excess on 610,000 Units Imported.

EXPORTS TO U. S.

Hepburn Centres Attacks on Security Frauds Prevention Act.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 9. (CP)—Hydro-electric development and free navigation on the St. Lawrence river were injected as issues into the Grenville County Provincial bye-election on Saturday when, speaking at Kemptville from the same platform as M. F. Hepburn, M.P., leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario, Harry Sifton of Toronto charged that while the Hydro-Electric Commission was exporting power from Niagara to the United States, it was at the same time buying energy from Quebec at a rate of $5.00 per horsepower in excess of cost. The Government in conjunction with the chairman of th commission had, said Mr. Sifton, secretly resumed this export across the international frontier, and had doubled the volume of power which had previously been exported.

$3,000,000 Excess

A total of 610,000 H.P. was at present purchased from Quebec and a contract had recently been concluded with the MacLaren Quebec Power Company to import another 125,000 H.P. into Ontario. The purchase price of the energy was $15.00 a H.P. but this could be developed at $10.00 so that on the 610,000 units already imported Ontario was paying in excess of $3,000,000.

Mr. Hepburn continued his attacks on Hon. W. H. Price, the Attorney General, centering his efforts on the Security Frauds Prevention Act, legislation which the Attorney General had claimed last week to be of a particularly advanced character for the protection of investors. The act had created an autocracy with the Attorney General at the head, said Mr. Hepburn inasmuch as is provisions vested in him extraordinary powers. If a person were investigated by the Attorney General under the clauses of the act, then that person was forbidden to give any information as to the investigation. If he did so, he was liable for prosecution.

KILLS PARDNER TRAPPER HANGS

Northerner Makes No Plea of Innocence as He Steps Upon Scaffold.

CALM TO LAST.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Feb. 9 (C.P.)—Peter Knudson, northern trapper, went to the gallows early today for the murder of his companion, Wallace Baird. The trap was sprung at 6 a.m. The calm bearing which he had maintained through his confinement, though broken last night in the presence of his spiritual adviser, Rev. E. Pellecko, was unruffled this morning as he want to the scaffold.

Knudson made no protests of innocence when faced with the supreme penalty. During his trial he did not deny that he shot and stabbed his companion and left him dead in the bush near Nipawin, Sask., last Fall. He claimed he killed Baird when the latter threatened to "get him."

sent gold standard and the substitution of currency "based on Australia's wealth," the new currency to be termed the "new gold standard."

Premier Lang also declared the Australian Government should not pay any interest to British holders pay any interest to British holders dealt with the Australian war-debt in a manner similar to that in which she had settled her debt with the United States. He urged, thirdly, that all interest payments on Australian Government borrowings should be reduced to three per cent. "The Government of New South Wales has decided to adopt this policy where it applies to the State, regardless of the decision this conference may make, but I am hopeful that all states and the Commonwealth will join us," he added.

Conference Shocked.

His speech shocked the conference. Prime Minister James Scullin sprang to his feet and declared the Commonwealth Government would never agree to such a policy. Hon. Mr. Theodore backed up his Prime Minister. Premier Hogan of Victoria and Premier Hill of South Australia expressed bitter opposition to it and so did the remaining State Premiers.

Fears expressed that Lang's speech would adversely affect Australia's credit abroad, were somewhat allayed by the immediately and reassuring reaction of the other Premiers.

Premier Lang asserted that if the conference adopted his plan "millions of pounds now sent overseas will be released for circulation in Australia. The consequence would be a fall in interest rates throughout the Commonwealth, which would give new life to industry and cause a rapid absorption of the unemployed. Australia will be able to say truly that at last the depression is lifting."

MORE QUAKES AT HAWKES BAY

Terrified Citizens Driven to Higher Ground as Waves Wash Over Ruins.

NO CASUALTIES.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, February 9 (C.P.). — Residents of the devastated Hawkes Bay district, beginning to feel that they were to be spared further earthquake visitations for a while, once more were terrified and driven from their temporary shelters by a new series of violent tremors to-day.

The quakes felled many buildings not wholly destroyed in last week's tremors and toppled piles of masonry left standing then. Enormous waves rushed in from the ocean and battered the ruins, forcing the panic-stricken inhabitants to higher ground.

Napier, Hastings, and the Wairoa district especially felt to-day's shocks. The face of a bluff overlooking Napier was sheared off by a landslide. There were no casualties since residents of the area almost to the last man are living in tents and other temporary shelters. Communication lines have been interrupted.

PROSPECTORS DROWN.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., February 9 (C.P.). — When their 14-foot boat capsized within 50 feet of shore near Haysport, Harold Corbett, 26, and George Taylor, 33, prospectors of this city, were drowned in the Skeena River on Sunday. Oliver Anderson was able to swim ashore. The bodies were not recovered.

BRITISH GOV'T MAY PROTEST DEPORTATIONS

India's New Capital Is Inaugurated

GREAT BUILDING FINISHED AFTER 19 YEARS' WORK

Lord Irwin, Retiring Viceroy, Officiates at Opening Ceremony.

IN NEW DELHI.

Canadian Column Unveiled By Sir Arthur Currie—One of Four Given by Dominions.

NEW DELHI, India, February 10 (C.P. Cable via Reuters). —The solemn inauguration of India's great new Capital, a magnificent conception planned 19 yaers ago, commenced today with the unveiling of four great columns that have been offered by the four largest Dominions of the Empire.

Lord Irwin, the retiring Viceroy officiated, and General Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, Montreal, presented the Canadian column on behalf of the Canadian people.

Viceroy Officiates.

Addressing a large and distinguished gathering, the Viceroy said: Nineteen years ago the King-Emperor proclaimed the decision to build a new Imperial Capital at Delhi. Today we meet to mark the formal completion of that work.

"In laying the first stones of the new Capital His Majesty expressed a desire that the plan of the buildings to be erected should be considered with deliberation and care, so that the new creation might be in every way worthy of the historic character of its surroundings.

"Standing her we can surely say that His Majesty's commands have been observed."

The Viceroy expressed the deep gratitude of India to the Governments of the Dominions "for their generosity and goodwill" in offering the symbolic columns. He prayed that they would for ever stand as concrete evidence of the unity of the Empire.

City of Marble

The Capital is a magnificent city of Marble and red sandstone, typifying the entire history of India. It will serve shortly as the national centre of a new Federal India when the details of the proposed new constitution have been worked out and acted upon.

After the address of Lord Irwin, General Currie expressed Canada's keen sympathy and goodwill towards India. The Canadian column in giving support to the whole structure, represented the idea of incorporation; it taught the ideal of permanence and it represented aspiration, he pointed out. In these aspects it was fully symbolic of the relationship of Canada to India, and of both to the whole Empire.

"Let this pillar, brought from a distant place and incorporated into the building, sharing in all its interests, witnessing all its functions,remind you that Canada, though far from you geographically, is sharing in your hopes, animated by your spirit and sympathetically living in your life," said General Currie.

Sir John Monash, distinguished Australian soldier and scientist,

BOMBAY COUNCIL SANCTIONS PLAN

Is First Legislative Body in India to Welcome MacDonald's Declaration.

FEW OPPOSING VOTES.

CALCUTTA, India, February 10 (C.P.). — The Bengal Legislative Council to-day expressed a definite welcome to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's declaration on the future status of India, the first Legislative body in India to do so.

A motion welcoming the declaration was carried with very few opposing votes. An amendment urging the release of political prisoners and the repeal of viceregal ordinances dealing with the civil disobedience movement, was withdrawn when an official gave assurance that the Government would abandon its special powers when it was satisfied they could be dispensed with.

Mr. MacDonald's pronouncement, made at the close of the recent Round Table Conference in London outlined a form of Dominion Government for India with certain reservations in the matters of national defence and finance.

LINDSAY COASTER IS KILLED BY CAR

"Buddy" Miles Struck Down By Automobile on Lindsay Street.

LAD SLEIGH-RIDING.

LINDSAY, February 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — "Buddy" Miles, who was struck down by a motor car yesterday afternoon and killed, was the eldest son of the family of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Perley Miles. The accident took place at Elgin and William Streets, while the Miles children were playing. The driver of the car, Miss Lillian Edmonds, was proceeding leisurely when the child ran in front of the machine. The lad was sleigh-riding at the time.

PERTH OLD AGE PENSION RUMORS ARE UNFOUNDED REPORT REVEALS

Three Trowbridge Citizens Deny Making Payments For Having Applications Filed.

INSPECTOR SENT OUT.

STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 10.—(CP)—The findings of C. H. Green, Chief Inspector for the Provincial Old Age Pensions Commission who visited Stratford last week in connection with alleged irregularities on obtaining pensions in Perth County, have been made known by the office of the Department of Public Welfare.

Deputy Reeve Donaldson of Elma at the regular meeting of the Perth County Council declared that he had been informed on good authorities that one man in the county was receiving $5 a month of a pensioners cheque in return for filing his application papers, in the other case it was charged that an old couple had been induced to sign over their house and lot to the man who had been responsible for them getting on the pension list.

Inspector Green, in his report to Hon. Dr. Jamieson, M.D., chairman of the Old Age Pensions Commission, told of visiting the homes of the pensioners in question. In the first case the pensioner was William Scott of Trowbridge and in the second case Mr. and Mrs. Medd of Trowbridge. Richard Johnson of Trowbridge is supposed to have been the person to whom the pensioners' contributed for his services.

Denies Rumors

Mr. Scott denied that Mr. Johnson has ever asked for a cent for assisting him in filing his application, neither has received any money afterwards. Mr. Scott has received only one old age pension cheque, that of January. Mr. and Mrs. Medd claimed that they did not, nor were they asked to assign their property to Mr. Johnson nor did Mr. Johnson ask any renumeration for his services in helping them file their application. They were under the impression that they had assigned their property to the Provincial Government.

"Are you willing to assign your property to the Provincial Government?" is a question appearing on the application form.

Mr. Johnson was also interviewed by the inspector and seemed very indignant over the rumors that had been circulated. He said he would welcome an investigation into all his actions in connection with his work in helping the aged and deserving poor in obtaining their pensions.

DANGEROUS AGE FOR PEDESTRIANS IS FROM 45 ON

Analysis Taken From 9 Months' Auto Traffic Killings in Detroit.

CHILD DEATH RATE HIGH.

Golden Age For Escaping is From 15 to 24 When All Faculties Are Keenest.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 10 (C.P.). —The dangerous age for pedestrians crossing the streets is not childhood but begins at 45.

This is the testimony of nine months automobile traffic killings in Detroit as analyzed and made public to-day by Adelbert Ford, Professor of Psychology at the University of Michigan.

The golden age for escaping is from 15 to 24, when all the faculties seem keenest. Counting that period as 1, Professor Ford finds the second best age is 25-44, when 4.6 times as many persons are killed.

Third rank the babies up to five, with 10.7 times as many killings; fourth, the school children of 5 to 15 with 17.2.

Then come the 45 to 64-year-olds with 22.5 deaths. Lastly, there is a terrific jump to the most fearful of all pedestrian death rates, those of 65 up, whole rate 87.2.

The Reasons.

The reasons for the elders, who are so free with their advice to youngsters, failing to profit by it, may be due, says the Ford analysis, to the following factors:

1—Decrease in muscular ability.

2—Increase in body weight and decrease there in speed of movement.

3—Preservation of traffic habits from the days when automobiles were not a hazard.

4—Impairment of sensory acuity.

6—Mental abstration (absent-mindedness).

POSTPONE TRIAL OF BOAT'S CREW

Trial of Six Members of the Crew of the Josephine K. is Indefinitely Postponed.

PRESENT CASE TO JURY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Trial of members of the crew of the Josephine K. alleged rum-running power boat of Digby, N. S., today was indefinitely postponed by the United States Government which will present the case to a Federal grand jury.

The six members of the crew were to have been arraigned today for preliminary hearing of charges of conspiring to smuggle and breach of the 18th Amendment Governing the sale of liquor.

The Josephine K. was fired on by the Coast Guard patrol boat 145 three weeks ago. One of the three shells which struck her mortally wounded William P. Cluett, Lunenburg, N. S., her skipper.

The Coastguard crew was subsequently cleared by a board of enquiry on charges brought by the crew and owners of the Josephine K. that the latter vessel was outside the territorial 12 mile limit within which the United States has jurisdiction when she was fired on. The crew of the Josephine K. also charged that Karl Schmidt, boatswain of the Coast Guardsman, was drunk when he boarded the power boat after firing the shot which was fatal to Capt. Cluett.

FRENCH SCHEME THREAT TO ITALY

Country Willing to Wait for Naval Settlement, But Will Follow French Lead.

PARITY EXISTS NOW.

ROME, Feb. 10. (AP)—The French Government proposal to begin construction of armored cruisers is regarded in Italian official circles as a distinct naval threat and a disappointment to the hope that France would stand on the terms of a building truce between Italy and herself.

Italy, it was said, still stands on the offer to continue the naval holiday until Franco-Italian differences are adjusted, but she is ready to carry out her declared intention of building ton for ton what France puts in the ways.

Considers Parity Exists

Italy considers that practical parity exists because the Italian fleet is modern and roughly equivalent in fighting power to the French navy which has much old tonnage. France and Italy were placed on parity in battleships at the Washington Naval Conference and although both countries are free to build their quota of large craft Italy has not shown a desire to do so.

Should France adopt the proposed plan for building a series of armored cruisers of about 23,000 tons each it is said here that Italy probably would reply with a "ton for ton, gun for gun" policy.

Britain Watching

LONDON, Eng., Feb 10. (C. P. Cable).—The French proposal to build a series of 23,000 ton cruisers and the Italian reaction are being carefully observed by the Labor Government and the British Admiralty. If the proposals materialize and more war vessels of an important rating are laid down in Europe, then the British Government will probably revise its own construction policy. Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, has said more than once in the past few days that Britain can not continue her slowed-up replacement policy if other powers are going to keep on building new vessels.

Free Trade Entry In Islington Fight

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 10. (C. P. Cable). — Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, a native of Calgary who served with the Canadian Corps in the Great War, was definitely in the field as an Empire Free Trade candidate when the nominations closed to-day for the East Islington by-election. Polling is on Feb. 19.

Other candidates nominated were Miss Thelma Cazalet, Conservative, Mrs. Leah Manning, Labor, and Major H. E. Crawford Liberal. The seat was held by Ethel Bantham, Labor, elected with a majority of 1556 in a three-cornered contest in 1929. She died recently.

Rocket Invented For Trip to Moon —Take 3 Weeks

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 10. —Stephen Balkanyi, an electrician from the town of Ujpest, says he has built a rocket with electro - magnetic propulsion which "ought to be able to reach the moon in three weeks." He has offered it to the Junkers airplane people.

MYSTERY VEILS SHOOTING AFFAIR

Victim Claims He Was Walking Along Prescott Dock When Hit.

RUM BOAT SEIZED.

BROCKVILLE, Ont. Feb. 10.—Mystery surrounds the firing of a bullet that last evening struck John Melrose, aged 27, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., in the left shoulder as, according to his own statement, he was calmly walking along the C. P. R. dock at Prescott, Ont., waiting the arrival of a ferry. Melrose was admitted to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital here during the night with a flesh wound in the shoulder and states that he has no idea whatever why he should be fired at or whence the bullet came.

Ogdensburg customs authorities report, however, that last evening as they were in the act of seizing a boat containing Canadian ale and assorted wines which was about to be landed near the Rutland elevator, that city, two occupants, whose identity is unknown, fled. Border Patrolmen Paul Denner and John Craig, who made the seizure, will make no statement for publication and will not admit that bullets were fired in the direction of the retreating rum runners.

Police are investigating in an effort to determine who fired the shot which struck Melrose.

River Somme Floods City Of Abbeville

ABBEVILLE, France, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Heavy rains of the past few days have sent the river Somme out of its banks and the mayor of this wartorn city has asked the Government to send enough engineering troops to combat what appears to be an alarming flood.

Floods have already damaged Montremy-Epagnette and at Saint Gilles the water is sixteen inches deep in the streets. Some householders have been driven out of their homes.

Don't forget the date, Feb. 17th. Or the place—Hall of the Canadian Legion. Or the object—Second Relief dance of The Examiner Social Club. There'll be a good time at the old hall that night.

LIQUOR BARON IS DROWNED AT SEA, GOING TO EUROPE

James Cooper, of Walkerville, Started Life as Newsboy.

AMASSED FORTUNE.

Coming of Prohibition in United States He Saw Possibilities in Liquor Exportation.

NEW YORK, Feb 10 (CP).—James Cooper, Walkerville, Ont., millionaire philanthropist, jumped to his death from the deck of the Hambourg-American liner, "Deutchland," in mid-Atlantic, Sunday, the steamship company told the Canadian Press to-day.

A radio message from Capt. Fritz Buch, master of the "Deutchland," described the tragedy as follows:

"First cabin passenger, James Cooper, jumped overboard and lost Sunday afternoon. His wife has been notified."

Mr. Cooper was identified as the Walkerville millionaire through the Montreal office of the steamship company at which his cabin reservation had been received.

The "Deutchland" sailed from this port last Wednesday and was almost exactly half way on its voyage to Cherbourg at the time Mr. Cooper is said to have jumped overboard.

The "Deutchland" is due to dock at Cherbourg to-morrow.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 10.—James Cooper, 57 years old, the Walkerville millionaire, who conceived the idea of exporting liquor to the United States soon after that country adopted prohibition, was lost at sea Sunday. A cablegram received late yesterday by M. O. Fourat of Belle River from Mrs. Cooper, who is in Switzerland, stated that Mr. Cooper fell from the S.S. Deutschland of the Hamburg-America Steamship Line four days out from New York.

Mr. Cooper was returning to Europe, where he had been taking the cure for Bright's disease. He came to Canada for a few days, and then decided to join his wife in Switzerland. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Cooper, and three children, Patricia Geraldine and James M. Cooper, and a sister living in London. His brother, William Cooper, died in St. Thomas nine years ago.

Starting life as an employee of the old Grand Trunk Railway, Mr. Cooper was well known on the run between London and Detroit as a newsboy. When prohibition was adopted by Ontario he moved to the Border Cities and established an agency in Detroit, where he received orders for liquor and beer, which then were shipped to the purchasers from Quebec. The United States ruled against this method of supplying Ontario people liquor. Later he started exporting liquor to the United States. At one time he was worth

BAPTIST CHURCH SWEPT BY FIRE

$100,000 DAMAGE.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 10. — First Baptist Church, one of the finest churches in Vancouver, was destroyed in a spectacular fire this morning. The loss will be more than one hundred thousand dollars.

A Sunday School hall which was part of the structure, was unscathed, as was a large stained wer standing at the corner of the building. The stone walls are all that are left of the auditorium.

Flames shot high from the blazing interior and roof, sending burning embers over surrounding residences. A drizzle of rain which had dampened the roofs minimized the danger, and firemen managed to keep the blaze from jumping to adjoining wooden houses.

A number of other fires occurred in the city during the night, doing considerable damage to the interiors of a number of business places and restaurants.

LEFT DRAW BATTLE

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 10. — (C. P. Cable)—The cricket match between West Indies and South Australia was today left drawn. Scores were: West Indies, 383 and 208, aggregate, 591; South Australia, 278 and 48 for no wickets, 326.

Statement Is Made By Hon. J. Thomas On Query In House

Whole Matter Arises in Commons Over Recent Deprotation of 107 British Subjects on Board Steamship Ascania — Action Under Canadian Immigration Law.

PLYMOUTH MEMBER ASKS THAT MOVE BE REPRESENTED TO CANADIAN GOV'T AS HARDLY A DISPLAY OF UNITY

Enquiry Reveals 96 of Those Sent to England Had Become Public Charges in Dominion; Nine Had Been Convicted of Various Offences; One Had Tuberculosis.

LONDON, February 10 (C.P. Cable). — The British Government is considering the question of making representations to the Canadian Government in connection with the deportation to England of a number of persons who had become public charges in Canada, or had been found suffering from "prohibited" diseases.

Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, made this announcement when the whole matter was brought up in a series of questions to the Government in the House of Commons to-day.

L. Hore-Belisha, Liberal member from Devonport, Plymouth, suggested to Mr. Thomas that when deported British subjects had not been guilty of any crimes or irregularity, Mr. Thomas should represent to the Canadian Government that the practice "is hardly an indication of Imperial unity."

107 Deported.

The actual matter brought up was the recent deportation of 107 British subjects on board the steamship Ascania. Mr. Thomas said that on inquiry it had been found that 96 of them had become public charges in the Dominion, nine had been convicted of various offences, one was suffering from tuberculosis and no particulars of the remaining case had yet been received.

Of the whole number, five were Canadian-born, the children of immigrants, 64 had gone to Canada under state-aided migration schemes, and the remaining 38 had entered the Dominion without Government assistance.

Right Hon. Mr. Thomas said he understood that all these persons were liable to deportation under the Canadian migration laws, with the exception of the five children born in the Dominion. These being of tender years, had accompanied their parents back to England.

EDITOR BREAKS LEG AND ARM

Hard On Beaverbrook

LONDON, February 10 (C P Cable). — "Has the Right Honorable gentleman the power to reciprocate, and if so, would he consider the advisability of deporting Lord Beaverbrook?"

The House of Commons roared laughter this afternoon when Tom Williams (Labor, Don Valley, Yorkshire) put this question to Right Hon. J. H. Thomas during the discussion of deportations from Canada of persons who had become public charges, or were suffering from disease.

Lord Beaverbrook has been increasing his political activities lately on behalf of his Empire Free Trade policy.

LANG GIVES WAY ON DRASTIC PLAN

Admits Outcome But Claims it is Better to Pay Half Interest Now Than None Later.

LIVELY EXCHANGES.

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 10 — (C. P. Cable, via Reuters.)—Faced with unyielding opposition on the part of the Commonwealth and all other State Governments, Premier J. T. Lang, extremist Labor head of the New South Wales Government, has finally backed down from his stand in the conference of Premiers here.

Premier Lang, however, declared that if the conference could not offer any better financial plan than his own drastic proposals, then there was no alternative but to adopt his own plan.

Lively exchanges resulted when Premier Lang again returned to his plan late last night. He admitted his proposals would lead to partial default in debt interest to partial "in the alternative was complete default, he asserted.

"What is the use of paying full interest rates this half year and nothing in the next year?" he asked.

Premier Hogan, of Victoria, said that if they wanted to reduce interest payments they should approach the bondholders and not say autocratically that they would reduce them.

PARLIAMENT MEETS THURSDAY, MARCH 12

CANADA'S NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL LORD BESSBOROUGH NOT EXPECTED TO ARRIVE IN TIME FOR OPENING

Immediate Steps Will Be Taken to Review Dominion's Tariff Structure.

PUBLIC HEARINGS FIRST.

St. Lawrencs River Development, Disposal of Wheat Crop to be Discussed.

OTTAWA, Ont., February 10 (C.P.). — Three announcements of paramount political interest were made yesterday by Premier R B. Bennett. Lord Bessborough, prominent in the political, industrial, and social life of Great Britain, will be Canada's new Governor-General, succeeding Earl Willingdon, who left Rideau Hall to become Viceroy of India; Parliament will convene for its regular winter session on March 12; and immediate steps will be taken to review the tariff structure of the Dominion.

Lord Bessborough, head of a famous Irish family that has taken a full part in Empire affairs for 300 years, will take over his new duties as quickly as possible, but it is uncertain whether he will be able to reach Canada in time to officiate at the opening of Parliament. He will be Canada's 14th Governor-General.

Full Revision.

When Premier Bennett, as Minister of Finance, presented his budget in the House of Commons in September, he made clear the changes then made were designed to meet extraordinary economic conditions only and coupled with that the statement that a full revision of the whole tariff might be expected at the winter session. The Premier also promised that public hearings would be held before the full revision was made, and that arguments might be presented for and against the existing rates of duty The hearings to be held in Ottawa on February 17 is believed to be the first of several that will take place preliminary to the wholesale revision of the tariff at the session to open in March

Significant subjects, with pronounced importance both from a domestic and international standpoint, likely will develop before Parliament assembles in March It is believed probable that an early reply to the note from President Hoover respecting negotiations for the St. Lawrence River Development will be made. Disposal of Canada's wheat crop, valuations for duty purposes on automobiles amendments to the British North America Act as proposed at the last Imperial Conference, and questions of taxation and falling revenues are other subjects that will occupy the attention of the Cabinet in the interval before March 12. Some of them together with the question of the nationalization of radio as proposed in the Sir John Aird report, likely will have re-echoes after that date and will be debated on the floor of Parliament.

BESSBOROUGH IS HIGHLY PLEASED

New Governor-General Looks Forward With Eagerness to Arrival.

SAILS IN MARCH.

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 10. (By Thos. T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent).—"I can conceive of no greater honor than to represent the King in the Dominion of Canada, and to be recommended for that post by the Prime Minister of Canada" said the Earl of Bessborough, newly appointed Governor-General, in a message to the Canadian Press to-day.

"I look forward with utmost eagerness to an early arrival in Canada with Lady Bessborough," the Earl's message continued. "I will do all in my power to deserve the confidence of the Canadian people expressed through the Prime Minister by his recommendation of me, and I will do all that lies in me to advance the interests of the people and country of Canada."

The Earl of Bessborough expects to sail next month. His predecessor in Canada, the Earl of Willingdon, will sail for India on March 3 to take up his new duties as Viceroy.

FARM HOUSE BURNED

On James Roddy's Farm in East Emily.

FRASERVILLE, Feb. 10.—On Saturday afternoon Mr. James Roddy's farm was completely destroyed by fire. It is thought to have started through a defective chimney. Mr. and Mrs. Roddy moved to Bailieboro several months ago and the house has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Parks and family. At the time of the fire there was just two small children and a young man at home. The fire was not noticed till it had made so much headway that little could be saved.

BRIAND MAY RUN FOR PRESIDENT

With Election But Three Months Off Little Activity Being Shown.

DOUMER IN FIELD.

PARIS, Feb. 10 (A.P.)—Republican France is approaching the day of its Presidential election, May 13, with none of the furore which attends a Dominion election in Canada. Indeed, up until a week or so before the event itself it is doubtful if the "campaign" for election will gain more than an occasional headline in the French newspapers.

As the distance of slightly more than three months two principal possible candidates appear—Paul Doumer, President of the Senate, a staunch old Republican who lost four sons in the Great War, and Artistide Briand, Foreign Minister of many French Cabinets and occasional Premier.

In view of M. Briand's avowed campaign to further internationalism and the cause of world peace, many doubt that he will allow his name to go up for consideration, since in the office of President his hands would be tied for further effort with the League of Nations and in the cause of disarmament.

Other names are mentioned as possible designees for the office; among them being the Senators Albert LeBrun, Albert Sarraud, and Henri Cheron, but they are in the nature of dark horses and in the past no dark horses have ever been elected

The President is elected by a National Assembly, composed of both Houses of Parliament; totalling some nine hundred members.

An absolute majority is required to elect and the Assembly must go on voting until a majority is achieved.

ROYAL VISITORS NEARING CALLAO

HEAD FOR BOLIVIA.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 10.—(AP)— Callao and Lima made ready today to give an enthusiastic welcome to the Prince of Wales, Prince George, and their party when they arrive at the port tomorrow aboard the Oropesa.

The two Princes, who are making a good will tour of South America, touched Peruvian soil first yesterday at Cabo Blanco, proceeding by automobile through Lobitos and Negritos to Talara, where the party was feted at the Peruvian Club.

From Talara, which is the center of British and Canadian oil interests in Peru, the party proceeded to Payta, and there embarked again on the Oropesa shortly after dark for the run down the coast to Callao.

Landing at Callao after an official welcome the princes will come to Lima to go to the British legation, from where they will call upon Lieutenant Colonel Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, Provisional President of Peru. The President will return the visit immediately thereafter.

President Sanchez will be the host to both in the evening with a sumptuous dinner at the palace. The next day the British colony will take over their entertainment.

After two or three days here the Princes will proceed to the southern port of Mollendo, where a train will carry them to Lake Titicaca, the commencement of their trip to Lapaz, Bolivia, here will be side trips to Arequipa and perhaps to Cusco, capital of the old Inca Empire which the Spanish conqueror, Francisco Pizarro, overthrew them in the early sixteenth century.

ESTEVAN TANGLE FINALLY SETTLED

McLeod, Liberal Named to Hold Seat Following Unprecedented Move Yesterday.

STANDING IS UNCHANGED.

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 10, —(CP)— The muddle of the Estevan by-election, appears to have been settled last night with Norman McLeod, Liberal, named to hold the seat in the Saskatchewan Legislature. He will take his place today following an unprecedented move in the Legislature yesterday.

On the vote count after the by-election on January 23, McLeod was declared elected over his only opponent, David McKnight, Conservative. But McKnight demanded a recount and was in turn named as winner. McLeod protested and a subsequent probe showed that ballots had been tampered with. A surprise came when McKnight agreed to withdraw his demand for a recount if McLeod withdrew his protest.

The twin moves would have left McLeod in the seat, but McKnight followed by cancelling his withdrawal of his recount demand. Yesterday, the Speaker of the House announced that McKnight had been elected, but a petition was immediately entered that McLeod be seated and a motion, concurred in by both sides of the House, was passed deciding that the name of McLeod be substituted for that of McKnight.

The result now leaves the house standing the same as before the election, since the by-election was necessitated by the resignation of E. W. Garner, Liberal. Liberals now hold 28 seats and Conservatives 24, but Premier J. T. M. Anderson holds power by virtue of the alliance of 6 Independents and 5 Progressives.

BOARD HEAD HAS LIMB AMPUTATED

Fred Newman of Picton Undergoes Serious Operation.

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 10 (Special to The Examiner).—Fred Newman, Picton, who presided at the last meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, held in Cornwall, has just undergone a serious operation, having had a leg amputated above the knee, in an effort to save his life. Mr. Newman was seized with a heart attack two weeks ago, and a week later complications set in which rendered the amputation necessary. He rallied well following the operation and hopes for his ultimate recovery are held out. Mr. Newman is one of the best known men in this section of Ontario. He is at the present time, Vice President of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association. He is a wholesale grocer and a Conservative in politics. He has served as councillor and mayor of Picton on many occasions and is a great booster for good roads, the Hydro system and all progressive affairs.

WOMAN, 102 YEARS OLD, IS DEAD.

ANTIGONISH, N.S., Feb. 10 (C.P.) —Mrs. Sarah Maclean, of Ohio, near here, who celebrated her one hundred and second birthday last June, died here Saturday. She is survived by seven children, twenty-seven grandchildren, twenty-three great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Orlex will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

PRINTING PLANT ROCKED BY BOMB

Blast Tears Hole in Foundation of Chicago Non-union Shop.

400 EMPLOYEES IN PANIC.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—A dynamite bomb, exploding with terrific force ripped a large hole in the foundation of the south side eight storey printing plant of the R. R. Donnelley and Sons last night, throwing 400 employees into a panic.

Leo Poppel, Superintendent, estimated the damage at $5,000. Windows from the first to the seventh floor, and in rooming houses on the opposite side of the street, where shattered. One employee was injured by broken glass.

The police said they were unable to uncover a definite motive. The plant, known as the Lakeside Press, is operated on a non-union basis. It is one of the largest of its kind in the United States.

The bombing was the fourth directed against large buildings in recent weeks. The others were the Merchandise Mart, the Furniture Mart and the warehouse of the Sears Roebuck Company.

1st PETERBOROUGH TROOP

The weekly meeting of the 1st (St. John's) Peterborough Troop was held as usual last Friday in the Parish Hall. The Scoutmaster was in charge of the meeting. In the inspection which followed the "Flag break" the Buffalo Patrol under Reg. Perks was declared best. This patrol was also found to tie with the Wolf Patrol of which Jack Wemp is leader in the condition of their patrol corners. Both gained 2½ points out of a possible 3 points.

A feature of the evening was the Investiture ceremony conducted by the Scoutmaster with the assistance of the assistant Scoutmaster. At this time Peter Demos of the Buffalo Patrol, and Jim Hall of the Bulldogs were invested and became members of the World Brotherhood of Scouts.

The camp-fire period was shorter than usual and was given over chiefly to discussion of matters of general interest to the troop. A few true but rather humorous stories also found their way into the camp-fire topics.

In the patrol competition the Buffaloes increased their lead over their nearest opponents to 5 points, while the other three patrols maintained their relative positions by each gaining 3 points.

The National Anthem, Scout silence and the singing of "The End of a Boy Scout Day" brought the meeting to a close.

COLD SPELL HITS WEST.

WINNIPEG, MAN., Feb. 10 (C. P.). — In one sudden sweep, Manitoba and Saskatchewan had their springlike weather taken away yesterday, and in its place found bitterly biting weather. Temperatures dropped with amazing rapidity in the two provinces.

From a peak of 20 degrees above at noon, the mercury scurried under the zero line four hours later and late last night was clocked at 10 below.

NEW ACCIDENT BILL IN QUEBEC

QUEBEC, Que., February 10 (C.P.) —Residents of the Province of Quebec are to be protected against damages through accidents involving cars driven by United States tourists, under a Bill to be introduced at the present session of the Legislature, it was stated yesterday. The proposed measure will require that visiting motorists involved in accidents here that lead to damage suits, will be required to post security or leave the car itself, before returning to their own country.

Tripoli will hold an international fair in March and April.

CABINET PLANS COURT REVISION AT NEXT SESSION

More Judges For Circuit Work, Fewer For Appeals, is Prediction.

NEW CORONER'S ACT.

Much Legislation is Expected to be Introduced Before Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—Reorganization of the courts, so as (among other things) to reduce the number of Judges sitting on appeal and make more of them available for circuit work; a reshuffling of the Coroners' Act, giving Coroners wider powers, and providing for the appointment when required, of a supervising head for the Province; formal establishment of the Department of Public Welfare, over which Hon. William G. Martin has jurisdiction; creation of a Provincial Marketing Board with a brand-new defining of the powers of Ontario's Minister of Agriculture; and the establishment of a system of health clinic units throughout the country—all are provided for, it is reported, in legislation which the Henry Government, at Queen's Park, is now shaping for introduction during the forthcoming session of the Legislature.

Contentious Legislation

The courts reorganization legislation—in the form of an amendment to the Judicature Act—will probably prove as contentious as it did at the session a year ago, when it got as far as a place in the legislative forecast in the Speech from the Throne—but no further. The then Prime Minister, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, explained the nature of the projected measure, stating it aimed to increase the salaries of the Supreme Court Judges; to set up one Appellate Court instead of two, and generally to work to the advantage of the outside Bar and public. Objection to the bill, however, proved too much for it, and it was never printed. This year's bill which the Government is said to have in contemplation is, it is understood, almost a counterpart of the 1930 measure.

Coupled with the provision in the Coroners' legislation for a Provincial supervisor is the name of Dr. M. M. Crawford, Chief Coroner for Toronto. His appointment would seem probable, in the event of the post materializing.

Hydro legislation will be light this year. The same situation applies to the Liquor Control Act; any amendments to it will, it is said, be of a very minor nature. The barbers are said to be seeking some form of compulsory Provincial registration, but the Government, it is understood, will not go that far, although it may offer some sort of protective legislation by way of substitute. Legislation extending school health services to the secondary schools of Ontario may come from the Health Department. Alteration of certain forms of grants may be advocated from the Education Department; and the Highways Department may seek to amend the Traffic Act by legislating into effect a new system of operating headlights.

As frequently stated in recent months, many of the recommendations of the Ross Royal Commission on Public Welfare will be legislated into effect. A bill must necessarily be introduced, also, to provide for the expensive shifting of services that was made necessary by the past two Cabinet reorganizations.

Legislation seeking compulsory pasteurization of milk throughout Ontario will not be brought down this session, it is understood, as the Government believes, it is said, that public opinion is not yet sufficiently behind such a measure.

FALSE TEETH ARE A GREAT INVENTION but KEEP YOUR OWN AS LONG AS YOU CAN

Ten years too late most people seek Protection

The greatest mistake you can make is to wait until gums are swollen and spongy before you begin to think of pyorrhea. A famous British doctor states that many people have this disease for ten years before the symptoms appear.

And pyorrhea is to blame for half of all adult teeth extracted. Protect yourself now from this disease of neglect. You should, of course, see your dentist twice a year.

And, in addition, keep teeth clean—massage the gums—with Forhan's, the dentists' dentifrice. It was originated by R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., a specialist in pyorrhea.

Brush your teeth at least twice a day with Forhan's, for it is a mild, safe, scientifically correct cleanser, which restores your teeth to their natural gleaming beauty.

At the same time, use Forhan's for massage (full instructions with every tube). It is specially prepared to tone up the gums when applied with gentle rubbing, and to awaken sluggish circulation. The health of the gum depends on this circulation. Only when they are firm and strong can they hope to resist infections which bring such trouble to almost every adult later in life.

Here, then, is double protection in Forhan's—a protection which every member of the family should have. Adopt Forhan's as your dentifrice: it comes in two sizes, 35c and 60c—just a few cents per tube more than ordinary toothpastes, and exceedingly well worth it. Forhan's Ltd., Montreal.

NEW BEAN REGULATION

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 10 (C.P.)— cause large imports of dried beans have acted detrimentally to home producers an Order-in-Council has been passed by the Dominion Government empowering Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, to fix special valuations for duty purposes.

The Order-in-Council was printed in the current issue of The Canada Gazette. The use of such power by the Minister would be equivalent to raising the duty and thus excluding the foreign article from the Canadian market.

THE QUICKEST Cook-Quik DURABLE ELEMENT

Element

MODERN achievements are not generally the result of some person stumbling upon a new idea, but rather are the result of an accumulation of scientific knowledge added to a record of day in and day out experiences.

This goes for the Modern Moffat Electric Range, and its many exclusive features: They are the product of consistent research and investigation under every condition.

Moffats can at any time produce an element that will shatter all speed records. But such a policy would not render the public the service it deserves. Thus Moffats did not introduce the new element until their engineers had proven beyond the merest shadow of a doubt that durability and service were not sacrificed to speed, thus making it the quickest durable element on the market.

Moffats Cook-Quik Element is just one more reason why yours should be a Moffats Gold Medal Electric Range.

FATHER AND SON COASTED ON HILL; CAMPBELLFORD DOCTOR OBJECTED

Case Tried in Police Court — Breach of By-law Alleged.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—"If I were in West's place I would not think of bringing action, but he has the right to bring his complaints to me and I have to hear them," stated Magistrate G. A. Payne, when he reserved judgment for one week in a case tried before him in Campbellford Police Court Monday afternoon.

The action was brought by Dr. Simon West against James Wilson, both of Campbellford, the charge being that of violation of the municipal by-law forbidding any person to practice coasting. J. D. Lynch acted for the plaintiff and M. Alex MacColl for the defendant.

The case arose out of the fact that on January 26 Wilson, who lives on a boundary road known as Concession, and on which the plaintiff also resides, brought home three bags of coal on a hand sleigh and drew them up the hill from the Grand Road one at a time with the assistance of his five-year-old child, coasting down the hill after the trips to give his child a ride.

Made Road "Slippery."

Dr. West, when cross examined by Mr. Lynch explained the location of the road stating that there were three properties on it, one in which he lived, the centre one which was Wilsons, and the other, a corner lot on the Grand Road belonging to him being rented. He saw Wilson, he said, on the 26th about twelve o'clock, coasting down the hill with the child on the sleigh. He explained that the defendant had to go up the road about fifty yards, which came in front of his own lot, to get sufficient momentum to carry the sleigh to the bottom. He stated that he objected to this because it made the road in a slippery state and it was difficult to retain one's footing when ascending or descending.

Cross examined by Mr. MacColl, West stated that he saw Wilson go up and turn in front of his place and come down, but did not see what he had on the sleigh.

Mrs. S. West, wife of the plaintiff, also gave evidence corroborating that of her husband's.

Drew Coal On Sleigh.

Harry Taylor was called by the plaintiff and stated that he had also seen Wilson coast down the hill on the 26th. He was not going fast, had his boy with him on both occasions and was taking coal up to his house. Questioned by Mr. MacColl he said that he thought that the defendant was not sleigh riding for his own amusement. Questioned by both lawyers as to the condition of the road after the riding, he stated that it was not bad and could be easily negotiated. West, however, said that the road was pretty slippery for walking down, but Mr. MacColl did not see that twice down a hill on a hand sleigh could make it so bad.

Wilson, when called upon to give evidence stated that he had bought three bags of coal and brought them to the bottom of the hill on a hand sleigh. There he had been met by his five-year-old boy who wanted to help his father, with the result that the bags had been taken up one at a time, the descent being made by the two of them coasting down the hill. He admitted that he had gone up the hill a little way, but stated that he did it just to play with the child. He did not make a practice of coasting down the hill and his children were forbidden to do it also. He also stated that he had never seen the hill when it was dangerous for walking.

In submitting his claim for a conviction Mr. Lynch tried to establish the fact that Wilson was making a practice of coasting, drawing into the argument another date, but Mr. MacColl objected and His Honor ruled that the one date must be adhered to. Mr. Lynch claimed, however, that Wilson had gone up twice on the one day which would be establishing a practice, and furthermore he had no necessity to go further up the hill to gain momentum.

Road A Boundary Line.

In presenting his case Mr. MacColl said that the prosecution should fail on the grounds that the road was a boundary line and that according to the act both the municipality of Campbellford and the Township of Seymour must be jointly agreed on the by-law. He also stated that Wilson was using the road for a proper purpose pointing out that West had often used it with his sleigh, and said that twice did not constitute a practice

In summing up the case Magistrate Payne said he thought that a practice was constituted but was not sure about the act and whether the two councils had to pass the same by-law, reserving his decision for a week.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10.—Prices for new cheese were higher on the local market yesterday, dealers increasing the quotation to country shippers ½c. This higher level was possible, not on account of a much heavier demand—the demand being only fair—but to the fact that receipts were lighter. Brokers made sales of new large at 14½c to 14¾c; 14¾c to 15c for twins, and 15c to 15¼c for tripleta. Retailers were offered cheese at unchanged prices, being quoted new large at 15½c; twins, 15¾c, and triplets, 16c.

Butter

Trade was slow on the butter market, but prices held steady. Some small lots of No. 1 creamery solids moved at 31½c, but large lots of high scoring solids were being held for the 32c price. Creamery No. 2, was offered at 30½c to 31c. Brokers seemed satisfied to wait developments and did not show any signs of lowering prices for high scoring receipts. The idea prevailed that it would shortly be a "sellers" market.

Cream

Cream prices held to the increase of last week, with special quoted at 31c to 32c, No. 1, 30c to 31c, and No. 2, 27c to 28c, f.o.b. country points.

Eggs Steady

Country egg shippers were quoted steady prices at 24c to 25c for extras; 21c to 23c for firsts, and 16c to 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Retailers also received supplies at unchanged prices of 33c to 33c for extras in cartons, 30c to 31c for extras loose, 27c to 28c for firsts loose, 23c for pullet extras loose, and 21c for seconds loose.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Acting as a twin of the stock market, grain whisked upward yesterday and unhesitatingly stayed aloft. Houses with Eastern connections led the buying of wheat, and that cereal as well as oats reached prices which overtopped any since Jan. 15. Chances that a cold wave from the northwest would penetrate the winter wheat belt, and cause crop damage, was a bullish factor.

Wheat closed firm at almost the day's high point, unchanged to 2¼c up, with corn 1⅜c to 2c advanced; oats at ¾c to 1¼c gain and provisions showing a rise of 10c to 22c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, February 10. — Bull forces took command of the wheat pit here yesterday in a market featured by lack of offerings. Prices advanced almost from the start, and although foreign cables were indifference, the market moved steadily upward to record gains at close of trading of 2 to 2½ cents for the day.

A little encouragement was afforded by the fact that wheat from the competitive countries was offered at higher prices, and for the first time in days Australian shippers followed the advance in Winnipeg prices

Export business overnight totalled less than 500,000 bushels.

Cash wheat gave a dull performance and spreads held unchanged to ¼c better.

Coarse grains were featureless. Prices for the most part were somewhat higher in sympathy with the wheat.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.— Prices of eggs and butter were higher, while cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of fresh eggs advanced 1c a dozen, extras being quoted at 30c a dozen, and firsts and pullet extras at 26c to 27c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were from 1c to 3c higher. Fresh specials and extras gained 1c at 36c to 37c and 34c to 35c a dozen. Fresh firsts were unchanged at 30c, while fresh pullet extras were up 1c at 28c to 29c a dozen. Storage extras and firsts both advanced 1c at 23c to 25c and 20c to 22c a dozen. Storage seconds gained 2c to 3c at 18c to 20c a dozen. Receipts were 483 cases.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized, grass-made creamery butter was up ¼c at 32½c and Western butter was unchanged at 32c a lb. To retailers solids were 34c and prints 35c a lb. Receipts were only 18 boxes.

Winter white cheese was quoted unchanged at 12c and colored at 14½c, while summer cheese was 15½c to 16c a lb. Receipts were 55 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were unchanged at 75c per 90 lbs. bulk, and to retailers 85c per 90-lb. bag.

PEG O' MY HEART

MILLBROOK, Feb. 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A delighted audience, that packed to capacity the Sunday School Hall of the Centreville Presbyterian church, gave unflagging attention to the royalty play, "Peg o' My Heart," presented by the Dramatic Club of the school under the training and direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, Millbrook, on Friday, February 6, at 8 p.m.

The theme of the play well expressed in the lines:

"O there's nothing half so sweet in life,
As love's young dream,"

the couplet being fully justified as the entrancing story was vividly portrayed by the very competent cast of characters, represented by the young people of the community, the personnell including:

Mrs. Chichester, Miss Alice Berry; a footman, Harry Larmer; Ethel, Mrs. Chichester's daughter, Miss Iva Campbell; Alaric, Mrs. Chichester's son, Charlie Anderson; Christian Brent, Donald Rutherford; Peg of heroine, Miss Dorothy Hall; Montgomery Hawkes, the solicitor, Lemuel Pamment; the maid, Miss Margaret Larmer; Sir Gerald Adair (Jerry), Archie Deyell.

The entire action of the three-act play takes place in the living-room of "Regal Villa," the beautiful home of Mrs. Chichester, at Scarborough, England, the time being early summer, and the division including (1) the coming of Peg; (2) the rebellion of Peg, and (3) Peg o' my Heart. The exacting demands of the title role were portrayed with exceptional ability by Miss Dorothy Hall, who had cultivated a fine Irish accent to live up to the requirements of the wilful Irish lassie, who after two months in New York, crosses to England and becomes a member of the household of her aunt, the rich Mrs. Chichester, in order to be educated, and to claim the money left her by her uncle. Miss Alice Berry's portrayal of Mrs. Chichester was also particularly clever, and indeed every character was impersonated with decided success and skill.

The stage was managed by Wilfrid Johnston and George Berry, and also the electrical effects required because of the severe thunder storm in the second act, assistance being given by Willis Hall and Isaiah Muskrat.

Miss Grace Johnston presided at the piano throughout the evening, playing an overture at the opening of the play, and accompanying her brother, Wilfrid Johnston, whose violin solos between the acts were roundly encored, the selections including: "The Polish Dance" (Edmund Severn) "Souvenirs" (Drdla), and "The Indian Love Call" (Seemil)

In the early part of the evening, during her outline of the play previous to its presentation, Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, whose marked success in training amateur dramatic artists is widely known, was presented with a lovely bouquet of crimson roses, little Mary Larmer offering the fragrant gift—a mark of appreciation on the part of the young people who provided the entertainment.

The play, "Peg o' My Heart," will be repeated in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Friday, February 13, at 8 p.m., and the Centreville Dramatic Club has also an invitation to go to Keene the following Friday evening.

APPEAL TO BOYS BY GORDON LAPP

Field Work Secretary Explains Purpose of $13,000 Bond Sale.

AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—Gordon Lapp, Senior Boys' Field Work Secretary, of Toronto, was the guest speaker at a largely attended gathering of the older boys, members of the Tuxis Square, Senior Trail Rangers, and their leaders, held in the Sunday school room of Saint Andrew's United Church, on Friday, February 6, a supper being enjoyed preliminary to the address by the visiting secretary, and the further business of the meeting.

Mr. Lapp gave a comprehensive account of the camps for boys, together with reasons, ways, and means connected with bond-selling campaign now under way over the province; he also demonstrated leadership in boys' work including sing-songs, jokes training-camps, and week-end conferences, developed along the four-fold pattern, with the excellent results following these gatherings were told of in vivid and instructive manner.

Will Sell Bonds

Following the address, and other features of the evening, a business session was held during which the older boys were divided into four groups headed by Kenneth Fallis, Jack Stinson, Cameron Vance and Gordon Armstrong, with a certain definite section of territory assigned to each, in order to make as pronounced a success as possible of the bond-selling campaign for the promotion of boys' work in the province, and over Canada.

Among the points developed in connection with the sale of bonds, during Mr. Lapp's address were: "The money raised by the boys in this campaign is for both local and provincial work, and will be used by the Boys' Work Boards of the province in setting up and supervising District Camps, Boys' Work Conferences, Father and Son activities, Athletic Meets, and the work of the Older Boys' Parliament—the latter, contrary to what some folks imagine being anything but a mock parliament.

Objective Is $13,000

Work of this character is helpful to the community, the church, and the Sunday School. It develops resourcefulness, initiative, and originality in the boys, and directs their energies into wholesome channels. It has had encouragement from governments, service clubs, and good citizens generally. Its standards are exceptionally high, and are worthy of extension to every nook and corner of Ontario. The objective in view is $13,000.

The boys who go out, unselfishly and enthusiastically in February, to raise money needed by their provincial movement are showing a spirit that should meet with the most generous and practical approval of the citizens.

The local boys' organizations have booked Mr. Lapp for a Sunday in Millbrook next June, when it is hoped to have a gathering representative of the boys of the county, under the direction of the Durham Boys' Work Board.

Among the leaders present on Friday evening were: Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D.; E. H. Barnes, Scoutmaster of the local Scout Troop; Reeve P. Stinson; W. A. O'Brian, teacher of the Tuxis Square Bible Class; and C. C. Garside, teacher of the Senior Trail Rangers, of Saint Andrew's Sunday School. Kenneth Fallis is the member for East Durham of the Older Boys' Parliament, and also Praetor of the local Tuxis Square.

BROADWAY'S EMPTY STORES

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—There are 54 vacant stores on Broadway between Times Square and Columbus Circle for an average of more than three to a block. That doesn't include any of the side streets. It doesn't count the fly-by-nights, which will be thrown out as soon as new renters are sighted. It doesn't count the Chelsea Bank Territory takes in 17 blocks in the same distance.

Broadway's office space is about 25 per cent vacant.

Rentals on the street in the past year have tumbled 20 per cent., and the year previous about 10 per cent. Current rents are about 30 per cent lower than they were 10 years ago, when Broadway's real estate boom started.

1921 was the best year Broadway had, from a real estate standpoint; 1930 was the worst, but 1931 looks like topping it.

LEADERSHIP VITAL IN BOYS' WORK; SELF-SACRIFICE AN ESSENTIAL

Gordon Lapp Addresses Rotary Club at Campbellford.

PROBLEMS OF YOUTH

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Featuring the weekly luncheon of the Campbellford Rotary Club, held in the St. Lawrence Hotel on Monday, the guest speaker was Gordon Lapp of Toronto, member of the third Boys' Parliament of Ontario, Premier of the fourth Boys' Parliament of Ontario and now Field Secretary of the Ontario Boys' Work Board, who gave an interesting survey of the work with which he is connected. H. N. Carr occupied the chair and introduced the speaker

Mr. Lapp during his address stressed the importance of proper leadership, for upon the leadership which calls for self-sacrificing service, the success of the boys' work rested. He said that this always demanded a price and that one could not give unless he was willing to pay. Especially was this true of fathers, ministers and all who fill the position of leaders. Back of every group was proper leadership. "Any program, however fine, cannot be successful without interpretation being given it by the leaders," the speaker stated. He mentioned the splendid work of the Trail Rangers and the Tuxis groups, declaring them to be a real movement toward fellowship between boys and leaders.

Organized In 1911.

He explained the starting of these two groups in 1911, the first as separate units by Taylor Statton at the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, and afterward as a Canadian-wide movement through the Sunday School boards of the evangelical churches of the country. Good results had followed, for they offered to boys a means of self-expression through work, play and the appreciation of certain arts and presenting worthwhile interests in keeping the boys employed, and teaching them to become less self centred and selfish. "They will learn," he said, "to submit to the will of authority and to come under the scope of public opinion."

In speaking of the difficulties facing boys in this age, Mr. Lapp mentioned several factors. He thought that there was too much liquor circulating in the province of Ontario and that some portions of the press were headlining crimes and making them of undue importance.

He also decried the fact that there was too much bad literature offered for sale these days, declaring that there were plenty of good clean books and periodicals that could take their place and stating that in his opinion no tariff barrier could be high enough for him to keep the unwanted books out of the country.

Mr. Lapp also mentioned the movies, saying that although there were many fine pictures on the market today there were many also of a low moral tone that could be dispensed with. And amateur sport should also be revised. He believed in professional sport, he said, for it filled a place in the world, but he decried the fact that were on many of the local amateur teams which the boys follow, professional players who were masquerading as amateurs.

Lack of parental control was also to be deplored, he thought, and the question of sex information should be dealt with by the fathers.

Mr. Lapp said that many boys were worried as to their vocation in life and pointed out that it was not advantageous that every boy should go to university, but that trades and technical training should be emphasized. And he also thought that every home should have the rudiments of religious training, for this was an essential.

In conclusion Mr. Lapp stated that the true results of this training would show in the lives of boys and leaders, stressing the fact that fathers before any one else should be the first to start the training for they were the first contact leaders.

Resolution — Resolved that this board express its appreciation of the athletic association in making it possible for us to effect the exchange of a lot in their grounds for the site of the old Armoury, which thus has become a part of the school grounds. After the several committees discussed the requirements for the year the chairman declared the meeting adjourned.

Special note—Mr. T. C. Ivory has entered on his thirty seventh year as a member of the Board.

OFFICERS ELECTED GROUP "F" W.M.S.

George Street United Church Society Meets at Home of Mrs. W. Flannery.

The members of group T of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Flannery with a splendid attendance of members. The leader Mrs. James A. Spencer presided and the meeting opened by repeating the 23 Psalm in unison. After which the hymn "When Jesus came into my Heart" was sung. Mrs. A. A. Fowler read the scripture lesson followed by prayer by Mrs. I. Brown. As this was the first meeting of the new year the officers were elected. Mrs. Spencer asked for an assistant group leader and the following were elected: Mrs. James A. Spencer, group leader; assistant group leader, Mrs. W. Flannery; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hales; treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Panning; pianist, Mrs. W. H. Morton; convenor of program committee, Mrs. A. A. Fowler; convenor of sick and visiting committee, Mrs. G. A. Helson; convenors of telephone committee, Mrs. W. Fair and Mrs. J. Douglas.

Mrs. W. E. Coon gave a missionary reading entitled, "Our Allocation Window."

The meeting concluded by singing the hymn "The Light of the World is Jesus" after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable half hour spent over the tea cups.

Alderman C. W. Beardsley, last year's Lord Mayor of Sheffield, England, who has been a railway engineer for 30 years, has just been promoted to locomotive inspector.

THE NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Canada's new Governor-General is to be the Earl of Bessborough, member of a well-known Irish family, whose appointment is decidedly in the nature of a surprise, inasmuch as his name had not appeared in the list of vice-regal possibilities.

The new incumbent of Rideau Hall brings to his important and responsible task an experience in Parliament, in military service and in business and financial circles that should be of most valuable assistance to him in discharging his Canadian duties and in his contacts with the people of the Dominion.

The fact that he has a distinguished war career with service both at Gallipoli and in France would alone assure him of a hearty welcome in this country, especially among the thousands of Canadians who like himself fought for the Empire in the Great War.

The thirteenth Governor-General since Confederation, the Earl of Bessborough, follows a vice-regal representative who by his geniality, tact and shrewd appreciation of the responsibilities of his office had thoroughly endeared himself to the Canadian people, and he could not do better than to model his administration upon that of the Earl of Willingdon, who in a few years won popularity in every section of the Dominion.

HON. THOMAS A. LOW.

In the death of Hon. Thomas A. Low, former Minister of Trade and Commerce in the King Government, Canada has lost a citizen who for many years was a prominent figure in parliamentary circles and whose services should be gratefully remembered.

Mr. Low first became a member of the House of Commons in 1908 when he was elected to represent South Renfrew, and was subsequently re-elected in 1911 and again in 1921.

Two years afterwards Premier King called the member for South Renfrew into his Cabinet as head of the most important portfolio of Trade and Commerce, and his constituency accorded him an acclamation on that occasion, only to reject his services when again offered on the occasion of the general election in 1925.

In his home community Mr. Low was one of the outstanding manufacturers and business men of Renfrew, having been prominently connected with the lumbering industry and having been president of half a dozen other manufacturing firms.

His death means a loss to the Liberal party, to his community and to the country at large, for in his day the former Minister of Trade and Commerce had more than his share in building up all three of those interests.

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY.

The importance of Canada's fishing industry is clearly set forth in the statistics covering operations for the year 1929 that have just been issued by the Dominion Bureau of Fisheries in co-operation with the Department of Fisheries.

The report is most complete, inasmuch as it covers the catching and marketing of fish in every district in Canada and includes as well the totals both for counties and Provinces.

The figures in regard to the number and value of the boats and gear used in the industry and other details concerning canning and curing establishments carry their own story of a large and most promising Canadian business that gives employment to a large number of people in this country and is a material factor in Canadian prosperity.

The fact that the total commercial catch of all kinds of fish in this country in 1929 amounted to 1,063,094,900 pounds and that the marketed value of these fish was $53,518,521, convey some idea of the great development of this Canadian industry which, according to this report, provided jobs for 80,540 people and had a capital investment of $62,579,444.

Although the Dominion exported fish and fish products to the value of $37,646,366 in the year under review, there was some import business in the same products—to be exact, $4,233,906 worth having been brought into Canada during 1929.

SHOULD BE CONSISTENT.

The Stratford Beacon-Herald, pointing out that it is hardly possible that we can suggest more expenditure and at the same time complain about Government deficits, draws attention to an inconsistency that is all too common in our attitude toward public expenditure.

At the annual meeting of fairs and exhibitions held in Toronto a short time ago it was suggested by a delegate that if the Ontario Government did not increase its grants to fall fairs many of the smaller agricultural exhibitions in the Province were doomed.

Doubtless many of those present were men who are accustomed to grumble about their tax bills and to criticise the growing expenditures of the provincial administration, and yet the proposal that the Government should dip into the treasury and materially increase the assistance that is given to the annual fairs throughout Ontario met with approval.

It is difficult to be consistent in such matters.

People complain about their tax bills and then line up with a deputation to wait upon the Government to urge some new expenditure that will have to be financed out of the pockets of the public.

What is the sense of grumbling unless it is backed up by a sincere effort to bring about economy in public affairs?

How can anything worth while in that direction be expected until people start organizing delegations to ask the Government to stop spending money instead of contigually asking for expenditures for this, that and the other thing?

THAT 100,000 FIGURE STANDS.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association in Toronto a report was given on the last plowing match, held in Perth County, and it has gone on record in an official way that the attendance was 100,000.

That figure was used by this paper at the time, and many there were who rose to say it could not be so. Of course, there was no way of keeping nose-by-nose [illegible] numbers of autos.

Since that figure was given out there have been a good many letters from outside points reach the office of the Beacon-Herald. They have come from banks, financial institutions, industrial concerns, etc., and the burden of them all was a desire to have that 100,000 figure substantiated.

The impression seemed to be that there could not possibly be so great a number of people attend a plowing match. To all and sundry we made reply that 100,000 was as near correct as figures could be. And now the official recorder of such matters has told the annual meeting that the big total was right enough, and down it goes on the books for keeps.

The trouble with a good many of these skeptics has been that they are not observant. They do not sit in the family pew on Sunday and count the number of people in church; they do not know how many steps there are in their own cellar stairs; they know not how many times their neighbors come in after two in the morning. Training is what they really need.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE COSTS.

The cost of administering justice recently received the attention of the Elgin County Council and the officers who are in charge of this important work will be asked to do all in their power to curtail expenditures. Similar thoughts were expressed at the Peterborough Assizes by Mr. Justice Raney, who dwelt upon the necessity of maintaining the present high standard of administering justice and at the same time of keeping the cost of the same at as low a figure as possible.

We believe, from the attitude of law officials in Elgin County, and from the efforts and views put forth by such eminent jurists as Mr. Justice Raney and others in the Supreme Court, that the complaints about high cost of law administration are well-founded and that the remedy for the same lies more with reform of the system than with the officials.

Mr. Justice Raney's suggestion that the services of grand juries in visiting and inspecting public institutions be curtailed to say a single visit a year, is one that could be carried out and a saving incurred without lowering the standard of this very necessary work. Carrying out this and other suggestions that might be made by the Supreme Court justices is outside the power of the jurists and rests with the Legislature or the department at Toronto.

The same is true of conditions in the lower courts, where high costs often debar persons in moderate or poor circumstances from going as far as they desire in having the courts decide on the merits of their cases. This is particularly true with regard to police court actions. Take the case of a man charged with a minor infraction of the Liquor Control Act; say that of ordinary drunkenness. In the St. Thomas and Elgin County Court a case heard simply, without adjournments, usually would, if the man was found guilty or pleaded guilty, result in a fine of $15 and costs, a total of about $25. And part of the $15 fine would absorb the crown attorney's fee. Costs in a traffic violation charge do not run as high, usually about $2.75. In certain cases, where the imposition of costs would only add to the hardship of all concerned, such as in a non-support charge, the costs are assessed against the municipality. The same occurs in many cases where sentence is suspended. Repeated adjournments, often unavoidable, mean adding to the costs. An officer, for instance, receives $2.50 for each appearance at court. In cases arising in rural districts and heard, as they usually are, in urban centres, the mileage allowance brings the bill of costs up still higher. Costs in some minor cases often exceed by two or three times the amount of the fine imposed.

It must be said in justice to the Elgin County officers—and no doubt the same applies to those in many other counties—that they frequently hold court at a point near the origin of the trouble or where the parties to the action reside. It is also a practice of many magistrates in fixing the amount of the fine, to take into consideration the matter of costs, so that the total would be somewhere near where the amount of the fine would be in case no costs were assessed.

The cost of administering the law can, we believe, be cut materially without lowering the standard, by the curtailment of routine procedure, such as suggested by Mr. Justice Raney; by the framing of regulations that would prevent too frequent adjournments and unnecessary delays; by avoiding the necessity of travelling long distances to courts, and, last, but not least, by abolishing the fee system and paying straight salaries to all officers, of high or low degree, whether under provincial or municipal control.

Our governing bodies, as well as our administrative officials, can do much to lower the cost of meting out justice.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

To-morrow they'll say it with ballots in West Hamilton and Grenville.

Anyway the Attorney-General should be glad that there are no more by-elections for a while.

And now it is contended that the British North America Act gives the Provinces the right to forbid the manufacture of liquor as well as its sale. That looks like more trouble on the horizon.

They're still doing it. Several conflagrations caused by the use of coal-oil in lighting fires have been reported in the last few days.

The Ontario Legislature will begin its session on Thursday and the victors in Grenville and West Hamilton are assured of a warm reception.

It was said some time ago, and it is still true, that public expenditures will not be curtailed until the public stops asking governments to spend money. And it seems as if that day will never be reached.

The Ontario Legislature without Mr. Ferguson will be minus considerable color. But the coming session should not be without its exciting moments nevertheless.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

"That attic where your sister spent hard days doing the work you should have done! Perhaps we should have left you there, Rickey."

Virginia drew away a little. "No," Michael said, and held her close. "He might as well hear the truth about himself. If he goes, he goes alone. You shall not go with him."

There was a moment's silence, then Virginia turned to him and buried her face in his coat.

"So you are giving her orders," Rickey flung out.

"They are better orders than yours, aren't they?"

It was a quiet question, steadily put, and Rickey did not know how to answer it. At last he blustered, "What do you mean?"

"You've always demanded things of her. You have never thought of her happiness. You aren't thinking of it now. You are thinking of your hurt vanity. You have nothing against me except that I told you the truth about Burning Beauty—that it was not worthy of your talents. You knew it was not worthy. You know it now."

The inexorable voice cut through the crust of Rickey's conceit and made him listen. "You do know it, don't you? That it was not worthy of your talent, your genius?"

Rickey caught at the word. "You think I have—genius?"

"Of a kind, yes."

"What do you mean, 'of a kind'?"

"For poetic fantasy. The sort of thing you are doing with Mary Lee."

"Did she show you—our play?"

"Yes."

"She had her nerve." The boy's face was flaming.

"It's great stuff—greater, perhaps, than you know."

"Do you mean it?"—breathlessly.

"Yes."

more this

Rickey learned back suddenly and shut his eyes. He had a vision of a great space crowded with people, and all of the people were applauding, all of them but one, who sat in her silver gown and looked down at him. And he looked up and laughed in her face. And the crowd cried, "Author, author," and threw flowers at his feet.

A little later he found himself lying under the crimson canopy, and the nurse was there and nobody else.

"What happened?" Rickey asked.

"You fainted," the nurse told him, and he had a keen sense of triumph in the fact that his weakness had saved him from capitulation. He was not anxious to go back to his attic. And what was it Michael had said? "Great stuff." You could expect the truth from McMillan.

And so when Michael came in the morning and smiled at him and said, "Let's be friends, and Virginia leaned down and kissed him, Rickey held out a hand to each of them. After all, McMillan was a big man in the literary world, and, as Jinny's husband, he might be helpful.

And he looked up at Michael and said "I'm sorry I burned the book."

"You didn't burn it."

"I did. I stuffed it in the stove." Rickey was flaming with the melodrama of the memory.

"Only a few pages, I have the rest."

"Are you going to publish it?"

"Not without your consent."

Rickey looked up at the crimson canopy and considered the matter. He was very comfortable, and the center of the stage was his. "Publish it under Virginia's name and mine," he cried. "She deserves it."

"I donIt want my name on it, Rickey dear."

"You must!"

"She's rather not, old man," Michael told him. "It will be enough for her to know that she helped."

In the days that followed there were plans for the wedding. The sooner the better, everybody said. Virginia was to go down to Annapolis and get the house ready for her mother and father. Then she was to be married and o away with Michael. Rickey was to go to Aunt Molly's and Mary Lee was to go with him. It would be a wonderful place. Michael told them, to get the effects they wanted. "You can put Mary Lee under a pink dogwood on a gray day, or on the little bridge in a purple twilight. And you'll have Aunt Molly's saneness to balance your artistic ecstasies."

But Aunt Molly's saneness was to do more than balance Rickey's ecstasies; it was to co-operate with Mary Lee in bringing the boy up out of his sensitiveness and self-absorption. Aunt Molly made him tramp with her over the farm and talk of crops; she waked him at midnight to help her with a sick lamb; she sent him and Mary Lee far down the river one day to rescue a lot of her little ducks that had been caught by the current and couldn't get back.

And Rickey, rowing upstream with the small ducks safely in a basket in the bottom of the boat, said to Mary Lee, "After all there is something in this sort of thing."

"What sort of thing?" she queried.

"Domesticity. One could never link that word with Marty."

"Well, I'm not domestic, if that's what you mean," Mary Lee informed him. "That is, I've never worked with my hands like Michael's Aunt Molly. But I like the lambs and the ducks and the pigeons and being here with you, Rickey."

He smiled at her 'I like the lambs and the ducks and the pigeons—and you," he said with great content. Then there was silence as they went upstream together.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT.

Tony Drifts Downstream.

Jane Bleecker had had her own way for so many years that now when it seemed as if everything was going against her, she found it difficult to meet the situation.

She was back at Derekdale after a short season in New York of buying clothes for the summer; a perfect orgy of buying: everything in pale rose where the occasion was appropriate, and for the rest, white. The thing, Jane knew, was to keep away from the bizarre. In pink and white she got the effect of youth, yet found the colors kind to her fading charms.

She had in mind a summer spent somewhere in France, at one of the exclusive resorts. Tony's cruise would take him near enough so that he could dance attendance on her now and then. And Marty should go; and she and Tony should see a lot of each other.

Yet one couldn't in these days be quite sure of Marty. She had mooned about the yacht after young Oliphant's departure; and now she talked of burying herself for the summer in her camp in the Maine woods. She had refused to shop with Jane in New York. "I shan't need things," she had said.

"Well you can get what you want in Paris," Jane had ventured.

"I'm not going to Paris."

"Tony will be there."

"What if he is?"

"I thought you'd like it."

"Oh, what do I care about Tony or Tony about me!" Marty had said, fretfully. "You might as well put that out of your head, Jane."

But Jane refused to put it out of her head. She thought about it a lot. She wondered if there were not some way in which she could bring the two of them together.

There was, of course, June week at Annapolis. She might take Mary down to share in the festivities. Besides all the affairs for the midshipmen there would be a lot of entertaining afterwards, before the old Superintendent left and the new Admiral took his place. And Tony would have to see that Marty went everywhere.

But Marty showed no more interest in this plan than in the other. "I've been down so often—and then, there's Rickey."

Jane spoke her mind, "I thought you'd put him out of your life."

"I have. But I can't put him out of my thoughts, can I? I know I'm an idiot, Jane. You needn't look at me like that."

The end of it all was, that Jane got her way, and Marty went with her to Annapolis. They stayed at the old and historic hotel, in a room that looked out on the chapel and the stretch of blue sky above it.

It was on the second day after their arrival that Jane passed the Oliphant house and saw that the windows were open and curtains up and there was every evidence of occupation.

She spoke of it to Tony that night. "Has someone bought it?"

"Yes, Michael McMillan. He's going to marry Virginia."

Then Jane, in her surprise, said a thing she regretted ever after. "I'm glad it isn't you who are to marry her."

And Tony turned to her, almost with an effect of violence. "If you really loved me, you couldn't say a thing like that.'

"But I do love you."

"If you did, you'd want me to be happy. And I have lost my happiness because I have lost Virginia."

As he stood by the window of his mother's sitting-room, with his back to the light, a shadow seemed to fall on him and dull his brightness and the youth which had been his.

Jane spoke breathlessly. "I thought we'd go abroad this summer. There are a lot of things we could do, Tony, you and I—"

Tony shook his head. "Dad's going over. We've planned things—without you."

She was truly frightened now. "But, Tony, I won't be left out."

"It's Dad who has always been left out, and I am going to try to make it up to him, Midget."

She clung to his arm. "Don't you love me?"

He smiled down at her, but it was not the old adoring smile. "Of course. But we wouldn't hit it off this year. You run along with Marty—and wear your new clothes."

"I won't be marooned with Marty, she declared passionately.

"You never called it that in the old days," he reminded her, "you'd leave Dad and me at any time to spend months on the Van Duyne yacht or at the Van Duyne house-parties. Marty is going up to the Maine woods, why not go with her?"

Jane took refuge in tears, "Tony, you are cruel."

He laid his hand on her shoulder. "I want to spend this summer in my own way. I'm not going to fit my plans in with yours, Midget, and that's the end of it."

She found she could not move him, and later, when he left her, she went into Marty's room. "My dear, do you want me with you this summer?"

"Of course."

"Tony doesn't want me." She was pitying herself, but Marty didn't pity her.

"We are getting what was coming to us—both of us. We're a pair of worldlings, Jane. And we might as well own up to it."

But Jane wouldn't own up to it. She was not as honest with herself as Marty. Far down in Marty's trunk was a little sketch which Rickey had made—of a silver witch whose heart had burned, but could not melt the ice around it. How well he had read her! She was what her life had made her, and she could not change.

She said now to Jane: "I talked with Virginia Oliphant this morning. I asked about—Rickey—!"

"Marty, you didn't!"

"Yes. He has been very ill—"

Marty was crying! All her silver-whiteness suffused with red. Jane felt that the end of the earth had come. "You've always been so sensible, Marty,' she said in a wavering voice.

"Oh, sense," said Marty, and wiped her eyes, and talked about other things. And she did not tell Jane the other thing that she had learned from Virginia. That Rickey was to be married. Quietly next week. To Mary Lee Logan!

So that was what Marty had to think about as she sat there with Jane.—she had lost Rickey, she had lost Tony, and all this had happened since that first day in the garden.

The garden was gorgeous with roses now. Men had been busy for days trimming the borders and setting the old place in order. Much of the old furniture had been brought back to the house, and there was some new to go with it. It was to be as beautiful as possible by the time Virginia's parents arrived, and even now with summer draperies blowing in the breeze, with flowers in bowls, it was transformed from the empty shell which had echoed in the fall to every footstep.

Virginia and her brother were again installed in the rooms that had once been theirs—and Mary Lee was with them. Michael was at the hotel. Fresh breezes blew up from the Vay, and in the spring sunlight the waters sparkled. It was all very gay, incredibly gay it seemed to Virginia. No unhappiness anywhere—Daddy better, Rickey working like mad with Mary Lee—

She was in the garden, cutting roses and laying them in her basket. No unhappiness anywhere—!

And just then Tony came through the gate. Virginia had not seen him since her arrival in Annapolis.

"Oh," she cried, joyfully, "how good of you to come."

He took her hand and looked down at her. "Did you think I could stay away?"

They sat on the stone bench, and she told him her plans. "Rickey and Mary Lee will live here with Daddy and Mother while Michael and I are in Italy—"

"In Italy?"

"Yes. We are going to a house—of Michael's. He bought it a long time ago. I think it's going to be rather wonderful, Tony."

He knew it would be wonderful. He too, had wanted to reveal to her the loveliness of other lands—to take her to the ends of the earth. To show her the sea at dawn, the desert stars at midnight to be with her when she thrilled to the beauty of it all.

But it was not for him. "My heart is black with envy," he said, and tried to say it lightly, "I'd hate to have you know I envy—Michael."

"Yet you were splendid, Tony—that night on the river."

"There was nothing splendid in giving up what I had never had."

Her eyes were full of tears. "We're going to be friends—forever—you and I and Michael."

He shook his head. "Only at long distance, my dear."

"But some day, Tony, nearer than that?"

"Perhaps."

At parting he lifted her hand to his lips and kissed it. "I shall never forget you," he said. And then he went away, taking with him the vision of her as she stood in the garden, a bright and beautiful presence.

He did not dine with his mother. He felt he could not face Jane's insincerities, Marty's glitter. He got into his boat and went out on the river. As he drifted towards the bay, the sun was setting, and, suddenly, as he rounded a curve and came to the place where he had once met Michael he saw Virginia and her lover. They were facing the sunset and Virginia's face was lifted to the flaming sky. Once more she was part of it, a priestess, as it were, at a golden altar and Michael, too, was illumined.

Tony, following the darkening stream, left them to their radiance. Yet as he came out at last into wider waters, the stars rose and shed upon him theirquiet light, so that he, too, was illumined as he lifted his face to the sky.

A Thought

SUCCESS IN LIFE.

I believe success in life is within the reach of all who set before them an aim, and an ambition that is not beyond the talents and ability which God has bestowed upon them. We should all begin life with a determination to do well whatever we take in hand, and if that determination is adhered to with the pluck for which Englishmen are renowned, success, according to the nature and quality of our brain power, is, I think, a certainty. The first step on the ladder that leads to success is the firm determination to succeed; the next is the possession of that moral and physical courage which will enable one to mount up, rung after rung, until the top is reached.—Lord Wolsey.

RUMORED ALLIANCE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

It would pay The Examiner to maintain a correspondent here at Montreal which is the "big city," the seaport, the point to which Washington looks and the place from which go out the various policies and politicians which rule Canada.

It is plain to the plainest of us that there is a wide difference of opinion between Hon. G. H. Ferguson and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. There is a similar divergence between Lord Beaverbrook and Mr. Baldwin. It is now said to be likely that Lord Beaverbrook and Mr. Ferguson will combine upon a policy of inter-Dominion Reciprocity which modified Beaverbrook's intra-empire free trade policy and the high protection "Canada First" policy which could in no way be said to be a cement to bind the Empire together.

You will notice that Mr. Taschereau and Mr. Ferguson are warm personal friends. Both are strong for King and Empire. Mr. Taschereau's political enemies (Bourassa and the entire nationalist press) are Mr. Bennett's friends. It is the nationalist, independence-of-Canada group in Quebec that upset Mr. King and keeps Mr. Bennett in power—and there you are!

The proposed alliance then is Ferguson-Taschereau-Beaverbrook. Sir Thomas White-Sir Joseph Flavelle and all the loyalists with moderate or reciprocal tariffs between empire countries and the necessary protective tariff against other countries as their policy against high protection. Canada independent and Mr. Bennett, Bourassa, etc., on the opposite side.

This accounts for the pot boiling over at Toronto and the great welcome by the Beaverbrook press to Mr. Ferguson on his arrival in England.

The latest unemployment agent is announced from Ottawa. It is expected that the X-ray machine will do away with at least half the customs officers. Machines beat reds for revolutions. Leading authorities here are declaring that increasing unemployment is disintegrating the family tree.

J. H. BURNHAM

WHAT ABOUT THE RENT MAN?

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

Poverty and hardship are no respector of persons. The difficulties that beset many during times of stress are well shown up in a case in which the tenant's wife of a certain house if sick and has to go to the hospital for an operation and don't know if her husband and children will be able to stay in the home while she is absent in the hospital, on account of the rent.

One of the relief workers who are appealed to called the owner of the house and asked if the family could stay in the house, under the circumstances, and the owner said, "Yes, of course."

Now the owner of this house gives a statement of his rentals of this house and it will show how badly hard times and sickness bear heavily, not only on the tenants, but also on the man who supplies houses for rent, for people who are being sheltered under rented roofs in the city.

1929—one month's rent paid; man of house dies, widow could not pay any rent, in February, March, April, May, June and July. The owner says, all right. She moves to another city. Next tenant takes the house in August and pays his rent, but getting farther behind all the time, until in September he leaves owing over two months rent. The owner has the house empty one month and now next tenant behind two months—the father out of work; the mother has to go to the hospital. The owner has paid two years' taxes, $55 repairs, two years' interest on the mortgage and lost ten months' rent out of the 26 months. Now he doesn't know when the mother will be back from the hospital. It may be one, two or three months more before rent is paid again.

Has anyone any pity for the owner? No doubt every owner in the city can report the same kind of happenings.

Indians Are Allowed To Hunt Beaver Again

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 10. (CP)—Indians and halfbreeds in the Mackenzie district of the North-West Territories are permitted, to trap limited numbers of beavers, because of the low returns their hunting operations have yielded to them. It was represented to the Government that trapping has been so poor this year that many Indians and halfbreed families have not been able to purchase sufficient food.

The Order-in-Council amends a law which forbade the trapping of beaver in the district and permits one member of each family to trap 15 beaver between Jan. 15 and May 15.

BIG ADVANCE WHEAT PRICES AT WINNIPEG

Upward Move Follows Report of Revolution Spreading Throughout Russia.

PIT IN TURMOIL.

But Profit-taking on Price Bulges Turns Grain Downward at Chicago.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 10. (CP)—Inspired by reports of a revolution in Russia, said to be spreading throughout the Soviet, grain traders went on a buying splurge on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange shortly before noon, and wheat values bounded upward.

The pit was in a turmoil as traders rushed to the buying side. Quickly sending prices far beyond the recent low levels.

Advances ranged from 1⅝ to 2 cents a bushel. May leaped to 66 cents a bushel; July 67 cents and October, in which the most active trading occurred, to 70 cents.

The Russian revolutionary reports were carried on broker house wires, and there was no confirmation from any source.

Chicago Declines

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (CP)—Profit-taking on price bulges turned grains downward early to-day after fresh upturns. Initial advances were influenced by a steep jump in Liverpool quotations and by stock market buoyancy. Opening unchanged to ⅜ cents higher, wheat afterward underwent setbacks to well below yesterday's finish. Corn also started unchanged to ⅝ up, and subsequently showed losses.

Donations For Relief Absolutely Voluntary

Citizens Are Only Asked to Size Up Situation and Give Accordingly.

In connection with the campaign for funds for the Peterborough Relief Association, the question has been asked of N. H. Crowe, manager of the campaign, if a donation to the fund was compulsory on the part of any employee. The answer is, no donation or gift to the fund is compulsory on the part of any citizen, an employee or otherwise. Every sum donated, large or small, is to be voluntary on the part of the giver, and while it was suggested as a basis that a sum equal to one day's pay for the months of February and March be donated by full time employees of every class, this also is not compulsory. Some will give more, others with large families and obligations may possibly find that one days pay is all they can afford, but knowing the abnormal conditions as most citizens do, the necessity for the relief, and also the fact that the money donated is being spent to the very best possible advantage, it is felt by the committee that donations will be freely given to the very best of every one's financial ability to do so.

Any question regarding the fund will be gladly answered by Mr. Crowe or any member of the committee.

LIQUOR BARON IS DROWNED AT SEA

$500,000 Mansion

During the heyday of his career as a liquor exporter, Mr. Cooper built "Cooper Court" in Walkerville. This mansion, one of the finest in Ontario, cost more than $500,000. The facilities there include a regulation swimming pool, billiard rooms, extensive grounds and an organ which cost $30,000. He formerly lived in Belle River, where he established a brick-making industry and developed a large farm for production of vegetables and flowers. Seven years ago he interested himself in the production of tobacco on a large scale on St. Ann's Island, near Wallaceburg. He invested more than $1,000,000 in this venture, according to his solicitors. Most of the money was lost when the island was flooded by the high water-levels of the Great Lakes.

Mr. Cooper was very generous in his donations to charitable institutions. It has been stated that his gifts exceeded $1,000,000. They included equipment for the local hospitals and X-ray equipment for the Essex County Sanitarium in Sandwich. He took a deep interest in the needy of Western Ontario. Each year he gave a large party at Port Stanley for the children in London orphanages.

"BULL" FORCES PRESS NEW YORK ISSUES TO NEW HIGHS FOR YEAR

Enthusiastic Report By United States Steel Corporation Provides Fresh Stimulus.

SOME FLUCTUATION.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (CP).—Bears continued to pay dearly for their excessive gloom in to-day's stock market as the bull forces pressed on to new high levels for 1931 for the third successive day.

There was a pause for breath during the morning, following a half hour of the most furious trading witnessed in weeks right after the market opened, but the advances were resumed by midday, and a report by the United States Steel Corp. showing a large gain in new business in January provided fresh stimulus to bullish enthusiasm.

A handful of stocks in which there is a limited supply for trading purposes fluctuated violently. Auburn Auto shot up $16.50 a share to $191, which is almost double its January low of $101.50.

U. S. Steel sold up $2 to 145.50; the best price of 1931.

COPPER LEADS MINING UPTURN

Prices Display Underlying Firmness With Small Gains in Majority on Standard.

MINING CORP. ADVANCES.

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP). — An upturn in the price of copper was reflected in opening strength on the mining market to-day. While somewhat reactionary towards noon, prices displayed underlying firmness with small gains in the majority throughout the list when taken.

International Nickel was an early feature, opening over a half a point higher and standing up 30 at $15.55 at mid-day. Noranda was holding at $17.25, after selling somewhat higher in early trade. Other base metal issues were firm.

Mining Corp. was a feature of the gold group, price moving through $2 and standing up 12 from last night at $2.02 when taken. Lake Shore and Hollinger gained 5 apiece to $8.55 and $26.25, and Kirkland Lake Gold, Vipond and Wright-Hargreaves were up a couple each. Ritchie was active and 1½ higher in the penny group, but Bidgood, San Antonio and Bunker Hill Ext. showed fractional recessions.

Oils were quiet with Imperial and B. A. oil each up a quarter and Ajax Oil selling at 1.44, up 2 from yesterday.

CATTLE MARKET IS OVERCROWDED

Trading is Dull on Toronto Livestock Exchange—1775 Head of Cattle.

HOG PRICE UNSETTLED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10.—(By the Canadian Press)—Toronto live stock receipts and quotations as reported by the Dominion live stock branch of the Canadian press, follow:

Cattle receipts 975. Left overs totalled 800 head. Trade continued dull with butcher prices 50c to 60c lower for the week. Fair to good butcher cattle sold from $5.75 to $6.00, a few choice cattle making $6.25 to $6.50. The best fed calves brought $8.00. Good butcher cows brought $4.00 to $4.50 with good bulls also from $4.00 to $4.50. There were too many cattle on the market and the price trend is lower.

Calf receipts 238. Calves were steady at $10.00 to $10.50 for choice with a few tops at $11.00.

Quotations—Good and choice veal $10.00 to $11.00; common and medium $7.00 to $9.50; grassers $4.00 to $5.00.

Hog receipts 757. Hogs were unsettled with the salesmen holding for $8.25 F.O.B. for bacon or $9.25 off car.

Quotations—Off car basis, select bacon $8.75; bacon $9.25; butchers $8.85; heavies $6.75 to $7.75; lights and feeders $9.00 to $9.25; sows $5.25 to $6.25.

Sheep receipts 181. Fair to good lambs sold steady at $8.00 to $8.50 with culls at $6.00 to $7.00. Sheep were steady at $1.50 to $5.50, according to quality.

Quotations: good ewe and wether lambs $8.00 to $8.50; medium $7.50 to $8.00; bucks $6.00 to $6.50; culls $6.00 to $7.00; good light sheep $5.00 to $5.50; heavies $4.00 to $4.50; culls $1.50 to $3.00.

COPPER PRICES HIGHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The price of copper today again started to climb from the 9½ cent level to which it dropped last week, equalling the 35-year low figure of last October.

An increased demand from both domestic and foreign sources at the low level resulted in a rise of of one-quarter of a cent a pound in the export price today to 10.05 cents, c.i.f., European base ports.

Winnipeg Review

Yesterday's wheat market after opening ½ to ¼ lower based on the early weakness in Liverpool, turned decidedly strong and prices again continued their upward trend, and on the extreme bulge were 2 cents to 2 3-8 cents above the close on Saturday, the gains being well held after the first half hour with the market gradually creeping higher right up to the closing moments.

Statistics and market news were generally bearish, but these were ignored. The main feature of the market was perhaps the light offerings, there being very little for sale at certain periods. The main buying was commission house variety and largely credited to the general public or the country. There was some buying by Chicago interests, which was spreading. Buying by exporters or seaboard houses was very light. Export sales over the week-end and this morning was estimated at 500,000 bushels which included 250,000 bushels No. 2 Northern taken by United States Millers.

The Chicago market was also strong, July wheat and May Corn being 1 5-8 higher. It was feared that the low temperatures that had developed in the Canadian West would extend south to the winter wheat belt and cause extensive damage. Canadian exports of wheat last week were only around four million bushels, and while world's shipments totalled 14,927,000 bushels, the on passage supplies of wheat and flour increased 4,952,000 bushels, the Canadian visible supply decreased only 2,028,000 bushels, while the U. S. visible increased 934,000 bushels.

The market may do a little better temporary but we would advise caution in following any sharp upturn.

Coarse Grains.—The strength in wheat and Corn was reflected in higher prices for Oats, Barley and Rye, but the upturn in the leading cereals was only partly followed. Actual trade was very small, both in the cash and futures market, but selling pressure was extremely light.

Liverpool Cables due 1 3-8 higher based on Winnipeg.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10 (Special to Examiner.)—An upturn in the price of copper again was accompanied by a change for the better in market sentiment to-day. Last week's quarter cent reductions in the price of both domestic and expert copper were erased to-day when corresponding advances were made, domestic rising to 9.75 cents per pound and the export to 10.05 cents CIF Hamburg, Havre and London. Prices of copper stocks opened higher and while slightly arectionary towards noon, displayed underlying firmness.

From New York comes the opinion that with foreign purchases of copper heavy and a larger enquiry from domestic consumers, a strong tone has been imparted to domestic dealings in the metal. It is learned that bids of 9.75 cents have been turned down in important quarters. It is quite possible that if demand for expert and domestic account continues as it has, another upturn in price might occur in the near future.

The first bullion shipment from Bodie, California by Treadwell Yukon, which has acquired virtually all the properties at that camp, amounted to about $11,000 It represents gold recovered by the 60 ton twenty stamp high grade mill and by the 4,000 ton low grade flotation unit, both of which have recently been put in operation The work being done at Bodie is probably being watched with more interest in the United States than any similar project in the country, as there is an increase in province may develop a second Alaska Juneau there.

Progress is being made in the arrangement of financing for a resumption of operations at the Foley Mine, near Mine Centre, North Western Ontario now under the control of British Canadian Mines, Ltd., The property has been developed by three shafts to the 850,200 and 1300 levels, and is equipped with a 150 ton cycanide mill, power plant and mine buildings.

Canadian and English interests are behind the present deal, it is reported.

According to the Canadian Mining Journal, there is scarcely a promising gold prospect in northern Quebec that is not now involved in some kind of negotiations for exploration and development. Gold mines and prospective gold mines all across the country are being studied and investigated. Besides the expectation of work on the known discoveries, there are indications of extensive prospecting operations in large sections of almost virgin country along the belts of favorable rock formation.

British Princes Tour Peruvian Oil Fields

S.S. OROPESA, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Prince of Wales was busily at work to-day on one of the main phases of his visit to South America, the collection and study of information on the industries and commercial life of the continent.

Yesterday for more than seven hours he motored through the great oil fields of Northern Peru, largely controlled by British and Canadian interests and gained a good insight into the work of this huge industry.

He motored for nearly 100 miles through an arid sun scorched country whose only wealth is oil.

The Prince and his brother, Prince George, landed at Cabo Blanco in the morning and with members of their party were whisked by automobile a thousand feet in altitude in less than two miles along a road bristling with hairpin bends cut in a beetling mountainside.

"Cold Jaw" Boxers Learn Tricks Against Early K.O.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Did you ever hear of a fighter "warming up" his jaw in the dressing room?

There are tricks to all trades and one of the precautions against a first round knockout is to have the face upholstery kneaded with boxing gloves just before the battle starts.

The theory—and it works out in practice—is that a blow produces a greater shock when the recipient is "cold" than after he has been "warmed up" with tingling leather taps that increase the circulation of blood and "set" the bones against sudden jars.

HEPBURN SCORES L.C.B. SALARIES

Claims if He Becomes Premier Members of Board Will Be Fired.

HEENAN SPEAKS.

CARDINAL, Ont., Feb. 10 (CP). — Salaries paid members of the Ontario Liquor Control Board were criticized by Mitchell F. Hepburn, who addressed a meeting here last night in the interests of Percy Barnard, Liberal candidate in the February 12 Provincial by-election. It was "scandalous," the Ontario Liberal leader thought, that Sir Henry Drayton, Board chairman, should receive a salary of $20,000 a year and both the other members $10,000. If he became Prime Minister of the Province, Mr. Hepburn stated, the members of the Board would be "fired."

The Liberal leader challenged Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, to allow the books of brokers who had "defrauded the public" to go into the courts "so the people of Ontario could see what had been going on over a period of years."

Hon. Peter Heenan, former Liberal Minister of Labor, Mrs. G. A. P. Brickennen, London, Ont.; John Campbell, Kemptville; W. A. Parisien, Ottawa, and the candidate spoke also.

Leave Out Liquor Question.

Mr. Hepburn declared the liquor question should not be brought into the campaign because it was a social problem. "Our financial obligation exists and our opponents are trying to make light of the fact," Mr. Hepburn said. "We have to get out of debt by paying those debts from the proceeds of our basic commodities. False stimulation is being given production and there is no corresponding demand we are going to get low prices in the future and we should pay particular attention to our finances."

Mr. Heenan produced photographs he had secured which showed the tents in which the men working in northern construction camps lived in temperatures of fifty and sixty below zero. "If these men are not working under slave conditions then I would like to ask the Ontario Government what the conditions are," he continued. "The Government believes in feeding the men and letting the wives and families starve. Mr. Bennett says he is going to do something better than old age pensions. It is our problem and if there is anything going to be done to better it we will support any such move."

Association Plans On Philadelphia Exhibit

Local Manufactured Goods Will Be on Display at Forthcoming Show.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association are to continue their publicity campaign with an exhibit at the Philadelphia Sportsmen's and Motor Boat Show in the Commercial Museum of that city.

Last year the exhibits were held in New York, Pittsburg and Cleveland. This year one has already been held in New York, and the one in Philadelphia is to take place from the 21st to the 28th of February. These dates correspond with the plans of the Ontario Department of Highways, who hold joint exhibits with the Peterborough organizations.

The exhibit at the forthcoming show will be slightly different from that of the New York Motor Boat Show, due to the personal influence of the manager of the Chamber of Commerce. For this reason Peterborough manufacturers will be featured. For example, there will be folding chairs with brilliant colored upholstery on the seat and back, supplied by J. J. Turner and Sons. The Brinton Carpet Company of this city has sold the exhibitors $300 worth of Sarouk rugs for show purposes. Descriptive material of the Kawartha Lakes and Trent Waterway have been supplied by the Peterborough Canoe Company. The railways are also cooperating in sending out literature on this district. The usual films will be shown, as well as the illuminated transparencies.

One feature of the exhibit will be a large oil painting of Rice Lake from Gore's Landing. The painting was originally an enlarged photograph, taken by the Roy Studio, but has been done in oils. The picture is in an attractive gilt frame, and special illumination is being arranged so as to make the painting the more arresting. This will no doubt serve to bring many a passer-by within close range of the exhibit, and thus make the results more widespread.

Asked who would represent the Association at the exhibit, the manager stated that he was uncertain as to whether he would be able to attend owing to the pressure of accumulated business prior to and following his last trip to New York.

LEAD ISSUES TOP PREVIOUS HIGH RECORDS

Brazilian, C.P.R., De Forest Crosley and Wineries Among Stocks to Advance.

FAIRLY HEAVY TRADING.

Oils Generally Firm Throughout With Sales Turnover Best Seen in Week.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10. (CP)—The market on the Toronto Stock Exchange gave one of its best performances in many days during the course of the morning with several of the leading industrials touching new highs for the year and the volume also reached a creditable stage.

Such issues as Brazilian at 26¼, C.P.R. at 44; De Forest Crosley at 15¼ and Wineries at 4 3-8 all topped their previous highs for the year.

International Nickel came in for considerable attention and as a result the stock rose 3-8 to 15¾. Noranda was up a half a dollar to 17.50 and many of the other leading mining shares were higher on the day.

Oils were generally firm throughout with the sales turnover the best seen in over a week. Steels were likewise firm as a group with liquor issues taking their lead from the above two. Walkers with respect to sales volume, was probably the best on the board. The price, however, was unchanged.

Interlisted issues responded wholeheartedly to the upward moevment as the trend in New York was of a decidedly higher character.

EPSTEIN STATUE SHOCKS LONDON

Clergyman Fears "Genesis" May Be Taken in Future as Portrayal of Modern Londoners.

SCULPTOR SMILES.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (A.P.) — Staid London's art critics broke into a shocked chorus of disapproval to-day over Jacob Epstein's new marble statue "Genesis," the figure of an enciente primitive woman which he considers his most important work.

The same papers printed letters of protest which have reached them with regard to the statute. One is from a retired clergyman, who fears that future archaeologists may take the sculptor's statues as life portrayals of modern Londoners.

The Times critic said of the statue, "There are two Mr. Jacob Epsteins, one a powerful expressive modeller in bronze and the other the sculptor hero of a bad novel." The Telegraph's critic finds the statue coarse and repellant and suggests that it be removed from the gallery as "unsuitable for public exhibition." After partly describing the statue the paper says: "There are other details of the figure one simply doesn't care to discuss."

An "Awful Eyeful"

The Daily Express spoke of Epstein as a man "who cracks bad jokes with his chisel." The Mirror called the statue an "awful eyeful" and added "Genesis" might make an ideal hatrack in the hall of a lunatic asylum."

Meanwhile Epstein, smiling, refuses to answer his critics, saying: "I did not carve this for them; I carved my idea. But I am sometimes surprised that they think I am aiming a personal insult at them or anyone."

The Manchester Guardian, however, urged violent critics not to be too sure that Epstein is wrong. The Guardian critic said, "The figure is primeval, almost a Simian pregnant woman, stark and expressive with something terrible in it like birth itself, transcending the properties of life . . . The fact has blind . . . dignity and pathos and the forms mount up in a strange rhythm from vast limbs set in a rough base through emphatic stages to the head with a hard mass of hair."

ST. JOHN'S AWAY FOR FIRST GAME

Return Tangle in Lindsay Series Will Be Played Here on Thursday.

St. John's play the first game of the group finals in Lindsay to-night, with the return game here on Thursday.

The Saints, in charge of Coach Shrimp McDougall, had a short brisk work-out last night and are in good shape for this important series.

With one exception the same lineup as defeated Peterborough Hockey Club last week will represent the red team. Cuthbertson is tied up with lectures at Varsity this week, and will be unable to play, and his place at left wing on the first line will be taken by Jimmy Wilshaw, who performed brilliantly at that position during most of the group games while Steve Burke will play right wing on the second line.

The series is to be refereed by A. W. Armstrong of Oshawa in place of Elwood Coombs of Lindsay. The Saints were perfectly willing to have had the Lindsay man handle the bell, but their suggestion was not acted on and Armstrong has been given the assignment.

JUNIOR CURLERS ARE OUSTED BY LINDSAY

Defeated 13-8 in the Preliminary For District Junior Tankard.

With the score 13—8, Lindsay junior curlers this morning defeated the Peterborough junior rink in the preliminary for the District Junior Tankard, to be played off in Toronto at some future date, as yet undecided.

This competition is a one-rink competition, open to the entire district. G. Beall of Lindsay skipped the visiting victorious rink, while Don Best led the local rink in a hard fought battle. The personnel of the rinks was as follows:

MAYOR LAVINGNEUR OF QUEBEC PLAYS IN THE ROLE OF CUPID

Receives Letters From Twenty-Four British Spinisters Who Are Looking for Canadi an Husbands With Pros pects.

QUEBEC, Feb. 10— The wedding-bells that rang for Miss Ethel Harris, English girl who married an old-time friend, a Montrealer, after Mayor Lavigneur of this city had been instrumental in bringing the couple into contact again by mail, are echoing across the Atlantic and even across Canada, and His Worship the Mayor is learning that the role of match-maker is no sinecure.

Since news of the first romance leaked out, twenty-four letters from spinsters in all parts of Britain have been received at the city hall, to which the Mayor is again invited to play the part of Cupid with a postage stamp for bow and robes of office for wings. One letter has also been received from a girl in Montreal.

A would-be bride, whose name is not given, announces her address as Byton, Sussex. She writes that she is 35, slim, of medium height, with dark-brown hair and gray eyes, and wants to enjoy farm life. Admitting that she has no fortune, she promises that the man who marries her, if honest, would be very happy.

Georgine, Somerstown, Chichester, prefers a member of the Salvation Army for a husband. Florence, of Oakham, Rutland, is not specific in her request for a husband, though says she likes animals, and would prefer an Englishman. Mary, Whitburn, expresses no particular choice in the matter of husbands or vocation.

Doris, who writes from a village in Sussex, England, has at least one big qualification. "I am twenty-one years of age, tall, fair-complexioned," she writes, "and I work as a cook."

Against Farming.

A man about thirty-five years of age, with a good position, is looked for by Betty, Montreal. She is thirty and tall, with dark-brown hair and blue eyes, according to her own description. "I am a hospital trained nurse," she writes, then adds in plaintive tone, "and I have never had any opportunity of making real friends, being quiet and rather reserved, which makes it more difficult.

"I should like to meet one with a good position," she says; but adds a last condition — "not farming."

Fond maternal hopes are expressed in a letter from Glasgow, Scotland, the writer of which states that she is the mother of Jean, aged seventeen, for whom she would like to find "a nice sweetheart who might later on, perhaps, become her husband. "About nineteen or twenty" the young man should be; while Jean upholds the honor of Scotia by being "tall and very nice-mannered."

For a Canadian looking for a woman who knows her place is in the home there is Winnifred, of Gloucester, England, who describes herself as "thirty-nine years of age, of refined appearance, very domesticated in every way and a good cook." The ability to "feed the brute" is stressed in a number of the applications. Winnifred has a daughter who will be twelve in April and is pessimistic about the outlook in the old country.

"It seems to me England is in a very bad state," she says. "I should be very glad to be out of it and have an entire change."

From Margate, England, one of the great seaside resorts for tourists and scarcely a conceivable spot where a husband could not be found, writes Susan: "Please introduce me to a young man of forty-three to forty-five. I am tall and of good appearance. My age is forty-four."

"I am anxious to get hold of a husband with at least some prospects," writes Violet, "as I am not at all set with the young men of my own town. My age is twenty-four, height five feet five inches. I am thoroughly domesticated and fond of home life."

And from Liverpool, too, writes Winifred, making the appalling statement that "there are no men in this country of ours."

Another letter from Liverpool comes from Mabel, who simply states that she is twenty-eight, and then adds that she belongs to the Church of England.

For a Scots-Canadian looking for a thrifty wife, there is M. (no first name given) who hails fraw Forfar, Scotland. "I am a good housekeeper, just an ordinary person in every way," she writes somewhat contradictorily. "I would like a husband about fifty-three years of age, active, alert and in a position to keep a wife. I have good health and business ability, as well as being a housekeeper. I would not object to a widower without encumbrance."

From a Staffordshire village write two other young ladies, who would be much obliged if a course of correspondence could be arranged with two eligible young gentlemen. "We are nineteen and twenty-two years of age, blondes, lovers of music and outdoor life," they claim.

There is a more solemn note struck in a letter from a widow in Leeds, who is looking for somone to look after her two little sons, eight and eleven years of age. "I have had a hard struggle for a number of years," the letter says simply, "and thought perhaps my luck would change if I could get away from this country. I want someone that would be kind to my boys, as they are all I have left in the world. I am used to country life — and to hard work."

"D" writing from London, England, says she is about thirty years of age, slim, good-looking, healthy, and possessing average looks and intelligence. "Can you please tell me," she asks, "if it is true that in Canada there are more men than women? For instance, at a dance in England a girl finds that there are about six or seven girls to every man and also as so many men are unemployed the question of marriage is impossible."

From Stoke-on-Trent, England, "E" writes: "I am thirty-three years of age, five feet three, with dark hair and eyes. I am a home-lover and very fond of music and singing. I am a nurse."

125 FATHERS AND THEIR SONS ATTEND ST. PAUL'S MEN'S BANQUET

Dr. J. A. Bannister, Principal of Normal School, is Guest Speaker.

PRESENTATION MADE.

"Don't be drifters. If you wish to accomplish anything in life you must have an aim, and must pursue that aim steadfastly, letting nothing turn you aside," was the central thought in an inspiring address to "the boys of today—the men of tomorrow," delivered with eloquent force by Dr. J. A. Bannister principal of Peterborough Normal School, at a Father and Son banquet held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last evening.

The banquet held under the auspices of the Men's Association of the church, and presided over by H. Dodds was a decided success, one hundred and twenty-five fathers and their sons partaking of a splendid meal prepared by the members of Ladies' Aid. The program was rounded out by a well conceived group of musical numbers.

A pleasing little ceremony was performed during the course of the evening by Wilson Craw, first vice-president of the Association, who presented a service wagon to Mrs. F. H. Rowan, president of the Ladies' Aid, as a token of appreciation of the untiring work performed by the ladies at various functions of the Men's Association.

Introduces Speaker.

Dr. J. J. Craig in introducing the speaker of the evening referred to him as a man whose one ambition in life was to be an educationalist. Dr. Bannister, he said, was born in the good old County of Norfolk, which also gave birth to Dr. Edgar Ryerson, founder of the present educational system. Dr. Bannister is a Queen's university arts graduate, he stated, and after several years teaching in this province he accepted an appointment as inspector in Northern Ontario. Some ten years ago he became a master on the staff of North Bay Normal School, and in the year 1926 received the degree P. Paed. from Toronto University. A year last September when Mr. Walker was made director of Normal Training Schools, Dr. Bannister came to this city as Mr. Walker's successor.

Dr. Craig continued to stress the importance of the Normal School to Peterborough, particularly from a cultural point of view, adding that for that reason this city possesses the best public school teachers to be found anywhere in Ontario.

"Boys of yesterday, men of today; boys of today men of tomorrow," said Dr. Bannister in opening, "it gives me great pleasure to come to this banquet tonight and to look into the faces of the men and boys around these tables.

Launching into the subject of his address, the speaker told two stories containing a significant moral which was obviously fully appreciated both by the boys and by their elders.

One story concerned a proud and stately ship, built in a little port on the Atlantic coast. The people took a justifiable pride in the quality of the craft they were capable of producing, and when the time came for launching the boat, a public holiday was declared. Afterwards when the ship was completed and the cargo of lumber had been taken aboard, she set out for a distant port. Clear sailing was enjoyed for a number of days, but the craft eventually ran into a storm. The sturdy craft was tossed and battered on the boiling sea, and after the storm had abated was a mere derelict, moving here and there with every movement of the wind and waves.

The wreck drifted into the path of great liners which were sent to the bottom of the sea. It was not the fault of the ship that it became a drifter, said the speaker. "God had not given it a will, as he has given you and I a will of our own." Stressing the moral the speaker exclaimed that to succeed in life one must have a steadfast purpose, and that to become a drifter was fatal.

The toast list which included "The King," the "Fathers" proposed by Ralph Clarke and responded to by W. L. Ferguson and the "Sons", proposed by Alderman G. A. Macdonald and responded to by his son, Howard Mcdonald, was interspersed by a vocal solo, John Fowler, accompanied by Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O. An entertaining number was also introduced by Harold Coulson.

Embezzlement Laid To Mother Superior

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 10 (A.P.) —Sister Madeline, Mother Superior of the Carmelite Convent at Malines, was arrested to-day charged with embezzlement of $275,000 over a period of the last five years during which, it was alleged, she followed a policy of borrowing from Peter to pay Paul.

The Mother Superior is said to have borrowed in all walks of life, paying old debts with proceeds of new loans and always increasing the amount borrowed, thus financing the purchase of a mansion, erection of a wall around the convent, and numerous other charities.

SALMON FISHING IN MARITIMES IS ABLY DESCRIBED

A. G. Huntsman, B.A., M.B., Addresses Members of Women's Canadian Club.

ON BIOLOGICAL BOARD.

The one great purpose of the Biological Board of Canada is to aid the country's fishing industry, declared A. G. Huntsman, B.A., M.B., Professor of Marine Biology at the University of Toronto, before a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club in the Library Hall yesterday afternoon. Mr. Huntsman is the director of the Biological Station at St. Andrew's, N.B., and is also senior director of the Biological Board of Canada.

The work connected with aiding the fishermen is a work of discovery, said the speaker, for it has to be critically done. Discovery on land is comparatively easy, whereas that in water is extremely difficult. A diver may enter the water, but can go only a certain depth, and even the the visibility is poor owing to the murky characteristic of water. Thus discovery in this department is in the nature of conjecture.

Mr. Huntsman then narrowed his subject down to salmon fishing, as pre-eminently the type for the angler. New Brunswick can boast of several good salmon rivers, the St. John, Restigouche, Miramichi and the Nipisiquit. The salmon industry on the Atlantic coast amounts to about $1,000,000 annually. In addition, American anglers have the rights to fish the Restigouche River, and this nets an extra $75,500 per annum.

There are three fishing interests, declared the speaker, that of the angler, that of the fishermen, and that of the dredgers. In the last case large nets are set and fish are caught by the hundreds. The anglers and fishermen are complaining that this wholesale catch may injure the stock. his, however, is a mooted point, and the Biological Board is acting as referees in the matter.

The eggs and fry of the salmon cannot exist in the salt water, and so The parent fish go up the river to clear water. There they become silver in color, and after hatching descend to the sea again.

The habit of the salmon is in accordance with an alliance to the sun, as they spawn at precisely the same isothermic season.

The age of the salmon of the Miramichi River may be determined in same manner as that of a tree—by counting the rings. In the case of the fish the rings of the scales are counted. The male has five rings, denoting three years in fresh water, one in salt water, and one in fresh again. The female has six rings, the extra year being spent in the salt water.

Mr. Huntsman concluded his address with slides depicting the New Brunswick coast, and the fishing industry as carried on there. Particularly interesting were the pictures of the process employed whereby the cod is "refrigerated" into what is called by the Biological Board "Ice Fillets". This method preserves the fish to the consumer in its original freshness and goodness A few highly instructive hydroscopic illustrations were shown of sea life in its natural coloring and setting.

JIGGS SUPPER.

Event Held in Marmora Hotel By United Church Ladies' Aid.

MARMORA, Feb. 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—A splendid Jiggs supper was served at the Royal Hotel on Monday evening by the ladies of Circle 6 of the Ladies Aid, of Marmora United Church. Many were not aware until they patronised this event that corned beef and cabbage could be so appetizing.

R. P. Gough Honored On Double Anniversary

TORONTO, February 10. — On the completion of fifty years in business, Richard P. Gough, president of the Sellers-Gough Fur Company on Saturday (and former Peterborough men's wear merchant) was presented with a basket of fifty roses and an illuminated address by his employees. The address, which was handed over by William Alvey, a director and secretary-treasurer of the company, spoke of Mr. Gough as a good citizen, an experienced business man, and an executive with keen capacity for promoting the affairs of the company. Saturday was also Mr. Gough's birthday.

IN MEMORIAM

GODDARD.—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mary E. Goddard, who passed away Feb. 10, 1923.
We mourn for her we dearly loved,
For one we could not save.
Beloved in life and mourned in death,
Remembered in the grave.
Her loving voice we'll ne'er forget,
Though years may pass away.
The loss of her we greatly feel
As keen as that first day.
When all is still and silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes,
Our thoughts are in the silent grave
Where our dear mother lies.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by husband and family.

ROAD OFFICIAL IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Lack of Harmony Between Superintendent and Hope Council is Cause.

PORT HOPE, February 10. — On the grounds that they could not co-operate with the road superintendent J. H. Caldwell, the members of Hope Township Council asked for his resignation at the February session conducted here on Saturday.

The resolution, which was introduced by Deputy Reeve Lightle, and sponsored by Councillor Gray, was carried unanimously.

"I think the ratepayers demand it," remarked the mover, Reeve C. G. Mercer and Councillor Gray concurring. Councillor W. W. Lord, a new member, stated that it would be folly for him to differ in the opinion of the older members of the Board, who claimed that they could not work in harmony with the road superintendent. Councillor E. H. Martyn was of the same opinion.

spoke on behalf of the Commonwealth; and Hon. Henry William Sampson, a member of the South African Government, spoke on behalf of the Union. A message of goodwill from the Governor-General of New Zealand, Lord Bledisloe, was then read.

All the Dominion representatives then simultaneously pressed electric buttons and the draperies surrounding the massive columns fluttered down amid a fanfare of trumpets. The National Anthem closed the ceremony.

Canada's Gift.

The Canadian column unveiled by General Sir Arthur Currie at the inauguration of the new Capital here to-day is one of four at the corners of a great raised court in front of the main building. In 1928 it was arranged that Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa would provide a column to be unveiled on the occasion of the opening.

The Canadian Parliament appropriated $3,000 for the purpose. The columns are ancient also in design, named after the Buddhist Emperor of India in the third century B.C. The architect is Sir Herbert Baker. The columns are massive monolites of Indian stone.

BRITISH STATESMAN DENIES STATEMENT

De Bunsen Says No Secret Anglo-Brazilian Trade Treaty Made in 1928.

LONDON, Feb. 10 (C.P.). — Sir Maurice De Bunsen has made a flat denial to a story of a secret Anglo-Brazilian trade treaty which, it is understood from messages received here, G. H. Payne in his book, "England and her Treatment of America," alleges he tried to secure when he headed a British mission to Brazil in 1918.

"I was engaged on a mission," said Sir Maurice, "the details of which were perfectly well-known, both by the United States and Great Britain."

"There is no truth whatever in these stories. Certainly there was nothing in any way hostile to the United States, but on the contrary negotiations were carried on in the closest co-operation."

FIRM UNDERTONE CONTINUED ON WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET

Gains of 2¼ to 2¾ During Past Week Have Advanced to More Than Eight Cents Higher Than the Lowest Levels Recorded Early in January.

WINTER DROUGHT CREATES LITTLE UNEASINESS

The wheat market has continued to show a firm undertone and prices have made further gains of 2¼ to 2¾ cents during the past week and are now more than eight cents higher than the lowest levels recorded early in January. There has been a moderate amount of export business working daily, although not as large as might be desired, but offerings generally have been on the light side, selling pressure being much less than in former weeks. On the setbacks there has been more confident buying of the futures. This feeling of confidence has been partly due to a much broader inquiry from abroad for Canadian wheat, with numerous bids in the market daily slightly under current price levels, and also because of concern over the possibility that spring growing conditions both in the United States and Canada may be unfavorable. The winter drought, especially in the United States, has created a feeling of uneasiness, although conditions could be changed considerably between now and spring by generous rains or snow fall, but at the present the whole North American wheat belt, both winter and spring, is heavily deficient in moisture. In the three Canadian prairie provinces there was a deficiency from normal precipitation of 48 per cent in December and 68 per cent in January. In addition large areas of the west went into winter under very dry conditions. However, there were reports to-day of an approaching snow storm that would extend from Northern Alberta to the state of Texas, and the government weather bureau at Washington indicated that the precipitation would probably be heavy over the middle west. It remains to be seen what amount of moisture the storm will bring. At the present time, according to all reports, there is not much wrong with the winter wheat, any damage that has taken place to date being slight, but generous and general rains will be needed before warm weather sets in. Given the required moisture in time, another big winter wheat crop appears to be indicated. Foreign crop conditions have been mainly favorable except for too much rain in Argentine during harvest time, and the effect of these too generous rains in that country have been reflected in a reduction in Broomhall's estimate of the exportable surplus of 20 million bushels, which is now placed at 180 millions bushels, as compared with 100 million bushels last year. Moreover, the quality of Argentine grain has suffered and the exporters of the country are experiencing difficulty in finding European buyers even at their present low prices. This condition in Argentine is expected to create a better demand for Canadian wheat, of which there are some indications at the present time. Export clearances of Canadian wheat have been fairly liberal, and from August first to February first Canadian exports were 165 million bushels, as against 96 million bushels for the same period a year ago. According to statisticians there is still about 220 million bushels surplus Canadian wheat available for export. In several ways the Canadian wheat situation looks fairly strong, for one thing the elimination of the United States as an export competitor has given Canadian wheat an advantage. Moreover, the European demand is largely for high grade wheat, and much Canadian wheat will be required to mix with lower grades from other countries. There is at the present time no hedging of importance in Canada and is not likely to be during the balance of the season. The farmers of the west have now marketed 256,015,000 bushels, which leaves only a small amount still to come from the farms. Last year's marketings at this date were 209,074,000 bushels. Argentine shipments are gradually increasing and Australia is putting afloat a good sized amount every week, with about half going to non-European countries. Russian shipments took a jump upwards this week compared with recent weeks, and according to Liverpool both Australian and Russian cargoes have sold at extremely low prices recently. On the whole there appears to be more of a feeling of security in regard to wheat values both here and abroad, although the foreign importer is adverse to follow material upturns in prices. However, Europe is expected to take wheat more freely the remainder of the season, and Broomhall estimates non-European requirements 32 million bushels more than be estimated a while back. Incentives for higher wheat prices lie in weather possibilities, but the bear factors appear to have been threshed out so often that they have become rather stale. While not looking for any bull market we would not be surprised to witness a gradual climb, and we believe wheat should be bought on all material setbacks.

Coarse Grains—There has been no new developments in these markets, which have continued firm but extremely dull. All markets have been well liquidated and supplies appear to be in strong hands and there is little or no selling pressure. On the other hand export business appears to be a dead issue and out of the question at the present time, foreign demand being nil. The cash markets are also very quiet with only an odd car of oats and barley being sold daily for domestic purposes. All prices are fractionally higher for the week, largely in sympathy with upturn in wheat.

Flax—This market has also continued dull and featureless. Demand is very limited and local prices follow those of outside markets, and are two cents higher for the week.—E. J. Bawlf.

GOOD PROGRESS IS EVIDENCED BY GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY

President, Col. A. E. Gooderham Says Company Made Headway Despite Depressed Business Conditions.

10 OFFICES IN CANADA.

The Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company held its forty-fourth Annual Meeting at the Company's Head Offices, 26 Adelaide Street West, at noon to-day. The President, Colonel A. E. Gooderham, reported to the shareholders that despite the disturbed business conditions existing throughout the year, the Company made very satisfactory progress, writing policies with gross premiums aggregating $2,849,575, which, after deducting reinsurance and lapses, netted the Company an income, including interest, of $2,099,736, and after charging against that amount claims and other expenses, and making generous provision for reserves, there was a balance of $92,217to transfer to surplus account. The Company's assets now stand at $3,638,000; total reserves—$1,656,000, and total security to policyholders $3,475,000.

10 Offices in Canada.

A. C. Withers, the Company's Vice-President and Managing Director, in referring to the general operations of the past year, drew the attention of shareholders to the fact that the Company is now operating 10 Branch Offices in Canada, one in Great Britain and one in Kingston, Jamaica, while the agency staff numbers more than 2,000. He stated further that more than 10,000 claims were paid in 1930 and that the total claim payments are now in excess of $15,000,000.

Mention was also made of the fact that the Life Branch of the Company's business operated with marked success in 1930, showing an increase over 1929 in new business written of 15%. This Department of the Company's activities is one that is developing, in accordance with the Company's plans, in a gradual manner, but on a sound and satisfactory basis.

The Directors were unanimously re-elected, these being: Colonel A. E. Gooderham, C. A. Withers, George H. Gooderham, D. G. Ross, Major A. E. Gooderham, Jr., Colonel G. G. Blackstock, G. E. Gooderham, H. W. Falconer.

BUYING AND SELLING PRESSURE LACKING ON CANADIAN EXCHANGE

Market Refutes Old Saying By Remaining at Complete Standstill.

EARNINGS MAINTAINED.

By A. D. O'Halloran.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1931)

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—To describe current sessions on the Canadian stock exchanges one must deviate from the regular vernacular long associated with the stock markets. It cannot be stated correctly that the movement is upward. It would be equally untrue to say it is downward—it is a sideways and slow motion. There is an old saying that the market cannot standstill; that it must move in one direction or another, but at the present time the local list is almost at a complete standstill insofar as vertical levels are concerned. In the past month the weighted index for the Montreal Exchange has varied no more than three points, with a low of 57 and a high of 60 and the close of February 5 of 59 identical with that of January 6. The weighted index for the Toronto exchange in the same period has fluctuated within a range of four points from 66 to 70, with the close of Thursday 2 points above that of January 6. During the past month the two markets have closed on four and five successive days at a time without any change in the price index.

Volume continues light and the buying punch that would drive prices up or the selling pressure necessary to send them down is lacking. The public is in there, but in a small way. The demand is mostly for cash and the depletion of the floating supply has improved the position to such an extent that it takes considerable volume of selling to have an effect on the general list. For the time being the market has developed into an investment affairs with little, or no opportunity for speculation. Opinion as to the immediate trend differs, some holding the list will meet with the usual spring reaction and others that the severe reaction of last December has precluded the possibility of any severe setback within the next few months. Consensus of opinion is that now is a favorable time for investment in well seasoned issues for those who will have patience and the courage to overlook day to day fluctuations in favor of the long term outlook.

Corporate and institution reports covering a portion and the full twelve months of 1930 are appearing in increasing numbers and it is possible at this time to get a general idea of earning results for this difficult period. A compilation of operating profits of ninety Canadian industrial corporations financial institutions, railways and public utilities goes to show that earnings while below the record year of 1929 were fairly well maintained in 1930, the aggregate decrease amounting to only 20.01 per cent. Of the total ninety, twenty-four experienced increase and sixty-six decrease, of which six reported in red. In practically all cases the figures used were operating profit net revenue in the case of the railways before deduction of charges, unless reported in such a way as to show net earnings only, in all cases, however, the figures are comparative on the same basis in both years. Total earnings of the group in 1929 amounted to $258,274,629 against $206,592,989, after deduction of deficits amounting to $4,162,992, in 1930 a net decrease of $51,681,640. The reduction reported by the sixty six was $57,056,839 and the increase by twenty-four $5,375,195.

Companies to suffer the most were occupied in the grain, milling and allied trades. Five milling companies reported earnings down 127.40 per cent and seven grain and elevator concerns 106.80 per cent in the case of one or two of the companies in this group there were extraordinary losses incurred and where ever possible these losses have been eliminated. All ended their fiscal period in midsummer 1930 and undoubtedly have improved their position since that time. Operating revenues of the railroads were also affected by the failure to move the western crop to its full extent and this group experienced a drop in net revenues equivalent to 25.92 per cent Another allied industry to suffer was the baking trade with Canada Bread, Canadian Bakeries and Dominion Bakeries all reporting earnings below 1929 and, despite favorable showing by the chain store and merchandising organizations, the loss in the food and merchandising group was 16.85 per cent.

Lower prices for base metals throughout 1930 was responsible for a sharp drop in the profit of Consolidated Smelters, reported for the first six months of 1930, and International Nickel, reported for the first nine months. Gold producers had a much better period and five enjoyed improvement, although the loss of the base metal producers resulted in a decrease of 22.91 per cent.

Two groups to give evidence of stability in earnings were the banking institutions and public utilities. Reduction in the demand for borrowed funds and lowering of interest rates, particularly in New York, hardly made 1930 a year in which to expect large profits in the banking business, yet the aggregate net earnings of nine Canadian chartered banks were only 5.21 per cent below the record figures established in 1929. All exhibits of the Canadian banks were featured by improvement in the sound liquid position of former years.

The best showing was made by the little public utilities, a group of eight experiencing an increase of a little less than one per cent. Seven of the eight reported improbement, the only one to meet with a reduction was the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company. This company operates in Brazil and was handicapped by a low exchange value for the milreis and by internal troubles in that country.

French Banker Refuses To Testify in Court

PARIS, February 10 (C.P.).—Albert Oustric, French banker, whose institution failed late last year, was brought before the Parliamentary Committee investigating the failure, and refused to take the oath or to testify.

At the same time Raoul Peret, former Minister of Finance and Justice, wrote M. Marin, chairman of the investigating body, that he would not appear again before the Commission, and recommending that they send him, Rene Besnard and Gaston Vidal, also mentioned in connection with the bank's affairs before the High Court for further questioning.

LOCAL SUPERVISOR.

T. J. SAWYER, C.L.U.

The London Life Insurance Company has announced the appointment of T. J. Sawyer, C.L.U., as supervisor of its ordinary branch this city. Mr. Sawyer was formerly in Hamilton, where he acquired an enviable reputation as a thoroughly competent life underwriter. The people of this city will find him well qualified to extend life insurance service of the high type characteristic of the London Life. F. M. Tyrrell is local superintendent for the industrial branch of this company.

JUDGE EXAMINES KITCHEN ICE BOX IN RESTAURANT

Division Court Action Transferred From Court Room to Kitchen.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

First Division Court of the County of Peterborough was yesterday afternoon temporarily transferred from the Court House to the somewhat cramped confines of a restaurant kitchen, when His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke along with plaintiffs and defendant, counsel and witnesses critically examined an ice box the chief object in dispute in a claim for $134.94, being the balance due for services rendered by Messrs. Goodfellow and Welch the plaintiffs. Defendant, John Econs, proprietor of Econs Luncheonette, counter-claimed the total sum of $73.50, and had paid into court the sum of $100 in full satisfaction of plaintiff's claim, which was not accepted.

His Honor's visit to the restaurant to see for himself the condition of the ice box and a table which was damaged in the course of repair, resulted in further argument between plaintiffs and defendant, after which the Judge asked Alexander L. Elliott, acting for plaintiffs, if he wished to say anything more. "Nothing your Honor, except that Mr. Econs has a very nice restaurant."

F. D. Kerr, K.C., defendant's counsel in reply to a similar query, also replied with emphasis, 'Nothing your Honor, except that Mr. Econs has a very nice restaurant."

At this defendant laughingly called for drinks on the 'house', but his generosity was not imposed on. His Honor reserved judgment.

George A. Welch, partner in the firm of Goodfellow and Welch, the first witness at court, said he had transactions with defendant in connection with the installation of an ice box and certain plumbing fixtures. Witness and defendant, Econs, had looked over the work and a price was quoted. He continued to describe the type of work executed in detail, and said he had made the ice box himself. It was installed by one of his workmen. He did not know of any repairs which had been undertaken by defendant, and had received no complaints of the workmanship on the ice box, except that one of the taps was sticking.

In cross examination he admitted that complaints had been received concerning the plumbing.

John Goodfellow gave similar testimony, but declared he had received no complaints until two months after the installation of the fixtures was completed, when defendant said he had been overcharged on the plumbing work. The account was revised and certain concessions made to defendant.

In answer to Mr. Kerr witness replied that he had examined the ice box since the law suit was instituted.

A detailed description of the ice box and plumbing installation and the tests to which it had been subjected, was described by William Gray, chief metal worker for Goodfellow and Welch.

Defendant, John Econs, explained that the ice box was to have been lined throughout with cork and galvanised iron sheeting. It was so lined with the exception of the lid, which he stated was made entirely of wood. The lid did not fit and consequently the ice melted rapidly. One of the earthenware crocks was tilted, said defendant, and he lost a quantity of orange juice in consequence, while numerous customers discontinued their patronage owing to the fact that the soft drinks were not properly cooled.

In answer to Mr. Elliott, defendant replied that the tops of the crocks had become broken. He did not know how the breakage occurred nor how the crock had tipped over, and spilled the orange juice. Questioned concerning his claims for $20 for repairs to the ice box, he admitted he had not had the repairs undertaken. "I had intended to," he added.

Miss D. Kennedy, an employee at Econs Luncheonette, exclaimed, "the ice box was practically no use at all and customers had complained about their drinks not being properly cooled. The top of the ice box did not fit properly and heat from the toaster was admitted and melted the ice."

Melville Turner, who examined the box at the request of Mr. Econs, described its construction and told of recommendations he had made to defendant, which included an air lock for the cover and a clamp. The estimated cost of the repairs, in accordance with Mr. Econs desires, he placed at $31.00.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Feb. 9. (Special to Examiner.)—Last week's trading on the mining market was chiefly marked by the attention directed to lower priced gold stocks. This renewed interest is a natural result of the important market appreciation enjoyed in higher priced gold stocks since the turn of the year and reflects the favorable position held by the gold industry at this time.

That Canada has the most widespread fold deposition of any country in the world is generally admitted and financial centres, particularly London, are looking to this country for a portion at least of the increased gold production so necessary for alleviation of present monetary conditions. A large part of the more promising gold ground discovered to date is in the hands of companies badly in need of financing and an intense effort is under way to secure the funds for a resumption of operations.

Several deals, involving some of the more advanced prospects, have been announced and details of other arrangements are expected in the near future. Bidgood which in former years spent large sums in the development of its properties in the Eastern Kirkland Lake section, is mentioned on the street as one of the companies which will be starting up again shortly. It is understood financing for a substantial program has been arranged, and announcement along these lines is expected to have an important bearing on the immediate future of other groups in the same section.

A plan of reorganization of Old Colony Mines, Ltd., is reported to have been outlined by officials in conjunction with the company's chief creditor. The option on the property in Utah in which a large outlay previously was made, has been renewed on favorable terms and investigations carried out on the company's property in Arizona. The plan, it is understood will be presented to shareholders in the near future.

The McIntyre Porcupine interests are understood to have let a contract for the hauling of approximately eight tons of supplies and equipment together with a diamond drill to their property in Tyrrell township, Matachewan field. Preliminary exploration of McIntyres Tyrrell group has yielded encouraging results and those who have examined the find are of the belief the property offers important promises.

Turner Valley productions figures for January will be released early this week and are expected to create another new high mark for the field. Wells to the south are reported to have continued their record flow for the past month or so. During the current month several new producers should be added if everything goes well. The southern Lowery No. 1 well is expected to come in any time and commonwealth should complete its hole within a few weeks. Windy, New McDougall Segur, Mercury and one or two others also have wells within striking distance of production.

HENDERSON PAINTS DARK PICTURE OF CONDITIONS DURING NEXT WAR

Pleads For Support of Govt's Hope of Substantial Arms Reduction.

KILLING BE WHOLESALE.

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 10. (AP)—An ominous picture of the next war waged by airplanes equipped with poison gas to wipe out non-combatant populations was drawn today by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, for the people of this and other lands."

Speaking before 3,000 persons at Queen's Hall in the first of a series of addresses intended to hold public opinion in preparation for the forthcoming International disarmament Conference the Labor Minister pleaded for support of his Government's hope of substantial arms reductions.

"The next war will not be like the last" he declared. "It will be incomparably worse. A great military expert has said that in the last war we were killing by retail but next time we shall do it by wholesale. The next war, if it ever should come, will be fought by aircraft and by aircraft using poison gas.

Air Attacks

"Every year our air force carries out maneuvers over London. Have you ever thought what those maneuvers mean? They mean that our staff, like every other staff, is now expecting that the operations of the next war will be air attacks against great centers of industry and civilian populations.

"It is useless to protest that such warfare would be an international crime. We have surely learned that it is beyond our power to humanize the conduct of modern war. Once war begins no man and no government can control it. The only way to stop such barbarities is to stop war itself."

He pleaded for an approach which will mean a substantial reduction in national armaments at the forthcoming conference and called attention that a year remains before it convenes.

"Friends of peace in this and other lands have a twelve month period to mobilize public opinion of the world in favor of this great opportunity which, if not taken, may never come again."

COONS IS CHAIRMAN OF HEALTH BOARD

Inaugural Meeting of Smith Township Body is Held in City.

The inaugural meeting for 1931 of the Local Board of Health for Smith township was held at Dr. J. A. Morgan's office on Tuesday.

Present were: Dr. J. A. Morgan, M.O.H.; Reeve Henry D. Coons, Dep. Reeve, Gordon Fitzgerald, Secretary, Percy T. Udy.

It was moved by Dr. Morgan and seconded by Gordon Fitzgerald that Reeve Henry D. Coons be chairman of the Local Board of Health for Smith township for 1931.

Dr. Morgan reported that since the last meeting he had placarded one home for scarlet fever, but that the quarantine was now lifted.

He also reported one case at present of scarlet fever in the northern part of the township.

After discussion of matters relating to the general welfare of the township and of probable activities during the year, the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

$138,163

$220,986,461

The Capital, Reserve and undivided profits of over $7,000,000 belonging to the Shareholders—that is to the Corporation itself—is the financial guarantee the Corporation brings to the management of Clients' property.

Record Growth. The net increase in assets during 1930 was $25,491,611. This was almost double the increase of 1929 over 1928. The Corporation now has total assets under administration of $220,986,461.

Increase in Trust Deposits. A feature of this increase has been the notable growth in Savings Deposits, on which 4 per cent. interest is paid, by over $2,000,000. Guaranteed Certificates have increased by no less than $3,790,000. This class of investment, which is trustee in character, is becoming increasingly popular among all classes of investors.

Estates and Trusts. During the year the Corporation distributed over $10,000,000 of income to beneficiaries and over $9,000,000 in capital sums. The total amount of Estates, Trusts and Agencies under the Corporation's care is now over $190,000,000. This figure includes property and investments managed for persons during their lifetime as well as Estates left under Wills.

Growth in organization. Two Branches were opened in 1930; one in Windsor and one in Uptown Toronto convenient to the residential districts. The Regina and Calgary Branches were moved into new offices situated in the centres of these cities.

Review of the year. The difficulties experienced in a greater or lesser degree everywhere during the past year have served to emphasize the importance of the work done by the Corporation. It has safeguarded the means of living of its thousands of clients. As in earlier depressions, it has shown that one of the great advantages of the Corporate Trustee is its ability to meet successfully the changing conditions of business.

From the nature of its work the Corporation is in intimate contact with private and commercial affairs. It is a reservoir of experience and financial strength. For this reason it is, in common with the other trust companies, a stabilizing influence on the economic life of the country.

The demand for trust company services is undoubtedly increasing. In 1931 The Toronto General Trusts enters upon its fiftieth year. With its size, its strength and its Dominion-wide organization it can undertake all positions of trust to the best advantage of its clients.

Copy of complete report to shareholders will be mailed upon request.

DISTRICT NOTES
from Villages and Towns in District
(BY CORRESPONDENTS OF THE EXAMINER)

MILLBROOK

Miss Anna Kells returned home on Saturday evening, after a pleasant six weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Sims, Barrie.

Miss Margaret Wood returned last week after a few weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. A. B. Lefroy, Toronto, but was recalled to the city Saturday owing to the illness of her nephew, Eric Lefroy, with pneumonia.

The Adult Bible Class of Grace Presbyterian Church is sponsoring the play, "Peg o' My Heart," to be presented in the Town Hall here on Friday, February 13, under the personal direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, by the Dramatic Club of Centreville.

The Canadian Chatuagua will be in Millbrook on March 26-27-27-30 for this season's series of concerts, and it is hoped will receive the same generous patronage as was accorded the artists at these excellent entertainments last winter.

The Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group will present the pageant-drama, "World Fellowship," on Sunday evening, February 15, at the regular worship service of Saint Andrew's United Church, in recognition of the Canada-wide C.G.I.T. week, being observed from February 8 to 15, inclusive.

Mrs. Clifford Hall is receiving for the first time since her marriage, at her home, "Fairview," Fourth Line, Cavan, from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, February 14.

The Golden Links Mission Circle is holding a "Valentine Tea" in the Waverly parlors, on Saturday, February 14, from 5 p.m. until all comers are served. Miss Marjorie Sayles, is president, and Miss Charlotte Luxon secretary.

L. H. Winslow, president of the Ontario Plowmen's Association for 1930, was in Toronto last week attending the annual convention; also the Fairs and Exhibitions annual convention, as well as the annual gathering of the provincial Seed Growers' Association. T. W. McCamus and Lloyd Sutton also attended the convention of the Plowmen's Association.

Mrs. W. E Gillott will be hostess for the February meeting of the Women's Institute, to be held at her home, corner Union and Centre streets, on Saturday, February 14, at 2.30 p.m. In response to the roll call members are asked to give practical suggestions for the observance of the Institute's thirtieth birthday on March 22 this year, or suitable names for a farm home. Mrs. H. A. Earle, Miss Margaret Whyte, and Mrs. J. McKnight are in charge.

Archdeacon Warren, of Toronto, was in the village last week representing Right Reverend Bishop Sweeny at a meeting of the wardens and lay delegates of the parish of Millbrook and Cavan, held in the parish hall of Saint Thomas' Church. The matter of a rector for the parish was under discussion.

YOUNG'S POINT

On Wednesday, February 4, Mr. Charles Godfry reached his 81st birthday.

Mr. Godfry is a very smart man for his age. When the cheese factory was built in Young's Point thirty-five years ago, Mr. Godfry was the first man to bring his milk to the factory, and he has brought it every summer since, driving the team of horses himself and also he was never known to have a can of sour milk for the factory.

Miss Irene Young is at present in Toronto owing to the illness of her little nephew, Pat. Foley.

Mr. R. F. Downey of Peterborough visited the local school on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Darling spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Richardson, Lakefield.

Miss Daisy Wilson had the misfortune to sprain her ankle while out skiing on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Kidd accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson to Peterborough on Friday.

KEENE

Miss Margaret Sharpe, of Westwood, is visiting Miss MacNeil and Mrs. Skinner for a few days.

Mrs. Richard Short and Mrs. Harry Short went to Peterborough Saturday to visit with friends over the week-end.

Mrs. Robert Nelson went to Toronto Saturday noon to attend the hockey match between the girls' teams of Varsity and Queen's. Jean Nelson is playing defense on the latter team. Queen's won 3-1.

The regular Young People's meeting in charge of Dorothy Chapman was held in the Keene United Church. The Bible reading was taken by Arnold Nelson and the explanation by Edith Elmhirst. Mr. McNeely gave a very beautiful prayer followed by a reading by Jean Elmhirst. Alfred Fletcher gave a violin solo after which a number of the girls staged an interesting pantomime called "Greenland's Icy Mountains." Those taking part were Misses Kathleen Nelson, Edith Nelson, Helen Weir, Isabel Davis, Wilena Hope, Wilena Nelson, Alberta Comrie and Bertha Elmhirst.

BETHANY

Miss Elsie Richardson was a guest of the Program Committee at Cambridge Street United Church at Lindsay a few days ago, when she contributed two numbers in reading at the Old Tyme Concert. Her costume dated back seventy-five years ago, being Alice Blue silk and is still in a good state of preservation.

Mrs. J. Sisson left on Friday morning to visit her daughter, Mrs. Jarvis, of Brantford.

Mrs. S. Armstrong is in Toronto where she is visiting friends.

Mr. Morton Davis was the gentleman awarded the consolation prize at the euchre party on January 24, sponsored by the Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Porteous were at home to a number of their friends recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rowan entertained a number of their friends on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Spencer entertained at their home on Thursday evening and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fallis entertained at a bridge party on Friday evening.

TRENT RIVER

Mrs. W. Umphrey and son Jim arrived Saturday from Mount Pleasant (near Brantford) and with Mr Umphrey are taking up residence with Mr. Matthew Sedgwick, having their household effects transferred here.

Mr. John Hay, of Campbellford was a visitor with her mother, Mrs. Carnrite, Sr., on Friday.

Mrs. Thomas Sedgwick, Norwood road, was a visitor on Friday with her niece, Mrs. T. J. Brown and family, Browning avenue.

The Misses R. Marion, Maybelle, Bessie Inkster and brothers Bud and Jim attended the Campbellford High School Commencement excercises on Thursday night.

Mrs. Ross Pollock and Miss Frances Sedgwick are visiting friends and relatives at Toronto and Niagara Falls for a few weeks.

DISCOVERY MADE ON ATMOSHERE

Depth Around Sun is 9,000 Miles Compared to 100 Around Earth.

DISCLOSED TO EINSTEIN.

PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 10—New discoveries about the sun's atmosphere have been disclosed to Dr. Albert Einstein at the Mount Wilson solar observatory here by Dr. Charles E. St. John of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The sun's atmosphere is 9,000 miles deep, compared with the 100 mile depth of the earth's atmosphere. The outermost layer of the earth's atmosphere is composed of the lightest gases, helium and hydrogen.

The sun's atmosphere is quite different, the outermost layer being of ionized calcium, forty times heavier than the layer of hydrogen 3,000 miles closer to the sun.

In the earth's atmosphere the first seven miles from the earth form a layer in which wind storms occur up to a velocity of 200 miles per hour. At 35 miles up argon, one of the constituents of air, disappears. At 60 miles there is no more oxygen, and at 70 miles nitrogen disappears, leaving only helium and hydrogen for the last thirty miles.

BASKET SOCIAL IS HELD AT BALLYDUFF

Interesting Program Presented in Presbyterian Church.

LIFFORD LINE, Feb. 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—One of the best programs ever given in Ballyduff was presented on Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. V. Walker of Janetville, pastor of the church acted as chairman for the evening.

The program was opened by all joining in singing "The Maple Leaf."

An instrumental duet on violin and guitar by Jimmie Kerr and Jim Duncan was heartily applauded and encored. These entertainers also rendered two vocal duets and were encored on each occasion.

Marshal Malcolm delighted the audience with a vocal solo. A dialogue entitled "Arabella's Poor Relation," in which a city girl's reception of her country cousin was portrayed showed careful preparation and talent.

A solo in costume "When You and I Were Young Maggie" by Jimmie Kerr was well received.

Laverne and Charlie Chapman rendered a pleasing duet in youthful voices.

Percy Preston and Mr. Malcolm appropriately attired, sang "The Upper Ten and the Lower Five", and were heartily encored.

Wilbur Graynor in suitable costume sang in a pleasing manner, "I ain't as Young as I Used to be."

One of the concluding numbers was a very entertaining dialogue entitled "Jeremiah Proposes".

Mrs. Campbell acted as accompanist for the various musical numbers.

The program was brought to a fitting close by all singing "God Save the King."

Geo. Chapman then acted as auctioneer for the numerous attractive boxes prepared by the ladies. These found ready sale and a most enjoyable social time was spent with the neat sum of over forty dollars added to the church treasury.

OBITUARY

REV. T. B. McCORKINDALE.

LAKEFIELD, February 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — The death occurred on Tuesday, February 3, at the manse, Port Dover, of Rev. T. B. McCorkindale, M.A., D.D., at the age of 66 years. Dr. McCorkindale was minister of the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield,, from 1911 to 1915, and has a large circle of Lakefield friends who will regret his demise.

During his ministry the Presbyterian Church celebrated its 50th anniversary. Dr. McCorkindale was born in Scotland, and came from Edinburgh with his family in 1910. He was minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Levis, P.Q. for a number of years, moving only last summer to Port Dover. During his stay in Canada he held five charges—Lakefield, Chesterville, Deseronto, Levis, and Port Dover.

MRS. JAMES JEFFS.

CAMPBELLFORD, February 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondence.)—One of the pioneers of Hastings County, and for many years a resident of the Campbellford district, Mrs. James Jeffs passed away on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. Williams, Hoard's Station, in her 86th year.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at the family residence Campbellford, with interment being made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

TWELVE PLAYS LOSE $635,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Twelve flops, closing in the seven weeks between December 6 and January 24 represented a total loss estimated at $635,000. Previously the high loss figure was placed at $448,000 for five weeks.

Cause of the present high is traced to losses on two musicals, 'Smiles,' for Florenz Ziegfeld, and 'Ballyhoo,' for Arthur Hammerstein, former at $200,000, and the latter at $250,000.

It was though Hammerstein's loss set by himself, when he announced his withdrawal from the show, was over-estimated.

PICKED WRONG GIRLS' SCHOOL

Male Intruder Into Women's Dormitory Used as Medicine Ball.

TURNED OVER TO POLICE.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb 10.—When he crept, with the firs rays of the rising sun, into the women's dormitory at Arnold College, Sydney Hillman made a social blunder that almost proved fatal to Sydney.

For Arnold College is not an effete seminary where languid Lucy learns how to juggle her tea without spilling a drop, or how to pluck with pale hands upon a harpischord. Rather, it is one of those red-corpusceled places where brawny belles with bulging biceps coordinate minds and muscles to become physical culture teachers.

The odor of liniment, which replaces eau de cologne in the community boudoir of the students, should have tipped Sydney off that he was in the wrong pew; but it didn't.

One of the girls awoke. There stood Sydney. He had a rougish twinkle in his eye.

"Boo, you beautiful creature!" Sydney said, impsihly. "C'mon, let's play!"

The girl awakened her companions. They rose for their setting-up excerises. Sydney was used as a human medicine ball by the pyjama-clad young women. They gave him a terrific tossing about. Finally Sydney fled, but Dean Agnes McCann, in pink nightie, gave chase and brought a heavy flashlight down upon the nape of Sydney's neck, felling him. Then she turned him over to the police.

Sydney was a mass of bruises when he got to court. He looked like an accident, going some place to happen. But Dean McCann interceded for him.

"He has already been punished," she pleaded, "so please let him go."

So Sydney went on his way, nursing his hurts.

Royal Scholars Yet Do Elizabeth's Will

Pupils of School Endowed by Queen Bess Still Obey Her Behest With Latin Plays.

LONDON, Feb 10 (By the Canadian Press.)—Close on four centuries have passed since Queen Elizabeth endowed the old Westminster School on condition that its 40 scholars should perform a Latin play each year, and a Latin play has been acted annually ever since by the Royal Scholars. The origin of the school, however, is obscure.

"Some of the performances at the Westminster School have been remarkable for nothing but the tradition that made them possible," says the drama critic of the News-Chronicle, who admits that the latest one, in December last, was far otherwise. This was 'Rudens,' one of the plays of Titus Maccius Plautus, the great comic dramatist of ancient Rome, whose death occured in 184 B.C.

"The 'Rudens' of Plautus was remarkable not only for individual acting," the News-Chronicle critic says, "but also for the vigor, freedom and expressiveness of the whole company. The new master of the King's Scholars, Rev. A. G. G. C. Pentreath, or someone assisting him, has quite revolutionized the performance. Perhaps the fact that the Captain of the King's Scholars, J. R. C. Engleheart, is a comedian of singular talent has had something to do with the revolution. He was quite the success of the play, and, as Captain of the Scholo, spoke the prologue with simplicity, dignity, and expression.

"The 'Rudens' had only been played once at Westminster since 1798. Its action is lively and amusing, but its conclusion is flat and uninteresting. The epilogue is by far the best of any I have seen at Westminster."

ECHO BAY FARMER SUICIDES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Feb. 10 (C.P.)—Arising from bed early yesterday morning, James Mason, 55, a prominent farmer of Echo Bay, 20 miles east of here, proceeded to the kitchen and slashed his throat with a razor, dying almost instantly. Mason had been suffering from nervous trouble for some time and had been under the care of a physician. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son.

WHAT MAKES PEOPLE MOODY?

DID you know that our health and our moods are closely related to intestinal cleanliness?

When the system is clogged by constipation, poisons are generated. Often these bring on headaches and listlessness. You feel blue, or become irritable.

The poisons of constipation frequently aggravate nervous troubles, rheumatism, high blood-pressure and heart trouble.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Try it with milk or cream. Use in cooking too. Recipes on the red-and-green package. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

AUSSIE SUBMARINE TURNED OVER R.N.

Light Cruisers of Leander Class Will Replace Former Vessels in Southern Waters.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 10 (By Canadian Press). — The two comparatively new Australian submarines the Otway and Oxley, have been handed over to the Royal Navy and will join the Mediterranean Fleet. Economy is given by the government as the reason for this move. A new 6,000 ton cruiser however will replace the obsolete Brisbane.

The move is said to be a result of conversations between the British Admiralty and Premier James Scullin during his recent visit to England.

Apparently the changing hands of the submarines involves an undertaking by which Australia will replace them with the latest type of the Leander class cruiser as soon as finances permit. The change does not affect the recent Naval Treaty, because the Empire's naval ships are treated as a unit, and, accordingly, the submarines are merely being transferred.

The agreement will give Australia four up-to-date over-water craft, which will provide good facilities for training. It is pointed out that submarines are extremely expensive to operate, and the newest type of cruiser has all-round advantages to Australia. Meanwhile the giving up of the submarines will save Australia some thousands of pounds. It is not disclosed what the British Government is paying Australia for them. Presumably Great Britain is purchasing them instead of building new ones under the 1930 estimates.

One of teh features of "Jane's Fighting Ships, 1930," is a plan of the Leander class, which class, says the editor, "Represents a return to sanity in cruiser design, compared with the overgrown and overgunned 10,000 Treaty type (H.M.A.S. Canberra)."

The 6,000 ton cruisers are contemplated as auxiliaries to the 10,000 vessels, carrying 6-inch instead of 8-inch guns.

The Otley and Oxway were completed in 1927 in England, with an underwater displacement of 1835 tons, surface speed of 15½ knonts, armed with 4-inch and one smaller gun and eight torpedo tubes.

ADAMS CALLS OFF COURT MARTIAL BUTLER ESCAPES WITH REPRIMAND

Letter of Regret and Brilliant Record Prove Deciding Factor for Officer.

INCIDENT CLOSED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—(A.P.)—There will be no court martial for Major General Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps.

Instead, after expressing regret for his recent "indiscreet remarks" concerning Premier Mussolini of Italy, the outspoken officer drew yesterday a sharply worded reprimand from Secretary of the Navy Adams which included a hope the incident would have "a salutory effect on your future conduct in matters of this character."

The action was taken evidently after consultation between Butler's legal representatives and the Navy Department. The General placed his regrets in a letter which pointed out that the speech in Contemporary Club of Philadelphia, was delivered under assurance that his words would not get out of the room. Butler's concluding sentence was:

"I very greatly regret this incident and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassments to the Government."

The Rebuke.

Adams' reply said in part:

"You are informed that the Navy Department cannot express too clearly its disapproval of the conduct of any officer of the naval establishment in making remarks which tend to embarrass the International relations of the government. Such action on the part of an officer of your rank and length of service merits and receives the unqualified condemnation of the Navy Department for their utterance, which you admit you are hereby reprimanded.

In view of your letter expressing regret taken in connection with your long record of brilliant service, the Navy Department feels that it is no longer necessary to resort to proceedings by general court martial, and expects that this incident will have a salutary effect upon your future conduct in matters of this character."

Both the State Department and the Italian Embassy indicated the incident had been closed.

NEGROES TAUGHT TO PLANT TREES

Former Canadian Lumberjack Tours World Urging Similar Campaign.

CIVILIZATION BACKBONE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—In the Nigerian jungle a white man converted a tribe of negroes from forest destroyers to tree planters and protectors.

Now Richard St. Barbe Baker, explorer, soldier, one-time Canadian lumberjack and graduate in forestry in Cambridge, is going around the world urging mankind to emulate those Africans.

His is not a "spare-that-tree" crusade. He wants men to grow more grees so they can chop them down. Civilization will endure, he believes, only so long as its foundation is wood.

Baker went to Nigeria in 1922 as a forestry officer for the British Government. He found the natives denuding the land of its forests to get virgin soil for their simple agriculture.

When Baker suggested to the tribesmen that they grow trees on the abandoned clearings, they replied, "that is God's business."

The white man refused to be discouraged. He observed the negroes went about the farming with rhythmic ceremony. The planting of even a bean was preceded by a dance. So Baker hit upon the idea of a tree-planting rite.

Thus he caused the black men to decide that tree-growing was their business as well as God's.

Wins First Prize AS SKINNIEST MAN

It's just as dangerous to be too thin as too fat—and there's just one logical way to put on flesh where flesh is needed.

No man wants a prize for being the skinniest man in town—not even a purse of gold.

For years McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets have been helping people who are willing to be helped to gain needed flesh and while doing so gain in vigor, strength and physical attractiveness.

It's a great tonic tablet is McCoy's—small—sugar coated—easy to take. You can get a box of 60 tablets for 60 cents—a fair enough price. Take them for 30 days and if you do not gain at least 5 pounds get your money back from McDermid & Jury, McDermid's, Bond's Lynch, and Payne's, or any drug store anywhere. Just ask for McCoy's.

NO REPARATION CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Feb. 10— (A.P.) —Premier Ramsay MacDonald to-day told the House of Commons that the Government is considering no proposals for an international conference on the subject of inter-Allied debts and reparations.

He made his statement in reply to a question as to whether any such proposals were under consideration "in view of the present world economic situation."

"NO MORE SALLYS"

Marilyn Miller recently sailed on the Europa and to join her sister in Paris. She is due in Hollywood in April. The premiere danseuse of the stage will not become, however the premiere danseuse of the screen, for Warner Brothers have signed her with the idea she is to play comedy dramas. If the play calls for a song or an incidental dance, fine and dandy, but there will be no more "Sallys" or "Sunnys" in her life.

Mixed Farming Cure For Rural Troubles

HUGHENDEN, Alta., Feb. 10 (By The Canadian Press). — Farmers must all get back to milking cows, feeding hogs and chickens, thus providing a large portion of their own food on farms, D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., told a meeting here recently. Many luxuries would have to be given up until better times, he said.

The speaker declared that present depressing conditions affected the entire world and the salvation of the farmer lay in mixed farming.

Replying to a question as to the advisability of reducing indemnity of members of the legislature, Mr. Duggan said the matter had been discussed among members. He also suggested that reduction of the legislature to 45 members instead of 63 would mean a great saving to the province.

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 10(By The Canadian Press). — Inauguration of an hourly nursing system as a partial remedy for the difficult situation facing nurses here was discussed recently by the Edmonton Graduate Nurses' association.

This system, by which nurses register for duty in certain districts and are able to care for four or five patients at once is successfully carried out in eastern Canada and England, according to some speakers. A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Only half the number of calls for private nursing were received in Edmonton district in 1930 as compared with 1929.

TRENT RIVER UNITED CHURCH CLOSES YEAR WITHOUT DEFICIT

Encouraging Reports Read at Annual Congregational Meeting Held Recently.

OFFICERS ELECTED

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held Friday night. There was a good attendance of members and adherents of the congregation. Rev. W. R. Archer had charge of the meeting and opened the meeting with the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," followed by prayer led by Messrs. Isaac Lawson and W. W. Redden, Psalm 124 was read by the pastor.

George Vanvolkenburg acted as chairman for the evening. Mr. Archer gave the report of the official Board and as a member of that Board he wished to endorse the action of the Board in extending an invitation to S. A. Kemp of Lakefield to become thier pastor, succeeding Mr. Archer. Rev. Mr. Archer expressed his gratitude for the great loyalty of the Trent River congregation, especially the faithful services of the choir and organist which assisted in the services of worship, he thanked the congregation for their support, it was not an easy thing to say farewell when the time of his ministery was at a close which would take effect uly 1st, but he thought it wise for the congregation to have a change every five years at least.

Isaac Lawson moved a hearty vote of appreciation to Rev. Mr. Archer and Mrs. Archer for their services amongst the congregation, and regretted very much that Mr. Archer was leaving this year. Mr. Archer responded thanking the congregation for the honor and told the gathering he and Mrs. Archer would hold very dear the memories from Trent River congregation during his five year pastorate, he said he wished especially to emphasize the fact that this congregation had been faithful in church attendance notwithstanding weather and road conditions and always ready to help out in the service of the church.

Steward's Report

Mr. Vanvolenburg gave the report of the stewards, the total receipts for the year amounted to $1,166.10, expenditures and liabilities $1164.65 leaving a balance of $1.45 on hand. The year was closed without a deficit notwithstanding the depression.

Report from Ladies' Aid was read by Mr. J. Scott showed this society in a prosperous and flourishing condition, the proceeds for the year $468.57, expenditures $445.67 with a balance on hand of $22.90. Special mention is to be made of this most worthy society for their efforts of the past year especiaaly of their being responsible for the installation of electricity for the church, a vote of appreciation was tendered the Ladies' Aid. A vote of appreciation was also given George Vanvolkenburg for his work at the books so faithful. The report of the missions showed the contributions to be somewhat less than the previous year, $190 had been received. A vote of appreciation was given Frank Davidson as treasurer of the Missionary Department.

The Sunday School report was read by Rufus Redden and showed a balance on hand of $8.55.

Faithful Followers

Report of the "Faithful Followers" class under the supervision of Mrs. Isaac Lawson was read by James Ingster. Reports of Knowlton Waters class, report of King's Daughters class was read by Miss Helen Scott. Report of Bible Class by W. W. Redden; a vote of appreciation was extended to Mr. Redden as superintendent and the staff of teachers of the Sunday school.

In reporting from the Efficiency League W. Umphrey as the president, asked for co-operation from all the young people of the congregation. In the election of officers for the Sunday school the former officers were re-appointed. In the election of the Board of Session Messrs. H. B. Wood, W. W. Redden and Knowlton Waters were re-elected for four years. There are six members of the Session. Mr. George Longmuir, of West Seymour had been added to the list.

After the business had been dispensed with the congregation spent a social hour. The ladies served sandwiches, cake and tea. The gathering dispersed after Rev. Mr. Archer pronouncing the benediction.

World's Day Of Prayer Subject Is Discussed

WARSAW, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—Seventeen members of the United Church W.M.S. met at Mrs. O. B. McIlvena's home on Thursday afternon. Mrs. George Taylor was in the chair. After the opening exercises, which included chanting the Lord's Prayer, reading of Luke, chapter V, verses 1-13, led by Mrs. Arthur Payne, and notes on the Lord's Prayer by Mrs. James Hawthorne, and prayer by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson. A committee of two, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. Sargent were appointed to meet with members of the Presbyterian W.M.S. to plan for the World's Day of Prayer on February the 20th.

Reports were given by the president and other members of the Presbyterial.

The groups will carry on as they did last year. Mrs. James Hawthorne sang, "Thy Will be Done." Mrs. Roland Payne gave a piano selection.

Systematic giving was discussed.

Meeting was closed by all repeating the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. McIlvena and Mrs. T. Cooper served a really suumptuous supper and a very pleasant social half hour was spent.

What To-day Means To You

"AQUARIUS"

If February 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Due to the unusually stimulating astrological influences, more mental energy and initiative than usual will be manifest, but there will be danger of running into difficulties for this very fact. Those with artistic or literary interests will turn out particularly good work. Young folk will make impulsive errors of judgment peculiar to inexperience.

Children born on this February 10th will have calm, cool, contemplative natures, and they will seldom display enthusiasm or surprise. They will seek the good things of life, and will endeavour to rise above mediocrity. They will resent being tied to any one's apron strings.

If you are a woman, and born on a February 10th, you are a voluble talker—there are many germs of ideas in your conversation, but the trouble is that most of your ideas remain in a germinal state. You have the air of possessing the most vigorous convictions, although few of them will stand an acid test of a profound argument. You are not intellectual, but you are bright and entertaining. You look down, and not up, for your boon companions. You are not willing to pay the price in study or effort to keep up with your superiors, and you are too vain to not be "it," with your pals. You are too self-centred to be unselfish, although you are capable of doing some very generous things.

If you are a man, you have an inferiority complex, which you seek to hide through your rather gruff manner, and an assumed air of independence. You should thoroughly prepare yourself for your life's work, as you are not a good bluffer, not ingenuous enough to supply wits for lack of knowledge. Unlike your birthday sisters, you try to better yourself by associating with those from whom you can learn and improve. You are rather imitative, and are very observant. You are not a book student, but you learn quickly from seeing or hearing new things. You are a worshipper of the almighty dollar, and in your struggle to obtain it, you may overlook, or trample upon, other things which are of vital importance to the development of your character and soul.

1981 Flapper Will Be Quite Penguin

According to Frederick MacMonnie, New York sculptor, girls are going to go quite penguin (above), within the next 50 years. By that he means, and he's not in the least vague about it, that the 1981 flapper will have a shapeless body, stubby arms and legs and be as broad as she is long. Just imagine!

VALENTINE SOCIAL AT SPRINGVILLE

Given by Literary Society — Entertaining Evening.

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 10.— A delightful Valentine social evening was enjoyed by the Springville-Fairmount Literary Society on Friday evening. The meeting was opened with the president, M. Johnston, presiding.

After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Norman McBain, Mrs. Gordon McIntosh was called upon to take charge of the program.

Contests and games constituted the evening's entertainment. Nora Staples was the winner of an amusing "Coo-Coo" contest. An exciting heart relay race was run with Mrs. W. Tully and Miss Helen Moyer as captains, the honors being carried off by the latter. Kenneth Moyer and Mrs. V. Whittington were winners of a "heart stepping" race. Melville Morrison and Milton Tully won a "heart and ball" contest. Other interesting and fun making games were "love's target," a fortune telling game played by shooting darts. A musical matrimonial contest brought the program to a fitting close. Partners were secured for lunch by means of proposals and suitable replies. Pie was served.

Mrs. M. Johnston was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to a committee of ladies who met at her home to make all necessary arrangements for the oyster supper that will be held at Springville United Church on Wednesday evening, Feb. 11.

These two boys were pupils of Mrs. McIntosh's Temperance Class at Springville.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BEAN SOCIAL

Successful Affair Held Under Auspices of St. Mark's Guild at Warsaw.

WARSAW, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Bean Social held by the ladies of St. Mark's Guild on Friday evening was attended by a large number.

Contests and cards were played, then beans, bread and butter, pie and tea were served, and dancing followed.

District Notes

Mrs. Sam Buckett, of Peterborough is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent.

Sleighing could not be better. Farmers are busy drawing their wood and ice. Water is in demand. The river is low. People are treasuring their cistern water, and several are drawing water. A few have to drive their cattle to water.

Wallace Point Club Hosts At Gathering

MILLBROOK, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence) — Featuring the skating party held this week at the Cosmos open-air rink, with the members of the Wallace Point Canoe Club as hosts for the occasion, were fancy skating, hockey games, races, hurdle-jumping, balloon and candle relay races (double), with a balloon-balancing relay race specially for the ladies.

The guests for the party, numbering about forty, included the club members with their wives, and lady friends, together with others to whom invitations had been extended, the jolly company gathering at the rink shortly after 8 p.m.

No other of the events of the program caused as much merriment as the ladies' hockey game, brooms being used for sticks, and a large rubber ball taking the place of the usual puck. It was claimed that the game was according to the O.H.A. rules, and there were any number of spills and penalties, to the accompaniment of continuous laughter. Five minutes overtime were required for play, the final score being 1-0.

The men being in the majority, two hockey games were insisted upon as their share of the evening's fun, the score in each instance being 1-0; brooms and big rubber balls were the 'instruments of play' for the gentlemen's use as well as for the ladies.

There were a large number of spectators who looked on over the high board fence enclosing the rink, and apparently enjoyed the fun as much as those actually taking part in the various contests, a fore and aft double relay race completing the program for the evening.

The guests, who included a number of prospective members of the Canoe Club expect which expects to have an especially prosperous season next summer, adjourned to the rink building for a delicious supper, served by the committee in charge, the hot coffee being an item that was particularly welcome after the vigorous exercise, and the crisp air, out of doors.

H. Cardwell, of Wallace Point, Otonabee river, is the president of the Canoe Club, and Lloyd Byam, Millbrook, secretary-treasurer. J. Deyell acted as referee for the hockey games at the skating rink, for which the club had rented the rink for the entire evening.

The attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church held on Thursday, was the largest in several years. This was due in part to a special membership contest being conducted by two teams under the leadership of Mrs. H. W. Morgan and Mrs. C. E. Blewett. Each leader has numerous active assistants. Points are awarded for systematic giving as well as for visiting and attendance. Arrangements were made for the annual choir banquet on February 26. A Valentine tea will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. F. H. Rowan, 549 King Street, on Saturday afternoon, February 14th, under Mrs. J. Garbutt's leadership. Mrs. Harvie was appointed to assist Mrs. Garbutt, as the representative of the Presbyterian women of the south end. On February 19, an evening party will be held at the home of Mrs. Melrose, Westcott street. This is being held by the south end group of the Ladies' Aid, who sent a special invitation to all the members. A change in the method of conducting the meetings of the Aid will be made next month, when the meeting will take the form of a work and business meeting combined. At this meeting special work will be done on behalf of the city relief committee.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Next Saturday would be an ideal time to give a party, for it is St. Valentine's Day, one of the merry festive occasions.

* * * * * * *

There is a joyousness about this good old Saint's festival that lends itself well to happy celebration. A Valentine costume party would be just the thing.

* * * * * * *

Ask each girl to come dressed as a valentine. The costumes, for the most part, will be piquant and attractive. A lavish use of lace which can be made of paper, in girl's costuming is advisable, as it suggests the fancy lace paper valentines so popular even to-day.

* * * * * * *

Men would be in knee breeches, buckle shoes and powdered hair. Costumes can be simple, but they should be colorful.

* * * * * * *

The boys should send valentines to the girls and thereby secure partners for dancing, the hostess supplying the valentines for the boys to "send" and has the name of one of the girls in the gathering on each.

* * * * * * *

The boys do not know when they take their valentines that a name is on it. They are told to look inside and see that the valentine goes, by their own delivery, to the person named on it.

* * * * * * *

Refreshments are served in little boxes. Paste fancy perforated candy box paper around the entire edge on each box. In each arrange sandwiches, olives, nuts, a little cake and a tart.

* * * * * * *

Make paper flowers with wire stems and thrust the stems down through the paper so that the flowers stand up in a dainty arrangement The boxes should resemble valentines as much as possible. Hot or cold beverages can be served from a side table.

* * * * * * *

Give the boys cupid's bows and darts. On each dart there should be the name of one of the girls. The boy finds the girl and pins the dart on her, thus securing a partner for a Cupid's Arrow Hunt.

* * * * * * *

The hostess should have hidden quantities of colored paper darts around the rooms. The couple finding the most of them in a given time is awarded a prize of a Valentine box of candy.

Larry Blackwell Dies Suddenly In Lindsay

LINDSAY, February 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — The town was shocked yesterday on hearing of the sudden death of Larry Blackwell, owner and manager of the Kawartha Gift and Novelty Company of Lindsay. Mr. Blackwell served overseas with the 109th Battalion, was a member of the United Church, and was a Mason. His wife was Mae Wallace, daughter of the late Robert Wallace, who was one of the oldest C.N.R. engineers running out of Lindsay.

Threat Of Death Branded As Joke

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 10.—Branding it as a joke, a letter received by Superintendent Harry Wray of the Government Employment Bureau, threatening violent death for himself and family, is not worrying local police. Mr. Wray is also of the opinion that the letter is a joke, but intimated that it might have been written by a Communist.

The letter, received by Mr. Wray a week ago, warned him that he, his wife and children will be killed.

REMOVING TONSILS BY LOCAL ANAESTHESIA

To anyone unused to surgery or operations, the removal of tonsils by injecting them with procaine before operation, thus making it unnecessary to put the patient to sleep, it might seem that ti required some nerve on the patient's part.

As a matter of fact, just as a tooth can be extracted by injecting the surrouding tissues, so also can tonsils be safely and completely removed.

The routine method now in use, is to give a quieting drug by mouth about half an hour before the operation. This quiets the "nerves" or any fears of the patient and then he is fully informed of just each step the surgeon is going to take in removing his tonsils. The tissues surrounding the tonsils are swathed with a 5 per cent cocaine solution. Then the right tonsil is blocked off with a number of injections of procaine, antipyrin, and adrenalin, which have the effect of preventing pain, bleeding, and shock. After a couple of seconds the other tonsil is injected. Then the throat is again gone over with a 5 per cent cocaine solution.

"By this method the tonsils can be cleanly and perfectly removed without any pain to the patient and practically without fright or shock. The throat is left in good condition; there is no bleeding, no danger of pneumonia or abscess of the lung, no nausea or vomiting and the patient is laid up but a very short time."

Now the reason I speak about this "local anaesthetic" method of removing tonsils is because so many adults naturally dislike the idea of "going off to sleep," while the tonsils are being removed.

A few years ago I decided to have my tonsils removed and I left it to the surgeon as to whether he would use the local or general anaesthetic. He chose the "local" and after painting and injecting my tonsils he removed them cleanly and completely without causing me the slightest pain. I remained in bed one whole day and went out the day following.

Now with children the general anaesthetic must be used, but with adults it certainly has many points in its favor.

So if your tonsils should be removed and you are considering the matter, ask your family doctor about the use of a local anaesthetic in your particular case.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting Held of Central Home and School Association.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Central Home and School Association was held last evening in the kindergarten room of the school. A good attendance of mothers were present. Mrs. D. G. Eldred, the president, presided.

The minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Metheral, and adopted. Mrs. P. Gray gave the financial report.

The members enjoyed listening also to the splendid annual reports which were received from every department of the Association.

Mrs. A. G. Metheral's report covered the year's activities in a concise and lucid manner, and showed the Association to be in a healthy condition. Twenty-two members are on the roll.

Mrs. P. Gray, in the financial report submitted, showed a balance in the bank of $81.78.

Mrs. W. Flannery, convenor for the Relief Committee, showed the splendid effort put through during the year. Mrs. N. Stanger gave a lengthy and clear account of the activities of the Local Council of Women and the Home and School Council.

Before the election of officers the retiring president, Mrs. Eldred, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the officers and members for the support which they had given her during her term of office, and also for the congenial relationships which had existed between all the branches of the Society.

In the unavoidable absence of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. A. G. Metheral took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Mrs. W. R. Morris.
President—Mrs. Wilfred Boorman.
1st Vice—Mrs. D. G. Eldred.
2nd Vice—Mrs. W. Flannery.
3rd Vice—Mrs. N. Stanger.
Secretary—Mrs. A. G. Metheral.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. Skitch.

Convenors of Committees—Program Mrs. D. G. Eldred; Flower, Mrs. Buller; Membership Mrs. Lush and Mrs. Weir; Relief, Mrs. W. Flannery and Mrs. Vass; Social, Mrs. Vass; Telephone, Mesdames Metheral, Stanger, Eldred and Paton.

Miss Margaret E. Wyllie and Miss Olive Rowe were appointed pianists.

The banner for attendance was won by Mr. Wightman's room.

The next meeting of the Association will be held on the second Tuesday in March.

At the close of the meeting the members were served with a dainty luncheon by the social executive, convened by Mrs. S. Gibbs.

Royalty Prepares For "Little Season"

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(A.P.)— The king and queen returned to-day from Sandringham where they have been staying since Christmas, preparatory to the opening next week of London's "little season," during which both have a number of engagements to fulfill.

Two investitures are scheduled for this month at Buckingham Palace, the first a full dress function on Feb. 4 and the other a private investiture two days later.

Their Majesties are expected to visit the Persian Art Exhibit at Burlington House.

MRS. W. R. MORRIS IS SPECIAL SPEAKER AT SCHOOL MEETING

Good Program Provided at Open Meeting Held in Confederation School.

MUSICAL NUMBERS.

"Vocational Guidance" was the subject chosen by Mrs. W. R. Morris at an open meeting of the Confederation Home and School Association, held last evening and attended by a large gathering. Mrs. H. Clare, president, occupied the chair, and after the singing of "O Canada," she gave a word of welcome to all present. She spoke for a few minutes on the word "Home," and gave six definitions of it which she had recently read in a magazine.

The first part of the program consisted of the following items: Piano solo, Frances Wells; vocal solo, Welter Farr; recitation, Eileen Scholes; piano solo, Mary Parkes; vocal solo, Miss Beatrice Curtis; recitation, Ruth Farr; vocal solos, "Just a-Wearying for You," "My Task," Griffin Young; recitation, "The Fireman's Wedding," Mrs. Clare.

Most of the above artists responded to encores.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Morris, said her subject was one of interest to all parents having children of school age and to all interested in the education of children. In the past, the children had received instruction, taken examinations and made what they could out of them. Until eight or ten years ago, the only secondary education received was academic but now more opportunity is being given to the industrial side of education through the vocational schools.

Representatives have visited the factories and workshops in order to assist parents and teachers in rightly placing the children, the opportunities being based on the needs of each community.

In the four year period passed in the vocational high schools, during the first year each day is divided equally between the academic and the practical work of the workshops. During the second year more time is given to the academic, and in the remaining two years the industrial work receives the most attention. "What is offered in the academic line?" said the speaker: the Normal school course and the junior and senior matriculation. Mrs. Morris stated that after this year, only students who have passed senior matriculation can enter the Toronto University.

The speaker referred to a banquet she attended in Toronto, at which educationists of all kinds were present, and of the four special speakers there, she was the only female. The Hon. G. S. Henry, Prime Minister of Ontario, was also present on that occasion.

In the junior high schools as found in England and America, the pupils at the age of 12 years have the choice of entering the junior or senior high school for a period of four years. The speaker expressed the wish that all scholars should go into vocational schools at the age of 12 years without passing the entrance examination and remain there for four years, thus being enabled to find out in what direction their talents lay. It is not only the money we earn for our work but the pleasure we receive from it which brings success. Mrs. Morris felt that it would only be a very few years before this step would be taken with regard to vocational schools.

Mrs. W. H. Andrews proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker for her helpful address, and to all assisting artists. This was seconded by Mrs. J. Seger. After the singing of the National Anthen, dainty refreshments were served by the ladies.

Accompanists or the evening were Mrs. Glover, Mrs. R. King, and Mr. Arthur Collins.

A.Y.P.A. EXTENDED GUILD INVITATION

Miss L. Smith and Miss Evelyn Drewry in Charge of Stirling Meeting.

STIRLING, Feb. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—Members of the Guild met on Monday evening when Miss L. Smith was in charge and Miss Evelyn Drewry acted as leader. Mrs. H. Rollins read the scriptural reading.

It was decided to extend an invitation to the members of the A.Y.P.A. to meet with them on February 16. A canata "Happy Days" was put on by a number of boys and girls. The Festal Days of the year came to the palace of Father Time and spent an hour in song, then returned to their places in the calendar. The songs were all accompanied by V. Allen at the piano and Tom Furnival, violin. "Happy Days" was sung by the group and Miss Phyllis Mitchel sang, "Happy New Year." This was followed by a recitation by James Ward for Valentine and Alex Nathan sang, "Killarney" for St. Patrick's Day. This was followed by the group singing, "O Canada."

Charles Allen and Tom Furnival played the "March of the April Fools" and the May Pole Dance while Winnie Ward carried a large flag and recited a piece on Dominion Day. The Misses Maggie Ward and L. Smith sang, "Sweet Girl Graduates" and "School Days" was sung by the Misses Margaret Rosebush, Helen Ward and P. Mitchell. A Hallowe'en spook song was contributed by these three girls and a song about Thanksgiving was sung by Stanley McLeod. Harold Baker represented Armistice Day and Alex Nathan sang, "Merry Christmas."

Following this the Festal Days retired to their places in the calendar and Messrs Allen and Furnival played as a duet, "Yellow Jonquils."

GOOD PROGRAM AT OMEMEE MEETING

Trinity United Church W.M.S. Meets at Home of Mrs. W. Earle King.

OMEMEE, Feb. 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The February meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Mrs. W. Earle King Street, Thursday afternoon and the attendance most gratifying.

The president, Mrs. Vaughan, took the chair. Mrs. Blewett read the scripture lesson. Matt. 18, 19, 20, I John, 1, 3, 7. Prayer by Mrs. Blanchard. A brief business session discussing the systematic giving. The Devotional Leaflet, "Lead us not into temptation" was given by Mrs. F. C. Sandy. A victrola selection "In the Garden" was much enjoyed.

The study, Current Thoughts and Christian Schools was lead by Mrs. Vaughan, and short papers were given by Mrs. Widdiss, Mrs. Bradburn, Mrs. Haygarth and Miss Race. The hymn, "We have Heard the Joyful Sound," followed with the benediction by the president, brought the meeting to a close. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed and tea was served by the hostesses Mrs. J. Eggleson, Mrs. Widdiss and Mrs. Sandy. An invitation was extended by Mrs. Lamb to the ladies to meet at her home for the March meeting.

Christ Church Guild.

The meeting of the Woman's Guild of Christ Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Jameson, King St., Thursday afternoon. Twenty six members present. The president, Miss E. Robinson, in charge. The secretary, Miss E. Cornwall, gave her report. Business items under discussion had reference to means of raising money, to add to the funds. Extra money was granted the committee. At the conclusion of the meeting, the hostesses, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Jameson, served refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Stephenson.

LADIES ARE GUESTS AT MASONS' BANQUET

Enjoyable Social Affair at Warkworth—Many Present.

WARKWORTH, Feb. 10.—A most pleasing event took place Friday evening when the members of the local Masonic Order gave a banquet in honor of the ladies. About one hundred and fifty were present and enjoyed an excellent supper and program, the latter which consisted of the following numbers.

Mr. Leslie Campbell, toastmaster, proposed a toast to the King. In response, the National Anthem was sung. Mr. Everett Smith, entertainer, of Belleville, then gave a number entitled Capital and Labor, which was very humorous and was heartily applauded. Rev. G. R. Duncan then proposed a toast to Our Country. This was responded to by M. E. Smith and P. S. Ewing. Mr. Everett Smith then gave a Scotch number entitled "When I was twenty-one. This was heartily encored. Dr. C. C. Armstrong proposed a toast to the Ladies, which was ably responded to by Mrs. M. E. Smith. Farmers Boy was another number by Everett Smith, which was equally as entertaining.

Song—The blow almost killed Father, by Frank Knight, of Belleville.

Quartette, The Family Doctor, by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Massey, Mrs. W. Turney and Mr. Lorne Darling, of Morganston.

Everett Smith then gave a reading. The bridge of Sighs, although this number was serious, much different from the other numbers, it was very much enjoyed.

Dr. Edwin Smith gave a very interesting address after which a duet by E. Smith and F. Knight, brought to a close a very enjoyable evening.

RELIEF WORK

A couple of men's suit are required, size 36; also a suit for a boy, about 32 or 34; men's pants; a square of linoleum for a home without floor coverings of any sort; a child's walker, and a couch or camp cot, suitable as a bed for one person, in a limited space. We would also be very glad to get a set of drawers to put clothes in.

Flat Walsh Will Return as Maroon Net-Guardian

RESULT OF MAROON-AMERICAN BATTLE TO-NIGHT WILL SETTLE BATTLE FOR THIRD POSITION

Manager Munro Plans to Replace Conacher on Montreal Defense Line.

AMERKS OPTIMISTIC.

Hawks Tangle With Bruins While Rangers Meet Quakers in Other Two Battles.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10 (By George Maguire, Canadian Press Sports Writer).—New York Americans test the widely-heralded rejuvenation of Montreal Maroons in the headline attraction scheduled in the National Hockey League to-night. Two other contests are on tapis, New York Rangers clashing with Philadelphia Quakers and Chicago Blackhawks tangling with Boston Bruins, but these matches lack the two-fold interest attached to the inter-sectional tussle.

The Maroons and Amerks are staging a nip-and-tuck struggle for occupancy of the third berth in the Canadian group behind Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs. Only two points separate the squads and a victory in the Forum coupled with a game in hand advantage they hold over the Montrealers will give the Gothamites a large-sized edge in the final scamper for a play-off position. Dunc Munro and his board of strategy do not expect this to happen however. In fact, they are reported to be striving desperately to strengthen the team, so that the Amerks will be meeting a much stronger team than in the previous three tilts, of which the "A's" have won two.

Conacher Through

Lionel Conacher, sturdy defenceman, is slated to go and will be replaced probably by Manager Munro, Flat Walsh will likely return to the duties of goal guardian. In addition the Maroons have signed up Glen Brydson, starry amateur wingman, and are looking for more of his class.

While Maroon officials are hopeful of turning back the Star-Spangled threat, there is no over-confidence in the camp. There is reason for this, as Nels Stewart, one of the greatest opportunists in the league, will be on the sidelines, due to automatic suspension through the incurring of three major penalties. Hooley Smith will take care of Nels' duties at centre.

Rangers have a splendid chance to regain third place in the United States section, when they meet the tail-end Quakers for the fifth time. Lester Patrick's Blue Shirts didn't have any trouble downing the Pennsylvanians in their four previous encounters and are confident of snatching the third rung from the Detroit Falcons, who are hugging that position by a margin of one point.

The Blackhawk-Bruin engagement may provide the Hub fans with the best hockey of the night. The teams are capable of travelling at a blinding pace for the full 60 minutes, but as the Chicagoans have beaten Art Ross' hockeyists three times in four starts, the American group leaders are not likely to be cocky about the outcome.

Leading their opponents by six points the Bruins have not got much to worry about, but at the same time they would like nothing better than to trounce the only team in the league which has secured such marked success against them in Boston or anywhere else.

LINDSAY CURLERS WIN CAREW TROPHY

Millbrook Rink Loses Out By Four Points—Final Score is 16-12.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The Millbrook rink lost out by only four points in the play for the Carew Cup at Lindsay on Thursday, February 5. It was a sixteen end game, and at the conclusion of the fourteenth round Millbrook was one point up, but in the next two ends the Lindsay players succeeded in bringing the score round in their favor, the final standing being 16-12.

The local men express themselves as being highly pleased with the hospitality extended to them by the Lindsay club, the two rinks lining up as follows:

Lindsay	Millbrook
H. Logan	Ross Edmunds
S. P. Beale	Howard Lancashire
C. G. Frost	W. E. Ball
A. W. Carew	G. W. Sayles
Skip—16.	Skip 12.

W. E. Ball motored the party to Lindsay in his car. The Millbrook Curling Club will again enter a challenge for the Carew Cup in the immediate future.

Cotton May Withdraw From Ryder Cup Team

LONDON, Feb. 10 (A.P.) — The Professional Golfers' Association of Great Britain have received a protest from Henry Cotton to-day against its rule that the members of the Ryder Cup squad, which goes to the United States in June to defend the international trophy, must travel together and return together.

Cotton, one of the leading British pros. and a member of the 1929 squad which won the cup from the United States, wrote to the P.G.A., saying that if the rule was continued he must ask that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

DOUBLE HEADER WEDNESDAY EVE

Lakefield and Cogs Start East Peterborough League Games at Brock Street.

NORWOOD VS. C.G.E.

A double bill at Brock street Wednesday night is the feature of the East Peterborough League's schedule for this week.

Lakefield and Cogs meet in one game and C.G.E. and Norwood in the other. Moose Blewett's team will go into action with the benefit of their Markham series as a prospective asset against Cogs, and Norwood will certainly be keyed up by their victory the other night. These games should provide a big program for the evening. Lakefield are leading the race which is heading into the second half of the schedule. The East Peterborough League merits the support of the ardent hockey fans, and although there is the Junior O.H.A. attraction this week, the Wednesday night program should draw their share.

SKI CLUB RUNS

It was a big week-end for skiiers. Two very successful runs were held on Saturday and Sunday by the Peterborough Ski Club and it is safe to say that more enthusiasts were on the hill than ever before. New members were signed up for the club. Spectators in hundreds also stood about the hill getting a thrill from the skiiers' antics.

Several picture enthusiasts were on hand and motion pictures were ground out of some of the highlights in the day's sport.

The club will hold a run on Wednesday night. All members are urged to meet at the corner of Park Hill road and Water street at 7 p.m. An important meeting of the club directors will be held the same evening in the club house.

Provincial Patrol Officer M. Hinchcliff warns skiiers that it is strictly against the law to participate in what has been a customary practice of having a skiier drawn by a motor car. This law applies to county as well as provincial roads.

Speed Skate Artists Gather For Tourney

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Feb. 10.—One hundred of the foremost skaters have gathered here to vie for honors in the first of the annual North American speed championship races which opened to-day on the Pontiac rink.

Most of the greatest ice speed stars of United States and Canada have entered the various events to dethrone Jack Shea of Lake Placid, twice north American champion.

Among the leaders are Ross Robinson of Toronto; Frank Stack; Alex Hurd of Toronto; Herbert Flack, Toronto; Lloyd Gunther of Detroit; Irving Jaffee of New York; Valentine Bialis of Utica; Eddie Murphy and J. O'Neil Farrell of Chicago; Marvin S. McCarthy, Edmonton, Alta.

EDWARDS WINS FROM EUROPEAN

French Flash Unable to do Better Than Fourth in Newark Track Meet.

MILLER IS BEATEN.

NEWARK, N.J., February 10 (C. P.). — Phil Edwards, flying negro from the Hamilton, Ont., Olympic Club, to-day stood victor in the 1,000 yards run of the Seaton Hall Games.

Stretching his lanky legs last night Edwards won over a field which included Paul Keller, French 600 meter champion, and other highly rated men.

Lacking knowledge of how to handle himself on the turns where he was badly jostled and handicapped in addition by an injury to his right foot, the Frenchman never was a contender in the race which Phil Edwards won in the fst time of 2.17 9-10. Frank Nordell, New York freshman, was second, and Charlie Thompson of New York was third.

In an early jam the nail on the big toe of Keller's right foot was ripped off, and the Frenchman was limping badly at the finish. The injury was painful, but not serious, and Keller will go through the balance of his engagements in the United States.

The 1,000 yard special was the highlight of the meet, but there were several other events of more than ordinary interest. Bill Bruder, Newark A. C. dash man, conquered Ira Singer, New York University, and Leigh Miller of Hamilton, Ont., in all three races of the sprint series; Bernie McCafferty, Holy Cross quarter miler, ran the Waldron 600 yards in 1.14 4-10 to beat Eddie Roll, Newark A.C., and avenge a victory the Newark speedster scored over him last year in the same event.

New Jersey Wrestling Bout Ends In Riot; Referee Hands Grappler Punch On Chin

CAMDEN, N.J., Feb. 10. (CP) The wrestling bout between Reginald Siki, of Abyssinia, and Andy Brown, of Brooklyn, at the Camden convention hall last night ended in disorder and the beating of Brown into unconsciousness by a policeman.

The trouble started at the conclusion of the first fall when Siki pinned Brown's shoulders to the mat after 31 minutes and 29 seconds of grappling. Leaping to his feet after the referee, Frank Potts, had counted him out, Brown attacked Siki, who had donned his bathrobe. Siki attempted to protect himself and both men became entangled in the robe.

Potts attempted to separate them and Brown planted a stiff left to his chin, sending the referee staggering to his knees. Quickly regaining his feet, the referee, who is no mean boxer, feinted Brown with a right and drove him to the ropes with a vicious body blow. By this time the fans were surging toward the ring and shouting.

A squad of police then made their way to the ringside and one of them leaped into the ring and beat Brown into submission.

After order had been restored, Siki returned to the ring, but it was announced that Brown had suffered such injuries to his head that physicians had ordered him not to continue the match, which was to have been the best two out of three falls. Siki was declared the winner. The Abyssinian weighed 220, Brown, 200.

NORWOOD YOUTHS TRIM LAKEFIELD

Win by 5-2 After Losing at Home.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 10.—On Saturday afternoon the return game between the Lakefield Juveniles and Norwood Juveniles was played in the local rink. A week ago the Lakefield youngsters motored to Norwood and won a lively contested game and Norwood returned the compliment by winning here 5—2.

The Norwood team were larger and heavier boys, but their manager assured enquirers that they could qualify for the juvenile class. The general opinion of the spectators was that boys grow big in Norwood. The locals were out-classed but put up a game fight and after the first period held the score down, but were inclined to forget combination and try for individual honors, forgetting that team play wins where the "lone star" business fails.

Very soon after the game opened Godin, the snappy center man of the visitors' aggregation put one in past Loyst who was manifestly unprepared and in a few minutes Neil Rogers clapped in another. This shook the confidence of the locals in their own skill and they buckled down to the days' work and Lennox on a pass from Graham popped in a counter, then Godin with a rush came back and again scored. At the end of the first period the score was 3—1 for the visitors.

The homsters tightened up in the second and only after O'Conor-Fenton the giant defense man of the visitors swept away all opposition and shot in past the diminutive Loyst was there a score.

The third period was rich in penalties, but marked only by one goal each for the teams. Godin shot in a fast one which caught Loyst unawares and Blewett scored for the home team. The score at the end was 5—2 for the visitors.

Godin, N. Rogers and O'Conor-Fenton loomed large for the visiting team, the former was a whirlwind while Loyst, Graham and Blewett were probably the pick of the locals. The visitors maintained their positions in a manner superior to the locals who were inclined to bunch and leave the way to their own nets unguarded.

The line-up was as follows:

NORWOOD		LAKEFIELD
P. Thurlby	G	S. Loyst
O'Conor-Fenton	RD	V. Payne
L. Rogers	LD	J. Blewett
E. Godin	C	R. Chittick
N. Rogers	RW	G. Chappell
H. Davis	LW	T. Graham
J. Stewart	Subs	B. Lennox
J. Hamblin		C. Tanner, S. Hill R. Kennedy

The High School defeated the Public School in a very peppy hockey match played after school on Thursday last. The Public School won the first game and now the score is balanced.

Bowmanville Beaten On Round By Oshawa

OSHAWA, Feb. 10.—Blanketing Bowmanville by the score of 5-0, Oshawa juniors won the right to enter the O.H.A. play-offs in one of the best games of the season, played before a crowd of 2500 fans in the local arena last night. On Friday night last the locals suffered their first defeat at the hands of the Bowmanville team. Last night's victory, however, gives Oshawa the round by a margin of two goals.

CATARACTS LEAD ONTARIO LEAGUE

Take 5-1 Victory From Nationals While Detroit Blanks Galt Terriers 4-0.

SILVERWOODS LOSE 2-1.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10 (C.P.)—The tail-end Oshawa Patricians staged the biggest upset in the Ontario Hockey League this season by shellacking the leading Galt Terriers, 4 to 0, and knocking them from the haughty perch they have occupied since the current schedule commenced.

Niagara Falls Cataracts took full advantage of the Terriers' downfall by blasting their way to decisive 5 to 1 victory over Stratford Nationals and hoisting themselves into the driver's seat, one point in the van of the erstwhile leaders.

The Maple Leafs of Guelph climbed to within a point of the third place Nationals by nosing out Kitchener Silverwoods, 2 to 1, in the third fixture. Silverwoods are now tied for the cellar position with the Pats.

Lott and Hamel were the big guns in the Pats startling victory. The latter opened the scoring in the first period on a pass from the former. Lott increased the lead unassisted in the second frame and clinched the contest beyond doubt in the last chapter with a pretty counter on Hamel's assist. Gerry Green wound up the tallying by scoring in the last minute of play.

Elmwood Millionaires Leading Winnipeg Loop

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 10 (C.P.)—Elmwood Millionaires, hockey champions of Manitoba, last night jumped from the bottom to the top of the three-team Winnipeg Senior League. The Millionaires won by 1 to 0 from Native Sons, and were handed another pair of points when a previous loss was turned into a win by Manitoba Ameateur Hockey Association ruling.

The reinstated game, which had originally been given to Winnipeg because Elmwoods used an ineligible player, was reversed following a decision that the player in question was actually eligible. Elmwoods now hold a two-point lead over Winnipegs and Native Sons, and have one game to play, while Native Sons have one and Winnipegs two to go.

Columbus Has Goal Lead Over McGill

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 10 (C.P.)—Two fast goals within a minute of each other in the final period wiped out a 1—0 advantage McGill had over Columbus in the first game of their senior group amateur hockey play-off here last night and gave the Irishmen a single goal advantage over their college opponents in the second of a two-game series next Monday night. The winner will be decidd on the total-goal basis and will play Montreal Amateur Athletic Association's Winged Wheelers, last year's Allan Cup holders, for the right to enter the Montreal sectional playdowns.

KNOX JUVENILES TAKE 3-2 WIN FROM TRINITY

Odd Goal Kicked in by One of Reid Street Church Sextet's Players.

NIP AND TUCK AFFAIR.

Mark Street and St. James' Juniors Battle to 3-3 Deadlock in Feature Game.

Three sparkling games marked the first round of the Church Hockey League play-offs last night at All Saints' rink. Two one-goal margins and a tie tell the story. On ice that was just fair, the best brand of winter sport seen on the rink this winter was run off before a small number of fans. Thursday night, the same teams battle it out for the shields emblematic of the championship of their sections.

In the opening game, the midget leaders Mark Street and George Street staged a sixty-minute fight with the latter getting the nod 2-1. It was a fast, clean contest with flashes of classy stick-handling but little combination seen. Both goalies were good and they had to be to keep their score-sheets so clean. George Street took the aggressive first thing, shooting a flock of 'tough ones' at Hunter. About ten minutes had gone by when Wright got by him for the first marker. Coming out for the second period, the play was more even, the puck being chased from end to end. Neither side was able to counter until near the end when Howland went through the whole team and made it two for George Street. The last frame found the losers on the offensive, and they shot hard and often, Gardner finally bulging the hemp. The last few minutes were fast and furious but there was no further scoring. Wright worked hard throughout for the winners, while both Gardner and Burton for Mark Street looked good.

Referee—H. Rehill.

KNOX ARE WINNERS

In the second contest, Knox Juveniles managed to make it 3-2 over Trinity in an affair replete with thrills. There was little or nothing to choose between the two outfits, the odd goal difference being accidental as one of Trinity's players kicked the puck into his own goal. The losers, breaking fast and combining nice, looked better in the first session, keeping the play up the ice most of the time. Despite this, Knox got two goals, the first being a lucky break for them and the other on a nice bit of stick-handling by Ward. Both teams notched one in the middle chapter, Archibald getting one for Knox and Stabler taking Logan's pass to ease in the first for Trinity. The game was getting faster and rougher all along with considerable hard checking in evidence. The third go was all Trinity although they only scored once when Logan went through. Wilson in goal for the winners had to save time and again, and the whole team back-checked like mad to keep out that tying counter. It was a fast, rough period but Knox kept their lead to the end. Logan and Stabler never eased up for the losers.

Trinity—Goal, G. Clark; right defense, H. Hamley; left decense Stabler; centre, Logan; right wing, Armstrong; left wing, K. Hamley; alternates, Thorburn, Seabrooke and P. Clark.

Referee—J. Edgar.

BATTLE TO DEADLOCK

The feature game was the junior battle which saw Mark Street and St. James end in a 3-3 deadlock. One team would no sooner score than their opponents would balance the count. It was a fast, and somewhat rough, affair. The boys started fast with the Saints having the edge on the play. They netted the first one when Price whistled the rubber into the corner of the cage. A few minutes later, Hoy took a pass to even it up. Neither outfit countered in the centre canto. Some pretty rushing and stick-handling were seen, but hard checking and tripping kept the players out of range. A fast pace ushered in the last chukker, and top speed was maintained to the end. Halfway through, St. James pushed one in but it was off-side. A few minutes later, Spence batted in a rebound. The East City boys came right back, Lipsett notching two in a row on individual efforts. With two minutes to go before the gong, English got through alone and slapped in the disc to knot the score for the last time. Desperate hockey in the last minute or so failed to break the tie. Both goalies were good, Ferguson having to stop the most. The front line for Mark Street worked hard all the time, Hoy being particularly good. Lipsett got going good in the third stanza, showing up nice both offensively and defensively. For the Saints, the whole outfit played a great game, with no one outstanding player.

Mark Street — Goal, Ferguson; right defense, Sager; left defense, Wright; centre, Hunter; right wing, Lipsett; left wing, Hoy; alternates, Forbes and Pearse.

St. James—Goal, Sloane; right defense, Price; left defense, Spence; centre, Jamieson; right wing, McDonald; left wing, Meredith; alternates, Grose and English.

Referee—J. Edgar.

Madison Square Gardens staged another boxing exhibition which lacked both color and cash, namely the recent Loughran-Baer affair. Jack Dempsey seemed to the box office attraction as referee of the bout. The show attracted only 13,000 cash customers and netted the sum of $37,000. The motive behind the bout was ruined when Loughran turned in a victory. If the winner had gained a real decisive decision the promoters intended to scare up a bout with Jack Sharkey. Many fight fans will recall what happened to Tommy Loughran in his bout with the Boston tar in 1929 at Philadelphia. Tommy didn't know what it was all about and seemed to be in a daze several hours after the scrap. Max Baer's rather ridiculous showing against Loughran provided some amusement for the crowd, and now they say that the gardens are eager to make another match with Tommy Loughran as the drawing card.

ODDS FAVORING LONDON SEXTET

Rivals of Long Standing Renew Hockey War in Forest City To-night.

MEET BULLDOGS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10. (By Geo. Maguire, Canadian Press Staff Writer).—A hockey natural, if there ever was one, is scheduled in the International Hockey League to-night at London, where rivals of long standing renew hockey wars bred years ago.

Not since the days when amateur hockey flourished in Western Ontario have the fans become so keyed up over an important tussle.

The Windsorites, holders of second place four points behind the leading Buffalo Bisons, hold the edge over the Londoners in games won in their private feud this season. Victory besides giving them satisfaction of again conquering their only Canadian opponents in the King loop, will also advance them to within a game of the leaders, should the "Herd" lose in Detroit.

Tecumsehs are deadlocked for third place with Cleveland Indians, six points behind the Bulldogs and as the Ohio city hockeyists take on the stubborn Yellow Jackets in Pittsburgh there is a strong possibility of the Londoners gaining a firm grip on the third rung.

Since Manager Roy Brothers stepped out a month ago and strengthened his faltering gladiators the Tecumsehs have not only "taken" the Border City team for a well-earned verdict but have also crashed the Bisons and Indians in convincing style and the odds appear to favor them somewhat to-night.

Detroit, the City of Dread, as far as Canadian referees are concerned, is not expected to cause any trepidations to the Bisons who have been in the bait of trouncing the Olympics of that city with great regularity.

The Indians, however, face a tough assignment in the Smoky City. The Yellow Jackets are battling hard to get up into a play-off position and are now only five points behind the Indians.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

"HELL'S ANGELS"

Absorbing is perhaps the best adjective to use in describing this picture. The art of the makers has placed it above the average and there is about it a quality of realness that sets the pulses throbbing. It is no artificial story that the picture tells. Only a few short years ago Zeppelins raided London and, like the big dirigible in "Hell's Angels", fell to flaming spectacular ruins after the speedsters of the air had brought them down. The attribute of cool, cruel and ruthless dominance that wartime years came to associate with the character of German commanders has its flowering in the picture of the clean-shaven, thin-faced Hun who steers the course of the murderous Zeppelin and throws out human ballast as well as inanimate things, when the rigor of the chase demands a lighter ship.

The characterisations are immense. Monte and Roy Rutledge are the English lads, products of Oxford, who are brothers in blood as well as in name. They go through a desperate air raid, when, after bombing a German munition depot, they are chased and finally shot down by the smiling Baron von Richthofen and his Flying Circus. That is a madly thrilling bit, where the big birds of the air chase their quarry, the black ships of Germany against the white-sided air-birds of England. Roy and Monte, with a reconditioned captured German plane, do the trick and then they get caught. The ending of this picture is just as sensationally realistic as the rest of the big spectacle.

Jean Harlow is the blonde beauty of the tale, with a daring dress that far surpasses anything yet seen on the moving silver sheet. She, unlike most blondes, is not angelic. Quite the contrary. But her wiles have nothing to do with the ultimate fate of the two brothers. She adds the final note of picturesqueness to the picture.

The title is terribly appropriate.

—Jeanette.

Good Minor Hockey Billed For To-Night

Two Bantam and Juvenile Games in South-end Loop—City League Double-header.

Two bantam and two juvenile games are booked for to-night at the Sacred Heart Rink. They are South-End City League affairs and should be worth watching. The ice is expected to be fast. At six o'clock the Canucks and Ravens in the bantam section take the ice. They are followed at seven by Athletics and Posters. The first juvenile game will begin at eight, with Tigers and Raybestos opposing each other. St. Peter's and Canucks wind up the hockey for the evening at nine.

JUNIOR DOUBLE-HEADER.

Good ice is expected at the Brock Street Rink to-night for the Junior City League double-header. Two fast games were run off last week by these teams, and fans are sure of a good bill to-night. Johnson's Sea-Horses and the Star Athletic Club begin things at 7.15, and the second game, featuring Choate's and C.G.B. Office, is due at 8.30.

THE RING.

BOSTON.—Sammy Fuller, Boston, stopped Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N.Y. (6).

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Maxie Rosenbloom, world light heavyweight champion, and Battling Bozo, Birmingham, drew (10), non-title.

PITTSBURGH. — Johnny Datto, outpointed Jackie Rogers, Pittsburgh (10).

NEW ORLEANS.—Tommy Freeman, world welterweight champion, stopped Al Kober, Fort Worth, Tex. (5) (non-title).

CHICAGO.—Joe Sharkey, Albion, Mich., technically knocked out Everett Kelley, champion, Ill. (3). Phil Ross, Chicago, outpointed Patsy Pollock, Wininpeg (8).

TORONTO, Ont.—Floyd Hybert, Ohio, outpointed Tommy "Red" Bragan, Toronto (10).

" 27—Utilities vs. Grant and Thorpe.
Mar. 2—Peterborough Canoe vs. Brinton Carpet; and Silverwoods vs. Utilities.

First and second teams play off, with goals to count.

MORENZ CLOSER TO GOODFELLOW

Detroit Star Only One Point Up on Canadiens' Flash.

BAILEY IS SIXTH.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—The recent winning streak of the world's champion Canadiens, which found the French team consolidating its grip on first place in the Canadian division of the National Hockey League, saw Howie Morenz centre-ice ace of the club, becoming a real threat for the point-making leadership of the entire league, according to the official averages issued last night from the offices of President Frank Calder. These include the games on Sunday night.

Laurie Scott Leads Hornets To Victory

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 9.—(C.P.)—Little Laurie Scott, mate of the celebrated Cook brothers in Canadian prairie pro hockey of a half-a-decade ago, roamed the ice last night as of old. From his left wing position he dashed bewilderingly and incessantly through the ranks of St. Louis Flyers of the American hockey league, leading Duluth Hornets to a 7 to 2 triumph.

U.S. Annual Supply Bill Shows Reduction Of $36,310,000 in 1931 Naval Allowance

WASHINGTON, February 10 (C.P.). — Sharp curtailment in the United States naval establishment in the next fiscal year became certain to-day. The House received from its Appropriation Committee the annual Supply Bill providing $344,342,000, a cut of $36,310,000 from the current year.

Economies were effected in reducing ships of the line and their crews. Withdrawal of four battleships, three by London Treaty terms, curtailment of enlisted navy personnel from 84,700 to 79,700 and Marine Corps strength of 18,000 to 17,500, and a smaller outlay for construction of new craft figured in the slash. In addition old submarines and destroyers, as well as old cruisers, are to be dropped from the fleet.

As compared to the outlay of $49,965,000 for construction of 10-6000-ton eight-inch cruisers this year, the Bill allows but $28,550,000 in the next.

GORDON BRYDSON TOP SCORER IN AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Chicago Shamrock Winger Nears Loop's Record of Last Year.

TEAM MATES CLOSE BEHIND.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 10. —(By the Canadian Press)—With close to two months of campaigning still head of him, Gordon Brydson, Chicago Shamrock winger, to-day neared the American Hockey League's scoring record of last year.

Playing his first season in the mid-west "major" loop, the flashy golfer-hockeyist from Toronto had consolidated his position at the head of the league's sharpshooters even though his team wandered through luckless days.

Brydson, one of hockey's most sought and fought over sons, has compiled a point total of 29, made up of 23 goals and six assists. He was seven points in front of Leo LaFrance, fleet Tulsa wingman. LaFrance, early season leader, was second with 18 goals and four assists.

Teammates of the flashy Brydson, who came to Chicago from Hamilton, of the International League, and chose to stay in the outlawed circuit rather than perform in the National League, are in close attendance. Bobby Burns, his front-line pal, is in third position and Donnie MacFayden in fifth.

Larry Goyer, playing with a tail-end club, last season, led all scorers with a total of 38 points, 27 goals and 11 assists. Brydson is certain to better the mark this year and Goyer, slap-shot expert from Belleville, Ont., is far out of the running.

Again with a last place club, Larry is unable to muster the effectiveness that was his in the last hopeless campaign.

Burns, a former Owen Sound junior, who twice was turned back from the National League after try-outs with Chicago Black Hawks, has scored 17 points—11 goals and six assists. One of the fastest shakting players in hockey, Burns is enjoying his best season since turning professional. He starred with Preston in the senior Ontario Hockey association before joining Minneapolis Millers.

Back of Burns is Gus Marker, Tulsa forward, with 16 points, while MacFayden and Burr Williams husky Tulsa defenceman, are tied for fifth position with 15 each.

Seventh place is shared by Kenny Dunfield, Kansas City winger; Frank Shepphard, Tulsa centre, and Freddy Gordon, big Minneapolis sniper. They each have 14 points. Gordon, former Selkirk, Man., star and captain of the luckless Millers, continues to score even though his team has ceased to win.

Ronnie Moffatt, speedy Toronto kid, who has played both forward and defence for Tulsa, has figured in 12 scored and Jack Leswick, young Duluth star who came up from Regina, has 11 points. The veteran Duke Keats, of Tulsa, and "Matty" Metcalf, once a junior sensation with Regina Pats, also have 11.

Jack St. John, fleet youngster from University of Manitoba, leads Buffalo scorers with 10 points and Goyer is setting the pace among St. Louis player with 8.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ICE CARNIVAL

NORWOOD, Feb 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—Features of the grand masquerade carnival held at the Norwood Rink on Tuesday when more than five hundred people were in attendance were the tug of war, teams being captained by Cecil Watson and Roderick Barrie, and the Moccasin Dance.

The arena was gaily decorated with streamers and flags and the colorful costumes added to the attractiveness of the event. The judges found it very difficult to determine the prize winners. The team captained by Cecil Watson lost to the team captained by Roderick Barrie in the tug of war.

The races were most exciting, four events being held. At 11 o'clock the moccasin dance commenced, the end of the rink being roped off for the dancers, while skating was enjoyed at the other end of the rink.

Music for the occasion ws provided by the Electrophonic Victrola installed at the rink. Judges were Mrs. Carleton, Miss Fleming, B.A.; Rev. Mr. O'Conor-Fenton, Mrs. B. W. Squire, L. E. Nelson, and Robert Tedford and the prize winners were: best fancy dressed lady, Mrs. Waddell, rabbit; Mrs. Beckett, Pierette; Flora Leeper, Miss Muffett; best comic lady, Rhea Preston, Devil; Donna Leeper, Mother Hubbard; Mrs. Brewis, Old Lady; best comic gent, Mr. Waddell, cat; B. Tucker, hobo, C. Watson, cook; best fancy gent, Jack Kempt, Pirate; James Mullen, Mandarine; Harry Fowld, Highlander; best fancy dressed girl, Maud Baskin, Fairy; Lena Rogers, Gypsy; Evelyn McMillan, Japanese; best comic girl, Jean Johnson, Old Lady; Marjorie Williamson, Flapper; Rhoda Innes, Pierette; best fancy dressed boy, James Baskin, Sir Peter Teesel; Melvern Innis, Scotchman; Earl Johnston, Pirate; best comic boy, Stanley Parker, hobo; John Hamblin, Gouty; Willis Preston, drummer; best comic girl under 12, Doris Gill, Home paper; Helen Rogers, Spanish Girl; Helen Watson, Clown; best comic boyd under 12, Billy Goden, flour; Irwin Webb, rabbit; Frank Gill, bell boy; best fancy dressed boy under 12, Teddy Baskin, Old King Cole; Irwin Buck, Wateau Shepherd; best fancy dressed girl under 12; Helen Baskin, butterfly; Kitty Edward and Margaret Brethen, Bride and Groom; Doris Beckett, Bo Peep.

Races.

The following were the winners: 15 years and under, girls, half mile, Mildred Rogers, Echo Rogers; boys half mile, Neal Rogers, Glen Edwards; girls under 12, Ruth Packenham, Helen Baskin; boys under 12, Willon Wildman, Irwin Buck.

Fleetwood Women's Association Meets

Final Arrangements Are Made For Valentine Basket Social.

LIFFORD LINE, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence). —The Februarymeeting of the Fleetwood Women's Association was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clare Staples with a good representation of members present.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Tisdale, the vice-president, Mrs. J. Hart, took charge of the meeting. The minutes of the January meeting were read and adopted, and the roll call responded to in the usual way.

Final arrangements were then made for the Valentine basket social which the ladies intend holding on the evening of February 13th in the church. The young people of the sister United Church, Bethany, have accepted an invitation to present their play for the occasion, while musical numbers to be given between acts are being arranged for by the Fleetwood friends.

Acknowledgment was made for the kindness of the Association in sending flowers to Mr. John Sutton while ill in Nicholls hospital, Peterborough, and also for the letter of condolence which had been sent to Mrs. Victor Grandy.

The March meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Archie Staples, with Hostesses Mrs. Clare Staples, Mrs. J. Hart and Mrs. A. Staples.

SCOUT NEWS

STIRLING, Feb. 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Tuesday afternoon the Wolf Cubs held a skating party. A lunch of pork and beans, bread and butter, cake, oranges and cocoa was served by the cub master. Games were played at 7:30 p.m.

On Thursday evening the Boy Scouts invited the Girl Guides to a sleigh-ride party.

They were accompanied by F. L. Shortt and Rev. E. W. Rowland. Fred Hulin stayed at headquarters to mind the eats.

The boys received their registration cards for 1931. A conference will be held in Hamilton in January.

STIRLING

STIRLING, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — The A. F. & A. M. No. 69 held an at-home in the community hall on Thursday evening, commencing at 8:30 p.m. The reception committee was Mrs. (Dr.) Potts, Mrs. (Dr.) Walt, Mrs. (Dr.) Carleton and Mrs. B. Bedford.

The room was very fittingly decorated with Masonic emblems, and even the mythical goat appeared safely fenced in one corner. Dr. Carleton made a very appropriate chairman, with his ready repertoire of "That reminds me of a story" as he announced each number.

Charles Allen acted as accompanist for the evening.

The program was as follows: National Anthem; address by Worshipful Brother Wright; Jack Baker gave a comic song; Right Worshipful Brother Potts, as oldest Mason, was asked to give a short address on "Free Masonry." The Misses Dracup sang a duet, "Pal of My Dreams"; Gerald Clute accompanied them on the piano.

Next a trombone solo by T. Furnival, accompanied by Charles Allen.

Rev. A. N. Reid was called on next (our newest Mason). He spoke of "Our Heritage." Our pioneers worked with crude implements. Even Solomon's beautiful temple was fashioned with very imperfect tools. The goose-neck plow has been replaced by the tractor. Let us prove ourselves worthy of our heritage.

Mrs. Vandewater sang a piece of her own composition, "Just Be the Best."

Mr. Connor played a medley of Scotch airs on his violin. Mr. Allen played "Flapperette" as a piano solo, and as an encore "The Bells of St. Marys."

W. Jones and P. Way sang a duet, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again." Another trombone solo by Mr. Furnival and a song by Jack Baker concluded the program.

Lunch and dancing concluded a very pleasant evening. Music was supplied by the Rosebush orchestra.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Dr. Walt and responded to by Mrs. Harper Rollins.

Society Organizes Attendance Contest

NORHAM, Feb. 10. (Examiner Correspondence.)—A most enjoyable meeting was held at the home of Miss Orletta Gummer, when the sunshine club (composed of the Young People's Bible Class of Norham United Church) held their monthly meeting.

Gordon Mitchell, president, had charge of the business, and extended an invitation to meet at his home for the next meeting.

The discussion of what the class would do for missions in the coming year followed and it was decided that the class would give systematically, the missionary offering to be taken at the monthly meeting.

It was decided to start a contest among the three groups, in which attendance at the Sunday School class and at the monthly meeting be the points of award and that the winning side be the guests of the other groups.

A committee was appointed to discuss the advisability of having a play.

Miss Lucille Lean had charge of the devotional meeting. "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" was sung followed by prayer by Mrs. Clare. Miss Mildred Curtis read the Scripture lesson, while Miss Helen Runnalls read a short paper, explaining the lesson.

Wesley Clare, second group leader, presented the program of the evening. A duet, "Mellow Moon" by Wilton and, Wesley Clare, an interesting reading "So dependable," illustrated a young girl's loyalty to duty;

Discussion a Feature.

The main feature of the evening was open discussion on some of the interesting topics of the day, led by different members of the group.

The first question led by Arthur Meneilly, was "Is Education necessary to the farmer? Different opinions were expressed as to the meaning of education and a general discussion gave opinions on both sides.

Edward Huycke handled the subject, "Is sport carried to excess?" in a masterly manner, in which both amateur and professional athletics were discussed. The general opinion was that sport was good unless carried so far that the health was affected or that things of more importance suffered.

Gordon Mitchell had the subject, "The Cause and Remedy of the Present Depression." This developed into a discussion of unemployment from the farmers standpoint.

Another duet by ClarenceWilton and Wesley Clare was given.

Will Thatcher and his group had charge of the social hour. A good contest was given and lunch served.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Gummer and Miss Oreletta, for their kind hospitality.

Fenella W.M.S. Holds Interesting Meeting

FENELLA, Feb. 10 (Examiner Correspondence.)—The monthly meeting of the Fenella W.M.S. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Herrington, Mrs. A. Nill, the president, presiding.

During the business period, Mrs. C. W. Macklin and Mrs. James Curtis were appointed a committee to arrange for the hymn books at the monthly meetings. Watch Tower Heralds were appointed as follows: Korea, Mrs. Howard Macklin; Japan, Mrs. G. Montgomery; India, Mrs. Clark Jewel; China, Mrs. Bruce Macklin.

Mrs. James Knox was appointed program leader for the next meeting. Mrs. W. H. Sandercock, Baby Band Superintendent, reported nine new members.

The following program was given at the meeting: Mrs. Frank Down being the leader; devotional leaflet, "Lead Us Not into Temptation," Mrs. G. Montgomery; leaflets from chapter five in Study Book, "Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan," read by Mrs. H. Macklin, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock, Mrs. John Herrington, Mrs. Clark Jewell and Mrs. A. Nill; reading, "The Sure Foundation" Mrs. C. W. Macklin; solo, "Just for Today," Mrs. Fred Talling; reading, "What Counts," Mrs. Frank Down; reading, "Grumble Horner in Cross Patch Town," Miss Ruby Herrington. Mrs. Howard Macklin, herald for Korea, read a short sketch on mission work in that land. Mrs. Fred Talling, temperance superintendent, gave an interesting talk on prohibition work in Prince Edward Island, saying, "Financial failures in that Island were about one to every five hundred people. There was no unemployment question in this, the only province not under Government Control." The scriptural lesson was read by Mrs. James Knox and Rev. R. W. [illegible]on gave a short and interesting address on missionary work in the United Church.

LINDSAY.

The sympathy of many Lindsay friends is extended to Mr. George W. Taylor, clerk of Verulam township, who resides at Bobcaygeon, who has suffered the loss of his son, Mr. Reg. Taylor of Oshawa. Mr. Taylor was a member of the General Motors staff and a young married man. He developed pneumonia and word was received on Tuesday of last week of his sudden illness. He passed away Saturday.

Police Seek Slayer Of Sacramento Hindu

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 10.—The slayer of Nagina Ram Dhami, 22 year old Hindu identified by police as "general secretary of the Indian National Congress of the Pacific Coast," was sought to-day.

Dhami was shot and killed on a downtown street last night by a man who fled in a car said by police to be registered to Naren Singh of Marysville, Calif.

Clarence Morrill, chief of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, said the slain man aided authorities in investigations of several recent cases in which Hindus were mysteriously slain or had disappeared.

ACTION AT ONCE URGED ON POWER

Resolution Asks Hoover to Seek Federal Treaty With Canada.

DEVELOP ST. LAWRENCE.

ALBANY, Feb. 10.—The Legislature had before it to-day a resolution which would ask President Hoover to seek an immediate Federal Treaty with Canada for development of the St. Lawrence's river's international section and for Federal construction of a dam and navigation works.

Senator Warren T. Thayer, Republican, Franklin, introduced the resolution last night. He is chairman of the Senate committee on Public Works.

The resolution would have the Federal Treaty give to New York priority in the use of the water for power purposes.

Develop Section Jointly.

The preamble to the resolution said that engineering authorities of both Canada and the United States had said repeatedly that the International section of the river would have to be developed jointly, because of economic reasons for both power and navigation purposes. It added that the "landlocked interior of the United States is deeply concerned and in urgent need of the relief which would accrue to that area" by the opening of the seaway.

The State's St. Lawrence Power Development Commission recently reported a plan for development of the International rapids, with Canada to share the costs with the State.

The Federal Treaty would be drawn to accord with the plans agreed upon by the joint body of engineers and submitted to President Coolidge in 1928.

The State would share the cost of dam construction insofar as the Federal project would contribute to the production of power.

P.A.T.A. Is Dissolved Following Verdict

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 10.—(CP)—Following the decision of the privy council upholding the Combines Investigation Act of Canada, officers of the Proprietary Articles Trades' Association met yesterday and dissolved the organization it was learned today. The P.A.T.A. composed of Retail and Wholesale druggists and chemists was held by L. V. O'Connor, Commissioner under the act to be a combine and has not been in operation for two years.

Yesterday's action was reported to be a formal step following the privy council's decision that the Combines Act was valid.

ANSWERS THREE CALLS.

The Fire Department was called out to a chimney fire on 62 Hunter Street East at 7.54 p.m. yesterday. Another alarm was sent in at 7.33 a.m. to-day for a car bearing license plate EA 27 in front of 200 Stewart Street. The fire was caused by backfire from the carburetor. The firemen answered a call from 929 Water Street at 11.31 this morning. In all three fires no considerable damage was reported.

RAILWAY MEN HONOR VETERAN

Joseph Thompson is Superannuated After 33 Years of Railroad Service.

BORN IN NORTH MONAGHAN.

Joseph Thompson, native son of North Monaghan township, was recently honored, on the occasion of his superannuation after 33 years' service, by a large gathering of his brother railroad employees at Preston.

Mr. Thompson will be remembered by many of the older residents of this city and district. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, and a brother of Mrs. A. Armstrong of Edison avenue. He also has a neice, Mrs. J. Baird, who resides on Elias avenue, while his wife was formerly Elizabeth Crowe of East City.

The Galt Reporter contains an interesting account of the gathering of approximately four hundred railroad employees and their wives, who met at Bernhardt's Hall for the celebration. A number of railroad men also attended from London, Port Dover, Simcoe, Waterford, Brantford, Paris, Hespeler and Kitchener, arriving by special coach. An enjoyable time was spent at cards and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson led the grand march to the banquet room where a delightful supper was served. The hall was tastefully decorated in red, green and white, while the tables were centered with silver baskets of mixed flowers, also red candles in silver holders.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a handsome Westminster mantle clock by Brother R. Ball on behalf of the employees of the combined railway companies. Presentation of a leather club bag was also made on behalf of the brethren of Lodge 418 B.R.T., London. Mrs. Thompson was the recipient of a bouquet of roses, and Preston railwaymen also gave her a pair of silver candle holders.

The gathering concluded with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Split Is Expected In Nationalist Party

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 10 (C. P. Cable). — Neutral observers to-day saw the possibility of a split in the Nationalist party over the question of cooperating with other sections in negotiating on the scheme of modified self-Government which Premier Ramsay MacDonald has offered to India.

Mahatma Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru, President of the Nationalist Congress, to-day apparently remained firm against the arguments of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, a leading delegate to the London Round Table Conference. But other members of the Congress Working Committee chief Nationalist organization, felt the present unsatisfactory conditions had gone far enough and it was time for a change.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 68 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

An examination of the Kincaid's wreckage showed that their greatest danger, now, lay in fire, for the flames were licking hungrily at the splintered wood of the wrecked cabin, and had already found a foothold upon the lower deck through a great jagged hole which the explosion had opened. By a miracle no members of the ship's company had been injured by the blast, the origin of which remained forever a total mystery to them all.

As the flames gained headway it became apparent to Tarzan that whatever had caused the explosion had scattered some highly inflammable substance upon the surrounding woodwork. The water which all hands poured in from the pump seemed rather to spread than to extinguish the blaze. Fifteen minutes after the explosion, great black clouds of smoke were rising from the hold of the doomed vessel and the flames had reached the engine room.

The ship no longer moved toward the shore. Her fate was as certain as though the waters already had closed above her charred and smoking remains. "It is useless to remain aboard her any longer," Tarzan said to the mate. "There's no telling when there'll be another explosion. We can't save her, so the safest thing to do is to take to the boats without further loss of time and make for land." Nor was there other alternative.

There was no time either to bring away even their few belongings. Two boats were lowered into the smooth sea, and the loading was made without mishap. Eager and anxious the beasts of Tarzan sniffed the familiar air of their native island as the boats drew in toward the beach, and scarce had their keels grated upon the sand than Sheeta and the apes of Akut were over the bows and racing like mad toward the jungle.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

MADE DIVISION MANAGER

W. B. Fairley, manager of agencies for the Empire Life Insurance Company and Donald Potter, a former resident of Peterborough, were in the City to-day relative to Mr. Potter's appointment as manager of the Central Ontario Division for the above named company. The territory will comprise all agencies between Napanee and Bowmanville and north from the lake front. A. A. Sutherland is the local agent for the company. Mr. and Mrs. Potter will be welcomed back to Peterborough by a large number of old friends who will be pleased to learn of their return.

ACTION PLACED IN COURTS

A civil action, Meating Epps Company Limited, of New Brunswick, plaintiffs vs. Moore Monumental Company and Thomas Moore, defendants; was placed on the Division Court list yesterday by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke on the motion of revival sought by B. H. Park.

The action was previously before the Division Court of the County of Peterborough at the December sittings, when defendants agreed to certain terms of settlement, which they have allegedly not undertaken.

EXAMINER RELIEF DANCE

The second Relief Dance to be held this season by The Examiner Social Club will be in the hall of the Canadian Legion on Tuesday evening next, February 17th. It promises to be a big event and the committee, with Fred Scates as the energetic manager of events, is working hard to put it over and get some money for The Examiner's Cheer Fund. Relief work in the city is more exacting than in many seasons past, and there is need on every hand for assistance in homes were unemployment, sickness and discouragement have laid their marks. A good time is promised at the dance, with exceptionally fine music to be furnished by Mose Yokum and his orchestra, a new one to the city's list of good orchestras.

Boston Unemployment Increased 4 Per Cent.

BOSTON, Feb. 10.—Unemployment locally has increased fully four per cent since April and 11 per cent. of the working population of the city are out of jobs a recent canvas shows.

The so-called "white collar class" of workers were said to be the hardest hit and in almost every one of the 22 wards this class was found to be bearing the brunt of the depression.

Enumerators reported many homes where furnishings have been virtually cleaned and one instance as cited where a family of five had as sleeping equipment two cots and an old desk.

The figures disclosed five times as many men out of work as women.

HAMILTON SCRAP CLOSES TO-NIGHT

Final Chapter Will See Both Liberal and Conservative Guns in Action.

LARGE POLL EXPECTED.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 10. (CP)—The West Hamilton Provincial by-election campaign will finish in "bang up" style to-night with the guns of both the Liberal and Conservative parties in action. The Liberal party are to hold a mass meeting in the Savoy Theatre, which will be addressed by Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal leader, and Captain Elmore Philpott, the candidate for West Hamilton.

Hon. Leopold McAulay, Provincial Secretary, will be in the city and will listen to the broadcast of the Liberal address, after which he will head for the 20th Century Club where he will make a last minute reply to any charges that may be levelled in the direction of the Conservative forces. Mr. MacAulay will address the closing meeting in the interests of Alderman Argue Martin, the Conservative candidate.

Not for many years has a local riding been made the battleground for the fighting out of Province wide issues, and it is expected that a large vote will be polled to-morrow. The polls will close at seven p.m. and it is expected the trend of the vote will be revealed within an hour after that time.

Old London Church Damaged By Beetles

Roof or St. Batholomew the Great in Danger, Rector Asks for Help to Save It.

LONDON, February 10 (C.P.). — The "death-watch" beetle, which eats its way into the woodwork of old buildings in this country, and in the course of time causes the structures to become sources of danger, has been at its destructive work in the roof of London's oldest church St. Bartholomew the Great, West Smithfield, E.C., and in parts there is risk of the roof falling in. The discovery was made only recently, and the rector, Rev. Canon E. S. Savage, M.A., is appealing for funds toward the restoration of the edifice.

In a letter to The Times Canon Savage states: "During the present year St. Bartholomew's has suffered two severe setbacks to the work of restoration. In July the historic Gatehouse was officially condemned as 'dangerous,' and an urgent appeal for $7,500 was launched for funds to restore, conserve, and make of use, this ancient building. Towards this the sum of $3,650 has been given. December opened with really serious news. Our latest enemy is the death-watch beetle, which is responsible for grave and extensive damage to the roof of the church. A most alarming state of affairs has been made manifest. In parts there is imminent risk of the roof falling in. The discovery was made on December 7, and already scaffolding and unrooting are well advanced to save the collapse which heavy wind, rain, or snow would almost certainly bring about. The death-watch beetle is a little thing, but he has been exceedingly active, and his work has resulted in rottenness and ruin. Blocks of wood, some 6 inches thick can be squeezed by the hand to powdered dust."

St. Bartholomew's Church is famous, its foundation and varied history being well known. It dates from A.D. 1123. It is a fine old Norman building, with the tomb of the first prior, Rahere, as one of its historic features. The north transept was restored 37 years ago and was reopened in June, 1893.

WEDDINGS

COWAN—BIRCHARD.

The marriage took place Saturday, Feb. 7th, 1931, Rev. Macdonald of Knox church, officiating, of Miss Muriel Birchard, only daughter of Mrs. Albert E. Birchard, of Peterborough, to Mr. Milton Cowan, son of Mrs. Charles E. Cowan, of Rochester, N.Y.

OBITUARY

MRS. W. R. FIELD.

At the funeral of Mrs. W. R. Field, held from the family residence, 215 Princess Street, last Friday to Little Lake Cemetery, large numbers of friends and relatives attended, and paid final tribute to the memory of one whom they all loved and respected. A funeral service was conducted in St. George's Anglican Church by Rev. J. L. Hughes.

The late Mrs. Field was born in England, and was married there 35 years ago this month. She and her husband came to this country 24 years ago, since which time they have resided in Peterborough.

Besides her husband she leaves five sons, William Henry of Miami, Florida, Leslie John, Sidney Victor, James Walter, Alfred Gordon, and three daughters, Mrs. J. G. Anderson, Grace Mildred, and Freda May, of this city, and one sister and a brother in England.

The pall-bearers were: L. J. Field, J. Field, J. G. Anderson, H. Wilson, S. Robinson, and M. Rundle.

FINAL BARRAGE IN GRENVILLE

Price Winds Up Conservative Campaign at Cardinal Rally To-night.

GARDEN TO TAKE PART.

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Feb. 10 (C.P.). —Grenville County goes to the polls to-morrow to select a member for the Provincial Legislature in succession to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Premier of Ontario. Mr. Ferguson resigned in order to assume his duties as High Commission for Canada to Great Britain. Special interest has been developed in the by-election in view of the fact that it is regarded as a trial of strength between two new party leaders.

While Premier George S. Henry, the successor of Mr. Ferguson as head of the Provincial Government, has not been able to participate actively in the campaign on account of throat trouble, he has nevertheless poured into Grenville all of his doughtiest lieutenants. Ministers have harangued the multitude from the shores of the St. Lawrence to the banks of the Rideau. M. F. Hepburn, M.P., the Liberal leader, succeeded W. E. N. Sinclair in that capacity last December and is thus jousting in the Provincial lists for the first time.

To-night the Government's chief meeting will be held at Cardinal, where Mr. Hepburn spoke last night. Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, will wind up the campaign for the Conservatives. Simultaneously, at Prescott the Liberals will conclude their pre-election battle with a final burst of oratory. Hon. G. N. Gordon, former Minister of Immigration in the Dominion Government, will co-start with Harry Sifton, who invaded the riding last Saturday at Kemptville. Senator Hardy of Brockville, Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, and Mrs. G. A. P. Brickenden of London will also speak.

Candidates are James A. Sanderson of Oxford Mills, Conservative, and Percy N. Barnard of Spencerville, Liberal.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD PLANS PROGRAM

Sunday Evening Song Service is Being Well Attended.

44 NEW 'GYM' MEMBERS.

The regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association Board of directors was held Monday afternoon, The President, Mrs. E. E. Harvey conducted the devotional period, and presided.

A letter announcing the annual meeting of the National Council Y.W.C.A., to be held in Hamilton, Feb. 26th, was read. Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner and Mrs. Sootheran were requested to attend and represent Peterborough Association.

The general secretary's report mentioned the resuming of Sunday evening Song Service, with a splendid attendance. Arrangements are being made for a series of Bible studies to be held during Lent, and also for the raising of Foreign Work Allocation. In the educational department two new classes in English and Arithmetic have been started. The French class will continue for another series of lessons, and members of the Home Nursing class will continue to meet for practice.

This department has arranged a series of Travel evenings, which will start the end of February. The subjects and speakers are: Hawaii, Dr. Neal; Alaska, Dr. Yelland; Paris, Miss Wilson; England, Rev. Mr. Hughes; Canadian West, Rev. Mr. Going; Holy Land, Rev. Dr. McLean.

Club activities are proving very interesting to the 250 girls who belong to seven organized clubs. The programs which included: service for others, dramatics, handicraft, parties, talks and games.

The physical directress' report showed a splendid registration in gymnasium classes, forty-two new members joining during the January campaign. Basketball league games are proving very interesting. Plans have been made by the executive and physical committee in preparation for the Gymnasium Pageant, which will be held early in May. Convenors of committees have been appointed and it is expected the sewing committees will commence work very soon.

Tea was served and the meeting closed with prayer by the president.

Collar Only Thing That Mere Man Buys

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—About the only thing mere man buys now is his collar, and since shirts are tending to be made with collars attached he is likely to drop out of the list of shoppers altogether. Whether it be men's clothes, radios or automobiles, said Miss Clara Zilleson, advertising manager of a Philadelphia electric company and chairman of the women's committee of the National Electric Light Association, women have the greatest purchasing influence, even if they do not actually buy these things. Miss Zilleson spoke at a meeting of the women's committee of the Canadian Electric Association and stressed the necessity of considering the woman's angle of interest in selling, particularly in regard to utilities.

From a world ruled by masculine logic, modern concepts of psychology have brought about a changed viewpoint until emotions are no longer regarded scornfully, but given due concession for their influence even on such things as automobiles, waffle irons and gas stoves, with the result that cars boast fancy upholstery and colors, and cookery equipment is adorned with jade earings.

Woman is a great detail worker, said Miss Zilleson. She does not care what material was used in her washing machine, but whether the wringer will or will not break the buttons of Johnny's shirt and how many sheets she can put into it.

Rival Of Betty Carstairs In Sailing Race
